Energy Tip

Never turn a thermostat completely off when leaving home for a few days. A sudden cold snap could cause pipes to freeze and burst, causing substantial damage.

Midway College Commemorative

Midway College President, Albert N. Cox, announced today the striking of the Midway College Commemorative Medalion as a part of the school's Founders' Day activities. The Medalion, 2 inches in diameter and containing 2 ounces of solid sterling silver was commissioned to coincide with the registration of Pinkerton Hall as a National Historic Landmark.

The medalion is formed in bas-relief with the Midway College seal on the obverse and Pinkerton Hall, the oldest building on the campus, pictured on the reverse. Of limited edition, the medalion is struck in polished proof and each bears its own registration number.

Designed to honor the college's past and to herald its future, the medalion is a lasting tribute to the founders of Midway College and to those principles which they instilled into its bylaws. Proceeds from the sale of the medalion, which are to become available on Founders' Day, February 23, 1975 are to be shared between the International Alumnae Association and the college's scholarship fund.

Persons interested in additional information regarding this commemorative medalion are urged to contact the office of Public Relations, Midway College, Midway, Ky. 40347.

Needs Money For Support

The Walton Life Squad is asking for all people who owe money to them for some type of help that they rendered to please pay their debt. Their support and helpfulness has helped us, now it's our time to help them.

Boone Co. Hospital Out

Bending to objections of officials of the Greater Cincinnati Airport, the Boone County Fiscal Court has abandoned its plans to buy the controversial 50-acre site near Ky. 18 and I-75 for a planned hospital in Boone County.

The county's option with Henry Gieske, Lakeside Park, owner of the property, expires today.

Ferguson said Gieske is now free to sell the property at any time to whomever he wishes.

The judge said he isn't saying that the hospital won't be built on the Gieske property, but that "odds are against it."

Until all questions on the site jeopardizing the future of the Greater Cincinnati Airport are answered, the judge said, the court chose not to exercise its option on the property.

He noted that the county placed a $250,000 down payment on the Gieske property and said, "I assure you that there'll be no monetary loss to Boone

The auto license plates will have a new look with the tag appearing with three letters and three numbers. They expire December 31, 1974 and must be on the car by March 1, 1975. Truck plates expire April 1, 1975 and must be on the truck by April 1, 1975.

The County Clerk's Office will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and every Friday evening until 7 p.m. during the month of February, 1975.

Local Tavern Raided By Police

A combination strike force of Kentucky State, Kenton County and Covington police along with the county Sheriff's department raided the Woodland Inn, US 25, about 11:30 p.m. Sunday and arrested the owner on Drug Charges.

Ralph Spears Jr., 34, Williamstown, owner and operator of the inn, was charged with trafficking in a controlled substance and carrying a concealed and deadly weapon.

About 40 persons were inside the club when the raid took place, including undercover operatives, but only Spears was arrested, officers said.

State Police said Spears was arrested after he sold illicit drugs to one of the officers in the raiding party.

Officers added that Spears was carrying an automatic pistol when placed in custody.

The Inn was the subject of months of undercover investigations by various police agencies.

Secretary of Transportation Billy Paxton announced today that a road improvement project to provide left-turn lanes at the intersection of U. S. 25 and KY 1829 (Industrial Road) has been approved.

The project will consist of grading, draining and blacktopping on all four approaches to the intersection for a distance of approximately four-tenths of a mile.

The work will be accomplished by state personnel and equipment. Estimated cost of the project is $44,554.

The project is scheduled to be complete by July 1975.

Young People's Concerts For Elementary Children

The second set of concerts in the Cincinnati Symphony's series of Young People's Concerts for elementary school children will focus attention on the individual instruments and sections of the orchestra. The concerts, conducted by Erich Kunzel, will take place in Music Hall on January 29 and 30, and February 7, 13 and 14.

Ron Nelson's composition "This Is the Orchestra," which features each section of the orchestra plus narration by the conductor will open the programs. Then the children will join the orchestra to sing "Sesame Street," as arranged by the CSO's Frank Proto.

The program will conclude with Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf," written in 1936 especially for a children's concert to acquaint the audience with various musical instruments.

The second concerts in the Junior High Series on February 25 and 27 highlight "Music of the Theater." The program includes Wagner's Overture to the opera "Tannhauser," selections from Tchaikovsky's ballet "Swan Lake" and the scherzo and Wedding March from Mendelssohn's incidental music for "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

All students attending the Young People's and Junior High Concerts are brought in groups from their respective schools on regular school days. For many these concerts represent the first opportunity to hear Cincinnati's major symphony orchestra and visit historic Music Hall.

Veterans Counselor At Courthouse

Mr. Bill Cox, a Veterans Counselor of the Department for Human Resources, Kentucky Center for Veterans Affairs, will be present on January 8, 1975 at the Courthouse in Burlington, Ky. To assist veterans and their dependents with claims for benefits due them as a result of their military service. He will be present from 9:00 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Waller Heads Booth Medical Staff

The new president is a graduate of Berea College who received his master's degree at the University of Kentucky and his medical degree in 1960 at the University of Louisville. His internship was served in the U.S. Naval Hospital, St. Albans, N.Y.

In addition to membership in local, state and national medical societies, the Boone County doctor was elected in 1974 a fellow of the American Academy of Family Practice.

Mrs. Waller, formerly of Louisville, is a nurse. They have four children: Patti Jo, 12, Debra Lee, 10, Karen Ann, 8 and William Joseph, 3.

Barn Destroyed In Walton

A barn on the Stu-Mc farm was destroyed by fire late Thursday night.

Chester Sturgeon, part owner of the farm, said that the barn was completely destroyed by fire. He estimated the damage to be around $20,000 and, Mr. Sturgeon also stated that there were about 2,500 bales of hay, a hay conveyor and some small tools that were destroyed by the fire.

The property is under option to the W.P. Butler Co., Crescent Springs, who plans to build an industrial park. The property is owned by Gayle McElroy and Chester Sturgeon.

360 Complex Unit Planned

Preliminary plans were approved Monday night by the Northern Kentucky Area Planning Commission (NKAPC) for a 360-Unit planned unit development in unincorporated Kenton County just east of Florence.

To be called "Covered Bridge," the development will be sponsored by Yorktown Inc., a subsidiary of Chelsea Moore, Cincinnati.

Walter G. Seinsheimer Jr., executive vice president of Chelsea Moore, said the development will have an actual covered bridge to lend authenticity to its name.

There will be 140 single family units and the remainder will be townhouses and apartments, Seinsheimer said.

Streets, water and sewer lines and pedestrian accessways are included.

Ground will be broken in late summer or early fall next year for "Covered Bridge," Seinsheimer said. The development will be on a 60-acre site bounded by Goodridge and Sanders Streets on the north, Spring Meadows subdivision on the south, Boone County on the west and the Southern Railway on the east.

Seinsheimer estimated the cost of the project at $7.5 - 8.5 million.

Approval of preliminary plans by the Kenton County Planning and Zoning Commission will be considered Thursday.

Gallatin Wins Christmas Tourney

Gallatin County High School outscored Simon Kenton in the Saturday night game of the Walton Verona Invitational Christmas Tournament to become the champions. Booth, a senior led the winners with 36 points and Davis followed close behind with 29.

Robinson led the losing Pioneers, with 15 points and Haley chipped in 14 to add to the score.

Gallatin County's record is 10-3 while Simon Kenton is 1-9 for the year.

In the consolation game between Lloyd and Walton Verona, the Juggs won over the Bearcats by a score of 59-45.

In the Friday night game Walton Verona lost to Simon Kenton by a small score of only 2 points.

Gene Cline For Court of Appeals

Lowell Eugene (Gene) Cline of Olive Hill, immediate past president of the Kentucky Circuit Clerks' Association, announced today his candidacy for Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Cline has been Circuit Clerk of Carter County since 1963. In addition to presidency of the clerks' association, he also served as vice-president of the Kentucky Association of County Officials and vice-chairman of the County Officials Compensation Board.

Cline said he felt he could best serve the people of Kentucky in this post through knowledge of the court system gained during eleven years as circuit clerk. He also said he would do his utmost to continue to give the same efficient service the present clerk now gives and strive to provide new and innovation procedures of his own.

Cline, 38, attended Morehead. Before election as clerk, he was a licensed funeral director and embalmer and a partner in an Olive Hill funeral home.

He is married to the former Patricia Boggs of Olive Hill, a kindergarten teacher. They have 2 children, Terri 10, and Todd 6. Cline, a Baptist, has been active in local church work and civic affairs.

Bersky For Lt. Governor

Bob Bersky 36 year old Republican from Sturgis, Kentucky in Union County is announcing plans to enter Republican Primary for Lt. Governor.

Bob has been in other primaries including the First Congressional District of Kentucky.

Return the government to the people will be his main theme, aiding the candidate for governor, and hoping to guide the leadership of Kentucky to more realistic economic budgets, to meet inflation and recession and depression before necessity arises and perhaps is to late to take measures to stop economic chaos.

Decreased spending by setting and living as an example and cutting his own salary and personal budget by 50 per cent.

Not running for office for power or ego but for pure sound leadership dedicated to the people and not special interest groups or persons, giving Kentucky leadership when it is in desperate need.

I hope Sen. Marlow Cook will be the candidate for governor, we could be another dynamic duo.

Balance will be the key to the way Kentucky survives in current economic crisis of the United States and world, without influence of personal gain or political gain. Amount of revenue generated by taxes will be down drastically in 75, 76-77 because of the decline in income, gas, and sales taxes and the budget has to be cut accordingly.

Bert Snarski Agency Manager

Mr. Glendon Johnson, President and Chairman of the Board of American National Insurance Company in Galveston, Texas, announced the appointment of Mr. Bert Snarski to the position of Agency Manager in the Greater Cincinnati Area.

Mr. Snarski's office will be located in the Financial Building, 100 Crisler Avenue in Crescent Springs.

Bert has just returned to this area after spending the last year and one half in Florida.

Make Colds Uncommon

Red noses and hacking coughs are mid-winter staples. Won't we ever cure the common cold?

Trouble is, the common cold is not a single disease that can be tracked down and wiped out. Colds are caused by viruses, which are slippery characters with a genius for surviving. Antimicrobial drugs that fight off some infections don't phase most viruses one bit. Cold vaccines are pretty hopeless, too. Vaccines only work against specific, targeted types; untargeted viruses pop up like ants at a picnic.

But there is a hesitant hope on the cold research horizon. Researchers are exploring the way our bodies naturally try to protect themselves against viruses and other infectors. For example, the cells of our bodies produce a chemical called interferon which is an infection-fighting antibody.

In a research study sponsored by the American Thoracic Society, the medical section of the American Lung Association, Dr. J.E. Rodriguez of the University of Iowa is attempting to determine just how interferon functions. He wants to find out if the chemical can be spotted in people who have respiratory infections. He wants to discover whether or not different levels of interferon are related to different virus attackers. And he hopes to see if different levels have any effect on how long the infection lasts.

Findings from studies such as this may offer a new line of attack against virus invaders. Investigators at the University of Iowa have successfully used an experimental drug that increases the body's production of interferon and prevents infection.

To join the fight against the cold viruses and lung diseases, answer the Christmas Seal Letter today, it's a matter of life or breath.

Crowd-Pleasing Coconut Ball

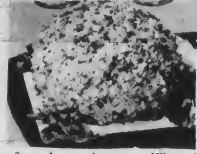

Establish a holiday mood with a spectacular appetizer you can make days or hours ahead and store in the refrigerator. The piquant appetizer of cream cheese and Roquefort cheese is rolled in Baker's Angel Flake coconut, chopped pecans, and parsley. Surely a holiday welcome to guests from a smart hostess.

Coconut-Cheese Ball

- 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, soft
- 1/2 lb. Roquefort cheese, crumbled
- 1/2 cup flaked coconut
- 1 teas. Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teas. finely grated onion
- 1/4 cup chopped pecans
- 1/4 cup finely chopped parsley

Combine cream cheese and Roquefort cheese in a small bowl; blend well. Add 1/4 cup of the coconut, the Worcestershire sauce, and onion. Cover with wax paper or plastic wrap. Chill at least 6 hours. Combine remaining 1/4 cup coconut, the pecans, and parsley on a piece of aluminum foil or wax paper. Form cheese mixture into a ball; roll in coconut mixture to cover completely. Place on platter; garnish with watercress, if desired, and serve with crackers. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

Note: Recipe may be doubled.

party at Walton on a Tuesday night. It was well enjoyed by all who did attend.

Wayne Richardson and wife and little daughter spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Richardson.

Between two and three inches of snow fell here on Saturday night and Sunday morning the most of the season.

A nice program of Christmas carols was rendered at the local Methodist Church on Sunday Morning.

Homemakers Club met with Mrs. Lee Faulker for the December meeting. The attendance was good and much interesting.

Dollars & Good Sense

Used furniture can be a good buy if you're willing to roll up your sleeves and go to work.

In recent columns I've discussed a principle of personal economics - self-reliance - and how it can help us outsmart inflation. One way to save big money on furnishings is to devote time and energy to the repair of used furniture.

Sometimes a good cleaning and ruffing can make an old piece of furniture come alive. Other times, a few simple repairs, a slipcover or some refinishing might be necessary.

Either way, the bargains are everywhere. And often, the quality of used furniture is equal to that of new furniture.

The government has printed a helpful booklet entitled "Used Furniture Can Be A Good Buy." It's available through your county extension office or by writing the US Government Printing Office in Washington D.C.

If you're cautious and willing to spend some time and energy, used furniture can save you hundreds of dollars.

KOA Kampground Receives Award

KOA Kampground Cincinnati South, Inc. on I-75 at Crittenden, Kentucky was recently presented the award for OUTSTANDING KAMPGROUND OF THE YEAR (in North America). This award was given by the KOA Owners Association at their 1974 National Convention held at the Flamingo Hilton Hotel in Las Vegas.

Kampgrounds of America is the largest franchise chain of campgrounds in North America with over 800 KOA's spanning the shadows of Mt. McKinley to the steaming volcanoes near Mexico City offering first class accommodations including laundries, clean modern restrooms etc.

KOA Cincinnati South is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. F. David Rose. Mrs. Rose (Lorraine) manages this large resort campground. She points out that camping here one can enjoy paddleboating and fishing on a beautiful 2½ acre spring-fed lake that is a haven for ducks, geese, martins and killdeer. Also, a large swimming pool, volleyball, badminton, basketball courts, Manufacturers of mixed fertilizers are required by law to state on the container the guaranteed content of primary nutrients. These primary nutrients are nitrogen, phosphoric oxide, and potash.

The primary-nutrient content of a fertilizer mixture is indicated by its grade a series of three numbers separated by dashes. The numbers show the percentage of nitrogen, phosphoric oxide, and potash, in that order, contained in the mixture. For example, a mixture with the grade 5-10-5 contains 5 percent of available nitrogen, 10 percent of available phosphoric oxide, and 5 percent of available potash.

Because nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium are used by plants in large amounts, these nutrients are likely to be deficient in the soil. When you buy a fertilizer, therefore, you generally buy it for its content of these materials.

The relative proportions of primary nutrients in a fertilizer mixture determine the suitability of the mixture for specific soils and plants. Lawn fertilizers, for example, usually are highest in their proportion of nitrogen. Fertilizers for use on vegetables may be highest in their proportion of phosphoric oxide. It usually is wasteful, and may even be harmful, to use the wrong type of fertilizer. Follow recommendations closely.

Specialty fertilizers manufactured in grades usually suitable for use on a specific kind of plant are available for most garden applications. These specialty fertilizers include products for lawns, tomatoes, and azaleas and other acid-soil plants. Usually they are satisfactory for use according to directions on their labels, but they usually cost more than ordinary farm fertilizers of the same grades.

Fertilizers of several grades may contain the same proportions of primary nutrients. For example, 6-10-5 and 6-12-6 are both composed of one part of nitrogen, two parts of phosphoric oxide, and one part of potash, though 6-12-6 contains the higher percentage of these nutrients.

Fertilizers having the same proportion of primary nutrients generally can be used interchangeably. It usually is only necessary to alter the rate of application so the desired amounts of primary nutrients are applied to the area being fertilized.

Frequently the price per pound of the nutrients in fertilizer mixtures containing a high percentage of nutrients may be lower than the price per pound of nutrients in fertilizer mixtures containing a lower percentage. For example, 1 pound of 10-20-10 contains the same amount of nutrients as 2 pounds of 5-10-5, yet an 80 pound bag of 10-20-10 may cost only one third more than an 80 pound bag of 5-10-5.

For greatest economy, buy fertilizer for its weight of nutrients, not for its total weight.

Points to Ponder

Severe weather is often unpredictable and on March 25, 1974, one of the worst spring blizzards on record swept out of the western plains after lashing eight states.

For 38 hours a group of 57 people including the Wesleyan University men's chorus - were stranded in a snowbound bus near Herndon, Kansas.

A tanklike vehicle was sent out by the National Guard at Garden City, Kansas to aid an expectant mother. However, the vehicle became lost in the storm.

Today, many highway departments rely on a mixture of calcium chloride and salt to keep roads clear of ice and snow. If a road near Amarillo, Texas had been plowed and treated with the mixture during the storm of '57 farmer Andy Brown wouldn't have had 70 unexpected guests. The people jammed into his farmhouse after their two buses became stalled nearby.

Crime In America

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

Rising crime rates have spurred wide attention to the problem by public officials, the new media and concerned citizens. Many judges, however, continue to quickly release offenders, or mete out punishments that are little more than a slap on the wrist. A worrisome article in the U.S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT for December 16th, is titled "The Losing Battle Against Crime in America."

Effort to deter crime ultimately comes down to positive or negative motivation of individuals. Negative motivation centers on fear—fear of being caught and exposed, fear of punishment and loss of freedom in jail. Positive motivation centers on a desire for personal goodness and a concern for the welfare of others. The earlier this is instilled in a person, the better.

While condemning the permissiveness of judges that actually encourages crime, we must not overlook the far more important factor behind increasing crime, just plain godlessness. A judge usually can do little more than mete out sentences, or fail to do so by letting off offenders easily. In either case, he is only increasing or decreasing fear in the minds of the criminals.

Motivation for goodness is the job of parents, first and foremost. Only secondarily should we expect it to be taught to our children in schools and churches by teachers and religious leaders.

The greatest fault lies in the homes of America. The permissiveness of one generation has led to an even greater moral looseness in the subsequent generation. Though I'm certain most people lead good lives, currently there is a breakdown of morality surpassing in degeneracy any previous moral decline in our nation's history.

God has been "taken out" of our schools, for the most part by decisions of the Supreme Court. But even before that, God had been pretty much shut out of too many American homes, by choice. The Creator, and man's dependence upon Him, were subjects never mentioned by some parents, so their children grew up in ignorance of the spiritual side of man's nature and their great destiny as human persons, not animals.

The result has been a widespread lifestyle among these people centered in oneself, a selfish approach that determines every decision, large or small, consciously or unconsciously, by the idea of "What's in it for me?" Such gross selfishness has erupted into cruelty and criminality in the streets, government, business, unions, education—in fact, everywhere, and worst of all, even in homes. Such homes are not fountains of virtue, but seedbeds of still worse corruption. Our country became great on readin', ritin', rithmetic—and religion. We desperately need more of it now.

Early Tax Forms Being Asked For

Employers can help their employees to obtain faster tax refunds by issuing W-2 forms or equivalent earning statements as early as possible, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

"Although the deadline for issuing W-2 forms is January 31, Mr. Paul Niederecker, IRS District Director for Kentucky said, "employers can help their employees file returns earlier and obtain refunds faster by issuing W-2's well before deadline."

Taxpayers who file returns in January can expect to receive their refunds four to five weeks after filing, Mr. Niederecker explained. "On the other hand," The District Director said, "the taxpayer who files during such peak periods as late February, late March, or April may have to wait as long as eight weeks for a refund."

Mr. Niederecker explained that because the workload at IRS Service Centers is lighter early in the filing season, returns are processed faster.

As in previous years, an employee filing his return for 1974 must attach a W-2 form from each employer. Each form should show earnings, income tax withheld, and social security information.

Senator Cook Escorts V. P. Rockefeller

Rockefeller Sworn Into Office

Escorting the new Vice President of the United States, Nelson A. Rockefeller, to the Senate Chambers to receive his oath of office on December 19th was Kentucky's Senior Senator, Marlow Cook.

Cook, the ranking Republican on the Senate Rules Committee which guided the former New York Governor's nomination through that chamber, was part of the honor guard bringing Rockefeller to the ceremonies. The House of Representatives earlier that day gave its consent to his taking office as required by the Constitution.

Rockefeller, in a personal letter to the Senator several days earlier, thanked Cook for his assistance during the confirmation process, saying, "I do not know what the House will do, but if I am confirmed it will be in substantial part because of your effort and leadership."

Strip-Mining Bill Appears Unlikely This Year

A federal surface-mining regulatory measure has cleared Congress, but its becoming law appeared doubtful, after the President indicated he would prevent its going into effect, according to Senator Marlow Cook.

The Senate in Washington gave its final approval to the bill by a voice vote December 16, three days after the House of Representatives agreed to conference committee's compromise version.

After Congress adjourned December 20 if the President vetoed the bill there would be no way for a vote to be taken to override his objections, The Senator explained. The President could take no action, in other words pocket veto it, he added. Either way the bill would be killed.

The administration had announced it opposed the bill largely because its provisions would hamper coal production and thus additional economic and fuel supply problems for the country.

Permanent Reduced Speed Approved

The national 55 miles-per-hour speed limit on federal highways would be made permanent under terms of a bill winning final approval in Washington December 19.

Senator Marlow Cook stated the speed limit is part of complex legislation appropriating $752.8 million in federal highway aid. Another provision increases weight limits for trucks on interstate highways from 73,200 pounds to 80,000 pounds.

The bill must be signed by the President before it becomes law.

About Your Social Security

Social Security welcomes help in getting information to people who may be eligible for supplemental security income, according to John Walter, Social Security District Manager in Covington.

The supplemental security income program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 64 or over or blind or disabled. The program is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

"We've been making payments for almost a year," Walter said. "Supplemental Security income has been publicized in newspapers and on radio and television. There have been special campaigns to reach people who may be eligible. But we're still concerned that there might be people who don't know about the program and could be helped by the payments."

"If you know people in need who are 65 or over or blind or disabled, please tell them about supplemental security income," Walter said. "And please suggest that they call or write any social security office to get more information."

The amount of the monthly supplemental security income payments people get depends on other income they might have. Eligible people with no other income at all get $146 a month for one person and $219 for a couple.

GI Benefits

By: Marlow Cook

Congress, overriding the President's objections, has voted to put into effect a law raising veterans' educational and vocational rehabilitation benefits and authorizing a new low-interest loan program.

Kentucky's senior Senator, Marlow Cook, joined with 89 others December 3 to ensure the Vietnam Era Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974 became law. One Senator agreed with the President's veto, while the House of Representatives' majority overturning his decision was 394 to 10.

Cook said the 23 percent increases in educational benefits would be retroactive to Sept. 1 this year. The new program permitting loans of up to $600 annually becomes effective on January 1. The Senator said applicants would be allowed to seek loans to cover their educational expenses dating back to September 1 this year.

Single veterans now will be entitled to $270 a month while married veterans get $321 a month, or $366 monthly if they have one child. Each additional dependent would entitle a veteran to an additional $22 a month.

A new federal law governing surface-mining operations moved a step closer to possible adoption before the end of this Congressional term when a joint committee recently approved a compromise bill for a final vote.

Senator Cook, reporting on the December 5 action, explained the conference committee vote clears the bill, S. 425, for a vote by the full Senate and House of Representatives. Both chambers previously approved separate bills, and the joint committee has been working to put together the single version required for a measure to pass Congress.

If passed by both houses, the Senator added, the strip-mining bill would require the President's signature before becoming law. If vetoed, the measure again would require a Congressional vote.

If Congress fails to complete action by the end of this month, the bill would die with the end of the 93rd Congress. Cook added that Congress was expected to adjourn December 20.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORT To the People

Veterans Education Bill Underway

I recently joined with 62 other members of the Senate in writing the President urging his approval of a Vietnam-era veterans education bill. That bill is now in a Senate-House conference committee while the conferees try to iron out a compromise measure that will not incur a veto by the President.

Beginning with the initial consideration of this new G.I. Bill last year, our Vietnam-era veterans have been waiting, hoping and expecting action to be taken. Many of them have already gone into debt by enrolling for the fall academic semester, acting on good faith in the belief that this legislation will be enacted. Approximately 18,000 Kentuckians take advantage of the educational benefits offered under existing law and thousands more would benefit from this bill.

Scores of veterans have contacted me to express frustration over the continued delay. Understandably, their attitudes reflect cynicism toward the manner in which the Federal government has acted on a program so essential to their own lives.

President Ford has expressed the view that the bill could be inflationary. As we told the President in our letter: "We share your very strong interest in cutting out unnecessary federal expenditures. As you have pointed out, the economy must be our number one priority. But we are convinced that a strong veterans education bill would in fact enhance, and not detract from, our economic stability.

"The compromise legislation in affording more veterans the opportunity to attend college or vocational school, would immediately remove them from the job market and ultimately improve their productivity and job skills. Failing to make such an investment would clearly be a false economy, since it would necessarily result in spending more money per person on such alternatives as public service employment, unemployment compensation and other social programs for the needy."

The Senate Agriculture Committee, of which I am a member has reported out legislation to authorize the US Department of Agriculture to prevent the movement of noxious weeds into the US. There are more than 1,400 kinds of noxious weeds not now in the United States. Should they reach this country, they would cause widespread damage to farms and to the economy of states like Kentucky.

The Suffering Savior

Martin Luther said of Christ, "In his life, Christ is an example, showing us how to live; in his death, he is a sacrifice, satisfying for our sins; in his resurrection, a conqueror; in his ascension, a king, in his intercession; a high priest."

It took a person who was indeed unique to possess all of the qualifications to be our Savior. His life must be a perfect example. His death the perfect sacrifice. His resurrection and ascension the perfect assurance. His intercession the perfect power in men's lives. The One and only Person who could ever meet those requirements was Jesus Christ.

The Christ, Mark 8:27-30

From time to time it was necessary for Jesus to get alone with His disciples. Mark tells us of such a time in this passage of Scripture. Leaving the multitudes in Galilee, they went to the villages of Caesarea Philippi. George Adam Smith identifies this place as the site of Dan, long associated with Hebrew worship. It had become a center for Baal worship under Jeroboam I. Later it was the center of the worship of the Greek god Pan.

There could have been some significance in Jesus leading His disciples to such a place as this. It was here Jesus put His disciples to the test. His first question concerned the opinions of other men as to the identity of Jesus. Their answers came swift and easy, "John the Baptist, Elijah, or one of the prophets."

His next question was not so easy. His real concern was not the diverse opinions of men but the divine convictions of those into whose hands He would leave the task of a world-wide missions. The answer given by the Apostle Peter was probably meant to be the answer of the group. Peter said, "you are the Christ." On the human side they had witnessed enough to know that Jesus was sent from God. But there was more than mere human reasoning behind their answer. Matthew's Gospel tells us that Jesus understood this as having been revealed by God. Peter nor the others could ever have known this on their own.

"Christ" means the anointed one from God. "Christ" is the Greek word for the Hebrew word "Messiah." Jesus was the fulfillment of the law, the Prophets, and the writings concerning the coming Messiah. In verse 30 Jesus charges them to tell no man of HIM. "Their concept of the kind of Messiah needed to be corrected. Jesus was not a political deliverer but He had come 'To save His people from their sins.'"

How Jesus would become our Savior brings us to the subject of the Cross.

The Cross, Mark 8:31-33

Having passed the test thus far, the disciples are ready for another alarming truth. Jesus began to teach them that His mission would lead Him to suffering, rejection, and death. He would be killed but after three days would rise again. Peter's mind must have frozen on those first words of Jesus. Peter doesn't seem to have heard the words of Jesus concerning His rising from the dead.

Peter probably took Jesus by the shoulders and looking Him straight in the eye began to rebuke Him. Peter assured Jesus that He would never need to suffer and die. Peter knew enough about Jesus to know that Jesus could do anything He wanted to do by only speaking the word.

Jesus turned His back to Peter and spoke to His disciples as He spoke to Peter. "Get thee behind me, Satan!" The suggestion made by the Apostle was much the same as those made by Satan during the early days of Jesus' temptation in the wilderness. The temptations were to bypass the cross and be a political Messiah. Such thinking does not come from God but from Men.

Verse 34-38 challenge all men to make the choice between God's way and man's way.

The Choice, Mark 8:34-38

Here was a call to fellowship with Jesus. The word "Follow" means to walk with rather than behind in this context. Self-denial marked the life and death of Jesus. It must be so for those who choose to Follow Him. The cross is an instrument of death. Through this kind of giving of life man finds real life. For those who will seek God's will in all things will find that the Kingdom of God is a good buy at any price. Would you lose your life this day in the Master's service? If so, you would, in the truest sense, be following with Jesus.

58 Christmas Turkeys Were Leftover

What to do with 58 turkeys leftover from a Christmas food basket distribution is the happy plight of the Clear Creek Baptist School, Pineville, Ky.

The 58 extra turkeys, a gift from the Palmer Park Baptist Church, Dolton, Ill., arrived two days late at the Kentucky theological school for adults because the Illinois congregation was unaware a Christmas food distribution date had been changed.

The Rev. J.B. Climer, a former Clear Creek student, for several weeks had challenged his congregation to contribute turkeys to the student ministers. The turkeys, estimated to cost $50 are the largest single gift from a church to the Baptist school's yearly Christmas cheer program. The turkeys were immediately placed in storage while school officials ponder a way to get the "gospel birds" on the tables of 145 ministerial student families.

The Rev. Ralph Duncan, Clear Creek's alumni activities director declared, "The Palmer Park congregation's 58 turkeys may prove to be an unusual blessing indeed. Now, perhaps we can have a large food distribution at Easter, similar to our yuletide food basket effort. We have several students families of five who annually earn less than $3,000. Such a food basket for them simply means these families will not go for weeks at a time without having meat on the table. In fact, I'm already praying that other churches and individuals will contribute 87 more turkeys or hams necessary to implement the Easter food program."

145 ministerial student families at Christmas received a turkey, a $5 bill, and $5 in groceries through the school's annual alumni Christmas gift program. The project brought an estimated $5,000 in food, money, and practical gifts to low income student families on Clear Creek's campus.

By: Gary Huddleston

Veteran Rep. Carl Perkins set some new standards for legislative speed with his now-famous burley price support legislation last month, but was stymied when a compromise bill failed to gain approval by the Senate.

Perkins, Democrat from Eastern Kentucky's Seventh District, raised several eyebrows among burley leaders when he introduced a surprise bill in early December which would have raised price supports immediately, from 86 cents to $1.32 per pound.

Most tobacco men heard about the bill only after it was maneuvered through the House of Representatives late one night. Passage came, it was later learned, when most of the members were out of their seats.

But then Perkins' bill raised a storm of protest among many growers, who feared a sudden rise in support prices in the middle of a selling season would completely disrupt markets. Possibly as a result of such reservations, the measure stalled in the Senate.

However, as if to say "You ain't seen nothing yet," Perkins handed burley growers their second price surprise in as many weeks when he slipped a second price support bill through a late-night session of the House.

Bill number 2 called for price supports in the $1.15 range, and would not have gone into effect until next selling season.

This time grower support, albeit after passage in the House, was quick and unanimous. The bill was a step in the right direction, everyone agreed, and should be passed quickly.

CELEBRATION TIME

Why celebrate the end of one year and the beginning of the next? It seems a strange custom, yet there is a good reason for it.

Few, if any of us, have come even close to perfection in the year just ending. So we look ahead toward 365 brand-new days, blank pages in the next chapter of our lives.

What will we do with them? On the eve of a New Year, most of us certainly have the desire to try harder, to be better people.

But even while we are saying, "Off with the old and on with the new," we are also clinging to the good in the days gone by. As we renew old friendships, we thank God for those friends, for the faith he has given us, for life itself.

And, in the midst of revelry, we start the year the best way of all: We go to church.

Did You Know That . . .

Early American Sailors stored fresh cranberries in wooden casks to eat at sea for the prevention of scurvy. Today, the berries are prepared as cranberry sauce and conveniently packaged in single restaurant holiday meals!

The United States now has 40,400 fast food restaurants—more than any other nation. Fulfilling the need for speed and convenience, individually packaged condiments have contributed to the growth of this industry!

"Good things come in small packages" . . . even at your favorite restaurants. During the year individually packaged condiments help make dining out a very special experience.

Value Beyond Measure.

For some Americans, trading stamps are literally a life-and-death matter. In the testimony of a kidney patient at a hearing by the savings and loan section of the Texas Finance Commission, that fact was vividly illustrated.

The hearing centered on the merits of state-chartered savings and loan associations offering promotional premiums, such as trading stamps, as an inducement for depositing money in savings accounts—and also showed how such programs may actually save lives. "I would not be here today," testified on woman, if it had not been for the stamp collection drive that made possible the purchase of a kidney dialysis machine for her daily treatments.

Indeed, the principle of promotion is indispensable to the existence of the free enterprise system itself. Whether offered as bonuses with groceries, gasoline or at banking institutions, trading stamps have become an integral part of U.S. society. According to a nationwide survey in 1973, some 43 million U.S. households, or 64 percent of the total, save trading stamps. Consumers, apparently, appreciate being able to supplement their buying power in this inflationary period by redeeming the stamps for merchandise, and retailers find that the diversity and values offered by stamp programs attract business.

Training Course For Penal Code

A training course in the new Kentucky penal code, which goes into effect January 1, is being held here at Thomas More College by the bureau of training in the Kentucky Department of Justice.

Specifically designed to train city and county judges who will be handling the bulk of criminal offenses under the code, the course involves six days of intensive study and discussion.

Robert Clark Stone, bureau of training commissioner, said the program was instituted to give judges a working knowledge of law revisions made under the penal code and to explore critical problem areas which the courts may face when the code becomes effective.

Speakers for the course include judges, prosecutors and attorneys from northern Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky University and the bureau of training.

About Your Social Security

Most men and women who reach 62 in 1975 can collect monthly Social Security checks if they've worked as little as 6 years in jobs covered by Social Security, according to John Walter, Social Security District Manager in Covington.

People earn retirement benefits by credit for work covered by Social Security done in or after 1937, the year Social Security started. The work credit is measured in calendar quarters—January-March, April-June, July-September, or October-December.

"Most employees get credit for a quarter of work if they've paid $50 or more in that quarter for work covered by Social Security," Walter said. "Most self-employed people get Social Security credit for 4 quarters in any year their annual self-employment net income is $400 or more."

Most jobs and self-employment are covered by Social Security.

"To be eligible for Social Security retirement benefits," Walter said, "You need, at a minimum, quarters of work equal to the number of years between 1950 and the year you reach 62. So, if you reach 62 in 1975, you need at least 24 quarters or 6 years of work credit."

Eligible workers can begin collecting their full Social Security retirement benefits at 65 or reduced benefits at 62. Dependents can also get payments based on the workers benefit.

"You can find out how much work and earnings are credited to your Social Security record free of charge," He said. "Call any Social Security office and ask the people there to send you a 'Request for statement of earnings' post card."

Vegetables according to some authorities on nutrition, are valuable in the diet chiefly because of the vitamins and minerals they contain, and, in most cases, the fresher they are, the better.

This, of course, is a good argument in favor of gardening and suggests that every one who can will do well by growing his own vegetables. By doing so, he not only will benefit by having better food, but also may profit from the good exercise producing it.

In sum and substance, Sue Burrier, UK Extension Specialist in Foods and Nutrition, generally agrees with the above statements and adds that the two most important vitamins supplied by fresh vegetables are A & C. Vitamin A, says Mrs. Burrier, is necessary for growth, normal vision, and healthy condition of the skin and other body surfaces. Vitamin C is needed for healthy gums and body tissues.

Excellent sources of vitamin A, continues Mrs. Burrier, are the dark green and deep yellow vegetables such as chard, collards, spinach, mustard, turnip greens, carrots, sweet potatoes, pumpkin, and squash. For vitamin C, such garden delicacies as broccoli, brussels sprouts, green peppers, sweet red peppers, cantaloup, tomatoes, and Irish potatoes cooked with the jackets on will serve admirably.

For the repair of tissues—muscles, blood and hair—the body must have proteins. Proteins are usually supplied by lean meats, poultry, eggs, and fish, but this essential ingredient can also be produced in the garden.

Dried beans, dried peas, lentils, and peanuts can serve as alternates to meats and are also sources of iron, thiamin, riboflavin, and niacin. According to Mrs. Burrier, the way vegetables are handled, cooked, or otherwise prepared somewhat determines their nutrient value when ready for the table.

There are two basic causes of nutrient loss in vegetables, Mrs. Burrier says. One is the physical loss which occurs when edible parts such as outer leaves of some plants are pulled off and thrown away and when the skins of some root crops are peeled off and discarded. Then there is the chemical loss when vegetables are held too long in storage or subjected to high temperatures, or when the tissues are bruised or dried.

Cooking procedures often result in nutrient loss and to reduce this, she recommends what may be termed as the "three R's" of vegetable cooking: Reduce the amount of water used; reduce the length of the cooking period; and reduce the amount of food surface exposed while cooking.

One thing for certain about vegetables; they are vitally important to the daily diet and this brief column is to give the reader an idea as to why. Those wishing more information on the subject can secure EC 53, "How To Prepare And Serve Vegetables," from their county Extension office.

Some claim that the day of miracles has passed, but don't believe it. Just seal a bean or a grain of corn in a jar with a moist piece of paper in the bottom, place it on a sunny inside window sill, and watch a miracle unfold.

One day the seed will be a dry, inert, and seemingly lifeless object wrapped in a deep sleep which UK

Extension vegetable specialist C.R. Roberts calls "Arrested development." Then when subjected to favorable conditions of moisture and warmth, vital processes start within the seed. First, it begins to swell and a hairline crack appears in the seed coat. After a day or so, a tiny white shoot comes out pointing upward, to be immediately followed by an equally tiny root that probes downward to serve as an anchor and to search for nutrients—and lo, there is a miracle in the form of a living plant, vital and responsive to the ministrations of the sun, rain, and the wonderful chemistry of the soil.

And how does this miracle take place? Roberts says it is largely due to moisture. Plants depend upon many factors and substances for birth and growth, but the most basic is water—that solvent indispensable to all processes of life whether it be animal or plant.

During the ripening of a seed, the greater part of the water is drawn off without replacement, and without moisture, the seed rests. In this inert condition, the seed may remain quiescent for weeks and even years. But when molecules of water penetrate its outer husk, its parts expand and the vital machinery inside starts to move. Warmth accelerates this machinery and the seed is soon transfigured into a lively plant.

According to Roberts, the duration of life or viability of seed varies. Everyone who regularly grows a garden knows that some varieties of seed will remain alive for only one season. Others will still sprout after two or three seasons have passed. But even so, when planting a garden it is generally the best policy to plant seed produced the summer before.

What ends the viability of a seed? Horticulturists say they do not know for sure. They speculate, however, that even when stored away the life processes are slowed but not stopped. Even in storage the seed absorbs enough moisture to stir life, but not enough to maintain it. Another speculation is that the accumulation of waste products of the slow metabolism within the sealed seed coat poisons the embryo and it dies. And recent research shows evidence of growth regulators within the membrane of seeds which affect germination.

To observe the sprouting of a seed in spring and to contemplate its resurrection and growth is proof enough that miracles are still with us. And maybe this is what Luther Burbank had in mind when he made the comment that "few gardeners are agnostics."

What To Do In January

Along about this time of year, gardeners, who spend much of their time during spring and summer down on their knees along rows of small plants and shoots in positions of worship, began to sense an indescribable urge deep within them.

This, no doubt, as psychologists hint, is because that, in their long and intimate relationship, the gardeners take on certain characteristics of the seeds and plants they nurture. Thus in January, when deep in the ground some subtle force of nature begins to stir the sap in trees, trouble the roots of dandelions, and warm the seeds of last fall's sowing to start awakening, this same force creates a faint stir in the gardener's blood also.

Then in January come the seed catalogs. Although the wind outside may be roaring like fury in the bare treetops and snow may be piling up on the window sill, these catalogs indicate sure as certain that spring is once again on its way around the bend.

To help weather out the balance of the winter "winter of our discontent" gardeners can pass off the time by thoroughly perusing and making selections from these marvelous and reliable periodicals sent out by commercial seed companies.

There is something heartening and inspirational in the pages of these books. They show pea pods that dwarf bananas; beets that grow as privet hedges; corn that rears its golden tasseled tops to heights associated only with the giant Sequoias of California; and beans that are worthy of being lineal descendants of the ancient seed of kind that figured so prominently in the horticultural feat performed by that fairy tale character known as Jack.

With the catalogs, gardeners can compare their assortment of seeds saved from favorite varieties and make out orders for new varieties that have recently been developed by horticultural specialists. When they tire of this they can go down into the basement and repair seed boxes and examine, clean, sharpen, and repair garden tools.

They can look over the stored tubers to see that they are not suffering from too much moisture or the lack of it. They can mix up some potting soil for propagating seeds indoors and, if the soil is not frozen or wet, can go out and spade up the flower bed. This action, whether in a garden or flower bed, will expose the soil to beneficial effects, UK Extension specialists say.

The freezing which will most assuredly come in January and February will break apart the heavy clods and expose the eggs of many injurious insects to the effect of sun, wind, cold, and food hunting resident birds. All of these factors will make for better gardening.

January is also a month in which garden planting can best be planned. During the "bad days", when basking in the warmth of the baseburner, visualize your garden and figure out where you will later plant your peas, potatoes, stickbeques, tomatoes, gladiolus, and snapdragons. This will help a lot later in the year.

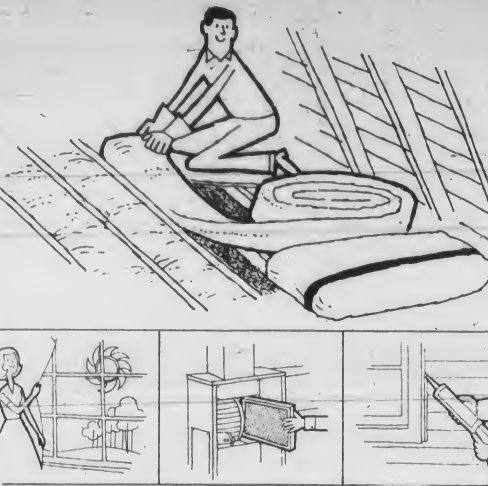

Traditionally, at least in Kentucky, the official planting season begins in February. Sallet peas should be planted on February 14 and Irish potatoes put in the ground during the "dark nights of March", according to old-timers gardeners. Deciding in advance just where these two crops will be planted will save time later on.

January will also be a good month in which to contact your county Extension agent. He will have all the latest information on new vegetable varieties, methods of cultivation, and recommended insecticides to help control garden pests and diseases. A short visit in his office will be most beneficial and contribute materially to the success of the coming garden season.

Something else to do in January is to have patience. Settle down, browse through the seed catalogs, reread garden bulletins, prune apple trees, and keep the bird feeder stocked. Enjoy what leisure time there is and know that the sun has reached the end of its tether and is on its way back with the busy hours of springtime in tow.

Helpful Household Hints To Use

Homeowners everywhere are finding it will cost even more to heat their homes this winter, so the search is on more seriously than ever before for ways to reduce fuel consumption and lower fuel bills.

The 12 most practical ways to cut your fuel bills are listed here, compliments of the Johns-Manville Insulation Center.

1. Insulate your home well. It's the most effective thing to do. With adequate insulation, your home will require only about 50 per cent as much fuel as with no insulation, according to the Insulation Center.
2. Use storm windows or insulating glass. Double glass resists heat loss almost twice as well as single glass, says the J-M Insulation Center.
3. Use storm doors, keep them tightly latched.
4. Weatherstrip windows and doors to keep warm air in, and cold air out.
5. Caulk cracks around the outside of window and door frames.
6. Call in a heating service man to clean and adjust the heating burner. He should also check balancing of the heat distribution system to make sure no room gets more heat than it needs.

7. Clean or replace furnace filters. Dirty filters may severely hinder movement of warm air, reducing furnace efficiency and wasting fuel.

8. Set the thermostat back at night, but only six or seven degrees. A bigger setback will require extra fuel for morning pick-up. Always set the thermostat back if you're going to be away for a weekend or longer.

9. Check the location of your thermostat. It should be on an inside wall four to five feet above floor level. Keep it away from heat sources such as a TV set or a lamp.

10. Turn off heat in rooms that aren't used. If you have zone thermostats to control your heating, consider keeping bedrooms at a lower temperature during the day if you like to sleep with a window open, make sure the bedroom door is closed.

11. Install a humidifier and when the humidity is high you will be comfortable at a lower temperature.

12. Develop good heat conservation habits. Lock windows to pull sash tightly together. Close fireplace dampers except when a fire is burning. Close draperies at night, open them on sunny days.

FARM NEWS

AND ANALYSIS

By Darwin Roley
Kenton County
Extension Agent

You'll want to mark your calendar for many farm meetings of interest this month. Starting January 14 and continuing for five Tuesdays will be the Boone County Cattle Health Herd Management Workshop at the Ramada Inn in Florence. The sessions start at 7:30 each evening. Make reservations by calling 586-6101, Ext. 17 or 356-3155. Cattlemen from other counties are welcome.

January 16 and 17 will be the dates for the Beef Cattle Reproduction Conference in Lexington at the Seay Auditorium the University of Kentucky.

Campus. The conference is aimed at beef cattle producers with the goal of providing practical information that will help them market larger calf crops.

The fourth annual Kentucky Dairyman's Conference will be held at the Holiday Inn on Brownsboro Road in Louisville with registration starting at 9:00 a.m. on Thursday, January 30, and ending at 2:00 p.m. on Friday. The program covers a wide range of topics including how air and pollution laws may affect the dairy industry. This is a program dairymen can't afford to miss.

January will come to an end during the eighteenth annual convention for Greenhouse Growers at the Galt House in Louisville. The program begins at 9:30 Friday on January 31 and continues through Sunday afternoon February 2.

Ken Oliver, Vocational Agriculture Instructor at Conner High School is seeking names and addresses of people who would like to take a greenhouse course in the spring of 1975. If enough people enroll it can be taught in the Northern Kentucky Area by a college instructor.

For more information about any of the above call the Kenton County Extension Office at 356-3155.

Ever hear the tale about energy savings?

It's a true story. Saving energy means saving money. And it's not all that hard.

Since everyone is caught in an energy squeeze right now, saving is a mighty important idea. The cost of generating clean electric energy is rising fast. Increased coal costs are part of the reason. Gas and oil shortages hurt, too.

The only effective approach today is to use our energy efficiently, and only when we need it. Ask us. We can help you save both energy and money.

Electricity is too good to waste!

Walton Loses By 2 Points

On Friday, January 3, Walton was host to Lloyd, Walton's first game of the 1975 season.

Lenny Spicer was high point man with a total point range of 17, followed behind by Tungate with 11 points.

Walton followed in points at the end of each quarter but could never get ahead to bring the winning score to their side.

Lloyd with 56 points had Mike Hoepker as their leading scorer with 21 points and Wilson as their second high scorer with 10 points.

This is the fifth win of the year for Lloyd by defeating Walton Verona Bears by a small score of only 2 points.

The final score was 56 to 54, Lloyd Reserves also defeated the Junior Varsity by 55 to 29.

Don't Let Long Distance Stop You

If you have a crime to report to state police, don't let cost of long-distance call stop you. Dispatchers at Dry Ridge and La Grange posts have instructions to accept collect calls from people with a criminal offense to report. Don't call to ask about traffic conditions, though. "We have to draw the line somewhere," a captain says.

120 Hours Of Ball Bouncing

Two buddies spent 120 hours this week bouncing ball at Northern Kentucky State College to earn niche in Guinness Book of World Records. Achievement seems dubious enough to qualify for Esquire magazine's annual awards, but, if it does, it won't be first such honor for NKSC combo.

Tri-County Singles Club

The Kentucky Tri-County Sing's Club will hold their regular meeting on Thursday, January 23, 1975 at the Anchor Grill, Covington, Ky. Reservations for dinner to be served at 6:30 p.m. is being taken by A. Estes, President.

The meeting will start promptly at 8 p.m. A social hour will follow. All singles are welcomed.

Hardy Bros. Mill Has Changed Owners

The Hardy Bros. Mill located at 94 North Main Street in Walton has changed owners. The former owner was Rees Hardy. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spillman of Walton are now the new owners of this business.

Mrs. Spillman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Huston of Walton.

The Hardy Bros. Mill will now be known as The Walton Feed and Farm Supply.

Drivers' Licenses Take On New Look

Drivers' licenses issued in the Commonwealth of Kentucky this year will bear a color photograph of the license holder.

Another change in the Kentucky drivers' license approved by the 1974 General Assembly is the anatomical gift designation on the back side of the driver's license.

State Driver Licensing Director F.E. Hodges said that Kentucky will be the first state to have a license with both the color photograph and the anatomical gift designation included on it.

Under the "instant" photo process which has been adopted for the license pictures, the applicant will have his or her photograph taken where the license is picked up. The photograph will be developed, laminated to the license and given to the applicant in just a few minutes.

The cost of the photo-license is being raised from the current $3 to $4 to cover the additional expense of the photographic process.

The license holder can specify that he is making an anatomical gift to take effect upon his death. He may specify any needed organ or he may designate specific organs which he wished to donate upon his death.

Since the anatomical gift or gifts will be designated on the driver's license, the organs can be removed immediately upon death while they can still be successfully transplanted.

Gallatin County News Has New Owners

Charles Adams, the owner for more than 33 years is handing his paper over to Charles Warnick, a native of Ashland, after having sold his Gallatin County News.

Warnick, vice-president of Editorial Services of DMS Inc., a publishing firm based in Greenwich, Conn., will take over the new management and control of the paper on February 1.

Adams and his wife, Frances, have operated the paper longer than any other owners since it was established by D.H. Wallace as The Warsaw Independent in 1880.

From 1941 until 1959, Adams owned and edited the paper, kept long hours and supervised its publication and delivery.

In 1959 he turned the operation over to his stepson and retired from newspapering to operate Adams Real Estate with offices just behind the news office.

His stepson edited and published the paper until August when he was killed in an auto accident while driving to Shelbyville where the paper is printed.

Warnick, who with his wife, Denny, plans to move to Warsaw to continue the high editorial standards established over the years by Adams and the late Phil Bradley, his stepson.

He began his newspaper career as a reporter for the Ashland Daily Independent and later joined the Cincinnati Enquirer.

He also served as director of state tourist and travel information and as director of information for the Federal Aviation Agency in Washington, D.C.

Evening Classes At Northern State

Four evening classes will be offered at Northern Kentucky State College in Covington by the University of Kentucky Extension Class program.

They are "Family Life Education," "Reference and Information Services," "Administration of School Media Centers," and "Bibliography of Social Sciences."

All are three-hour courses. Registration will be at 6:30 p.m. on January 13. Room 407 of the Nunn Building at one college.

Instructors will be Dr. O'Neal Weeks, Dr. Onna Boshears, Rowena Carpenter, and Katherine Cveljo.

Steaks For Christmas Winners!

2nd Prize George F. Calloway, Cincinnati, Ohio, $100.00 of Groceries from Thriftway Inc.

On December 18, 1974 the Boone County Knothole Youth Supporters had its 2nd Annual "Steaks For Christmas" drawing, with Bobby Ray Coghill, 226 Whitfield Ave., Florence, Ky. winning a side of beef from Dixie Meats as the first-prize and George F. Calloway, 4405 Paddock Road, Cincinnati, Ohio winning $100.00 of groceries from Thriftway Inc.

The proceeds from this raffle will be used to help develop the 39½ acres of land, the Boone County Knothole Association Inc. has on Camp Ernst Road. The BOCKY Club would like at this time to thank everyone for their help in making this raffle a complete success. Also I would like to take this time to invite everyone to come to the BOCKY meetings held on the second Wednesday of each month, at Hugh's Oyster House, and help the youth of Boone County.

For more information call 371-6462 or 371-4225.

Boone Hospital On Turfway

A 55 acre tract of land next to the Latonia Race Course on Turfway Road may be where the new Boone County Hospital will be built.

The land is going for $10,000 an acre and is owned by Walter Scott a Boone County landowner who sold the land to Latonia Race Course and is now living in Florida.

Four sources close to the hospital site have confirmed Friday that the county is considering taking option on the Scott property.

The possible site is between the Race Course and I-75 on the north side of Turfway.

The property is opposite the land owned by Henry Gieske of Lakeside Park who sold his property on Monday to R.C. Durr.

The county had taken a 90 day option on the property in August and agreed to purchase the 50 acres of land for $5000 an acre or $250,000.

But since that time county and officials at Booth Hospital, a Salvation Army facility which plans to relocate its 155 bed in Boone County, have been embroiled in bitter controversy with Greater Cincinnati Airport officials.

Airport officials claimed the site would put the hospital 5000 to 7000 feet off a future north-south runway and would be in a noise zone and safety hazard.

But Monday the county decided to rescind its previous motion to buy the land. At the same time Durr purchased the option and the land from Gieske for $250,000.

County officials have said that there is an alternate site available which is comparable to the Gieske property and at an outstanding location.

In the past the county and state Bureau of Highways officials have discussed the possibility of constructing a two-mile road running from Ky. 18 to Turfway Rd. opposite Hopeful Rd. which would be near the site now under consideration.

December 7th Wa-Na Club Met

All enjoyed a lovely evening together.

50th Governor Named

Julian Carroll was sworn in as Kentucky's 50th Chief executive by Chief Justice Earl Osborne of the Kentucky Court of Appeals. The 43 year old Paducah native assumed the post vacated by Wendell Ford, who was elected to the U.S. Senate last fall. The former Lt. Governor will serve out the remaining 11 months of Ford's unexpired term.

Campbell Collection In Art Museum

An unusual attraction comes to the Cincinnati Art Museum in January when the Campbell Collection of silver and porcelain soup tureens will be shown to the public for the first time in this area. The exhibition opens January 16 to run through March 2.

Although most of the objects are European, dating from the 18th century peak of craftsmanship and imagination in the design of tureens and other food serving utensils, a few important pieces from the Orient are included as are some 19th century works.

Certain rare and priceless works in the exhibition once were owned by rulers who now are historical figures, such as King George III and his queen, Charlotte, of England; Tsar Nicholas I of Russia; Augustus III, King of Poland and Louis XV of France.

Soup Tureens, made of silver plate, pewter and soft-paste porcelain became popular in the latter part of the 17th century. By the 18th century tureens were an important part - often the most elaborate piece - of the dining service.

"No other part of the dinner service has lent itself to the unusual and the bizarre in form and design as have tureens," John M. Graham II. "As they became fashionable, they became status symbols of monumental size and objects of elaborate decoration for affluent dining tables."

The Campbell Collection, housed in the Campbell Museum in New Jersey, was begun in 1966 with the purpose of assembling and exhibiting to the public a collection of tureens, bowls, and other food utensils. Portions of the Collection have been shown in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington D. C.

The Museum is opened everyday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sundays. Admission is always free.

More Applications For State Police

The number of applicants for positions as troopers with the Kentucky State Police has more than quadrupled since height and weight restrictions were eliminated in mid-October. The state police report a record number 35 to 40 applications per week. Physical examinations and an agility test are still required, and police spokesmen say that even though there are no restrictions, each applicant's height and weight "must be reasonably proportionate."

35th Anniversary Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis G. Davis

A surprise party at Boone Aire Country Club on Sunday, December 29th for Mr. and Mrs. Lewis G. Davis of Rischow on their 35th Wedding Anniversary was given by their sons and daughter-in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Don Davis and Mr. Lewis Davis' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Townley.

Over 80 guests enjoyed a steak dinner and later music and dancing by Barbara and Wendell McKenzie and Billy Gant, Dixie Fulcher, who are appearing at the Chatterbox Lounge, in Price Hill. Also joining the group throughout the evening were Joe Newkirk and Chick Morris.

One of the nicest surprises of the evening was the appearance of their son, Dennis and his wife, Sandy who flew in from Milwaukee. Many beautiful gifts were received. Out of town friends and relatives sent telegrams of congratulations.

Those attending were: Mr. and

Air Force Staff Sergeant

Mark A. Clark

Mark A. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl T. Clark, of Walton, Ky. is stationed in Weisbaun, Germany and one day as he was reading a paper from their country, he spotted a small piece in the paper about the truck that overturned on I-75 killing six race horses.

He stated in his letter that he had mailed off to his mother that Kentucky had made headlines in a German newspaper. Mark clipped out the piece of news and sent it to his parents to read.

Mark is a graduate from Simon Kenton High School in 1970.

He is a cable splicing specialist, after entering the Air Force in December 3, 1971.

Women Are Targets Of Arthritis

"Arthritis causes more pain to more American women than any other disease," states Ronald J. Keller, Executive Director of the Southwestern Ohio Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation.

"Over 20 million people in the United States are severely afflicted by this crippling disease," Keller noted. "Nearly 14 million are women, many in their early 20's or younger."

Here in Southwestern Ohio and Northern Kentucky alone there are 210,000 women and young girls who have arthritis so seriously that they need medical care."

Medical science doesn't know why this disease discriminates against women. But scientists suspect that natural hormonal changes in the female body makes women particularly vulnerable to arthritis. For example, it has been established that symptoms of rheumatoid arthritis often increase during menstruation, decrease during pregnancy, only to flare up after delivery.

Unfortunately, women are even more susceptible to the most serious major form of the disease, rheumatoid arthritis. This lifelong inflammatory disease strikes three times as many women as men, and can lead to permanent disability and damage to the body's vital organs.

But, rheumatoid arthritis doesn't have to do this. A prompt, proper treatment program can control pain and prevent serious crippling.

Women won't be liberated from arthritis until scientists discover the cause and cure. But they can be freed from the adverse effects of the disease with the help of drugs, special exercises, rest and surgery.

The women of the seventies is busier than ever before. Whether she is a student, mother, housewife or professional, she is likely to ignore the early warning signs of arthritis: persistent pain and stiffness upon arising; pain or swelling in one or more joints; tingling sensations in her fingertips, hands or feet; and unexplained weight loss, fever, anemia or fatigue.

Mr. Keller urges all women in the Cincinnati area who think they may have arthritis to place themselves under the care of a qualified physician, preferably a rheumatologist.

An informative new leaflet, "Arthritis In Women - A Case of Discrimination," has just been published by The Arthritis Foundation. It is available free on request from the Southwestern Ohio Chapter, 2400 Reading Road, Cincinnati, Ohio 45202, telephone 721-1027.

Honey Of A Date Bread

6 to 8 Servings

2 eggs
1/2 cup of orange juice
1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup oil
1 cup chopped, pitted dates
1 cup fine pecans
1 tabl. grated orange peel
2 cups enriched self-rising corn meal
Ice cream, optional

Beat together eggs, orange juice, honey and oil. Stir in dates, pecans and orange peel. Add to corn meal, stirring until smooth. Pour into a greased and paper lined 9-inch round baking pan. Kenton County Council PTA

The past meeting of the Kenton County Council PTA was held at the Willard Wade YMCA with Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher, presiding.

The speaker for the meeting was the immediate past president of the Ky. Congress PTA, Mrs. George White, who narrated the film "Every Child Needs You". When Mrs. White is the speaker for the meeting you can be sure of an interesting and informative meeting. This meeting was no exception, Mrs. Richard Kling helped with the slide projector and then there followed a question and answer period.

New officers were named at this meeting: Mrs. Joseph Gadd-Treasurer

Mrs. Dale Woelker-Legislator

Mrs. Wesley Hall-Human Relations

Council had a display of the program books which the schools put out. It is interesting to see how the other school do their program books and to maybe pick up ideas for your own books.

Kenton County Council had 22 members attend the Fall Conference at Highlands High School.

Adopt-A-Cat Month

Not all stars are discovered in Hollywood.

Just ask Morris, the finicky hero of cat food commercials, who was discovered in an animal shelter moments before he was to be put to sleep.

Because of Morris's background, he is joining the American Humane Association and 9 Lives cat food in proclaiming January 1975 as national Adopt-A-Cat Month. During the month, every person adopting a cat from a participating shelter will receive a free adoption kit including cat food, a cat care booklet, letters from Morris, a picture of Morris, an adoption certificate and a feline bill of rights.

Breakfast Mosaic

American tradition calls for what has long been thought of as a "good, hearty breakfast." But today, "quick and nutritious" might be more suitable adjectives.

Mornings are usually crammed with activity. Everyone dash off in different directions, all at the same time. And, all too often, this morning routine of bedlam includes "breakfast on the run," or no breakfast at all.

Studies show that individuals without breakfast have impaired muscular ability, impaired perception and a low resistance to fatigue. Bad breakfast habits concern nutritionists, especially since research clearly indicates the need for a well-balanced morning meal.

Children, who eat or don't eat in the chaotic breakfast routine, are often listless and inattentive during the morning hours. In fact, many youngsters receive an adequate diet only one day in five. It's hard to make up for the nutrients missed at breakfast. So, start the day "Right".

Ruth Leverton, in Food Becomes You, compares working all morning without breakfast to spending money before you earn it. Each meal or pay check must be used to pay off the accumulated debts instead of giving us some working capital for the time ahead.

Maybe you're wondering what makes a good breakfast. Nutritionists recommend that about one fourth of the daily food intake, nutrients and calories be eaten at breakfast.

One way to be sure you get a wide variety of nutrients is to include food from at least three of the basic four food groups. This doesn't mean breakfast has to be overloaded with calories.

If you select an egg (meat group), buttered toast (bread and cereal group) and a glass of orange juice (fruit and vegetable group) three food groups are represented. The total caloric content of this meal is less than 300 calories. Add a glass of milk, skim or whole, and the meal includes all four food groups.

A breakfast such as this contributes vitamins, minerals, protein, carbohydrate and fat. All these nutrients are necessary and work together to help you meet daily demands and stresses.

Keep Your Nose Clean

The odds that you'll catch a cold this year are pretty good. Approximately 60 per cent of the American population gets a cold two or three times a year.

Other statistics gathered by the folks who make Scotties facial tissues indicate that at least half the population will catch a cold in the winter months.

How do you avoid sniffles and sneezes and keep your nose clean? Simple. Fight the "cold war" with an ounce of prevention.

Two good ways to prevent catching a cold: 1) maintain a proper diet; 2) keep your body in top physical condition.

A body in "top physical condition" is one that is well-exercised (even walking is better than nothing) and clean.

You should wash your hands before and after eating, before going to bed and any time you come in contact with a germ-laden area.

That also includes those "germy" cloth handkerchiefs stuffed in a pants pocket or purse. It is much more sensible to use disposable paper tissues to catch sniffles and sneezes. Germs will end up in the wastebasket, not back in your pocket or purse.

In addition to maintaining the body in top physical condition, we should all be more concerned about the quality of air we breathe. Although we can't do much to control the air outdoors, we can make sure the air in our homes contains moisture.

Moisture prevents chilling and dryness in the nose and throat, with perhaps less chance of infection and certainly less damage to the mucous membranes.

To increase moisture in the home use a humidifier.

Wife Of Daniel Boone

Rebecca Bryan was born in Virginia in 1739. She was the daughter of Joseph and Alee Bryan. Rebecca was one of eleven children. She grew to be a dark-eyed girl on the fords of the Yadkin River in North Carolina.

At the age of sixteen, Rebecca began work on a cambric apron, which she would wear over her first woman-length dress to the wedding of Mary Boone, a best friend. Mary was the sister of Daniel Boone, who later was to become Rebecca's husband. Mary Boone was marrying Rebecca's uncle, William Bryan.

It was the wedding feast that Rebecca met Daniel Boone, a volunteer under Major General Edward Braddock and his British regulars. After the feast, Daniel gave Rebecca a tight grip and told her he would be back.

When Daniel was home from war, William and Mary Bryan gave a feast for the Boone families. It was at this time that Daniel asked Rebecca to be his wife. They were married August 14, 1756. The marriage was a good match, for Rebecca was almost as handy with a rifle as her husband.

Their first home was with Daniel's mother and father. Before long all the Bryans and Boones took part in the raising of their cabin on Sugar Tree Creek. The cabin had one room, one door, two windows and a puncheon floor. Shortly after they moved into their new cabin, their first child was born.

Now, for the first time of many, the family was forced to move because of Indian trouble. This time they found a small home in Culpepper County. After a treaty was signed with the Cherokees, Rebecca and Daniel again returned to Sugar Tree. Here they remained until 1766. They sold their Sugar Tree home and drove to the head of the Yadkin. There they built their second log cabin, a replica of the one on Sugar Tree.

In 1773, Rebecca, now the mother of eight children, went with her adventurous husband on the trail to Kentucky. It was on the early part of this journey her son James was killed by Indians. The family then settled on the Clinch River in North Carolina, where they stayed for almost two years.

Rebecca was very grieved over the death of her son. Nothing seemed quite real. She must have more work to do, so that she would have no time to think, to brood, and then work came knocking at the door. Her uncle, James, was standing in the doorway with the news his wife had died, leaving six children, ages six to 16. Rebecca insisted he bring the children to live with her and Daniel. One family, two families overnight.

Rebecca's ninth child was born soon after the treaty of Sycamore Shoals was signed and Kentucky purchased from the Indians. In 1775 the Daniel Boone family and a caravan started for Fort Boonesborough, Kentucky named after Daniel.

Rebecca was the first white woman to stand on the banks of the Kentucky River. There Daniel built a cabin with a dirt floor, a hole for a window and daylight coming in between logs. Daniel also had built Rebecca the loom he had promised her earlier.

Rebecca was soon busy weaving cloth out of nettles. As soon as they were settled, she thought it was time to teach the four older girls how to bake. First she taught them the different kinds of corn-cake, the frontier staff of life; pone, the Indians called it. The girls soon learned the kinds of work necessary in pioneer Kentucky.

Rebecca faced many challenges in the untamed land. She had to mold bullets and load rifles in time of siege. She heard the screams of a daughter kidnapped by Indians and saw a tomahawk raised over her husband's head. She would guard the cabin and children while Daniel hunted. She never despaired when Daniel was reported killed, nor gave up hope when the Indians later captured him. Boone always returned from his adventures to find his wife waiting for him.

When intruding settlers pushed her hunter-husband westward, she followed along, determined not to "hobble her tramping man."

She and Daniel closed their long life together in the new settlement in Missouri, surrounded by children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

Rebecca's "forever rest" began in her sleep, March 18, 1813. She was buried in her cambric apron.

Rebecca was a true pioneer woman, with great courage and patience.

Keep Calves Dry

Calves less than six weeks old should be shielded from excessive moisture and drafts. That advice comes from Bill Wise, Extension veterinarian at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Wise says calves in a dry area can tolerate cold temperatures. However, they should be kept in a place where there is enough ventilation to eliminate excess moisture without causing drafts. Wise says one way to make protective ventilation work is to house calves in a small building away from where the rest of the herd is sheltered.

Beef Cattle Conference Set For January 16-17

A calf each year from each cow in the beef cattle herd. This sounds simple, but cattlemen know it's a goal which is very difficult to reach.

A Beef Cattle Reproduction Conference, aimed at providing information to help cattlemen come closer to this goal, will take place in Lexington on January 16 and 17. The conference is sponsored by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, and will take place in the Seay Auditorium on the UK Campus.

Several national authorities on beef cattle reproduction will take part in the conference. The program will emphasize proper feeding of the cow herd, increasing cow maternal performance and calf survival through crossbreeding, avoiding cow and calf losses from difficult births and infectious diseases, and methods of identifying infertile bulls. There will also be an update on such new techniques in beef cattle reproduction as embryo transfers, synchronized estrus, and multiple births.

The program will get underway at 9:30 a.m. on January 16 with Dr. Breck Dahl of UK, talking about measures of reproductive performance in beef cattle. He will be followed by Dr. Olds of UK, who will discuss factors that reduce the size of the calf crop. Drs. Gay and Johns of UK will recommend feeding programs suitable for developing replacement heifers and producing cows. The effects of heterosis and genetic abnormalities on reproduction will be covered by Dr. Thrift of UK.

In the afternoon on January 16, there will be presentations on artificial insemination and heat detection methods. The speakers, respectively, will be Dr. Jones Jr. of Curtiss Breeding Service and Dr.

The program on January 17 will begin at 8 a.m. Reproductive diseases and calf diseases will be discussed by Dr. Amstutz of Purdue and Dr. LaBore of UK will describe recommended herd health programs. Dr. Belkows will tell how to assist cows that have calving difficulty.

In the afternoon, Dr. Maddox will describe regulatory programs for safeguarding reproductive performance. Also, reports on new techniques in reproduction, including ova transfers, synchronized estrus, and multiple births.

A New Year, A New Leadership, And An Old Faith

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

We Americans lived through a historic year in 1974, one that many of us would like to forget.

The resignation of the President under circumstances which brought impeachment proceedings against him, and criminal prosecution of the Attorney General of the United States and a number of White House aides, rocked the country to its foundations, causing great divisiveness and bitterness.

Nevertheless, here we are beginning a new year with a new President and Vice President after a smooth, constitutional transition that aroused wonder and admiration around the world. If we cannot rejoice in the unhappy circumstances that precipitated it all, we certainly can take great pride in the political structure of our Nation which safely saw us through the crisis.

It goes without saying that with our pride there should be joined deep appreciation for the wisdom and foresight of our Founding Fathers who laid the foundations of that structure in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. The only way we can repay our debt to them is to insure that those who come after us will live in the same fullness of freedom we have enjoyed. The Constitution, some two centuries old, guided us safely through 1974's grave political turmoil. The new 25th Amendment, by which our new President and Vice President came into office, was itself made possible by the amending process provided for in the Constitution.

The Declaration of Independence is a Declaration of Dependence upon Almighty God. It is my conviction that this Nation will live, and prosper, and ever grow stronger through all its troubles, as long as Americans never forget that single principle upon which all else rests.

We as a people shall always have our differences. But we will remain united and great as long as we and our children appreciate and acknowledge that our "unalienable Rights"—among which are "Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness"—come from the Creator our Fathers acknowledged before the whole world—and not from the state or its leaders. We respectfully can disagree with our leaders—and each other—as much as we wish, but thank God for the freedom which makes that disagreement possible.

This would be a good time to read again, together with our families, that venerable Declaration of Independence, and—to further strengthen our family and National life—"with a firm Reliance on the Protection of divine Providence...mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor."

Senator
Dee Huddleston

REPORT to the People

Tax Reform Big Must

The new 94th Congress, which convenes January 14, will face many new challenges. But in my opinion none is greater than the need for a thorough revamping of our tax code to eliminate inequities and loopholes which allow wealthy corporations and individuals to virtually escape taxation.

One recent Congressional study showed that 10 of the nation's biggest corporations paid on federal income taxes last year, while another 20 companies with profits of $5.3 billion paid an effective rate of between 1 and 10 percent despite a statutory tax rate of 48 percent on corporate income.

And we are all familiar with the celebrated cases in which wealthy individuals including many who make several hundred thousand per year pay little or no taxes through the use of various loopholes and tax shelters. Every attempt at genuine reform during the last Congress was a total failure.

This situation is a disgrace. Equity and fairness must be the cornerstone of any tax system. And the only way we can get that kind of tax equity is with a major package of reform proposals.

From Bobbie's Desk

I had a friend make a provocative statement the other day. She was talking about these little pieces that I write each week and she asked me, "If you could give a child a present of 1975, what would you make it?"

The enormity of the question grew the more I thought about it. Goodness knows, peace would have to be there, right at the top just like the star on the tree. There would have to be the peace outside because without living in peace, you cannot have peace inside yourself. This is a definite must.

Then, too, there would have to be prosperity. Because a child can't be too happy if he's hungry and cold. Even if there is love, if your nose is dripping with cold, and there isn't any supper, there is lack.

Happiness is an elusive thing. The poorer people think the answer is money. No. Just ask those with plenty. Their whole time is spent in testing those around them to see if it is their humanity that is being loved, or their money.

The people in lands with little space want to conquer the nations with much virgin timber, oil wells, and waters to navigate in.

The whole thing sorta reminds me of a farmer who wants to pasture his cattle off his neighbor just in case his own grass gets short later with dry weather. Ha! Each of us tries to find the answer off somebody else. The poem about the knight who looked all over God's country to find the silver chalice is a beautiful example of this. Each of us wants to let "George do it."

I wish the answer were this simple. It isn't. The answer lies within each of us. Just like the cup was hiding in the knight's own home. The whole answer lies in every one of us doing the very best we can each day, for ourselves and everyone around us, be they near or

Veterans: Questions And Answers

Q. I was discharged about 25 years ago after three years of military service. Is it too late to apply for a GI home loan from the Veterans Administration?

A. No. There has been no deadline for applying for this benefit which is available to veterans of World War II and later periods since enactment of the Veterans Housing Act of 1970.

Q. Does the compensation check I receive monthly from the Veterans Administration for a 20 per cent service-connected disability include allowances for my children?

A. No. A veteran's service-connected disability must be rated 50 per cent or more before allowances can be paid for dependents.

Q. I was honorably discharged last month after three years of military duty, none of it in Vietnam. Am I eligible for the GI Bill?

A. Yes. Veterans separated after January 31, 1955, with an other than dishonorable discharge after at least 181 days of active duty, have eligibility for 10 years or until May 31, 1976, which ever is later. Geographic location of service has no bearing on eligibility.

Energy Tip

A home that is too dry must be kept warmer than one with the proper humidity level in order to give the same comfort. So a humidifying device is a good investment, whether it is installed with your heating plant or is a free-standing electric humidifier.

If you have unused rooms, and areas, keep them closed off. Also, make sure all doors leading to unheated areas are kept closed. But, if you have ducted warm air, make sure that closing off unused rooms will not interfere with the air circulation patterns in your home and cause your heating plant to operate irregularly.

Red Cross Caution:

To prevent a fire in your home, The Red Cross says to make sure discarded matches and cigarettes are out. Never smoke in bed. Collect combustible rubbish such as oily rags in covered metal containers, and throw them out regularly. Use a fire-retardant material on your roof. Replace worn wiring and extension cords. Handle gasoline and similar flammable liquids with care and never bring gasoline into the house. Keep candles and other open flames away from Christmas trees. Have the telephone number of the fire department handy and make sure your children know how to call.

MAN OF COMPASSION

One writer with uncommon insight has noted that "there never was any heart truly great and generous, that was not also tender and compassionate."—South.

Our Lord Jesus acknowledged no barriers of race, nationality, creed, sex, or age. The story of the Good Samaritan is a glorification of one from a hated community. His insight found no fault with the Syrophenician woman. And many scholars believe it was a blackskinned man, the Cyrenian, who carried Jesus' cross when He fell under it.

Our scripture lesson begins with Jesus in the synagogue at Nazareth. Jesus, throughout His life, had been faithful to the synagogue services. His faithfulness likely played an important part in being selected that day to read the Old Testament scriptures. From this passage we learn that His mission was to be that of deliverance.

The scroll of Isaiah was handed to Jesus with the request that He take this part of the services. Luke tells us that when Jesus had "found the place where it was written," this would indicate that the passage was not turned to by chance. Jesus knew what He wanted to read!

From Isaiah 58:6 and 61:1-2 He read what the prophet Isaiah had spoken to comfort the people of God in captivity in Babylon. Jesus served throughout His public ministry on earth with the consciousness that God's Holy Spirit was upon Him. Jesus knew that He had been anointed by the Father to bring good news to the poor. The poor in material goods? Yes, but especially to the spiritually poor. His ministry would be to the brokenhearted. People with broken hearts and broken lives are all about us today. The pastor, the teacher, the child of God must be aware that these need to be ministered to.

Jesus came "to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind." Iron and steel chains are not the only instruments which bind human beings. Men are bound by the chains of sin! Even in this so-called enlightened age, multitudes grope in blind superstition. Jesus came to set at liberty them that are bruised. Jesus came to set men free. No one is really free until he has experienced the saving grace of God in his heart.

Jesus shocked His audience that day by saying to them, "This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears." Centuries of prophecy, especially what Isaiah had spoken and Jesus had just read, was now being fulfilled. It is not difficult to speak of what God has done or to speak of what He is going to do. What about today? Can the captive power of sin be broken today? Is God doing anything in the world today?

In Luke 5:18-21 is the account of some men who were determined to get another man into the presence of Jesus.

Determination, Luke 5:18-21. Mark tells us that there were four of these men. They brought a paralyzed man to Jesus, but were unable to get him through the multitude of people who had flocked to hear Jesus. Here is a fine example of men who knew what they wanted and also the worthwhileness of their goal. They refused to quit. They found a way. Faith, love, and good solid determination always does.

The people of Jesus' day did not believe a sick man could be completely cured until his sins had been forgiven. Jesus knew that the man could never be a complete and full man unless he was healed spiritually. Jesus began by announcing that his sins were forgiven. Luke is careful to remind his readers that Jesus said this "when He saw their faith."

To the religious leaders this was blasphemy. Only God could forgive sins. They were right on that score. They were wrong on the next. Jesus was God in the flesh!

In verses 22 through 25 Jesus gives them a demonstration.

Demonstration, Luke 5:22-25

When Jesus knew what they were thinking, He challenged them with a question. The answer was obvious. Anyone could pronounce a man's sins forgiven and there would be no way of proving the outcome. But to demonstrate God's power to heal would be also to demonstrate His power to forgive. Jesus orders the man to take up his bed and go home. The man immediately "took up that whereon he lay" and went home glorifying God. What had once arried the hopeless and helpless man: the healed and happy man now carries!

Minster's Message
January 1975

It sure is good to be back in church again and to be able to continue our ministry for Christ and his church. We want to praise God for his love and for his healing power.

We are grateful for the way you have stood by us through this period of illness. The many prayers, cards, visits, and gifts have meant so very much to us. Also, the services performed by those dedicated Christians will not soon be forgotten.

As we face a new year we are challenged to a deeper dedication and greater determination to serve our Lord faithfully. During the recent months we have lost some of the church's most dedicated Christians. We miss these who were so loyal to their church. The question comes to our mind, who will take their place? I think we all know the answer. It was discovered many years ago by the prophet Isaiah when he faced the same problem. His response was, "Here am I; send me." (Isaiah 6:8).

Will you respond to God's call to Christian service by saying, "Here am I; send me?"

We believe that the year 1975 can be the greatest year ever for the Walton United Methodist Church. God's power is not limited. He is continuing to perform miracles. We believe God wants this to be a year of many miracles in the life of the church.

Let us all rededicate ourselves to Christ and renew our vows to His church.

Robert Yates

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank everyone for the prayers, cards, visits, flowers and visitors during my illness.

Also to those who devoted their services to Leadership in the church during this time.

For Your Child's Safety

Playgrounds are a great place for children to have fun, but sometimes their enjoyment can be spoiled by needless and easily avoidable accidents, cautions Dr. Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and medical director of the Prudential Insurance Company.

"While the variety of amusements at a playground make it the attractive place it is for youngsters," says Dr. Domm, "that same variety greatly increases the chances for injury if the child, or parent watching him is not careful."

He cites the following as some of the chief dangers of the playground: Swings: Be sure the child is secure and balanced when sitting on a swing. Also teach him to watch for flying swings when he is not on them. Many children receive serious head injuries when struck by swings.

Sliding boards: They are no place for horseplay. Toddlers should not be allowed to ride them under any circumstances.

Merry-go-rounds: If a child slips off, serious injury is quite likely. When they are old enough, youngsters should be taught to sit upright, grasping the handrail with both hands.

Monkeybars: Accidents will happen on these, since even the most coordinated child can slip. The careful parent should caution against all showboating.

Community Services

The churches of Walton will hold a Community Service Sunday Evening, January 19, 1975, to observe the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

Eden Shale
Group Ministry

A group of ministers and laymen from the Owenton area will present a special program at the Walton United Methodist Church on Sunday Evening, January 26, 1975 at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

St. John wasn't his last name—that was French and usually mispronounced. But around Cape Cod, he was known simply as St. John, after his home town in Canada.

His appearance seemed far from saintly. Yet it never seemed awkward calling him that. He loved people. He loved the sea. He loved hard work. Most importantly, he loved his church and God. And his enthusiasm was contagious—somehow you felt better after you'd been with St. John.

It's refreshing and exciting to run into someone who tries hard to put his religion into living and working.

Remember that, Sunday and every day. Then folks might feel that same excitement when they run into you and me. That's something to strive for.

Crittenden Service Station Robbed

Two young men robbed a Crittenden service station attendant Sunday night and then drove him 20 miles from the scene where he was thrown from the car. State police identified the victim of the robbery-abduction as William Michael Louis, an attendant at the Standard Station, at the I-75 interchange. The pair both 18 to 25 years of age with long hair, was armed with a revolver. They took $600 cash from the attendant and forced him into their blue Chevrolet and was later released on Old Decoursey RPK in Kenton County. Louis' age and address was not known at state police headquarters today as investigating detectives are still looking for the robbers. The robbery occurred shortly before 9 p.m.

FEARLESS FORECAST

by R. W. Lancaster

January 9, 1975

If you have been planning to cut timber or fence posts try to get it done today or tomorrow while the waning moon is in the fire sign Sagittarius and they will dry out quick. If you need new shoes or clothing the afternoon hours would be a good time for shopping. Try to get your sewing and patching caught up today.

January 10th

If you have been planning on doing some baking try the afternoon hours for pies and cookies not too good a time for yeast breads and cakes as they might not rise too good. If you are going to collect some outstanding debts try the afternoon hours or any time tomorrow and you should be successful. Write your ad for next weeks paper if you have anything to sell as the selling aspects are good for next weekend.

January 11th

A good day for any kind of sporting activities especially outdoors if the weather permits, with the new Moon coming tomorrow the fishing will be exceptionally good the next few days and anyone that will fish this time of year deserves a good catch. A good day to start writing off for the new seed catalogues and plan next springs activities. I have been studying up on companion planting and find that you can plant white geraniums in your rose bed and kill the Japanese beetle. I will tell you more next May.

January 12th

The first new Moon of the new year early this morning could make us think of the past present and future, here is what Longfellow had to say about it. (The same object seen from the three different points of view - the past, the present, and the future - often exhibits three different faces to us; like those sign boards over shop doors, which represent the face of a lion as we approach, of a man when we are in front, and of an ass when we have passed.)

January 13th

The new Moon in the friendly sign aquarius this morning would be a good time to contact old and new customers if you are in business or have anything to sell, you might be surprised at the friendly response you receive. Any letters or sales literature you prepare now will be well received. Be sure you have your ad in the Advertiser office before noon.

January 14th

Today would be a good time to shop for a new home or some real estate for an investment and Thursday would be a good time to take care of the legal aspects. If you have been planning to rent on a long time lease you could probably find what you want today. Save your grocery shopping until Friday and you will get some bargains with your hard earned money.

January 15th

The Moon went in to the enter sign Pisces at mid-morning so this would be a good time to take care of your house plants, do your clipping and transplanting and don't forget to give them a good drink. This is a poor time for sporting activities but a good time for some friendly visits especially to a shut in, you will be well repaid with happiness for any kindness you do today.

News From County Extension

By: Nancy W. Norman

Home gardens will be a popular item this year due to rising food prices and people's desire to be self sufficient. You will have two opportunities to learn more about home gardening. The public is welcome to attend.

The Boone County Extension Service is planning a meeting on Home Gardens for Wednesday, February 26, 1975 at 7:30 p.m., at the Kentucky Savings and Loan Association. The Kenton County Extension Service is sponsoring one for Thursday, February 27, at 7:30 p.m. at the Kenton County Courthouse, Independence.

February may seem a bit early to think about gardening, but in only a few weeks, preparation should begin. Of course, the best gardens are planned during the cold confining days of winter.

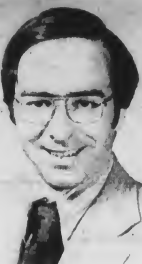

Dr. C. J. Roberts, University of Kentucky Horticulture Specialist, will join local county extension agents for the program.

Please call 586-6101, Ext. 17 or 18, to pre-register for Boone County and 356-3115 to pre-register for the Kenton County School.

AND ANALYSIS

By Darwin Foley
Kenton County
Extension Agent

At the State Fruit and Vegetable Meeting in Elizabethtown, Kenneth Frith, Speaking for farm chemical suppliers advised farmers to book pesticides for 1975 as soon as possible. He suggested that farmers receive part of their order early and part later to help suppliers meet the demand. Some chemicals such as aldrin, deildrin and chlordane will no longer be manufactured for agricultural use because of EPA rulings. Chemical companies will also concentrate on manufacturing their more profitable products. This will mean less selection for 1975.

It's also time to order seed and fertilizer for 1975. Seed corn may also be in short supply for 1975. Be sure to check the seed tag for certification, variety, germination percent and sytoplasm content.

To The Editor:

Dear People:

Please renew our subscription for another year.

We really like the new look The Advertiser took on the past year. Thank you for your help.

Sincerely Yours,

Bit of Philosophy

A bit of philosophy from a publication of the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company reads, "It would be interesting to add up how many minutes and how many hours of our life are spent in impatience, waiting for the next event to happen. After all, are not those minutes valuable to us? Do many of us have any time to deliberately toss away just because we do not want to use it? Even the minutes lying awake at night are not lost. An idea germinates, a point is cleared, or a friend is remembered. Possibly, a plan is set in motion. As long as we cannot get to sleep anyway, why worry about the few extra minutes or even hours that have been granted us by our wakefulness?"

Remember a true hybrid is the first cross between pure strands of corn. Seed saved from last years hybrid will not be hybrid this year. Loss of hybrid vigor could result in up to 25 percent reduction in yield.

We have received copies of the 1974 Hybrid Corn Performance Test. This booklet can be a great help to you in choosing a variety in 1975. Over 100 varieties from the major seed companies were tested at nine Kentucky locations, for yield and disease resistance. Come into our office at Independence or call 356-3155 for your copy.

It's also time to think about fighting food costs with a home garden in 1975. Your garden doesn't have to be big to supply your families' needs. About 1,000 square feet per family member will be adequate. For a family of four that's an area 40 x 100, or about one tenth of an acre.

Look for announcements of home garden meetings to be conducted in February by the Kenton County and Boone County Extension Offices.

Red Cross Starts Classes

Don't wait until illness strikes a member of the family, prepare now to meet family health needs by enrolling in a Home Nursing Course offered by the Cincinnati Area Red Cross Nursing and Health Program. Registrations are now being taken for the class scheduled to begin Thursday, January 23, 1 to 3 p.m. The class will meet once a week, each Thursday, for six weeks at the Red Cross Memorial Building, 720 Sycamore St., Cincinnati. Call 721-2665 for more information and to register.

Under the supervision of a specially trained Red Cross nurse, class instruction teaches homemakers to care for bed patients and learn preventive health measures to protect self and family. Training includes taking and recording temperatures, administering medication and treatments ordered by the doctor, bathing a patient, bed making and providing proper sick-room diets. Students also participate in class discussion and practice sessions.

Red Cross Nursing Programs are one of the service programs of the Cincinnati Area Chapter supported through the United Appeal.

Good Citizen Award

The Boone County Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is proud to announce the winners of their annual Good Citizen Award to outstanding local high school seniors have been chosen for 1974. The aim of the award is to stress the development of the qualities of good citizenship: character, dependability, leadership, service and patriotism.

Three students are chosen by their classmates and the faculty makes the final decision. The winners will be guests of the February meeting of the Boone County Chapter D.A.R. where they will be presented with certificates of merit and awards. The girls will go on to compete in district competition, the winners of which will go on to the state and then national level.

Winners at the various schools are: Boone County High School: Diane Valerius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Valerius, and Rick Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Newman; Conner High School: Jan Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson, and Randy Graves, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Graves; Lloyd High School: Brenda Goodpastor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodpastor, and Matt Huff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Huff; Walton-Verona High School: Fannie Thorpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant W. Thorpe, and Gregory Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Ryan.

Makes Dean's List At Western Kentucky

To be named to the Dean's List at Western, a student must achieve an academic point standing of 3.3 or above out of a possible 4.0. Students with a 3.8 average or above are designated as President's Scholars.

The following have made that average and are included on the Dean's List at Western for the fall semester of 1974.

Martha Baker Ferguson, Miriam McConnell Ferguson, Darla Kay Love, Deborah Lynn Love, and David Maylor Rider.

Congratulations are on hand for these fine young people.

Walton Verona Wins Over Simon Kenton

On Tuesday, January 7 Walton Verona Bearcats traveled to Simon Kenton High School to bring home another victory for themselves.

Cinti Bell Has New Number

Cincinnati Bell is changing its telephone number to make it easier for Northern Kentucky residents in Boone, Campbell and Kenton Counties to contact the Covington Business Office.

Effective Monday, January 13, 1975, the telephone number will be 565 plus the first four numbers of the customers telephone number. The call will go automatically to the Service Representative in charge of the records for that customer.

The 565 telephone prefix is for all residential customers.

Business customers will use the prefix 566 and then add the first four numbers of their business telephone number.

Here's an example: If your residential or business telephone number is 999-1234, when you call the Telephone Company Business Office use the new prefix 566 for residential customers and 566 for business customers and then add 9991 and your call will go directly to the proper person.

These new numbers apply to any questions concerning your telephone service except repair calls or requests for new service. New customers requesting residential service should dial 565-5551 and business customers seeking new service can dial 566-5551.

Gallatin, Grant and Pendleton County customers will continue to contact the Williamstown Office—824-3313.

Cincinnati Bell has mailed each customer a new Page 4 to be placed in the 1974-75 issue of the All-In-One Telephone Directory. Also, the new Business Office telephone number will be shown monthly on the telephone bills of each customer.

Lady Baltimore - A Walnut Treat

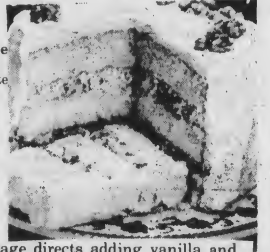

The Lady Baltimore Cake has been a dessert showpiece for years. Three tender white cake layers are put together with a filling of raisins, dates, and crunchy California walnuts. Perfect for parties, today's contemporary cake version is made with speedy cake and frosting mixes that still give you as elegant a cake as if you'd started from scratch. Developed in the Diamond Walnut Kitchen, this Speedy Lady Baltimore Cake variation is easy to assemble when you use convenient mixes plus California walnuts that come already shelled and nutcracker fresh in clear bags or vacuum cans. If you prefer to crack your own, you'll find plenty of walnuts in-the-shell in cellophane bags.

Speedy Lady Baltimore Cake
1 package 18 1/2 ounce of white cake mix
1 teas. vanilla

Prepare cake mix as package directs adding vanilla. Pour batter into 3 greased and floured 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Cool layers on wire racks. Put together with Speedy Lady Baltimore Frosting and filling.

Speedy Lady Baltimore Frosting

2 packages 7 ounce fluffy white frosting
1/2 teas. vanilla
1/4 teas. lemon extract
1/2 cup chopped raisins
1/2 cup chopped dates
2 tab. brandy or orange juice
1/4 cup finely chopped walnuts.

Mix frosting mix as package directs adding vanilla and lemon extract. To the icing add raisins and dates that have been soaked in brandy or orange juice. Stir in walnuts. Use as filling between the cake layers. Use remainder of the plan frosting with out fruits and walnuts to frost sides and top of cake. Makes one three-layer cake.

Dr. Congleton Leaves On 21 Day Mission

Dr. Ralph Congleton of Lexington, a prominent civic leader wellknown in the dental profession, has been selected and named as host for a delegation of Kentucky Dental Leaders on a 21 day Goodwill People-to-People inspection mission throughout Australia, New Zealand, and the Fiji Islands. The Kentucky delegation will depart from the San Francisco International Airport on November 1, 1975. They are scheduled to take part in numerous visits with their occupational counter parts, for the purpose of exchanging dental ideas, as well as participate in numerous meetings and interviews with United States and foreign government representatives. The Goodwill mission will take the Kentucky citizens to the southwest Pacific area. Membership in the Kentucky People to People delegation is limited to official and personal invitations only. The entire Goodwill People-to-People mission, privately sponsored and organized under the Goodwill People-to-People Travel Program, is approved and endorsed by the national office of People-to-People, Inc. with headquarters in Kansas City, Missouri.

The purpose of this goodwill mission is to promote better dental understanding and goodwill as well as to tell the story of democracy during face visitations and to improve relations and feelings between our peoples.

The New Year's Kid

Well I guess I brought this New Year in right. Got all drunk up, got into a fight, Got two black eyes and a broken nose. Three busted ribs and some torn up clothes. Got thrown out of the joint where I'd been, Cost me twenty bucks just to get in. They kept my girl and my bottle of booze. My noise maker and one of my shoes.

Got in my car and started down the pike, Got two blocks then saw the flashing blue lights.

Tried to tell them I'd had only a few, And was hurrying home to my wife. Who was down with the flu.

They made me walk a straight line that night, Until I stepped on my fingers. I was doing alright, Now here I sit in the workhouse jail, Not a person in town will even go my bail.

So I'll just have to sweat it, but I guess that's all right, Until three-hundred and some days, Until another New Year's Eve night.

Kentucky Males Above Average

Kentucky is above the national average in the "signing up" of its estimated eligible pool of males age 18 with selective service. This is the word of Colonel Taylor L. Davidson, State Director.

According to the selective service official, young men born in 1956 generally have responded in registering with selective service. "This timely response and demonstration of good citizenship has enabled the state to be approximately 12 percent above the national average," Davidson said.

"Our Washington Headquarters has projected that in the state through December there were 39,276 males born in the year 1956 who have the obligation to register with selective service. Approximately 91 per cent of this estimated eligible pool have complied with the law," The State Director said.

He said statewide there has been slight variations in registration input in the last quarter of calendar year 1974. The official attributed the minimal fluctuation to the fact that it has been more convenient for the young man to register within 60 day period beginning 30 days before or 30 days after attaining age 18. This convenience was a result of the appointment of additional registrars including high school and college personnel, and use of a "mail in" registration form.

Colonel Davidson stated his field personnel has intensified their registrar and school contacts to assure that every young man has been well informed of his obligation to comply with the Military Selective Service Act.

In the System's current "standby" status we are most grateful for the more than 800 public spirited citizens who now serve as volunteer registrars. Their civic mindedness has made it possible to provide a registration service in the 108 counties which do not have a full time local board office," The State Director said.

Colonel Davidson praised the media of public information, businesses, utilities, and elected county officials for their support. "They too have made our task easier through providing publicity. We value this contribution and hope the good relationship will continue," The State Director said.

Counselor Handbook

The Northern Kentucky Personnel and Guidance Association under the leadership of Ezekiel Vargas, President of NKPGB and counselor at Campbell County High School, and Ivan Bennett, President-Elect of NKPGB and Manager of Learning of the Covington Job Preparation Center have recently announced the completion of their Counselor Handbook. The Handbook has received state recognition at the KPGA Fall Conference held in Louisville, Kentucky. The front cover of the red handbook has inscribed a logo, that originated with the Northern Chapter of the Kentucky Personnel and Guidance Association. It is the hope of this local that other divisions and Chapters adopt the logo for their own handbook. The chairman of the handbook committee was James L. Poore, past president of NKPGB and presently the Area Consultant in Guidance Services.

Information in the handbook include a brief history of the NKPGB. Past-Presidents since 1964. Firsts for Northern Kentucky (example, the first full-time high school counselor, the first full-time elementary school counselor, first vocational counselor.) The Table of Contents demonstrate a wide area of usefulness. The Community Resources section includes everything from Adoption Services to Veterans and Armed Services. The Counselor Library Resources include personal references, college catalogs, and counselor materials. There is also an extensive section listing all Post-Secondary Resources from Barber Schools to Universities. A section covering Speakers and Topics would come in handy to any school or organization. Especially for the employment agencies and schools in the area is the section on Group Guidance and Employment Related Situations. Every Counselor and individual in a related counseling field would be interested in a comprehensive listing of all Professional Organizations (local, state, and national), their cost and mailing address. Final sections in the Counselor Handbook consist of a listing of Vocational Opportunities in the Northern Kentucky Region, special programs and courses available in each school. A List of Membership of the Northern Kentucky Personnel and Guidance Association completes the Counselor Handbook. The handbook cost $2 for 104 pages of relevant and worthwhile information for everyday use.

The NKPGB is an organization for personnel involved the schools, employment and social agencies, and colleges and universities. To obtain information on membership or on the purchase of the Counselor Handbook, contact Ezekiel Vargas at 635-2191 or Ivan Bennett at 291-1181.

When you buy a "special" at the grocery, make sure the lower price is rung up when you go through the check-out line. UK Extension specialists in consumer economics recommend. Checkers don't always have the latest price information and thus may charge you the regular price.

Crop Varieties

You can get your crops off to a good start in 1975 by planting varieties which are well-adapted to your farming needs. The University of Kentucky's Agricultural Experiment Station is constantly testing old and new crop varieties at various locations throughout Kentucky. After careful evaluation in closely supervised experiments, and after proven performance, the best varieties are placed on a Recommended Variety List. Varieties on this list have been tested for a minimum of three years. They are known to be adapted to Kentucky conditions. A list of crop varieties recommended for Kentucky is available from local County Extension Offices.

Corn For Silage

When choosing a corn hybrid to plant for silage, you should base the selection on grains yields. That is the advice of Morris Bitzer, Extension grain crops specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Bitzer explains that the highest yielding grain varieties will produce the highest quality of feed as silage. They will also produce the most tons of silage in most cases. Special silage varieties tend to be lower in grain content and slower maturing, Bitzer says.

Social Security

The Medicare Hospital Insurance deductible will be $92 starting January 1, 1975. According to John Walter, Social Security District Manager in Covington.

"A Medicare patient who goes into a hospital and starts a benefit period after December 31 will be responsible for the first $92 of the hospital bill," Walter said.

The 1974 deductible was $84. Under the Medicare Law, the amount will increase to keep it in line with the average cost of one day's stay in a hospital.

"The increase to $92 for 1975 is a result of a review of hospital costs during 1973," Walter said. "However, the present $84 deductible remains in effect throughout any benefit period that started in 1974 even if the period of hospitalization goes in 1975."

Under the law, the increase in the deductible means there also will be increases starting January 1 in three other amounts. Medicare payments for covered care.

For a hospital stay of over 60 days, the patient will pay $23 a day (up from $21) for covered services furnished on the 61st through the 90th day.

For a post-hospital stay of over 60 days in a skilled nursing facility, the patient will pay $15.50 a day (up from $10.50) for the 21st through the 100th day.

For reserve days used after 90 days of hospital care in a benefit period the patient will pay $46 a day (up from $42).

Medicare Hospital Insurance helps pay for hospital stays and certain post hospital care of people 65 and over. Disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to Social Security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more, and many people who have chronic kidney disease and need dialysis or a transplant.

Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the US Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

IRS Talks About Your Income Tax

Paul Niederrecker, District Director of Internal Revenue for Kentucky, announced today that the loss to American Building and loan depositors can now be determined sufficiently to allow a deduction on 1974 Federal income tax returns. Niederrecker announced that 7.6 percent of each depositor's claim is worthless and may be deductible as a non-business bad debt loss on 1974 and later returns.

The loss determination has been made in the following manner: Cash Distribution 1973 and 1974 is 40 percent.

Value of Certificates of Deposit disbursed in 1974 is 47.4 percent.

Expected additional cash distribution by Receiver is 5.0 percent.

Total recovery is 92.4 percent. Worthless determination is 7.6 percent.

A non-business bad debt is treated as a short term capital loss for Federal income tax purposes. The loss may be offset against capital gains. Any loss not offset by capital gains may be deducted from ordinary income up to $1,000 with the balance carried forward as a deduction in the same manner on returns for later years until used.

Niederrecker advised depositors to contact the Louisville IRS Office for assistance if they have any questions as to the proper amount to deduct on their 1974 tax return.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORT to the People

I think a great deal was accomplished during the last session in the way of redressing the imbalance in power between the executive and legislative branches of government.

I would cite two new laws in particular the War Powers Act and the Impoundment and Budget Control Act. The former firmly sets out the conditions under which any President can commit American troops to combat and it strictly limits the President's ability to do so without specific Congressional approval.

The impoundment and budget control establishes a mechanism for setting the enforcing an annual budget ceiling. It also severely limits the ability of the executive branch to impound money which has been duly authorized and appropriated by the Congress.

New York By adding host government contributions in 36 countries and US grants, CARE provided almost $6 worth of aid in 1974 for every dollar donated by the public.

Veterans Administration News Release

Kentucky veterans will receive $3,316,000 in insurance dividends in 1975 from the Veterans Administration. Dividends will be paid on the anniversary date of policies now in force to 43,580 veterans.

Dividends are on policies from World War I, World War II and for the first time this year, the Korean Conflict.

Consumer Comments

One person's estimate is another's "guesstimate." Consumers should remember that estimates are not exact statements of what a job will cost, but rather a general approximation of the cost.

It's a wise practice to get at least three estimates for such things as car and appliance repair or home improvements jobs. When getting estimates, there are some precautions consumers should take.

Explain fully to the estimator the exact work you wish to be done, so that there will be no late surprises. Insist that a contractor come to your home and personally assess a job. Never accept an estimate for appliance repair with out showing the appliance to the estimator.

Get all estimates in writing, including all additional charges and costs. If there is a charge for the estimate itself, or if the charge is to be refunded at the time of payment, get that in writing too. The estimate also should contain a specific description of the work and the kind of quality of materials to be used.

Get a commitment, also in writing, that if the actual charge is going to exceed the estimate, the company will obtain prior approval from you.

Ask the amount of time it will take to complete the job. Have it put in writing.

Once you've received the written estimates, consider more than just the dollars and cents. Information on the company or vendor's past performance and reliability must be taken into account.

Remember, too, that in some instances, the estimator may have difficulty in determining even an approximation of the cost. The extent of such things as water damage may be unknown until a job is begun. Prices for materials may change. And if some of the work is subcontracted, the charges of the subcontractor may not be known.

Address Change For SBA Office

The Small Business Administration, in an effort to better serve the people of this area, will now be located in the City-County Building, Room 84, 301 (3rd &) Court Streets, Covington, Ky. A loan officer will visit this location the 3rd Tuesday of each month from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Those interested may contact the SBA representative at the City-County Building, or by phoning 684-1771.

In order to determine credit and eligibility requirements for SBA loan programs, it is suggested that the businessman bring with him a recent financial statement or balance sheet of the business and profit and loss statement for the full year. This information pertains to established businesses. However, anyone interested in establishing a new business is encouraged to consult with this representative, as well as other businessmen who are in need of financial advice or assistance.

SCORE consultants will be in the office five days a week from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

There are 1,106 veterans of World War I who have retained their policies and will share in the $194,000 with an average payment of $175.

World War II veterans in Kentucky with policies number 37,290 they will receive an average payment of $82 from a state total of $3,067,000.

Korean veterans will receive a smaller amount averaging about $11. Total amount of the dividend for 5,184 Kentucky veterans is $55,000.

All payments are automatic and veterans do not need to make application for them.

Nearly 2.3 million veterans and survivors will receive 12 percent increases in their monthly Veterans Administration checks and 6,537 severely disabled Cold War veterans will be eligible for $3,000 automobile grants as a result of two bills signed by the President.

These increases are in addition to the increased GI Bill education allowances, that became law December 3, VA Administrator Richard L. Roubush said.

The 12 percent increase applies to pensions for veterans who have become disabled from non-service connected causes and to their widows and children. Increased allowances were payments to dependent parents of veterans who died or were totally and permanently disabled from service connected causes. The payments, called pension on dependency and indemnity compensation, were last increased on January 1, 1974 by 10 percent. This year's 12 percent increase began January 1, and will be reflected for the first time in checks received February 1.

The other measure broadens eligibility for automobile grants to include veterans who suffered loss of both hands or both feet or loss of their use due to military service between World War II and the Korean Conflict. Total cost of the two measures will be about $1 billion.

SUNDAY

SERMON

In a company of literary men in Boston, Daniel Webster was asked if he could comprehend how Jesus Christ could be both God and Man. "No sir," he replied, and added, "I should be ashamed to acknowledge him as my Savior if I could comprehend Him. If I could comprehend him he would be no greater than myself. Such is my sense of sin and consciousness of my inability to save myself, that I feel I need a superhuman Savior, one so great and glorious that I cannot comprehend Him."

Because of our inability to comprehend Christ in all of His glory most of us have our moments or months of doubt and unbelief. This is especially true in times of crises. It was so with Martha in our Scripture passage. Her brother, Lazarus, became seriously ill. She sent for Jesus. She knew He could and would help. For reasons of His own He did not choose to come immediately. After Lazarus had been dead four days Jesus arrived.

John points out the fact that Lazarus had already been in the tomb four days. According to popular Jewish belief the human spirit hovered near the dead body for three days and then departed. Martha by now had given up any hope that anything could be done.

The fact that many of the Jews had come the two miles from Jerusalem to comfort the sisters would indicate that this was a very prominent family of Bethany.

When Martha heard that Jesus was finally coming, She went out to meet Him. Mary seems to have given in to her grief. She sat in the house. Here it would appear that Martha had chosen the better part. In times of grief and bereavement it is better for the bereaved to busy themselves than to give in to their grief. Many wellmeaning friends will want to do everything for the one in grief. It is better for them to have something to do.

Martha expressed her confidence in the ability of Jesus when she met Him. Jesus, she believed, could have kept Lazarus from dying. This may have been somewhat of a rebuke to Jesus. Martha may have been stung at the neglect of Jesus to come when they sent Him word. The bereaved one often will turn on the doctor, the pastor, or a close friend.

Martha does not linger with the past but further expresses her confidence in Jesus. She knows that even now, after four days, that if Jesus wanted to, He could ask God for help and it would be given. The faintest hope in Jesus is never disappointed.

The Assurance Of Jesus John 11: 23-24

Jesus stated firmly, "your brother will rise again." We must understand that one so filled with grief would not find adequate help for the moment in such a general promise. Martha reminds Jesus that she is aware that her brother will rise on that future resurrection day, she must now be led into a far deeper truth concerning Jesus.

The Authority of Jesus, John 11:25-27

Jesus used the two words "I am" in the emphatic position. The literal meaning is, "I and no one else am the resurrection," but He said, "I am the resurrection, and the life." God in Christ is not bound by the limits of time. With Him there is no past, present, or future. He is the great Presence, the great "I Am." Resurrection life is not manifested in a day but in a Person, and that Person is Jesus the Lord. Jesus is Lord of life. He has the keys to death, hell, and the grave! Jesus then said to Martha, and to all, "he who believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live." Jesus desires to give eternal life to all who will believe in Him. What does it mean to believe in Him? It means to accept His promise as being fulfilled. Jesus promises - man believe His promise. Man trusts the verdict of eternity into the hands of Jesus. "In my hands no price I bring, simply to the Cross I cling."

Jesus continues to speak of life given to all who believe. This is not physical life but eternal life. God's kind of life. He who believes in Jesus will never die the spiritual, eternal death. This eternal life is to be experienced here and now. This eternal life will become a present reality to all who, in heart-faith, will say with Martha, "Yes, Lord, I believe that you are the Christ, the Son of God, who is (now who has, come) coming into the world."

Goshen Ladies Hold Meeting

The Goshen Christian Missionary Ladies Group met in the church basement for their January 8th meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mary Cook, roll call was answered by twelve ladies reading a verse of scripture with the word "Master" in it.

The Sunshine Report showed that 40 cards had been sent out and 29 visits made to the sick.

A letter from Grundy Mission was read asking the ladies to save all Campbell Soup labels for them.

Our group sponsored and completed four projects in the month of December. They were: Fruit cakes to shut-ins, cards, Christmas mailbox and Christmas wreaths for church doors.

At the noon hour, a very nice luncheon was served by Mrs. Mary Cook.

Those present were: Mrs. Goldie Glenn, Mrs. Rachel Daniels, Mrs. Lillian Elliott, Miss Ruth Piner, Mrs. Hazel Mullins, Mrs. Faye Bray, Mrs. Darlene Thornberry, Mrs. Esther Glenn, Mrs. Ruth Worthington, Mrs. Nannie Cliff Fisk, Mrs. Mary Cook, and Mrs. Eula LaFollette.

The program in the afternoon was in Acts, Chapter 27, with all ladies taking part and Mrs. Hazel Mullins as lesson leader.

Hostess for February will be Mrs. Esther Glenn, program leader. Mrs. Darlene Thornberry and the word for roll call will be "Storm or Tempest".

Week Of Prayer

A community Service will be held on Sunday Evening for the churches of the Walton Community to observe the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

The service will be on January 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the All Saints Church. The public is invited to attend.

Board Members Will Attend 2 Day School

Kentucky's New School Board Members who were elected last November to assume office this month will attend a two-day school, January 18 and 19, at the Lexington Hilton Inn, to acquaint them with their duties and responsibilities in managing and operating local schools.

The statewide orientation school, sponsored jointly by the Kentucky Department of Education (KDE) and the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA), will enroll more than 200 local school board members and administrators.

Chairman of the Kentucky State Board of Education, the Rev. Bob Brown, Lexington, will keynote the opening session at 2 p.m. on January 18. His subject will be "Your Opportunity in Public Service."

Dr. Edward Ford, Chairman of the Harrison County Board of Education, will address the new members on "The Functions of the Local Board of Education," and Harrison County School Superintendent Dr. Martin Carr will speak on "The Functions of the Local School Superintendent," at the First General Session chaired by Robert Allen member of the Newport Board of Education and President of the KSBA.

Sunday morning worship will be conducted by Dr. Donald Herren, Pastor of the Southern Hills United Methodist Church of Lexington. Dr. Herren is a member of the Fayette County Board of Education. Dr. Lyman Ginger, State Superintendent of Public Instruction will be the luncheon speaker on Sunday. He will also preside at a Sunday conference session designed to relate cooperative functions and responsibilities of the local board of education with the Kentucky Department of Education.

Henry Pogue, Jr., a veteran member of the State Board of Education, and Deputy State Superintendent Samuel Alexander will make presentations relating to state-local liaison in the development and offering of quality education programs to Kentucky's school children.

All new school board members will attend classes during the two-day school, conducted by authorities in Kentucky School Law, Kentucky School Finance and School Community Relations.

The Orientation school sessions will be concluded on Sunday afternoon with a feature film presentation of real-life situations and problems faced by local school boards.

KSBA Executive Director Maurice Bement said, "the aim of the Orientation school is to provide basic information to help the new board member to better understand his role and to equip him to effectively function as an elected representative in providing the best education possible for the children of his local school district."

While the attire here is a bit more formal, this scene could be Coney Island. Everywhere the beaches are crowded!

We don't know what brings penguins together in such number, but where people are concerned, it's the quest for recreation.

Interesting word: RE-creation . . . as if the work of God at the beginning of time has to be done over again . . . man, the creature, needing to be created again.

Physically recreation implies a restoration of energy and vitality through refreshing diversions.

But the idea has spiritual implications worth pondering: The Sunday morning a family devotes to worship is a time of recreation. It does more for the soul than the crowded beaches can do for the body and mind.

Life And Problems Will Be Probed

Life and all its problems and misery will be probed by professionals of Northern Kentucky Comprehensive Care when an eight week lecture program begins Wednesday evening, January 22, at Thomas More College.

Staff members who visit this county will be among the faculty members participating, according to Dr. Dale Klosterman, psychologist, with the eight-county agency.

He is to be aided by Dr. Michael Gatton, also a psychologist, and both will have the help of Dr. Maria Pinho, psychiatrist, and Dr. Clarence Jassetter, alcoholism authority.

Klosterman, in explaining the reason for the course, says "Sometimes problems develop slowly over a number of years. Others occur quickly but in either case individuals are poorly equipped to handle the trauma. "Depression," he adds, "can develop slowly and it appears at all age levels."

FEARLESS FORECAST

by R. W. Lancaster

January 16, 1975

The new Moon is still in the water sign Pisces today, so if you didn't take care of your house plants yesterday you can do the job any time before tomorrow. If you are having any kind of sale this weekend put the finishing touches on the merchandise today or tomorrow and it will sell quick and bring a good price. Do some older person a kindness in the afternoon and you will get your reward about 7 p.m. when the Moon trines Jupiter.

January 17th

This is a good day for sporting activities if the weather permits and any one who is sportman enough to fish this time of year will make some record catches. If you want to stimulate your hair growth get a haircut and massage any time today. Check the paper for weekend sales on groceries and appliances, and you should get some real bargains and don't forget the local auctions.

January 18th

The Moon went in to the fire sign Aries late last night, so plan on doing your home baking any time today, any yeast goodies will rise well and brown to perfection. Also a good day for house cleaning and checking to see if you have enough humidity. Studies indicate that if you keep the humidity at the right level you can turn the thermostat down on your furnace and still be comfortable also healthier.

January 19th

Another wonderful Sunday to enjoy and Joseph Addison once had these words of wisdom. (The hours of a wise man are lengthened by his ideas as those of a fool by his passions. The time of the one is long, because he does not know what to do with it; so is that of the other because he distinguishes every moment of it with useful or amusing thoughts; or, in other words, because the one is always wishing it away, and the other always enjoying it.)

January 20th

The Moon goes in to the fixed earth sign Taurus at mid-morning and makes strong aspects to the Sun and Mars at mid-morning, so if you spent your sabbath in rest and meditation you should be full of vim and vigor and ready for the new week. If your hair is hard to curl try to get a permanent between now and Wednesday afternoon and the new hair do will look nice and last a long time.

January 21st

This is a good day to catch up on your sewing and mending and also a good time for a manicure. If your own hair and nails are in good shape why not think of some older person that needs some attention and give them a new hair do and manicure this afternoon while the Moon trines Saturn the planet that rules the aged.

January 22nd

After your beauty treatments this would be a good day to shop for new clothing. If you are getting new shoes try to buy them late this afternoon after your feet get tired and you will get a much better fit. The evening would be a good time for a first date and with the Moon in Gemini it will be lots of fun but nothing of a serious nature.

Kentucky's Long Ago People

When the white men came to Kentucky, strange mounds were found in the Bluegrass region in Montgomery, Mason and Bath counties, and also in Hopkins County in western Kentucky. These mounds were used for burial places. The Indians said the mounds were made by the "long ago people."

These were the same people the Indians fought for the rich hunting grounds along the "river of blood."

Like the American Indians of later years, some of the long ago people lived in villages and raised crops like corn and gourds, and hunted and fished for their food. They lived give us answers to the cause of an animal's death and help us prepare to prevent the occurrence in the future. The lab is located on Newtown Pike in Lexington and is operated by the state of Kentucky. The purpose of the lab is to do animal autopsy. It is not an animal hospital and does not have facilities for holding live animals. Dead animals are received from 8 to 5 Monday through Friday.

Here's how you can get the most use out of the facility. Work through your veterinarian. It saves time in getting the answer when his experience directs the laboratory staff. Fewer tests will have to be performed to get the answer. You, your veterinarian and the lab must work together to get the most return.

Select your cases. If the laboratory examined every dead calf, cow, pig, dog, cat, horse, rabbit, and other animal, they'd have to expand the lab to four times its size.

Start seeking diagnostic help early when disease problems occur. Early answers usually help in saving livestock involved in the disease and may prevent spread to others.

Give as much honest information as possible. The laboratory keeps this information in reasonable confidence.

Allow time for an answer. This may mean days or weeks. Phone calls before findings are ready often delay the answer an equivalent length of time.

Use the same veterinarian or group of veterinarians in whom you have faith. This allows for an obvious accumulation of information as well as understanding and trust. The laboratory staff also gets a certain understanding of veterinarians who are prone to make an exotic diagnosis, or areas of the state which are more likely to have parasitism, vitamin deficiency or other conditions.

Let's hope you never need to use the lab. Use good herd health management. An adequate feeding program, insect and parasite control, and a vaccination program are essential. We have up to date information on herd health available at our office in Independence. Ask for ID-14 "Beef Health and Management Calendar" or other health publications.

Makes Dean's List

Judy Hetterman

Congratulations on your fine academic performance this past semester. You have been placed on the Dean's List for having earned at least a 3.5 grade point average for the Fall, 1974 semester. Out of 607 full-time students in the College of Home Economics, 101 students achieved this honor.

We are proud of you for this outstanding effort and know you and your family are equally pleased.

To you graduating seniors, we wish you the best of luck in your professional careers. We plan to keep in touch with you in the future and are interested in your evaluations of the education you received in our College. Please come back and visit us and keep us informed as to what you are doing. To those of you returning in the Spring we wish you continued success in your academic work.

The above letter was sent to Mr. and Mrs. John Hetterman of Crittenden, Ky., congratulating them on the success of their daughter's academic performance at the University of Kentucky.

Judy has been on the Dean's List every semester and to her we want to wish her the best of luck.

A 1971 graduate of Walton-Verona High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hetterman of Crittenden, Ky.

Augusta Panthers Win By Four

27 points scored by Danny Dixon didn't seem to help the Bearcats win over the Augusta Panthers on Tuesday night, January 14, but it made them only lose by a small score of four points. Lenny Spicer had 14 and then Bill Tungate chipped in another 8 points to help add up the final score.

Leading scorers on Augusta team was Baker with 22 points and Kennard with 14.

Walton-Verona

Dixon 9-9-27

Spicer 5-4-14

Mosley 3-0-6

Tungate 3-2-8

Leicht 2-0-4

Totals 25-15-65

The final score between the Walton-Verona Bearcats and the Augusta Panthers was 69 to 65. Walton will meet St. Thomas Tomcats on Friday, January 17 at St. Thomas.

Young Girl's Life Taken

A collision between a TANK bus and a Dodge on a Taylor Mill Road curve on Tuesday, January 14, claimed the life of a 16 year old girl from Simon Kenton High School.

Miss Norma Dozier Jones of Crittenden, died at 8:35 p.m. on Tuesday night following emergency surgery at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Norma was a homecoming queen candidate and member of the school drill team.

Norma died of head and internal injuries. The driver of the car, Randy Black of Independence, was seriously injured in the head on crash suffering with a fractured jaw and lacerations but is listed in fair condition.

Norma just celebrated her 16th birthday on December 17, 1974.

Man Dies As Truck Flips Over

A truck driver lost control of his tractor-trailer rig on I-71 in Boone County Saturday morning and died after it landed on top of him.

State police said the rig driven by Charles Stanley Wommer, 32, of Louisville, left the right side of the roadway about 6:30 a.m., about four miles north of Verona, hit an embankment and overturned. The trailer landed on top of the cab, pinning Wommer for about three hours, state police said.

Wommer was pronounced dead at the scene by Boone County Coroner Don Smith.

Police said Wommer was carrying a load of paper plates, napkins and other products for McDonald's in Cincinnati. Part of the cargo was strewn around the scene.

"It just tore up," said Donald Sechrest, of Williamstown, who operated one of the garage wreckers called to the scene.

Notice

Children must be five before January 1 to be enrolled in the kindergarten and four before that date to be enrolled in the nursery school. The kindergarten will be going into its second year serving the community and will continue to be staffed by the same teachers, Lois Lambers and Marilyn Hopper. The nursery school will be a new venture started in response to the need in our community for providing four year olds with learning through classroom experience planned by the teacher as well as learning through play.

For further information, call Marilyn Hopper at 384-3925, or Lois Lambers at 384-3777, or Connie Sharpe at 384-3040.

Verona Has New Office Facility

On January 11, 1975 the new Verona Post Office located in the Fire Department Building on Highway 16 opened for business, according to Cincinnati District Manager and Postmaster Joseph J. Scanlon.

It is one-tenth of a mile from the old office. The new modern office built by the Verona Volunteer Department and leased to the Postal Service contains 800 square feet of space. Along with key type lock boxes there is also ample parking space for postal customers.

Verona Kentucky Postmaster, Jean P. Crouch expresses her appreciation to all who helped make this effort possible and invites all her customers to an open house which will be held in the near future.

Red Cross Training Course

A Disaster Damage Assessment Training course will be conducted by the Cincinnati Area Red Cross for volunteers and staff during the week of February 3 through the 7th. Daniel Prewitt, American National Red Cross Disaster Specialist will conduct the course.

Prewitt said, "The purpose of this training unit is to prepare Red Cross career and volunteer staff members the know-how to assess disaster damage, the importance of reliable data and the procedure to obtain necessary damage information."

Subject material to be presented is as follows:

1. The need for damage assessment.
2. Information needed and when it is needed.
3. How to get information.
4. Reporting damage assessment information.
5. Pre-disaster damage assessment planning.
6. A damage assessment exercise problem and review.

Classes will be held at the Red Cross Memorial Building, 720 Sycamore St. They will be held Monday, Feb. 3, 1 to 4 p.m. & 7 to 10 p.m. Wednesday on February 5, 1 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. and Friday, Feb. 7, 9 to 12 noon.

There are no pre-requisites for this three hour course. To register please call the Red Cross Disaster Office at 721-2665.

Comprehensive Care

Norman Falcone

Norman Falcone's territory ranges from Campbell County on the east to Carroll County on the west and his interest lies in those who are lonely, depressed, suffering from anxieties.

Falcone, a graduate of Purdue and Indiana State University, is the day treatment unit manager for Northern Kentucky Comprehensive Care. To him and members of his staff fall the task of comforting and counseling those who need a guiding hand, those who need a guiding hand, those not ill enough for hospitalization.

He has 160 clients, forty of whom come from Covington. However, the other 120 are in day treatment centers throughout the Northern Kentucky region.

Included are nursing homes such as Lakeside, Jonesville, Woodspoint, and Carlsbad.

With a background of assignments at the Richmond, Ind., State Hospital and the Rollman Psychiatric Institute in Cincinnati, he feels the greatest problem facing him and his staff is "to constantly be aware of a client's change in attitude and values."

Boone Unit Of American Cancer

The Boone County Unit of the American Cancer Society met Wednesday, January 15, 1975 at the Boone County Health Building with ten members present.

There will be a Speakers Bureau at the Union Light, Heat and Power Building on Scott St., Covington on January 29. Those interested are invited to attend.

Those present voted to accept the Charter from the American Cancer Society.

New Members now on the board are Rector Jones, Supt. of the Boone County Schools, John Grubbs of Walton-Verona Schools and Paul Dickman of Hebron. Mr. Dickman is Crusade Chairman for this year. On March 22 we will have our next meeting at the Health Building at 10 a.m. and at 10:30 the Crusade Kick-off Breakfast. All volunteer workers are urged to be present. This year's goal for the Cancer Crusade in Boone County is $6500.00.

The Kentucky State Golfing Association is sponsoring a tournament to help raise money to combat cancer. Business men will receive a brochure on this in March. For one hundred dollars they can sponsor or play a four man team. All you golfers get ready for some fun! And everyone else remember April is Cancer Crusade month.

Florence Star Chapter Will Meet

Florence Star Chapter No. 559 O.E.S. will meet Thursday evening on January 23, 1975 at 8:00 p.m. at the Florence Masonic Temple, Price Pike, Florence, Ky.

Members and officers are urged to be present for initiation ceremonies. Barry Fobbe, Worthy Matron and Bob Fobbe, Worthy Patron, presiding.

Three-Flavor Biscuits

'Serve Three-Flavor Biscuits' to make any meal a triple success. Team them with a hearty soup, a simple main dish or a multi-course dinner. Be sure to bake extras to serve as nutritious snacks - anytime.

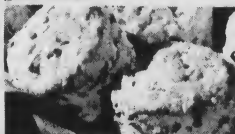

These savory biscuits, a melody of fragrance as they bake, are flecked with mellow morsels of cheese, crunchy chips of bacon and aromatic slivers of scallions.

Biscuits are easy to prepare. Handle the dough gently and knead briefly for light, flaky biscuits. Use enriched self-rising flour to simplify preparation, too. Salt and baking powder are already added to the flour - so these're less mixing and measuring.

Good baking means good nutrition when you use enriched self-rising flour. The important B-vitamins - niacin, thiamine and riboflavin - plus the minerals, iron and calcium, have been added to the flour for daily good health.

Three-Flavor Biscuits

- 12 Biscuits
- 2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 5 slices bacon, crumbled
- 1/2 cup Cheddar cheese
- 1/4 cup finely scallions
- 1/2 cup milk

Measure flour into bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add bacon, cheese and scallions. Blend in enough milk to make soft dough. Turn onto a lightly floured surface and knead gently 30 seconds. Roll out 1/2 inch thick. Cut with a lightly floured biscuit cutter. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in preheated 450 oven 10 to 12 minutes, or until browned.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!

Annual indepth reports were the main theme for the Captain John Lillard Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution meeting held Saturday afternoon, January 11th at the charming home of Mrs. Roger Lanter in Williamstown, Ky. A covered dish luncheon was enjoyed by all who attended.

Mrs. Charles Z. Allphin, regent led the D.A.R. Ritual and assisted by Misses: Elizabeth Flege, Louise Conrad, and Mary K. Shipp.

Mrs. Charles Allphin, Regent delivered the president general's message, in which she stressed the need for us to impress to our youth the truth and depth of what freedom means and to instill patriotism in their lives.

Miss Louise Flege, Flag Chairman, reported that the flag should be displayed daily near the main entrance of all government and public buildings when the weather permits.

Mrs. Thos. A. Perry gave an informative talk on the National Defense article written by Barry Goldwater, titled "Inflation". She pointed out, how nations in the past were destroyed by inflation. Germany and Italy were products of inflation after W.W. II.

Inflation is the great pretender and it has given us a false sense of well being. The warnings of wise men, over the years, have gone unheeded. Inflation destroys real value! If we are to control inflation before the American system is destroyed, then federal spending must be reduced and productivity be increased. Congress must act now with courage and determination to curb the inflation of our country.

The newly elected chapter delegates and alternate delegates for the Ky. State Daughters of the American Revolution Conference, March 25 - 27 in Louisville, Ky. are: Regent-Mrs. Charles Allphin, Mrs. Ivan Clements, Mrs. Paul Blacketer, as delegates and Miss Martha Blaine-Vice Regent, Mrs. Alva Randsall, Mrs. Thos. Perry, Misses: Mary Shipp, Elizabeth and Louise Flege, as alternate delegates.

Mrs. Charles Allphin, regent ask that we promote "American History Month" in February in our churches, clubs, and civic organizations. Our February meeting will be held at Williamstown Methodist Church and an Americana Exhibit and Special Honored Guest, Good Citizens Girls, Mothers, and their faculty advisors will be with us. We are looking forward to seeing many interesting artifacts from the past.

The meeting was attended by: Mmes: Charles Allphin, Zayda Clore, Ivan Clements, J.W. Bennett, T.A. Perry, O.A. Fields, Thos. Wilson, Harry Bishop, R.C. Hume, P.A. Blacketer, Winston Mason, Evan Hance, Glenmore Bennett, Roger Lanter, Dr. Lenore Chipman, W.O. "The Pro Bowler"

By: Bob Fonde

The house is still, there's not a word, Only the announcers' soft whisper is heard.

The bowler stands, and walks to the rack.

Picks up his ball, then puts it back.

Grabs his towel, wipes his forehead and hands.

Then turns and grins at all of his fans

The announcers' voice is soft and low,

This boy can string-em, lets watch him go.

He has a smooth delivery, and a fine follow through,

He gets the lift he needs, and his hook arches true,

His back swing is perfect, he holds the line tight,

Fans, did I tell you, he rolled a seven-sixty last night

The bowler attempts to make his approach,

He'll reach the fowl line, providing he don't choke.

His knees are shaky, his palms are wet,

Just one more drag off the old cigarette,

He checks his line and sets his feet,

He needs this strike on that old score sheet

There he goes, his approach is just fine,

His delivery is perfect, he's holding the line,

The ball's in the pocket, with just the right speed,

Without a doubt, this is the strike that he needs,

The head-pin has taken the two and the four,

The ball is still working and taking more pins and more

The bowler is praying on his hands and knees,

The crowd is standing and uttering soft pleas,

The announcer has all but swallowed his mike,

Anxious to announce, he's gotten his strike,

The fans take their seats, the bowler rises again,

Well, he'll have a good game, nobody misses the five-pin.

ORDINANCE NO. 1974-49

AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING A REVISED SCHEDULE OF RATES AND CHARGES FOR THE USE OF AND SERVICES RENDERED BY THE MUNICIPAL WATER WORKS SYSTEM OF THE CITY OF WALTON, KENTUCKY.

WHEREAS, the revenues of the municipal water works are insufficient to meet the current operational expenses, interest payments, and the principal on the two (2) revenue bond series outstanding, and

WHEREAS, by the terms of said bonding agreements and the provisions of Chapter 58 Kentucky Revised Statutes, it is required that the rates and charges for the use of and services rendered by the municipal water works system be prescribed and maintained so as to pay the interest and principal of any outstanding bonds as the same become due, and to pay the operating and maintenance costs, as well as to establish and maintain an adequate depreciation fund, and

WHEREAS, the costs of maintaining and operating the municipal water works has increased, due to increased costs of materials, to a point where the revenues pursuant to Ordinance No. 1973-3 are inadequate to meet the existing indebtednesses, and

WHEREAS, it is deemed advisable and necessary to increase the monthly water charge by a factor of ten percent (10 %) as an assessment on the existing water rates, with out and having no effect on the sewer rates previously fixed;

NOW, THEREFORE, the City Council of the City of Walton, Kentucky, does ordain as follows:

SECTION I

That from and after the effective date of this Ordinance there shall be and there is hereby established an assessment to and on the schedule of rates and charges for the use of and services rendered by the municipal water works system pursuant to Ordinance No. 1973-3. That this assessment is in the amount of ten percent (10 %) of the existing water rates and charges established by Ordinance No. 1973-3, and is to be billed as such to the users on a monthly basis. That this assessment is established due to the increase in materials for the maintenance and operation of the municipal water works system, and that this assessment is to have no effect on the rates previously established for the City's sewer system.

SECTION II

That Ordinance No. 1973-3 establishing the rates set out above to which the assessment is to be applied is incorporated by reference herein as if the same were herein-after set forth.

SECTION III

That the foregoing rates and charges shall be revised from time to time as may be necessary in order that the City of Walton comply with the covenants and undertakings securing said water works revenue bonds of said city referred to above.

SECTION IV

The foregoing revised schedule of water service rates and charges shall be put into effect and collection on all water bills rendered on or after January 1, 1975.

SECTION V

That all Ordinances, Resolutions and Orders and parts thereof and more particularly any Ordinances heretofore adopted prescribing a schedule of water rates and charges in conflict herewith be, and the same are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict, and this Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon its adoption, approval and publication as required by law.

PASSED AND APPROVED AND ORDERED PUBLISHED BY A VOTE OF 4 MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WALTON, KENTUCKY, this the 14 day of January, 1975.

Now is the time of the year to sit in your warm home and look at the beautiful colored seed catalogs. Plans should be made for your vegetable garden and seeds should be ordered or purchased as soon as possible.

Plant diseases can be prevented or controlled in a variety of ways. The home gardener is often able to use non-chemical methods more effectively than the commercial vegetable grower because the home gardener may be willing to bear the costs of time and labor involved with effective non-chemical disease control. Some diseases, however, can only be controlled by using chemicals, though again the home gardener can probably get by with fewer chemical applications by spraying only when needed.

Cultural practices which can minimize plant diseases include the following:

1. RESISTANCE - Many vegetable varieties are resistant to plant disease. Use them whenever possible.

2. EXCLUSION - Avoid introducing plant pathogens into the garden. Use certified, disease-free seeds and transplants. Do not transport soil or tools from diseased areas to disease-free areas. Rotate crops to disease-free areas to avoid buildup of pathogens in one part of the garden.

3. ERADICATION - The removal of badly diseased plants from a garden will help prevent spread of the disease to healthy plants.

4. SANITATION - Removal of old plant parts, weeds, and trash is important to prevent places where pathogens grow and provide inoculum for the spread of disease.

5. FUNGICIDES - Use for control when needed. Fungicides are effective in prevention and control of disease only when they are present on the plants. Because fungicides are subject to weathering, they must be reapplied at regular intervals during the period of pathogen activity in order to keep plants adequately covered. Chemicals should be applied only in the prescribed manner as recommended by the manufacturer. Read the label carefully and follow directions. Note the number of days required between the last fungicide application and harvest date.

Government Spending

"Tell it like it is"

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN

benefit. They're for free enterprise - but these prices have to be stopped! They're against wasteful 'pork barrel' projects - but they want the proposed project in their district. They want the US to be strong - but they don't want to pay for defense. And so on.

"Congress, collectively, for many years has been masterful in providing a bit of something for almost everyone, playing one group off against another, with the net effect that a gigantic government apparatus dispenses direct subsidies to 50 million people, funds millions of others indirectly, and has states and local governments on a fiscal leash.

"Even though most Americans are much more adversely affected than they are helped, the benefits are tangible ones which are perceived as indispensable, while the costs are less obvious. Thus many Americans agitate for their share of a bigger share of a rotting pie - veterans want increased benefits, farmers want crop subsidies, cities seek more federal aid, etc. This is right up the liberals' alley. They're the ones promising more and more to everyone, even as everyone staggers under the inflation and recession which were caused by the over indulgence in the first place.

"So while Congress should reflect upon whether it should proceed in apparent contrariness to the majority of Americans, the public too should reflect upon whether its persistent gratification on a specific issue consistent with the overall good it perceives by following its general views (i.e., moderation or restraint).

"Perhaps it is too much to expect. It will be a minor miracle if Congress does not continue to 'buy' its votes through promises of more for everyone, and if the public does not continue to 'sell' them at the same time that they complain about liberal programs."

This editorial tells it like it is. We'll suffer still more from inflation and recession if we continue to ask government for any kind of assistance we don't pay for in taxes.

CPAs Advise On Tax Returns

This is the first of a series of five articles on 1974 Federal Income Tax Returns offered by the Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Each year, through excessive withholding, millions of taxpayers overpay their income taxes so that, when return filing time rolls around, they are in line for refunds rather than further payments.

This year the depressed economy has placed in this category many additional Americans - those who were out of work for at least part of 1974.

During the time they were working, taxes were withheld at a rate based on the assumption that

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORT To the People

Tax Cut And Gasoline Consumption

Foremost on the agenda for the 94th Congress will be the economy. After five months of indecision, President Ford has finally settled on a game plan for the administration, and Congress will begin action on those proposals immediately.

The first item to be acted on will probably be a tax cut somewhere in the neighborhood of the $16 billion cut proposed by the President. While there is overwhelming support for a tax cut, some have questioned the mechanics of the President's proposal. I personally want to insure that the major share of benefits from any tax cut go to low and middle income people.

A more controversial aspect of the administration's program concerns the energy proposals. I disagree with the President's plan to impose tariffs on imported foreign oil as a means of limiting its domestic consumption. Such a plan will inevitably raise the price of gasoline and oil products, but I have serious doubts about whether it will reduce consumption to the degree necessary.

I favor import restrictions which will insure a cutback in consumption of foreign crude oil and the taxpayers would be earning the same incomes all year, which proved not to be the case.

How can those with refunds coming get the money Uncle Sam owes them, without delay? The only way is to file income tax returns early, and unfortunately returns must be accompanied by W-2 forms from employers, stating total wages paid and income taxes, Social Security and other payments taken out of it.

Employers have until January 31 to send these forms to employees still working, while those who were laid off with little likelihood of being rehired before the end of the year should have received their W-2s no later than 30 days after they were paid their final wages.

A person whose W-2 forms could be delayed until as late as January 31 might consider preparing the tax return in advance, using data from his paycheck stubs, and having the return already to mail off as soon as the W-2 comes through.

A person unemployed from a date prior to the end of the year will, of course, have received his W-2 and been able to file sooner.

The 30-day and January 31 deadlines for delivery of W-2's are the maximums allowed. Internal Revenue Service urges employers not to wait until the last minute, and there is nothing to prevent an employer from sending that motion, asking a present or former employer to speed up the W-2 as a personal favor.

Does the receipt of unemployment benefits, welfare payments and food stamps affect one's tax liability? It does not; these are nontaxable forms of income.

oil products. Once we have made the appropriate limitations we can manage the resulting short supply through rationing if necessary. That would be a more equitable method of allocating a scarce resource and it would also guarantee a lessening of dependence on foreign oil, thus reducing the threat of oil blackmail.

Unfortunately, the President can impose the tariffs he proposes under existing law without submitting the proposal to Congress. I have joined in co-sponsoring legislation asking that the President send his plan to Capitol Hill for Congressional approval. Should that occur, I think there is a good chance Congress would reject it in favor of import restrictions.

I applaud the President's emphasis in his State of the Union message on increased coal utilization, but it must be accompanied by increased efforts in coal research, and we would not be in the bind we are today had we moved sooner to develop cleaner uses of coal and coal by-products.

SUNDAYSERMON

An Empowered People

(Ephesians 1:16-2:7)

J. Hudson Taylor many years ago gave this reminder to the church: "The prayer power has never been tried to its full capacity in any church. If we want to see mighty wonders of divine power and grace wrought in the place of weakness, failure, and disappointment, let the whole church answer God's standing challenge, 'Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not.'"

The apostle Paul learned this great truth many centuries ago. The church of the Lord Jesus Christ needs to lay hold of the fact of God's word—that ours is a spiritual task and must be done in the power of His Spirit.

Ephesians 1: 16-19 tell us of the Apostle Paul's prayer that the people have this power.

The Prayer for Power, Ephesians 1: 16-19

The Apostle assures the Christians that he allows nothing to stop him from giving thanks for them, and from remembering them in his prayers. His prayers that the Father, who is characterized by glory, or the Father to whom all glory belongs, will "give them the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of him." The reference here is probably to "the spiritual powers of wisdom and vision." These are gifts of the Holy Spirit. These bring to man the knowledge of God. This means the personal knowledge of God Himself. This personal knowledge of God enables man to walk in fellowship with God.

This personal knowledge of God also brings an enlightenment of the heart. It is the light shining in darkness and the opening of the eyes of the blind. The result of this will be the knowledge of three things. Man would know "the hope of his calling." This means the call of God which has come to man. Man comes to see that the eternal God has called us to be His own children!

The second thing they would know is "What are the riches of his inheritance in the saints." The believer comes to see that his riches are in God and that God's riches are in His saints.

The third result would be that they may know "what is the exceeding greatness of his power." Paul uses four words translated "power," "working," "strength," and "might" to express what he means by "the exceeding greatness of God's power."

Paul continues, this statement concerning God's power "...to us, ward who believe." This mighty power and energy which belong to God may be known in experience by the one who believes.

The Proof of Power, Ephesians 1: 20-23

God had demonstrated his power by raising His Son Jesus from death, and placing Him at His right hand

God set Jesus above all of the spiritual powers believed in and worshipped by the false teachers of that day. Christ has been exalted above every dignity that might be named "not only in this world, but also in that which is to come." All beings and all things have been put under subjection to the Son of God. This means that the destiny of man is not controlled by unknown spirit beings, in or out of the universe. Neither is man's destiny determined by the stars. This is paganism. Man's destiny is not controlled by fate. Christ Jesus has set us free. We have the right to choose our destiny under God. Man's faith must be in God's Son, not in horoscopes, astrology, or anything else.

Christ is also the head of the church and the church is the body of Christ. Men may find imperfections in the imperfect people who make up the church, but redeemed people are Christ's body. Being a Christian does not mean that one will be without fault in this life. It means that having put his trust in the person and promise of Christ, he walks with God toward his eternal destiny, which is where God is.

Both Jews and Gentiles were dead in trespasses and sins. All were spiritually dead. All needed spiritual life. The conduct of the human race was contrary to the will of God. In Man's natural condition he was under the wrath of God. But even in this rebellious condition God sent forth His Son to die on the cross for our sins. Now the power that raised Christ from the dead will raise from spiritual death the sinner who will believe in Christ. Paul explains this as the "grace of God."

The purpose of God's power in the life of the Christian is that God might show (to all mankind) the exceeding riches of His grace in kindness toward us in Christ Jesus. Are you a stranger to this grace? You need not be!

Director of Music Union Presbyterian

Mr. Diehl Ackerman has joined the staff of Union Presbyterian Church as Director of Music. Mr. Ackerman has a Master's Degree in Music and varied experience in the field of church music. Among the positions he has held are Musical Director at Covenant Presbyterian Church in Cincinnati and at the Union Church of Christ, Berea, Kentucky. During the past two years, Mr. Ackerman and his wife, Betty, have sung professionally with the Christ Episcopal Church Choir in Cincinnati, under the direction of Searle Wright and Gerre Hancock.

Mr. Ackerman assumed his duties at Union Presbyterian Church on January 1, 1975, after doing some preliminary work with the choir during the Christmas season. In addition to the development of the church's music program, Mr. Ackerman will conduct guitar classes for youth and voice lessons. A reception will be held at the church on Sunday, January 26, to welcome the Ackermans to Union.

The church has also secured the services of Mr. Randy Wallace as part-time organist. Randy, a student of Mrs. Lemming, is a senior at Gallatin County High School.

FEARLESS FORECAST

by R. W. Lancaster

Thursday January 23, 1975

The Moon in Gemini is a good time to catch up on your correspondence while your mind is versatile. If you haven't written those thank you notes from Christmas get it done today and you will sleep better tonight, also a good day to take care of legal matters or business correspondence also write your ad for next weeks paper and it will be well worded.

Friday January 24th

All good planetary aspects today and a safe day for traveling so why not do some visiting or take a short trip and return on Sunday. If you are looking for a temporary job this would be a good time for an interview but if you are wanting something permanent wait until Monday or Tuesday when the Moon goes full in the fixed sign Leo.

Saturday January 25th

The Moon moved in to the water sign Cancer last night, so if you have been neglecting your house plants lately this would be a good time to give them a good drink and do any pruning or transplanting you have been putting off also get the seed catalogs out and do some planning, and day dreaming about the garden you are going to raise next spring. If you want your hair to grow back fast get it cut today.

Sunday January 26th

The Scottish Clergyman William Blake once said (The law of the Sabbath is the keystone of the arch of public morals; take it away, and the whole fabric falls. The Sabbath is Gods special present to the working man, and one of its chief objects is to prolong and preserve efficient his working tone. The savings bank of human existence is the weekly sabbath.

Monday January 27th

We have a full Moon at 9:30 a.m. this morning in the fixed fire sign Leo, so get out early and start interviews for that new position you have been thinking about, there is a lot of work that needs to be done in our community and with the right approach even a so called temporary job could be turned in to something permanent with the proper diligence. If you want your hair to be slow growing back get a haircut this afternoon or tomorrow.

Tuesday January 28th

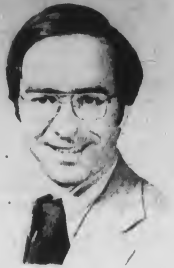

This is a safe day for traveling and a good time to get out and meet some new friends, or if you are a salesman you can pick up some new prospects and make permanent customers out of them, you can give your best sales pitch in the morning or after 2 p.m. Rest and relax a couple hours after lunch while the moon is in opposition to Mercury.

Wednesday January 29th

This would be a good day to get all your house cleaning caught up and do any sewing or mending you have been putting off, with the moon trine Mars in the early morning you will have plenty of ambition so you could decide to finish the weekly washing, after lunch would be a good time to think about some economical food purchases and if you are going to do any home baking Friday or Saturday, buy the ingredients today.

CG&E Warns

Your furnace has to breathe, just as you do. Be sure you don't deprive it of oxygen this winter by sealing basement windows with rubber. The Greater Cincinnati Carbon Monoxide Safety Committee explains that furnaces must have enough oxygen to burn their fuel cleanly. If there isn't enough oxygen, the combustion could produce dangerous carbon monoxide. By sealing your basement windows tightly, you may not be allowing enough oxygen into the furnace room for proper combustion. The furnace will use up the available oxygen and reduce the air pressure in the basement, allowing carbon monoxide to remain inside the house.

AND ANALYSIS

By Darwin Foley
Kenton County
Extension Agent

Last year a new early tomato called Early Girl was widely sold. The fruit is smaller than that of Better Boy and may ripen earlier. I personally like the size and quality of the fruit but it appeared to be more susceptible to Early Blight than other varieties. Early Blight is an air born fungus that spreads more rapidly during wet weather. Leaves begin to be affected at the bottom of the plant first and the disease moves up the plant until it becomes defoliated and dies. Fungicides such as Bravo-75 or Maneb can help control the disease with regular complete sprayings. Some other recommended tomato varieties for Kentucky are Jet Star, Campbell 17, Campbell 1327, Better Boy, and Burpee VF.

The great garden seed rush is already beginning. Seed catalogs are plentiful and some seed stores have their displays out.

This year lets make sure there's plenty of seed for everybody and save some pennies and dollars at the same time. If you had a garden last year you probably had seed left over which can be used this year. If in doubt about the germination, place a few seeds on a moist piece of cotton or between two moist paper towels and cover to keep the seed moist. In a few days the seeds should begin to sprout. If you're not satisfied with the germination, discard the old seed and buy fresh seed.

You want your garden and the work you put into it to be a success. Use recommended varieties or varieties that you have grown and like.

The three most popular garden vegetables are probably tomatoes, corn and beans. Last year, I received many calls about diseased White Half Runner Bush Beans. For this reason I suggest that people try other varieties such as Lakette, Provider, Tendercrop, and Tenderette this year. Using resistant varieties is much easier and effective than using fungicides which may only be partially effective.

Did You Know . . . ?

The seventh snow in seven days fell on Chicago on December 20, 1973. Many schools were closed and flight operations at O'Hare Airport—the world's busiest—were delayed. The chief of the city's snow command headquarters remained at his post more than 30 hours directing snow removal operations. In one Chicago suburb, some autos could not make it over a hill and kept sliding down backwards. Commuter trains and buses were all jammed with additional riders. Thousands of rush-hour commuters were delayed. On badly clogged expressways, some police politely urged motorists to turn around and go home. Some did. Side roads and city streets were treacherous. Today, many cities depend on a mixture of two deicers—calcium chloride and salt—to help plows keep roadways clear of ice and snow. Science note: Calcium chloride melts ice at lower temperatures down to 59 degrees and more quickly than salt alone.

Recommended varieties of sweet corn include Spring Gold, Gold Cup, Burpees Honeycross and Silver Queen. The recommended varieties I have mentioned are by no means the only varieties you can be happy with, but are varieties that shouldn't disappoint you.

For your copy of recommended varieties for thirty month watering vegetables, request 110-3 from the Kenton County Extension Office.

Attends Two Day Conference

Among delegates attending a recent two-day orientation conference for new school board members in Lexington were Mrs. William Waller and John Grubbs, superintendent of the Walton-Verona school district. They attended group sessions on school law, finance and school-community relations while at the meeting sponsored jointly by the state Department of Education and the Kentucky School Boards Associations.

Reserves Win Bearcats Lose

The Walton Verona Reserves won against the Bellevue Tigers on January 21 by a score of 44 to 42 but the Bearcats lost by a score of 11 points to the Bellevue Tigers Varsity team.

Danny Dixon and Lenny Spicer had 27 and 22 points respectively but with the help of Tungate, Mosley, Leicht, and Ryan the Bearcats could not pull ahead to place another victory for their side. High point man for Bellevue was Class with 24 points and Krenner with 15.

Both teams played a good game but Bellevue won over the Walton Verona Bearcats.

Walton Loses

A crowd gathered as Walton Verona played St. Henry on Friday night, January 24 in the small gym at the St. Henry School, but Walton Verona Bearcats just didn't have the strength to whip the Crusaders.

Bill Tungate with 16 points played a good game with Danny Dixon Lenny Spicer helping throw in the points of 15 and 14 points but the Bearcats never regained the lead after the first quarter.

It was a close game all the way with the Bearcats following close behind by only a few points but when the buzzer rang after the fourth quarter the Crusaders had won by 3 points.

The boys played a good and hard game with Bill Tungate as high point man of the night.

The other occupant of the car, Charles Roberts, 19, the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Roberts of Walton is listed in critical condition today at Booth Hospital.

Roberts suffered multiple injuries and is in the intensive care unit.

Services were held on Tuesday for William Miller at Stith Funeral Home in Florence.

EKU Has Dean's List

Local students on Dean's List at EKU have been named to the 1974-75 fall semester at Eastern Kentucky University.

Dr. John D. Rowlett, vice president for academic affairs, said the list, totaling 1179 students, includes 280 who made a perfect 4.0 academic standing.

To attain the list, a student must make a scholastic average of 3.5 or better for 14 or more semester hours.

The Dean's List, with the names of students making a perfect 4.0 standing includes Lois Lay of Walton.

Other students making the Dean's List are:

Boone: Mary Greene, Minda Thompson, Linda Malgry, Randall Riegler, Pamela Robinson, Jill Steger, and Sheree McDavid.

Grant: Charles Gruen.

Kenton: Paul Chambers and Rhonda LaFollette.

Congratulations are in order for these students on their high academic standing.

YMCA Holds Open House

In connection with the annual Membership Drive during the month of February, we will have an open house to show our facility and put on Exhibitions in the gym and pool. These exhibitions will interrupt the normal activities from 2:30 till 3:30 p.m. with the hours of open house being from 2-4 p.m.

Please take this opportunity to invite friends and neighbors to come and see the "Y" and become involved in the activities which are set to begin in the next two weeks.

Finalist In Betty Crocker Award

Marybeth Rouse

Marybeth Rouse, Walton Verona High School is among the twenty five highest ranking students in Kentucky in the 1975 Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living. The examination papers of these twenty-five are now being reviewed by Science Research Associates. Marybeth, therefore is still being considered for a $1,500 or $300 Betty Crocker Scholarship.

Marybeth, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rouse, South Main Street, Walton. She has been active in various church and school organizations and is the editor of the school yearbook.

Bicentennial Toll Free Number Changed

Kentucky's toll-free telephone number for Bicentennial information has been changed.

The number, which was formerly 1-800-372-2974, has been changed to 1-800-372-2975. People can call toll-free from anywhere in Kentucky and get information about the various Bicentennial activities going on across the state.

A Paper Drive will be held on February 22nd, if anyone is wishing to discard of their old unused papers. If so, please call Mrs. Lucille Hetterman at 485-4314 and they will see to it that your papers will be picked up.

Your support will be greatly appreciated.

Simon Kenton FHA Alumnae

The Simon Kenton Future Homemakers of America Alumnae held its monthly meeting on Thursday, January 9, at the RECC Building at Nicholson.

The members present voted on and passed each monthly activity presented to us by the Program of Work Committee. Each month has a very interesting subject. We hope that all past FHA members will try to attend and take part in our activities.

Our officers for 1975 are as follows: President - Sharon Willenborg, Vice President - Charlene Fausz, Secretary - Pam Barnes, Treasurer - Ginger Bailey, Reporter - Judy Schudler.

Our program for February will be a speaker from "Weight Watchers" on "Food Preparation."

Again, we extend our invitation to all past Simon Kenton FHA Members. We meet the second Thursday of each month at the RECC Building on Walton - Nicholson Hwy.

Simon Kenton FFA Holds Meeting

The Simon Kenton Chapter of the Future Farmers of America held its regular monthly meeting on January 7 at 3:45 p.m. in the Agriculture Shop.

The devotion was given by chaplain Jeff Newspickel and the meeting was called to order by president Gary Riley.

The Officer reports and Committee reports were given.

The main objective of the meeting were, all the committee chairman need to get their accomplishments to the secretary, Tim Smith, to be put in the secretary's book to be evaluated at the district level, the members voted that the FFA Banquet be held at the Ramada Inn, and the Senior Classmen were to talk to the members interested in the offices for 1975 - 76 school year and see who is best qualified.

No Calendar In 1975

The Kentucky Historical Events Celebration Commission will not publish a Bicentennial Calendar of Events for 1975 as it did in 1974.

This decision was made because of a change in emphasis for 1975. The cost was a major factor in the decision to discontinue the calendar. Noting that Gov. Carroll has "frozen" all state government publications pending evaluation.

During 1974, 100,000 of the calendars were distributed. Published in two editions, they listed more than 1,000 events. The announcement about the discontinuance of the calendar was made after the KHECC received numerous requests for the 1975 version.

The Department of Public Information publishes a monthly calendar of events that is available upon request.

NKSC Dean's List Announced

Northern Kentucky State College Academic Vice President and Dean of the College, Dr. Ralph A. Tesseneer, Jr., has announced the Dean's List for the 1974 Fall Semester.

To be named to the Dean's List, a student must achieve a 3.6 or better average while carrying at least 12 semester credit hours.

Students attaining a perfect 4.0 record for the semester were also named to the Honor's List as well as the Dean's List.

Honor's List students and their communities are:

Crittenden: Paula A. Massie, Charles R. Brown, and Marla Rae Smoot.

Walton: Rosemary Henik, Barbara Ruth Sanders, Michael D. Stallard, Nan E. Littleton.

Independence: Kathy Marie Brungs.

Walton Has New Police Chief

Boone County Ptl. Roy Hoffman has been appointed acting Walton Police Chief and becomes the third chief for the small community in three years.

Hoffman succeeds Melvin Collins who has taken the job of Commonwealth detective for the 54th judicial district in Boone and Gallatin Counties.

Hoffman, 32 is from Florence, has been on the Boone County force for two and a half years and was an auxiliary policeman for several years.

"He comes highly recommended for the job," said Walton Mayor Sam Gamble.

Hoffman will begin his duties as chief on February 1 and will work with Collins until he takes over the duties of detective on February 15.

Veterans Counselor At Burlington

Mr. Billy R. Cox, a Veterans Counselor of the Department for Human Resources, Kentucky Center for Veterans Affairs, will be present on February 5, 1975 at the Courthouse in Burlington, Ky. to assist veterans and their dependents with claims for benefits due them as a result of their military service. He will be present from 9:00 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Kenton Special Students

Special education students at the Kenton Elementary School are in the happy hands of two teachers who rejoice at the slightest achievement of their young charges. Above, Debbie McKinney, Ft. Mitchell, helps at a counting board while her colleague, Joanna Kubacki, Glen Rock, N. J., gives a hand. Debbie, a graduate of Eastern Kentucky University, directs the primary unit. Joanna, a product of Ohio's Kent State University, has the 10 to 14 year old group. George Edmondson, director of curriculum for the Kenton County school system, is looking forward to the day when the system's building program opens up more class rooms for special education.

New Life For Senior Citizens

"The Musical Swingers", RSVP volunteers, will lead a "sing-a-long" at the Walton Senior Citizens Center for the "Happy Hearts" on January 30. If you are over 60 please try to be with us, at 12 noon.

"Wherever a man or woman turns, he can find someone who needs him. Remember you can't live in a world all your own. Your brothers are here too."

Albert Schweitzer said it. The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) of Northern Kentucky is finding his words draw a good response.

The aim of the RSVP is to provide meaningful community service for citizens over sixty. Volunteers are placed according to their talents and interests. An agency of ACTION, RSVP is sponsored by Senior Citizens of Northern Kentucky.

Organized a year ago last May to serve the Kenton-Campbell-Boone County area, RSVP already has recruited more than 150 volunteers, according to Mrs. Maryellen Peace, Director. These volunteers are serving in such places as St. Elizabeth Hospital, Kenton County Library, elementary schools, and many others. RSVP pays transportation and lunch expenses if needed for volunteers.

More people are needed to fill spots in Boone County either working with children in the school system or with older people visiting "shut ins" or delivering meals to those too ill to prepare for themselves. Other areas of need are arts and crafts directors and musicians. The requirements are only that you be 60 or over and want to help others in your community. For more information contact Sue Powell, the Director of the "Happy Hearts Seniors", at 485-4591 on Thursday at 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Seventeen of our members gathered at the home of Mrs. Loretta Sterbling for our first meeting of the New Year on January 16th. The Lord's Prayer was given and the salute to the flag. Mrs. Minnie Letcher gave the devotional, "A New Year is Here."

The members voted on the various lessons they would like to have during 1975 and 1976. The lesson, "Teaching Children Sexuality," was given by Mrs. Betty Skelton and Mrs. Pat Blanton. We learned that communication is most important and this should be started when a child is very young.

A very tasty luncheon, served by Mrs. Loretta Sterbling and Mrs. Ann Wolsing was enjoyed by all.

Other members present, excluding those stated above were: Mrs. Ruth Ann Andres, Loretta Dewald, Margaret Dickson, Joan Ellis, Carrie Hall, Ruth Kelly, Hazel Kurler, Ronnie Mutsch, Alice McHale, Ruth Powers, Judy Segal, and Susan Kelly. To our members who were absent, due to illness, we wish to say you were missed and we sincerely hope you will be with us at the February meeting.

The February 20th meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Skelton's mother, Mrs. Minouge's. Mrs. Ruth Powers will be cohostess.

He walked in the saloon and stood at the bar,
 The barkeep said howdy, been travlin' for?
 He looked all around then turned back again,
 Said give me a glass and a bottle of gin.

 The jingle of spurs was heard at the door,
 The brute who walked in was killer Pawnee,
 He said I am lookin' for the fool they call J.D.

Lamplighters Homemakers Meet

The regular meeting of the Lamplighters Homemakers was January 13th, 1975 at the home of Mrs. Judy Arlinghaus.

Hazel Letcher was elected to fill the vacancy of Vice President and Chairman of the Sunshine Committee. Everyone worked on the Club's By-Laws. The topic for lessons to be taught were chosen for 1975.

After going over the object of Homemakers it was agreed that more women needed to be prospected to become members of a Homemakers Club. The object is to extend to homemakers the opportunity to study homemaking problems in order that they may more effectively contribute to the well-being of their family and community.

After all enjoyed refreshments provided by Co-Hostess Hazel Letcher, the meeting was adjourned.

Those present were Judy Arlinghaus, Glenda Cady, Debbie Gaines, Hazel Letcher and Ann Wellington. Several Ladies were unable to attend due to sickness.

The next meeting of the Lamplighters Homemakers was decided to be February 10th at the home of Glenda Cady. Those interested in attending please contact Hazel Letcher for more information at 356-9988.

Flu Cases In Kentucky

Northern Kentucky has suffered very little from the flu epidemic according to reports received by the Department for Human Resources.

Kentucky has 19,786 reported cases as of Tuesday, January 21, according to reports received by the local health departments. Records are based on reports from physicians; therefore, a case must have been severe enough to warrant contacting a physician and the physician must file a report before it is included.

The two Northern Kentucky counties reporting flu were Boone, with 210 cases, and Bracken with 850.

Western Kentucky was the hardest hit and Eastern Kentucky also reported very few cases.

Laboratories in the Bureau for Health Services are running tests to determine what types of virus are responsible for the outbreak. Testing a virus culture usually requires two to four weeks.

Dr. C. Hernandez, director of the Division for Preventive Services in DHHR, says the most common symptoms are chest congestion with cough, fever, chills, and a general aching feeling.

"People should have a little consideration for others and just stay home," Dr. Hernandez commented. He recommends bedrest, plenty of fluids and, if symptoms persist, "see your doctor."

Thank You Card

The family of Bertha Wallace would like to thank all the friends, neighbors, and relatives for their visits, prayers, gifts, flowers and food during her illness.

A special thanks to Mr. Johnny Bench for making the last few months of her life so happy.

We also want to give a special thank you to Dr. Kump and all the nurses and nurses aids on "4-B" at St. Elizabeth Hospital for being so nice. Rev. Robert Yates for his visits and prayers, Mrs. Dorothy Beigle and Mrs. Faye Connor for the beautiful music, and the Grubbs Family for everything they did.

Rural Kentucky is many things. It's blue grass that's green, small ponds that glitter in the sunlight, and narrow roads that lead home. It's a boy and a dog, a woman and a child, a man and a dream.

That's how electricity came to Kentucky's countryside. People dreamed of having what others had and got together to do something about it. They formed electric cooperatives.

Now the dreams that came true are threatened. Rising coal prices, general inflation, a slowdown of anticipated growth. Suddenly the cooperatives' costs are exceeding their income.

Rural electricity has done a lot for Kentucky. We hope everyone remembers just how much when-rate increases are called for.

We hope you'll understand.

Lamplighters Homemakers Meet

The regular meeting of the Lamplighter Homemakers was January 13th, 1975 at the home of Mrs. Judy Arlinghaus.

Hazel Letcher was elected to fill the vacancy of Vice President and Chairman of the Sunshine Committee. Everyone worked on the Club's By-Laws. The topic for lessons to be taught were chosen for 1975.

After going over the object of Homemakers it was agreed that more women needed to be prospected to become members of a Homemakers Club. The object is to extend to homemakers the opportunity to study homemaking problems in order that they may more effectively contribute to the well-being of their family and community.

After all enjoyed refreshments provided by Co-Hostess Hazel Letcher, the meeting was adjourned.

Those present were Judy Arlinghaus, Glenda Cady, Debbie Gaines, Hazel Letcher and Ann Wethington. Several ladies were unable to attend due to sickness.

The next meeting of the Lamplighters Homemakers was decided to be February 10th at the home of Glenda Cady. Those interested—in attending please contact Hazel Letcher for more information at 356-9988.

Flu Cases In Kentucky

Northern Kentucky has suffered very little from the flu epidemic according to reports received by the Department for Human Resources. Kentucky has 19,786 reported cases as of Tuesday, January 21, according to reports received by the local health departments. Records are based on reports from physicians; therefore, a case must have been severe enough to warrant contacting a physician and the physician must file a report before it is included. The two Northern Kentucky counties reporting flu were Boone, with 210 cases, and Bracken with 850.

Western Kentucky was the hardest hit and Eastern Kentucky also reported very few cases. Laboratories in the Bureau for Health Services are running tests to determine what types of virus are responsible for the outbreak. Testing a virus culture usually requires two to four weeks. Dr. C. Hernandez, director of the Division for Preventive Services in DHR, says the most common symptoms are chest congestion with cough, fever, chills, and a general aching feeling. "People should have a little consideration for others and just stay home," Dr. Hernandez commented. He recommends bedrest, plenty of fluids and, if symptoms persist, "see your doctor."

Thank You Card

The family of Bertha Wallace would like to thank all the friends, neighbors, and relatives for their visits, prayers, gifts, flowers and food during her illness. Rural Kentucky is many things. It's blue grass that's green, small ponds that glitter in the sunlight, and narrow roads that lead home. It's a boy and a dog, a woman and a child, a man and a dream.

That's how electricity came to Kentucky's countryside. People dreamed of having what others had and got together to do something about it. They formed electric cooperatives.

Now the dreams that came true are threatened. Rising coal prices, general inflation, a slowdown of anticipated growth. Suddenly the cooperatives' costs are exceeding their income.

Rural electricity has done a lot for Kentucky. We hope everyone remembers just how much when rate increases are called for.

We hope you'll understand.

January 1975 Prospective Plantings

The Crop Reporting Service was again asked to conduct a special January survey to determine 1975 planting intentions of farmers in 35 major states. Corn, soybeans, sorghum, oats, and barley were the crops surveyed in Kentucky. The purpose of this report is to give an early indication of farmers' plans and intentions and to assist growers in making any adjustments which they may feel necessary. The Department of Agriculture has released most acreage controls, leaving farmers free to plant pretty much what they wish; however, availability and cost of fuel and fertilizer, along with general economic conditions, are expected to affect actual plantings. A later prospective plantings report will be released on March 17, 1975.

plan to plant 1,340,000 acres of corn in 1975. This is 4 percent more than the 1,290,000 acres planted in 1974 and 11 percent more than in 1973. Final acreage depends on spring weather and the cost and availability of fuel and fertilizer. A wet spring will divert planned corn acreage to soybeans, while a dry spring will probably result in the opposite shift. Prices received by farmers for their 1974 corn crop through December averaged around a dollar a bushel higher than a year earlier.

Growers in 35 states intend to plant 76.1 million acres of corn for all purposes in 1975 down less than 1 per cent from 76.5 million acres planted last year. These states accounted for over 98 per cent of the Nation's corn acreage planted in 1974.

SOYBEANS Growers in Kentucky intend to plant 1,280,000 acres of soybeans in 1975 7 percent more than the 1,200,000 acres planted in 1974. Spring weather will contribute heavily to final acreage planted to soybeans.

Prices received for the 1974 soybean crop held up well with the mid December average price around $7.50 per bushel. Double cropping remains attractive, with wheat selling at $4.00 to $4.50 per bushel and soybeans at $6.00 to $7.00.

Intended soybean acreage in states conducting the special survey totaled 57.1 million acres 8 percent more than the 53.0 million planted in 1974.

BARLEY Kentucky barley acreage is expected to total 50,000 down 17 per cent appointing barley yields due to disease and freeze problem during the past two or three years.

For the states surveyed, barley acreage totaled 9.4 million acres compared to 8.7 million acres in 1974.

Government Spending
"Tell it like it is"

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

"Congressional Reform"

Six weeks ago in this column I discussed the reforms adopted last October by the 93rd Congress. I said that two changes would prove the sincerity of reform if they remained intact in the new 94th Congress. These would be proxy voting in committees, and minority staffing of those committees. The reforms adopted on the floor of the House in open debate eliminated proxy voting which had added to the power of the chairmen to control their committees, and approved committee staffing to be two thirds majority and one third minority. Excepting the House Administration Committee, minority staff had been only 13 percent, a figure not representative of the number of Republican Congressmen.

It didn't take long to find out the reforms were to be short-lived! The 94th Congress convened January 14th, and on that very day a rule was rammed through without debate that restored proxy voting, reduced minority staffing and abolished the Internal Security Committee which had been continued in the October reform votes of the Democrat controlled House.

This rule was drawn up and approved by the Democrat Caucus in secret session before the House convened. That group includes over forty newly elected Members, mostly self-proclaimed "liberals." The Caucus determined that the rule would go before the House without opportunity for opponents Democrats or Republicans to amend it. These circumstances recall the remark of a long-time observer of the Washington scene: "Scratch a liberal and you'll find a totalitarian under the skin." He referred not to the genuine liberals whose number is small indeed, but to those who boost of their concern for the views of others but in practice are as adept at shutting others off by the use of raw power as the dictators they like to condemn.

Of course, it is nothing new for the House to be controlled by caucus of the majority party meeting as a political group. Such a caucus, as we have seen, can steer a course different from that which the elected leadership of that majority party might ordinarily take. We may be often hearing the term "King Caucus," familiar to Americans in the earlier days of our Republic.

The overturning of the reforms by the caucus got small mention in the news media compared with the dumping or near-topping of several long-term committee chairman. The large number of freshman Democrats joined older "Young Turks" who have onged for the power and prestige of chairing a committee but who previously saw no immediate chance to gain that eminence without seniority. An old French saying translates: "The more things change, the more they remain the same." In the House of Representatives power is still the name of the game.

Housing Shortage At Baptist School

A critical shortage of ministerial student family housing has developed at the Clear Creek Baptist School, here, according to a recent announcement by the school's president.

The Rev. D.M. Aldridge, for 20 years president of the local theological school for adults said, "With a current enrollment of 250, all available student family housing facilities are occupied. Recently a family of four for several weeks paid $52 per week rental on a cottage in the nearby Pine Mountain State Resort Park while awaiting housing to become available on our campus. Another student family cottage to become available. Another family of four live in two camping trailers, which they have placed side by side, as "Home" until adequate student housing becomes available to them.

"We are making a desperate effort to improve and enlarge cottages, apartments, and mobile homes to accommodate additional 1975 ministerial student applicants," the school president reported.

The Clear Creek Baptist School is the only Kentucky Baptist institution whose only purpose is to train adults for full time Christians service.

Senator
Dee Huddleston

REPORT
to the People

Senator Walter Dee Huddleston has been appointed to the State Appropriations Committee, one of the most powerful and influential committees in the Senate.

Appropriations is one of the so-called "big four" along with the Foreign Relations, Armed Services, and Finance Committees that are considered the top Senate committees. Funding for government programs must pass through the Appropriations Committee.

It is also rather unusual for someone who has served only two years in the Senate to be named to the Appropriations Committee, which is headed by Senator John McClellan of Arkansas. Huddleston's tentative appointment was made by the Senate Steering Committee, subject to approval by the full caucus of Democratic senators today. That concurrence is normally routine.

"I am extremely pleased with the appointment because I can better serve the people of Kentucky on this committee," Huddleston said. "The appointment is even more satisfying because it puts me in a position to influence the whole gamut of government programs and policies."

Huddleston said that when the appointment is finalized, he will relinquish his seat on the Government Operations Committee. He will remain on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"The Appropriations and Agriculture Committees put me in a unique position to serve Kentucky and I look forward to may new assignment with pleasure and determination," Kentucky's new senior senator added.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield

of Montana, Majority Whip Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and several key committee chairman are members of the Appropriations Committee. They include: Senator John Stennis, Senator Warren Magnuson, and Senator William Proxmire.

Converting Car Exhaust Now

Cars with catalytic converters are centerstage this year. Along with unleaded gasoline.

The 1975 cars with converters not only spew out fewer pollutants. They also run better than last year's models, start quicker, and even get better mileage. Fuel savings in 1975 models with converters, for example, are 13 percent above that for last year's cars.

Part of the reason for this good news is that car manufacturers have had to redesign carburetors and ignition systems in order for the catalysts to work properly. So there are happy side effects along with less pollution.

The converters themselves, attached to exhaust pipes, chemically change polluting hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide to harmless carbon dioxide and water. The converters are designed to reduce hydrocarbons by 83 percent and carbon monoxide by 90 percent.

Cars with converters must use completely lead-free gas. It's against federal law for a gas station to pump leaded gas into a catalyst-equipped car. In addition to ruining the catalyst, violation of the law calls for a $10,000 fine. But besides being destructive and illegal, it's almost impossible to pump the wrong kind of gas into the new cars. The filler pipe is so narrow that the standard gas nozzle won't fit inside.

Car exhaust is the chief cause of air pollution. Reducing the pollutants in car exhaust is one major way to fight it. But there are other important ways such as supporting public transportation.

Be wary of "coupon comeons", warn UK Extension specialists in consumer economics. "Cents-off" coupons can often save you money on groceries, but sometimes an equally good brand of the same item will cost less than the "coupon food" after the discount is subtracted. Coupons can also entice you to buy items that usually would not be included on your shopping list. Remember that "coupon food" is only a bargain if it is something your family likes and uses.

SERMON

A Worshipping People

(Acts 2:42-47; 1 Peter 4:7-11)

Carlyle spoke with God's kind of wisdom when he said, "What greater calamity can fall upon a nation than the loss of worship."

Concerning the subject of worship, William Jennings Bryan had this to say: "Man is a religious being; the heart instinctively seeks for a God. Whether he worships on the banks of the Ganges, prays with his face upturned to the sun, kneels toward Mecca or, regarding all space as a temple, communes with the Heavenly Father according to the Christian creed, man is essentially devout."

The early church in Jerusalem worshipped in reverence.

Reverence in Worship, Acts 2:42-43

Those first Christians were keenly aware that their conversion experience was only the beginnings of their journey home. They were babes in Christ and needed to grow in grace and knowledge of Christ. To grow they needed spiritual food. That spiritual food was available in the apostles' teachings, fellowship, in breaking of bread, and in prayers.

The early Christians were eager to learn. They availed themselves of every opportunity to grow. There were many things about their new found faith they would need to hear from those who had walked with Christ. It is so today. The whole of the New Testament was written by holy men inspired of God to young Christians, for the most part. Christians today need a better understanding of the new life in Christ. Many do not know what to do when they sin after they have trusted Christ for salvation.

The answer to so many of our daily needs could be found with the worshipping church. The pastor brings God's word to us. Our sharing with other believers is strengthening beyond explanation. "Breaking of bread" probably referred to a common meal and also to the Lord's Supper. Strength and spiritual growth comes from communion with God in prayer.

Verse 43 says that fear came upon every soul. This "fear" means awe and reverence. It was not a fear of what God would do to them, but a fear that they would fail the One who had become Lord of their lives. What happened when the church worshipped in reverence?

Results of Worship, Acts 2:44-47

True worship resulted in genuine concern for everyone else's needs. It is fairly certain that many believers lost their jobs and therefore their means of support. It was necessary to share with one another. Their love from God made this a joyous privilege. The tense of the verbs in verse 45 reveals that this was done as there was need. When someone had a need, somebody else was ready to meet that need.

Their meeting together for worship was a daily habit. They were a happy people. When one has truly worshipped he rejoices in the assurance of sins forgiven, the soul cleansed, and the life renewed.

They praised God from whom all blessings flow. God was the source of their new life. The people saw and wondered what this was all about. But the people also liked what they saw. Regardless of how little the people understood these happy Christians, they saw that God was surely among them.

Another result of the church worshipping in spirit and in truth is given in verse 47, "And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved." A worshipping church will be a winning church.

In our final passage of Scripture the Apostle Peter reminds the worshipping Christians of some responsibilities.

Responsibility in Worship, 1 Peter 4:7-11

Christians ought to live in an attitude of expectation. Christ taught His disciples to be always ready. Because of the coming end of this world order believers should be "sober" (sane) and prayerful. There was also the responsibility to express a fervent love among themselves. The person who is loved will be encouraged to turn from any sin in his life. Peter does not mean that the one loving will have his sins covered by his act of loving. There is still no better way of showing that is in us than our love one for another.

Christians are to use hospitality cheerfully. They were to use whatever gift the Holy Spirit had given them to minister to others. The one who spoke as a teacher or preacher was to do it with authority. From all of this God would receive glory through Christ Jesus. Glory, praise, and dominion belong to God through Christ. Does our worship glorify God today?

Come To A Spaghetti Supper

The St. Cecilia Mother's Club of Independence, Ky., are having a Spaghetti Supper on Sunday, February 9th from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. at St. Cecilia School on Madison Pike, Independence. On the menu will be Spaghetti with "mmmmmm good" meat sauce, salad, cheese, rolls and pie or cake.

Adults $2.25 and children $1.25. There will be a combination table. Each classroom will sponsor a bean bag game.

The Mothers Club provides many of the extras for the school children, such as playground balls and lunch room supplies. Every one is invited to attend. Come and have a good time.

New Bethel Host Book Study

Rev. Franklin Skaggs

The New Bethel Baptist Church of Verona, Ky., will be engaged in a study of the Book of Acts. The church would like to invite the public to participate. This is an excellent opportunity for you to strengthen your faith and knowledge of God's word.

The church has invited Rev. Franklin Skaggs, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Eddyville, Ky., to lead and teach the Book of Acts. He held a revival in the church a year ago and was greatly loved by the people. Therefore, he has been invited back to give the public an opportunity to grow spiritually.

Rev. Skaggs will begin this Sunday Morning and will preach in both services from Acts. Then, the study will continue Monday thru Wednesday nights. Each evening session will begin at 7:30 p.m. Remember, the dates are February 2-5th.

Question & Answer

Q. I'm a veteran in a state which has no burial space left in its national cemetery. Does the Veterans Administration pay anything toward cost of burial plots in private cemeteries for such veterans?

A. Yes, Public Law 93-43 (June 1973) allows Va to pay up to $150 in plot and interment costs of veterans not buried in national cemeteries.

We all feel that way at times. And, tragically, there are some folks who feel that way much of the time.

But while the world in which we live leaves a lot to be desired, it's our world. And life in that world is pretty much what man himself has made of it.

The God who created us and our universe had some excellent plans for life as it should be. They are clearly set forth in the Bible whose writing He inspired. And they have become the spiritual blueprint of constructive living for millions of believers.

As the earth continues its endless turning, search for your goals in faith—not escape. . . in the Word of God—not the words of cynics.

Caring For Your Bathroom Accessories

Most bathroom accessories are machine washable, but they require careful laundering to retain their brightness and softness.

To keep towels fluffy, absorbent and bright add one cup of a bleach substitute, such as Borateem Plus, to the recommended amount of soap or detergent, wash then dryer dry. Use the regular cycle for washing but never use hot water or chlorine bleach for deep tones or colored monograms.

Another caution: Use fabric softeners sparingly, otherwise the towels will not absorb moisture readily.

Shower curtains, too, are machine washable. Wash on regular cycle with hot water, detergent soap, and one cup of the bleach substitute. Use cool rinse, then dryer dry on no-heat cycle or simply hang on shower rod to dry.

Many shower curtains made of acetate, nylon or polyester need only a brief wash on the gentle cycle with warm or cool water. Again for freshness and brightness, use the bleach substitute. All but acetate curtains should be pressed with a cool iron while still damp.

For Your Child's Safety

Walking to the school bus, to a friend's house, to the store. These are common experiences among school-aged children. However, walking without the proper knowledge of pedestrian safety often leads to needless childhood injuries and fatalities, warns Dr.
Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and medical director of the Prudential Insurance Co.

Here are some basic rules which Dr. Domm urges parents to impress on their children: Walk only on the sidewalk; where there is no sidewalk stay on the left side of the road facing the oncoming traffic; cross the street in marked crosswalks; always follow the directions of the crossing officer or the signal light; look left, then right before leaving the curb,
making sure the way is clear.
Finally, watch for turning cars and walk quickly when crossing.

According to Dr. Domm, children should wait for the school bus on the curb or in the safety zone, not in the roadway. If discharged from the bus in mid-street, they should walk in the safety zone to the crosswalk and then directly to the curb. When crossing to the opposite side of the street, they should wait until the bus has moved on, rather than risk being caught in the flow of traffic.

Prudential's Dr. Domm recommends that during the dark winter months parents dress children in bright-colored clothing and apply reflective tape on their schoolbags and outerwear.
"Reflective tape is a good idea for anyone walking at night," he adds,
"be they young or old."

Red Cross Advise
For Summer Fun

Area youth are advised by the Cincinnati Area Red Cross how they might have a summer of fun in the field of aquatics and water safety.

The summer months bring many volunteer job opportunities and employment at various swimming pools throughout the Greater Cincinnati area and many of these positions require Red Cross Water Safety trained instructors.

If you are at least 17 years old, have recently passed a Senior Life-saving Course, and are in excellent health, you may wish to take advantage of these training opportunities offered by the Red Cross Water Safety Program.
Eight evening training courses are scheduled at facilities located throughout the Greater Cincinnati Area. Kenton County Boys Club will be the area in your community.

Those interested in the training program and meet the above requirements should contact the Red Cross Water Safety Department at 721-2865 for additional information and registration.

Tips For Your Refrigerator & Freezer

To get the most efficient use from your refrigerator and freezer, observe the following basic rules:
Clean condenser coils regularly.
Remove as many needed items at one door-opening as possible; and keep foods organized to eliminate searching. Check door gaskets for seal tightness, and set appliance controls to provide proper cold temperature - milk and ice-cream are good indicators. Don't let frost accumulate to more than 1/4" thick; it reduces efficiency. Fill to capacity, buying and storing foods your family prefers; then use and replace contents often.

CPAs Explain
Tax Dependent

(This is the second of a series of five articles on 1974 Federal Income Tax Returns offered by The Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

If you have enough of them, exemptions, worth $750 each, can reduce your taxable income substantially. Most people are aware that they can claim exemption for themselves, for a spouse with whom they file a joint tax return, and for dependents. But just who qualifies as a dependent?

What about the child in college who is over 19? Or the aged parent in a nursing home? Or the person, not a relative, who lives in your home?

With certain exceptions, in order for an individual to qualify as your dependent he must have during the tax year:

Obtained more than half his support from you.

Had a gross income under $750.
(This does not apply to your children under 19, not to those older than that who are full-time students.)
Lived with you for the entire year.
(This does not apply to close relatives.)

Been a citizen or resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, or Panama.

Not filed a joint return with some other person, unless it was only to claim a tax refund, not because the tax refund was required. (Called the Archie Bunker rule because Archie's daughter is married to a student but lives in her parents' home.)

Generally, a person who was a qualified dependent for any period of the year, however brief, can be claimed for the full exemption. Thus you may claim an exemption for a person who may have died in 1974 or a person you married or adopted, no matter how late in the year. But there are some exceptions:

If your spouse had independent income, the exemption can be claimed only if you file jointly.
If your spouse died and you remarried during the tax year, you cannot claim the late spouse a dependent.

If you were divorced or legally separated at the end of the tax year, you can't claim the former spouse.

A person who is 65 or whose eyesight has fallen below specified level can claim a second exemption.
Thus, a couple filing jointly, both past 65 or legally blind, may claim four exemptions. But if persons in such condition are dependents of someone else, that other person cannot claim the extra exemptions.

In the case of an elderly person, more than half of whose support is provided by several children, none of whom provides 50 percent or more of the support, the parent can be taken as a dependent on a rotating basis. Any one of those contributing more than 10 percent of the support claims the exemption, while other contributions of more than 10 percent agree in a written statement attached to the return not to make the claim on their returns for that year.

Social Security

Quarterly wage reports and social security contributions for household workers are due by January 31, according to John Walter, Social Security District Manager in Covington, Ky.

"People who pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any 3 month calendar quarter must send a report of the wages, along with the social security contribution, to the Internal Revenue Service within one month after the end of the quarter."

Quarters are January-February-
March, April-May-June, July-August-September, and October-November-December. "Wage reports and social security contributions for the last quarter of 1974 are due by January 31, 1975."

People who employ household workers can file the wage report on a form available at any Internal Revenue Service Office. Employer's quarterly tax return for household employees (For Social Security).

The 1974 social security contribution for a household employee is 5.85 percent of covered wages. The employer pays a matching amount.

"Some household employers may prefer to pay the full 11.7 percent social security contribution."

Social security contributions help build retirement, disability, survivors, and medicare protections for workers and their families.

People who employ household workers can get a free copy of the leaflet, "Social Security and your

Onion Cornbread Casserole

Big-flavored Onion Cornbread Casserole takes the chill out of winter. A "no-nonsense" offering, part vegetable, part enriched hot cornbread, the casserole might well be considered a hybrid of main dish, side dish. Served either way, it's a new, satisfying combination of old familiar foods.

Dill and creamed corn are added to the self-rising cornbread recipe. Onions, sauteed in butter and mixed with Cheddar cheese and sour cream, top the corn meal mixture.

Because it's prepared with enriched self-rising corn meal,
Onion Cornbread Casserole does more than wet appetites.
Enriched means the self-rising corn meal contains essential B-vitamins-niacin, thiamine and riboflavin-and important minerals, iron, and calcium. Since it's self-rising, salt and baking powder are preblended with the corn meal, making preparation quicker and easier.

Onion Cornbread Casserole
6 to 8 servings

- 4 cups chopped onions
- 1/2 cup butter, melted
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 cup cheddar cheese
- 1 1/2 cups self-rising corn meal
- 2 tables. sugar
- 1/2 teas. dill weed
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup cream corn
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup oil
- Dash hot pepper sauce

Saute onion in butter until tender; remove from heat. Add sour cream and 1/2 cup of cheese to the sauteed onions; set aside.
Stir together corn meal, sugar and dill weed. In small bowl combine eggs, creamed corn, milk, oil, and hot pepper sauce;
add all at once to corn meal mixture, stirring until blended.
Pour batter into greased 9 inch square pan. Spoon onion mixture on top of corn meal batter. Sprinkle remaining cheese on top. Bake in preheated 400 degrees oven 25 to 30 minutes.

Your Car &
Your Garage

Don't take too long to warm up your car in the garage this winter, particularly on a rainy or snowy morning.

The Greater Cincinnati Carbon Monoxide Safety Committee warns that even with the garage door open, carbon monoxide can be trapped in the garage. Rain or snow on the outside can act as a closed damper, preventing the combustion products from escaping.

Idling a car to keep the engine and interior warm while parked can also be dangerous if a muffler is faulty.
Carbon monoxide can leak into the passenger compartment, rendering the occupants unconscious.

Carbon Monoxide poisoning can be fatal. Don't let yourself become one of its victims.

When you see "distressed meat" cuts which have darkened in color reduced for quick sale at your grocery, stop for a closer look. Such cuts are often real bargains, according to Extension specialists in consumer economics. However, overaged ground meat, which can become contaminated more easily, is not a good buy. In any case, it is a good idea to know the policy of the store that is selling the meat, the specialists point out.

Master's Approved At NKSC

Northern Kentucky State College has received approval to offer graduate work leading to the Master of Arts degree in Education.

Approval of the new program came at a meeting of the Kentucky Council on Public Higher Education in Lexington, Kentucky, on Wednesday, January 15. NKSC had applied for the program over a year ago, and in the interim, teachers in the Northern Kentucky area had taken graduate work at the college under a consortium arrangement set up by the Council.

NKSC President Dr. Frank Steely expressed gratitude to the members and staff of the Council and called their action "another milestone for Northern Kentucky."

"For 50 years, Northern Kentucky the second most populous area in the state has not been served in the realm of education," Steely said. He expressed gratitude to area school officials and to Gil Hammond of the Kentucky Education Association's Uniserv unit for being instrumental in getting the program.

He also praised NKSC Vice President for Academic Affairs Dr. Ralph Tessener, Chairman of the NKSC Department of Education Dr. Ray Waggoner, and Director of the Consortium Dr. Nick Melnick for their efforts in working out the master's program.

The Council on Public Higher Education will conduct a formal review of the NKSC program during the next biennium and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, which accredits academic programs, is scheduled for a visit on the NKSC campus in April.

The new graduate program at Northern gives considerable latitude to the institution in offering fields of study. The first graduates of the program will receive diplomas at NKSC's Commencement Exercises in May.

Ray E. Stewart, former Director of Housing for the city of Catlettsburg, and a civic leader in Boyd County, filed Monday for the Democratic nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture for the State of Kentucky.

A native of Rush in Boyd County, he has been a resident of Catlettsburg for 30 years.

Personnel and Labor Relations and a diploma in Gerontology (study of the elderly).

The candidate is 55 years old and is married to the former Lorraine Watson. They have two children, John, 16, and Ann, 13.

Stewart indicated that some of his opposition was trying to get into this office on someone else's coat tail and popular name. Stewart said that even though they have been field representative for a congressman and had, quote, "unfiring efforts," but still had no help for the farmer, the factory worker or the elderly.

In his tenure of seven years as housing director for Catlettsburg, he brought one project out of bankruptcy, and built an eight-story high rise for the elderly, and was responsible for getting the city other new businesses. He is also a 27-year employee of Allied Chemical Agriculture Corporation.

He is a member of Local Union 3687, CIO-AFL. A veteran of World War II, he is a member of the First Methodist Church of Catlettsburg, past president of the Catlettsburg Lions Club, a member of Royal Order of Moose Lodge No. 892, Ashland YMCA and the Kentucky Historical Society.

Mr. Stewart was educated in Boyd County and Carter County schools and he attended Morehead State and the University of Georgia. He has a degree in

Stewart said the state must have a plan of action now. He listed the following as his platform:

1. Immediately raise the dairy price support to 90 per cent of parity. This is $7.84 per C.W.T.
2. Establish a $7.50 "floor" in the formula for determining Class 1 milk prices.
3. Shut off extra quota imports of dairy products, period.

TOBACCO:

1. Acreage quota increases of 20 per cent.
2. A higher support price of $1.20 per hundred pounds.
3. Give farmers farm labor help from the New Emergency Employment Act.
4. "I believe that helping the average family is the politicians' and the government's first duty. They should form a fair price and wage control system that will give the factory workers, the farmers and elderly a fair share of this great country's wealth. The privileged, the super rich, and big business must be controlled. They won't control themselves. The president won't do it. The new congress should do it, before it gets worse than 1929. The economy is already as bad as 1929."

Cincinnati Bell Speaker Clubs

Martha Brock

Martha Brock, Sparta, is among 65 Cincinnati Bell employees who will be honored for volunteering their time to speak to area clubs and organizations as members of the company's Speaker Bureau during 1974. She gave 51 talks during the year.

The group will be guests of the telephone company at an awards presentation on Friday, January 31 at the Carousel Inn, 8001 Reading Road.

During 1974 the Speakers Bureau presented 1140 programs to more than 51,000 persons in the Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky operating territory of the company.

The two most popular programs were "The Charisma of the Queen" and "Your Voice is You", each presented more than 140 times during the year.

If your club or organization needs a program for a future meeting, contact the speakers bureau at 397-2766. All talks and films are available without charge.

Wa Na Club February 4th

The Wa Na Club will meet on Tuesday, February 4, 1975 at 8:00 p.m. at the Walton Christian Church.

The program will be very interesting considering it will be about the "Life in Hawaii" which will be prepared by Mrs. Shirley Lou Cook.

The hostesses for that evening will be Mrs. Evelyn Hance and Mrs. Irene Peebles.

All members and guests are invited to attend this wonderful and fulfilling program about our most beautiful state.

Births

Gary and Marianne Kinman, 3262 Aspen Dr., Independence, girl at 1:58 a.m. on January 25.

From Bobbie's Desk!

We are now in the midst of the yuck season of the year. I know the jungles have rot and the tropics their rainy seasons but believe me, we Midwesterners have this long long night of a winter's time during January and some of February. I tell myself each time I look out at that mushy mud grinning rather slovenly at me from under the snow that it won't be too long before the daffodils start peeping their shoots up. But ye, gods, until then. Ha.

I know it could be worse, but I think we Americans welcome a direct challenge, like the below zero snaps that make you so miserable you enjoy it. You grit your teeth, stick your chin out and dare it to try to do worse! There is a certain elation you get when you open the door to brave the fury of the Winter when you've heard the Weatherman's dire announcement that the Wind Chill Factor is 60 degrees below zero. This really gets your blood pumping so you can go get them. You tuck out to your car muffled so snug your nose is overworked getting any air to your lungs at all, and if the battery is a little too weak to start the motor, this makes you even more gleefully miserable.

These are the days when a minister might even say a few words under his breath that would make the parishioners feel a little better about themselves (and him) if they could just hear.

One of the favorite beliefs of city and country people alike is that the best life is the one of the farm people. I agree. Except during this kind of weather. I know. I've been there.

Misery you ain't had until you've been out until after dark trying to help tend the livestock in the wind, snow and mud and gotten stuck in the mud so badly you've stepped out of your boots. The silent rage you endure then surpasses all understanding. I had to literally stand there in the mud until I could be lifted out. It's true. That's living! The rest of the year it's great. But this time of year for the farm folk can be an endurance contest.

I think the best idea for us to get through this without acting as miserable to each other as we would like would be the old idea I heard about a long time ago. Seed Catalogues.

Nothing like seed catalogues with their descriptions of all the foliage, flowers, and Lord knows the pictures of all that fruit and vegetables to really cheer us up and make a whale of an order. This is great to lift up the businessman's heart, too. We'll worry about all those sordid things like sprays, pesticides, etc. later.

Right now, we'll dream, darn it.

Energy Tip

Stop That Leak! Believe it or not, a leak of about one drop of water per second adds up to about 650 gallons of water a year, and when it is a hot water faucet, you're wasting both water and gas. Replacing a bad washer promptly not only saves you money, but stops that steady drip, drip, drip.

Social

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mathis are the proud parents of a baby girl born at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mrs. Arnold Isley and Mrs. Wes Isley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rouse on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rich Meyers and daughter, Shannon Renee, are now residing in Walton after living in Oklahoma. Welcome Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Tyler celebrated their daughter's birthday on Sunday with a birthday party and a lot of gifts. Kim enjoyed herself very much and so did the ones who were invited.

Danny Berkshire of the United States Navy, was home for a few days visiting with friends and relatives.

Several members of the First Baptist Church and their guests enjoyed themselves on Tuesday by attending a skating party sponsored by the church.

Energy-Saving Tips For You

You can enjoy your automatic dryer and save energy using it, if you follow these common sense rules; Do not overload, or overdry... remove clothes when the dryer turns off. Operate dryer when few other appliances are being used, and be sure to clean the lint screen after each load. Sort clothes into light and heavy fabrics for fast drying; then use the dryer cycle and temperature suitable for each load. Plan washing and drying so loads run continuously from washer to dryer - using a warm dryer shortens drying time!

Leftovers Lead To Luxury

Leftovers — or "planned overs" as many homemakers prefer to call them — are a boon to the creative cook. They can be as good or better the second time around than they were at the first serving. For instance, leftover cooked chicken and ham combine with mushrooms to make delicately flavored Chicken and Ham a la King, a luxurious dish for a brunch or luncheon. To add a new dimension to this popular entree, home economists at Pils-Nik and Tasty Foods suggest serving it over heated shoestring potatoes. Round out the meal with Crispy Cheese Biscuits and carrot and celery sticks.

CHICKEN AND HAM A LA KING (6 Servings)

- 1/2 cup (1/2 stick) butter
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup chicken broth
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash each: pepper and mace
- 1 1/2 cups diced cooked chicken
- 1 cup diced cooked ham
- 1 jar (4 1/2 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- Pils-Nik or Koby's Shoestring Potatoes

Melt butter in a large frying pan; stir in flour. Gradually add milk and broth; cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add mustard and seasonings. Stir in chicken, ham, and mushrooms. Heat thoroughly; stir in parsley. Serve over heated shoestring potatoes.

CRISPY CHEESE BISCUITS (10 biscuits)

- 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1 jar (5 ounces) pimiento-olive cheese spread
 - 1 package (8 ounces) refrigerated baking powder biscuits
 - 1/2 cup coarsely crushed Pils-Nik or Koby's Shoestring Potatoes
- Melt butter in saucepan; stir in cheese spread, mixing until well blended. Place biscuits in greased 8-inch round cake pan. Spread cheese spread over top of biscuits; sprinkle with shoestring potatoes. Bake at 450° for 10 to 12 minutes. Remove biscuits to warm serving plate.

How to give till it helps (even on a budget).

There are some who think we're only after money, when we say, "Give till it helps."

Money is indeed important when you're called on to help millions upon millions of people every year. But money isn't everything.

3,114,743 people helped us last year by donating blood, for instance.

And there are hundreds of other jobs to be done. Everything from rescuing older people from the sea of loneliness. To helping to feed and house families after a disaster.

Many people can't give us all the money they'd like to. But there's hardly anybody who can't lend us a hand in some way.

Learn how you can give till it helps. Call your local American Red Cross chapter. Today wouldn't be a bit too soon.

More Isn't Always Better

Pack-a-day smokers usually have more red blood cells than do nonsmokers. But extra cells can cause blood clotting.

The job of the red blood cells is to deliver oxygen to all the tissues of the body. But smokers upset this oxygen-delivery system. For one thing, the carbon monoxide in cigarette smoke literally drives the oxygen out of the red blood cells. And carbon monoxide stays in the system hours after the smoker stops inhaling.

To compensate for this disruption, the body may produce more red blood cells in order to get the necessary oxygen. Compensation, however, causes complications. According to Dr. Arthur Sagone, assistant professor of medicine at Ohio State University, the extra cells produced can cause thicker blood and clotting. This explains, he says, why smokers suffer from a higher rate of strokes and heart attacks than do nonsmokers.

Normally, there are about thirty billion red blood cells surging through the body at any one time. Red blood cells have to be incredibly fast and efficient. A red cell spends only a fraction of a second in the lung, where it absorbs oxygen and speeds off to other parts of the body. Each red cell lasts about four months, and is then replaced by a fresh, new one. Every second, three million of these oxygen-bearing cells are born in of all place the bone marrow.

Our bodies are delicate, highly complicated organs. They deserve all the respect and help they can get. To find out more about the effects of smoking, contact the Kentucky Lung Association, the Christmas Seal people. It's a matter of life and breath.

It's Bird Feeding Time

Most of the time Old Mother Nature provides enough food for her children, but on cold winter days, especially when snow blankets the earth, many resident birds find life extremely austere. Unless they can find sufficient fuel to stoke their tiny furnaces, many of the less hardy individuals may perish from the cold.

A bird feeder set up in the backyard, on a window sill, or on some other protected spot will help prevent this eventuality. The person feeding the birds will benefit, too. He will derive pleasure from doing a humane deed and will no doubt enjoy bird company. He can learn to identify birds, appreciate their beauty, and then have them around to sing to him and catch his bugs come spring.

A bird feeder need not be an elaborate thing and the more rustic the better. It can be an open ended box, a plastic milk jug with a square hole cut in its side, or just about any other kind of a small container that can be easily stocked. It should be erected in a spot sheltered by a building, a tree, or some other object and where it can be easily viewed when birds come to feed.

Birds will eat just about anything humans do, but a combination of foods will attract the most kinds of birds. Members of the sparrow family like the cardinal, junco, and song sparrow are able to handle hard seeds and grains. Sunflower seed is a favorite, especially of chickadees, titmice, and nuthatches. They will also feed on a suet mixture, and like woodpeckers and the Carolina wren, are also very, very fond of suet, of which a large piece can be put in a mesh bag, like those onions are sold in, and hung from a tree.

Peanut butter, mixed half and half with cornmeal, will drive most birds, half out of their minds. Be sure, however, to mix the peanut butter thoroughly with the meal until it is no longer sticky, else it may choke the birds to death. Chopped nuts, cracked walnuts, popcorn, oatmeal, bread crumbs, meat scraps, raisins, and table scraps also make good bird food.

Sometimes squirrels can cause a problem at a bird feeder and may take more food than the birds. If these cute little varmints are not wanted around, their designs can be thwarted by swinging the feeder from a limb on a long wire or by placing the feeder on a pole with a funnel-like tin guard or baffle below the box.

Starlings often present a problem, too, and, unfortunately, no method has ever been devised to keep them away. Since they are wilder than most songbirds, they scare off easier. Whenever they appear, step out in the yard and shoot them off. Unless powerfully hungry, they will stay gone for an hour or so and in the meantime songbirds can eat their fill. Feeding whole corn may help, too, since grains of corn are a little too large for starlings to eat but are fine for cardinals, jays and doves.

Birds also need water in winter, especially when ponds and streams are frozen. Those who provide birdbaths for their feathery friends should fill them with water daily. Many people even go to the trouble of putting electric heaters in their birdbaths.

Personally speaking, we have winter-fed birds for several years. We have had no trouble with predators and have found that when spring comes, the bird prefer to dine on insects rather than the foods we provided them.

VA Has Tax Tips

The Veterans Administration has some tax tips for veterans filing their federal income tax returns.

In general the VA says veterans benefits are exempt from federal income tax, and need not be reported as income.

This exemption applies to dividends and proceeds from government life insurance policies but federal estate tax does apply to insurance proceeds.

Interest earned on government life insurance dividends left on deposit or credit with VA is considered income and must be reported on federal income tax returns.

Also exempt are grants to service-disabled veterans eligible for specially adapted homes and cars, and clothing allowances for veterans whose prosthetic devices tend to wear out or tear their clothing, VA spokesmen advise.

The Wills Of Giants

The pioneers of Kentucky were some of the bravest people our nation has ever produced. They dared the dangers of the wilderness and through these dares, they settled a great state.

The pioneers settled our state with the wills of giants. They fought against the dangers which were in overwhelming odds.

They settled in small communities. In or near each community was a fort to which the pioneers could go for cover during an Indian raid.

The pioneers' homes were usually one room log cabins with dirt floors. One of the amazing things about the cabin was the way the chimney was built. The chimney was about as high as the house with a wooden frame. It was fixed so that when the cabin was raided by the Indians, someone could climb out of it and go for help.

What furniture was in the house was made by the pioneer himself. Blankets on the floor often served for beds. To us today these cabins would seem impossible to live in, yet to them they were palaces.

The pioneers came to Kentucky in various ways. They came by wagon train, horseback, boats and, of course, by walking.

The men were not all the pioneers. We must remember the brave women who dared the journey to the strange new land.

Many reasons brought the pioneers to Kentucky. Many came for the great numbers of fur bearing animals. Some came to claim the rich land and the great forests. Kentucky was given a name to match the fights between the Indians and the white man. The name was the "dark and bloody hunting ground."

One of our most famous pioneers we know was Daniel Boone. Daniel came to Kentucky in 1769, as he called it for elbow room. He also came for the rich furs of the animals of the wilderness. Daniel started the well known settlement of Boonesborough. Although Daniel and his family suffered many hardships, they stayed and fought.

One of the brave women we remember was Jennie Wiley. She was taken captive by the Cherokee and forced into slavery. They killed all but one of her children and this was the baby and later killed him to force her to travel faster.

She spent many weeks with the Indians and one night she dreamed of escaping. With this dream, she did escape. She finally reached Harman Station with the Indians close behind her.

I have used two persons to illustrate the brave spirit of the pioneers; dangers they faced were many and great. Some of them were hunger, Indians, disease and the weather. Perhaps the greatest of these dangers was the Indians.

The two main tribes in Kentucky were the Shawnee and the Cherokee. They plagued the settlers frequently with their attacks against the forts and communities. When the Indians would attack, the settlers would run to the fort for cover. When the settlers all got into the fort, disease and hunger began to take their toll. If the pioneers did not drive off the Indians, soon everyone in the fort would die of hunger or disease.

The pioneer's weapons were greatly varied. They used anything or everything from rifles to knives as weapons.

The most famous gun, used first in Kentucky, was the long rifle.

The usual knife was the Bowie knife or a knife that could be thrown a great distance.

The Indians most used weapon was the bow and arrow. Some of them could hit things at long or short distance with a bow and arrow as well as a pioneer could hit with a rifle.

Religion came in with the Kentuckians. Three churches organized in Kentucky in 1781 were Baptist. There was also a Presbyterian Church.

When the pioneers attended services, they always went armed. Many were the times when the pioneers had to fight off the Indians at the church.

Although these churches were built, the earliest services were held under the shade of a maple or some other kind of tree.

Although the pioneers were always in danger from the Indians, they still managed to amuse themselves. The men played cards while the women got together and shared gossip. The children played games out in the yard. Some of their favorite games were "Pioneers and Indians," "Cat and Mouse," and "Blind Man's Bluff." Sometimes when the children played in the yard and Indians were around, they might not live to play again.

There was fun for all when a square dance was started.

Sometimes I think if the people of today still had the spirit of the first pioneers of Kentucky, the world would be a many times greater place in which to live than it is now.

So if you are ever down in the dumps about something, remember the brave fighting spirit of the pioneers, and try to be like them.

Did You Know?

January 13, 1952, a snow and gale storm ripped across Northern California and Nevada bringing with it the most bitter winter weather in 50 years.

When 196 passengers and a crew of 30 were marooned for three days on a snowstruck streamer near Emigrant Gap, ski patrols, dogsleds, snow, tractors, and helicopters brought food, medical supplies and a doctor.

A gale sent a dynamite-loaded barge drifting through the darkness in San Francisco Bay, the Coast Guard retrieved the barge four hours later.

Power and telephone lines were ripped out in hundreds of towns as falling trees slashed through them.

Highways into the Mountains were choked with snow and mostly impassable. Many road crews rely on a mixture of calcium chloride and salt to keep roads and city streets open.

LEGAL NOTICE

The Union Light, Heat and Power Company has filed an Application with the Public Service Commission of Kentucky requesting the Commission to issue an order, pursuant to KRS 278.020 and 278.040, granting to it: (a) a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity to construct approximately 61,000 feet of gas feeder pipelines from its existing gas feeder system in the Walton area to the Cities of Crittenden and Dry Ridge; (b) authorization to abandon its existing LNG plant, vaporization and storage facilities; and (c) authorization to charge the unrecovered portion of its capital investment in the LNG plant and facilities which are to be abandoned to Account 182, Extraordinary Property Losses, and to amortize the unrecovered portion above the line for accounting and ratemaking purposes, in equal amounts over sixty months by charges to Account 407.1, Amortization of Property Losses.

The Public Service Commission of Kentucky has ordered a hearing in this matter on February 18, 1975, at 10:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time in its offices at Frankfort, Kentucky.

Retirement Plans For Self-Employed

Beginning in 1975, a self-employed individual who does not wish to participate in a regular approved retirement plan will have the option of opening a retirement bank account and deducting up to $1,500 in contributions to the account each year on his income tax returns.

"Even though a retirement plan provides some current tax advantages for the self-employed, I feel the most important reason for having such a plan is to provide for retirement," says Moore. "It is very obvious that with today's prices, social security alone will not provide an adequate retirement income."

Moore points out that Congress passed a law this year increasing the amount of tax-deductible income which can be put into approved deferred-income retirement plans by self-employed persons. Under the old law, passed in 1962 and commonly called the Keogh Act, eligible persons could put up to 10 percent of each year's income, but not more than $2500, into such a plan. The new law, known as the 1974 Pension Reform Act, allows a contribution of as much as 15 percent of each year's income, with the maximum raised to $7,500.

"The average age of Kentucky farmers is in the mid-50's, and 1974 net farm income is the highest ever except for last year," says Moore.
"Thus, a deferred-income retirement plan should prove very beneficial to many farmers in Kentucky."

Moore says most tax consultants and insurance companies have pre-approved basic retirement plans available for those who do not have a plan. Those who already have a plan need to have it reviewed because of the new 1974 law.

Would you help this kid?

When the dam broke at Buffalo Creek, West Virginia, a lot of people weren't as lucky as this little guy.

Jame and the rest of the Mosley family made it 'till the fall just in the nick of time. Seconds later, a wall of water swept all their earthly possessions away.

Here you see Jame in the Red Cross shelter, thinking it all over.

One look at that face, and we're awfully glad we were there to help.

Every year, you know, Red Cross touches the lives of millions upon millions of Americans. Rich. Poor. Average. Black. White. Christian and Jew. With support. With comfort. With a helping hand when they need it.

So when you open your heart, with your time or your money, you can be certain it's in the right place.

The waning moon is still in Virgo until late evening, so if you didn't get your household chores completed yesterday you can finish any time today. If you have been bothered with corns or callouses this would be a good time to start treatments, if it looks serious see a good Podiatrist.

Friday, January 31st

The Moon went in to the air sign Libra last night, so today would be a good time for some home baking anything you mix and bake should turn out well. If you want the dough to set and rise you can finish up tomorrow. The afternoon would be a good time to shop for new clothing if you want the latest styles and if buying shoes buy them last after your feet begin to tire.

Saturday, February 1st

The moon still in Libra so you can finish anything you did not complete yesterday and it will turn out all right. It might even be a better day for buying those new shoes if you didn't have time yesterday. The afternoon would be a good time for visiting anyone that you enjoy listening to as the moon will be trine mercury so you should be mentally alert.

Sunday, February 2nd

If we will all ponder deeply this Sabbath on the words of Edward Atkinson, the 19th Century economist, maybe we can all make more progress next week. (There are two things needed in these days: First, for rich men to find out how poor men live; and second, for poor men to know how rich men work.)

Monday, February 3rd

The fish are going to bite today and tomorrow, but I am not sportsman enough to catch my share, and anyway I do not have a 1975 license. If you want your hair to be slow growing back get it cut today or tomorrow. If you are planning to redecorate your home, today would be an ideal time for inside painting.

Tuesday, February 4th

This would be a good day to take care of any personal business or legal matters you have been putting off. It is a safe day for traveling if you stay within the new legal speed limit and get home before 8 p.m. If you can't think of any legal matters give some thought to last years income and get those tax forms filled out if you haven't already done so.

Wednesday, February 5th

The moon is waning in the fire sign Sagittarius, so if you have any timer or posts to be cut this would be an ideal time for cutting and they will cure out properly. Also a good day for burning or gassing plants beds, weather permitting. If your eyes have been bothering you lately this would be a good time for an eye examination.

Receives Three Honors

Mr. Stanley Luttrell, Walton, has received a Kentucky Colonel Commission from Governor Julian Carroll for being the most outstanding middle-aged democrat throughout the state of Kentucky.

He was also made Honorary Deputy Sheriff of Kenton County and Clerk of Court of Appeals of Kentucky. This award was presented to him by Mrs. Frances Jones Mills.

pint of it air dried to the Extension Office. In two weeks you'll get back the results and recommendations. The money saved could amount to hundreds of dollars.

Your soil test will also tell you if lime is needed. Limestone on strongly acid soils will increase the efficiency of applied fertilizer, but if too much limestone is applied efficiency will be decreased.

Since nitrogen is going to be in short supply this spring, you may want to plow up a good sod or clover field for tobacco or corn. It will supply more nitrogen than a cover crop. Sidedressing on part of the nitrogen thirty to forty days after transplanting will also make better use of your nitrogen.

Many growers apply animal manures, or tobacco stalks to tobacco fields. Such practices add nutrients to the soil and fertilizer rates can be reduced. Animal manure supplies an average of 6 pounds of nitrogen, 3 pounds of phosphorus, and 10 pounds of potash per ton. Limit manure applications on tobacco to 10 tons per acre. Tobacco stalks supply an average of 30 pounds of nitrogen, 10 pounds of phosphorus and 70 pounds of potash per ton.

Dr. Ragland points out that Kentucky farm leadership and congressional delegation are working on this problem but unless a solution to the problem is soon found many Kentucky farmers may have to shift production plans.

Here's how to use your fertilizer wisely. First, do a proper soil test. Test results and recommendations are no better than the sample submitted. Sample at random from a dozen spots in the field. Use an auger or spade and go to plow layer depth. Mix the soil and bring one

N. Ky. Interfaith Commission Gathers

World hunger and the state of the ecumenical movement in Northern Kentucky will be probed when the Northern Kentucky Interfaith Commission gathers at Christ Church, Ft. Thomas, on February 2.

It will be the fifth annual convention of the tri-county organization which this year is headed by the Rev. John Murphy, pastor of the Florence Christian Church.

Rev. Murphy will present his report at the opening session at 2:30 p.m. Registration begins an hour earlier for the eleven denominations making up the ecumenical group.

Miss Mary Pons, co-ordinator of the commission since it was set up in late 1969, has asked that reservations for the dinner be mailed to her as soon as possible.

The interfaith office is at 601 Greenup Street, Covington.

Verona Elementary Students Awarded

The Verona Elementary Students will be able to order a cassette recorder, and playground equipment such as balls, bases, jump ropes, and tether ball sets because they collected 11,600 Campbell Soup labels for their school.

The PTA awarded ten silver dollars to the children who had the most labels. They were: Terri Robinson, Omer Lucas, Marty King, Daryl Atkins, Troy Sturgeon, Bill Tyler, Rhonda Ross, Teresa Coffey, Teresa Black, and Kim Woods.

A book from the Book Fair was also awarded to the following children who turned in the most labels in their group aside from the silver dollar winners: Gaylon Fields, Brian Beighle, Eric Lauterwasser, Dwayne Vest, Mark Clifton, Tarina Black, Shelly Beach, Rita Lynn Brown, Kevin Gallagher, Mike Hance, Debbie Waller, Tracy Alphin, Karen Thornton, Carl Pieghler, Lisa Scroggins, and Gary William.

Bit-N-Spur Horse Club Meets

The monthly meeting of the Bit-N-Spur Horse Club was held February 1st at Elaine Campbell's house.

Election of officers was held and they are as follows:

President - Debbie Ryan, Vice President - Cindy Parker, Secretary - Elaine Campbell, Treasurer - Sandy Lanter, Pledge Leader - Angie Parker, Reporter - Kathy Lanter.

The club would like to remind everyone that its Easter Bake Sale will be held March 30th at Ryan's Hardware Store in Walton.

New members are always WELCOME so plan to come to the next meeting on March 2nd at Debbie Ryan's house.

Twenty Additions To Classrooms

Twenty additional academic classrooms will be available and there will be added space for industrial arts, home economics, music, classes and science laboratories in addition are built Kenton County's two high schools, Dixie Heights and Simon Kenton.

A feasibility study by Robert Elmet Hayes, architect, indicated such expansion possible when the Kenton County Board of Education met in a special session.

The study had been commissioned by the board in making construction plans to alleviate over-crowding throughout the system.

The plan also provides for new gyms at each school while, at the same time, retaining the present gyms. However, at Dixie Heights a new football field will have to be located.

In taking the study under consideration, the Board also took into account a report by Gayle Bowen, director of finance for the Kentucky Department of Education.

At the present time, he said, the Kenton County system has a bonding capacity for construction between $3.5 and $3.9 million depending on the maturity date and the interest rate.

Keen Age Group Meets

The Keen Age Group of the Walton area met at the Walton Baptist Church at 10:30 a.m. on Monday, January 27 for a tour, after a short business meeting. It was decided to have a "Vegetarian" party for our February meeting.

Each person will dress in clothing of "way back when", or as old as one has, bringing some item of antique to see how many will know what its use was, then will be entertained with a covered dish of food we enjoyed as a child or our mother's favorite recipe.

After the business meeting the Keen Agers enjoyed lunch and view at the Riverfront Restaurant.

Then on to a conducted tour we went to the Cathedral Basilica of the Assumption, 12th and Madison in Covington. This was the first visit to both places by most of the Keen Agers.

Those present who enjoyed this afternoon were: Mrs. Leona Jump, Mrs. Frank Penick, Mr. and Mrs. William Soden and daughter, Robin, Mrs. Jesse Hoffman, Mrs. Fanny Adams, Mrs. Clara Presser, Mrs. Mabel Johnson, Mrs. Opal Pheltry, Mrs. Abe Mae Williams, Mrs. Mattie Fairchild, Mrs. Sylvia Danford, Mrs. Lucita Neumeister, Mrs. Ora Benton, Dale Hottle, and Mrs. Leo Flynn.

Split Rail Fair Arts & Crafts

Come One, Come All to the Split Rail Arts and Crafts Fair to be held Saturday, February 8 from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sunday, February 9 from Noon to 8 p.m. at the La Salette Academy Gymnasium, Seventh and Greenup Streets, Covington, Kentucky. Admission is free and open to the public.

Artists and Craftsmen from the three state area have been busy preparing for the Fair. A spinning wheel and its owner, Mrs. Bert Terwilliger of Dupont, Indiana are traveling to Covington, to demonstrate the old fashion craft for all watching eyes. A quilt long in the making is being quilted at the Fair and all questions concerning the almost lost art will be happily answered.

Tom Webb, a local Kentucky artist who painted his first painting as a sign painter for a carnival has canvas and oils waiting to take the form of a painting at the Fair. Mr. Justin Gibson, of Bellevue, has his acrylics ready to frame and display at the Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Widloff of Cincinnati, have gathered rocks from the far corners of the world and are waiting with great anticipation to tell all comers the lore and mystery connected with some of their beauties.

Mr. Don Terrell now a resident of Northern Ky. and formerly of California and Hawaii will certainly impress the crowd with his leather work. Mr. Charles Cornell will also have available some fine examples of leather tooling.

Beautiful crystal carousels come from the torch and glass rods of the well known Kentucky glass craftsman, Mr. Bruce Lanier. Bruce will be producing glass wonders to the amazement of all watchers.

Mrs. Ethel Conover have been saving detergent bottles. She is going to demonstrate to girls young and old how to turn these scrap bottles into dolls to grace and shelf.

For those who feel no day can be faced without the luxury of jewelry, six masters will create jewelry. From Dick Keeler fashioning bracelets and rings from silver forks and spoons that once graced a dining table through the realm of the silver and turquoise of Mr. Linus Artman, to the land of the strange and wonderful of Siebohn Gallagher and her bottle-cap jewelry, the sweet adornments of life will be there in style a plenty.

Marble animal art will be demonstrated by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wing, Jr. of Bellevue. These animals will surely join the ranks of many collectors.

Two clowns, Quincy and Minerva, have been preparing balloons for the affair. They, in real live Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keeler of Clayville, are going to greet the small fry at the door and add a very festive note.

Candles, wood carving, metal sculpture, plastic craft, doll clothes, wood puzzles, stuffed animals and dolls, all are in readiness for the Fair.

Coming . .

Coming on Monday, February 10, 1975 a Benefit Show and Country Music Spectacular at Club 25 between the hours of 7:00 p.m. till 2:00 a.m.

A host of Musicians are Jim and Carol Kinnman and the Kinsmen, Landon Williams and the Hardtimes, Bobby Mackey and the Countryhads, Willie and the Poorboys, and many more.

For more information call 356-5561.

Proceeds will go to Jim Roundtree.

St. Cecilia 4-H Pledgers Meet

On January 21, the St. Cecilia 4-H Pledgers met.

Miss Schneider came and showed us slides of pictures from Rally Day and 4-H Camp. In January we had a bake sale and made $10.00 to buy 2 small trophies for the 4-H talent winners, Angela Loesing and Michelle Strain.

Mrs. Bergman gave each family a Bicycle Project Book. The 4-H Pledgers hope to have entries in the 4-H Poster Contest.

such activities as swim team, swimming lessons, gymnastic classes, and art and culture classes.

The Northern Kentucky YMCA will be holding its annual Membership Drive during the month of February. Approximately sixty-five people will be working for the Kenton County Branch part of this drive. They will be inviting people in the community to join and to support the new branch.

1975 Enrollment Boy Scout Drive

Mike Kenner, Ludlow Boy Scout, gives his elders a nature lesson as scouts in Kenton and Boone Counties launch the 1975 Enrollment Drive for $7500 to support the movement in the two counties. Looking on is, left, Ronald of the Jones Funeral Home, Ludlow co-chairman, and Richard Neiberding, vice president of the First National Bank of Covington, the chairman. Mike, telling all about a maple leaf, already has won badges in citizenship, swimming, first aid, hiking and campaign camping.

Assistant News Supervisor For Bell

Eugene C. Orlando, 316 Crestline Avenue Price Hill, has been named assistant news supervisor for Cincinnati Bell replacing Jack Metz who resigned.

Orlando began working for the Company in 1968 as a personnel staff supervisor. He was later named staff editor in the Information Department and was responsible for Inside Line, the firm's employee newsletter, and the writing of Manager's Digest.

He is a 1959 graduate of St. Xavier High School and a 1963 graduate of Xavier University, Magna Cum Laude, where he received his Bachelor of Arts Degree. He later served four years in the United States Army.

Orlando has been a Lector Lay Minister in the Holy Family Parish since 1971, and is past chairman of the Holy Family Parish Council.

He and Betty, his wife, are the parents of two children.

Traiblazers 4-H Club Meet

The January Traiblazers 4-H Club meeting was called to order by Missy Hecker. The pledge to the American Flag was led by Charlotte McIntire and the 4-H pledge was led by Kim Maddox. There were 23 members present and 4 leaders.

We went Christmas caroling on the 22nd of December. Those who went had lots of fun and recommended it to all members for the coming year.

The county winners from our club on their record books are Kim and Michelle Maddox, Joe Schmiade, and Missy Hecker. There is a 4-H poster contest. A clever motto attractively illustrated is the basic requirement. The poster deadline is February 17. Members were encouraged to be thinking about 4-H Camp. Announcement was made that there will be a meeting on Home Furnishings at the RECC Building on January 27 at 4 p.m. Speeches and demonstrations will be given in March on the county level. Members were told to prepare both for the competition.

Joe Schmiade made a motion that the meeting adjourn and Jody Elbert seconded the motion. The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed by all.

10th Anniversary Celebrated

On Sunday, January 26th, Anneliese Wahrenburg was surprised with a 10th Anniversary celebration at her Art Studio. Her husband, Heinz, suggested a ride then told her he wanted to stop at the studio to get something. When they entered, she was greeted with "Happy Anniversary" from a group of her students who had gathered earlier. It was a complete surprise, as not a car was in sight.

The studio was beautifully decorated in pink and blue with a beautiful centerpiece of pink carnations. There was punch, coffee, and cake for the approximately 100 students and friends who dropped in.

The most exciting moment for Anneliese was when she was seated with her gifts around her and one of her youngest students, Douglas Durst knelt at her feet and gave her a bouquet of yellow roses. Her students, past and present, presented her with a beautiful 5 piece silver tea and coffee set and several others brought gifts.

One of the guests said to her, "Aren't people beautiful" and we are fortunate to have one of those beautiful people, Anneliese, here. We hope she has many more successful years in the studio.

Open House At Thomas More

Students of the Biology and Chemistry Departments of Thomas More College, Ft. Mitchell, Kentucky, are sponsoring an Open House on Sunday, February 16th, from 1 to 5:30 p.m. on the top two floors of the new Science Building. Refreshments will be served.

Of interest will be a variety of displays and the opportunity to survey our equipment. School phone: 341-5800.

Simon Kenton Wins Cheerleading Trophy

On Saturday, January 22, Northern Kentucky State College held a Regional Cheerleading Competitions where Simon Kenton High School Varsity Cheerleaders won a 2nd place trophy and superior ribbon in varsity division, and came back in style to win over-all Grand Champion of this whole region.

There were squads from Ohio, Indiana, Northern and Central Kentucky competing.

Simon Kenton Jr. Varsity took a superior ribbon and 4th place in their division.

We're proud of Debbie Mullins, Karen Daley, Rhonda Davis, Kim Works, Lisa West, Sherree Riggs, Karen and Joy O'Brien. Congratulations, Varsity Cheerleaders for excellence.

Ky. Burley Growers Increase

Congressman Gene Snyder announced on January 28th that the Kentucky Burley Growers are going to get a 10 per cent increase in their 1975 quotas. Snyder said the new quotas announced by the US Department of Agriculture is 670 million pounds up from 608 million from last year. The congressman was optimistic that this increase in the price support program would make 1975 a banner year for the tobacco growers.

Murray State Dean's List

A total of 1,049 undergraduate students at Murray State University earned recognition on the Dean's List for high scholarship during the 1974 fall semester.

Among that number are 192 who achieved a perfect 4.0 academic standing. Others on the list had grade point standings between 3.3 and 4.0.

Full time undergraduate enrollment for the fall semester was 5,073.

Records from the university's data processing office show that Jeffrey Martin of Boone County is on the Dean's List.

Congratulations Jeffrey!

Walton Verona Adds College Prep Course

Something new has been added at Walton Verona High School. Approximately 20 Seniors are taking part in an independent study college preparatory course designed specifically to help them get ready for college English.

The course involves reading widely varied types of literature and the writing of analytical type essays based on the reading. The course also will help students to expand their vocabulary, both through the reading program and by means of a popular 30 day vocabulary building course.

Students read the selections on their own, then take a test over the material to check comprehension. Then each student composes an analytical paper on some topic related to the reading. The Seniors work independently of a teacher unless they have specific problems or questions.

The college preparatory program will last one semester and students will receive credit for completing the course.

Boone County Equestrians

The January 4-H meeting was held at Amy McClure's home in Florence. We discussed the Boone County Fair and the State Fair and the Junior Horse Show.

We are having a roller skating party at Jimmy's Roller Dome and all horse clubs are welcome to attend.

The Date is February 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Our next meeting will be at Kathy Easton's home on Price Pike in Florence, Ky., on February 17 at 7:30 p.m.

All members are urged to attend.

Thank You

I would like to thank everyone who had any part in my 10th Anniversary last Sunday. A special thanks to those who planned it and did all the work involved. I have had many surprises in my life but this was one of the nicest. Sometimes we feel like we're in a rut, then something like this happens and makes it all worth while. Thanks again.

She Bakes And Talks

The kitchen was warm and smelled of the hendi sweetness of homemade bread. Standing at the doughboard, her hands floury but graceful, she kneaded the dough into small loaves.

Mrs. Wyant, who was 90 on December 9 is active and alert and loves to make bread.

Although she is noted for her bread, Mrs. Wyant is even more famous for her relationship with Abraham Lincoln. Her mother, Laura Ann Hanks, was the granddaughter of Fielding Hanks, a brother of Nancy Hanks Lincoln, mother of Abraham Lincoln.

Col. Wyant, a Kentucky Colonel, is not only popular in her home area but is sought by genealogists who are trying to trace a connection with Abraham Lincoln through the Hanks family. "I always tell them they know more about the Hanks family than I do."

Fielding Hanks, brother of Nancy Lincoln, was an officer in early Morgan County and built the first cabin in Campton; his son, Cuthbert Hanks represented Wolfe County in the Legislature in 1863 to '65. Cuthbert also helped form Wolfe County from parts of Morgan, Powell, Owsley and Breathitt counties in 1860.

"Nathaniel Wolfe, a Louisville attorney, assisted my grandfather," she recalls "and when the attorney asked what they would name the new county, my grandfather replied, 'Why Wolfe, of course.'"

Mrs. Wyant said she wishes now she had written down family stories as they were told when she was a child. "I recall many times old ones talking about the Hankses and their connection with Lincoln. I never wrote any of it down and now I have to rely on my memory."

She remembered her mother saying her grandfather and Lincoln played together. She added that "the Lincolns went to live just this side of Hodgenville on some creek and mother said C. M. Hanks went there to visit them just before the family left to live a short time just over the Wabash River near Indiana."

Today, Lincoln's aunt and uncle, Fielding and Lydia Hanks, are buried on a hill east of Campton, as are Fielding's son, Cuthbert and wife, Lillie Hanks.

"There are only two Hanks by the name left in Campton", there's Fred, son of mother's brother Boone Hanks, and Roy, son of another brother, Columbus Hanks."

The bread baked and her story told, Mrs. Wyant started on another family story, but then, looking at the clock, she said, "That can wait till next time."

Enemies In The Air

Work can be hazardous to your health. And to your family's.

The Public Health Service says that 100,000 workers die from on-the-job exposure to hazards each year. And each year, 2,000 of those deaths are believed to result from inhaling asbestos fibers.

At Mt. Sinai Medical Center in New York City, Dr. Seligoff and his co-workers have found that even families of asbestos workers are endangered by tiny quantities of asbestos dust carried home on the hair and clothing of workers.

The researchers contacted 210 family members of workers who had been employed in an asbestos plant between 1941 and 1956. Forty per cent of the immediate family members had lung abnormalities associated with asbestosis, the crippling lung disease caused by inhaling asbestos fibers.

If the disease can result from such low-level exposure, the implications for the public may be serious indeed. Asbestos is found in hundreds of common household products. Fibers have been found in the urban air, in water, and in some foods.

Since scarring of the lung tissue doesn't show up for at least ten years or more after exposure there is no way of detecting how widespread the disease may be. Often it takes twenty or thirty years to "incubate."

Asbestos isn't the only industrial hazard. At least 15,000 substances are suspected as dangerous, and federal standards regulate only 450 of them. Each year industry introduces another 3,000 new substances whose effects on humans are untested.

To find out more about the hazards we breathe on and off the job, contact your Kentucky Lung Associations. It's a matter of life and breath.

Dollars & Good Sense

Inflation seems to be keeping food prices spiraling upward, making it harder for just about everybody to make ends meet. So, for the next few columns, I'll be discussing ways to stretch your food dollars.

Since most of our food money is spent at the supermarket, that's a good place to begin. The key to an efficient shopping trip is planning. You can chop whole dollars off your grocery bill by checking the market ads, clipping coupons, and most importantly, making out a complete shopping list.

A good shopping list has to be very specific, listing exactly what you need. Don't just put down general categories like meat or vegetables. Instead, list two pounds of hamburger, three tomatoes, one head of lettuce, and so on.

And once you get to the store, stick to the list. This is easy as long as you follow a couple of rules. For instance, don't shop when you are hungry. And try to shop alone, because husbands and kids have a way of filling the shopping cart with all sorts of needless budget busters. And try to plan your shopping trips for early morning or late afternoon when the store is less likely to be busy.

All this planning is going to take some extra time, but if you can save five dollars by spending an hour planning, it is well worth it.

Tea Kettles Are Handy For Jobs

When guests ask for tea, are you prepared? Or do you have to fumble to find a suitable serving piece?

Home economists suggest that if you entertain at all, it's a good idea to have a small decorative tea kettle on hand. In fact, tea kettles come in handy for a variety of kitchen chores.

United States Stamping Company offers a complete line of decorator tea kettles, which are versatile kitchen tools, as well as attractive kitchen accent pieces.

The 1 and 2 quart tea kettles are available with suggested retail prices.

What is truth?

Increased costs, especially that of coal, are forcing us to face higher electric bills. Still, we are more fortunate than citizens of other American communities which face electric energy shortages.

We can whip rising price problems only by working together to use electric energy wisely. As we save energy we'll save money. It's worth working at. So contact your electric cooperative for energy and money saving ideas.

Your U.S. Department of Agriculture serves all Americans daily. It works to improve and maintain farm income and to develop and expand markets abroad for agricultural products. The Department helps to curb and cure poverty, hunger, and malnutrition. It works to enhance the environment and to maintain our capacity to produce by helping landowners to protect soil, water, forests, and other natural resources. Department programs in the fields of rural development, credit, and conservation are key resources in carrying out national growth policies. Its research findings are of direct or indirect benefit to all Americans. The Department, through inspection and grading services, safeguards and assures standards of quality in the daily food supply.

Abraham Lincoln signed the congressional act creating the U.S. Department of Agriculture in 1862. A little more than a quarter century later, Agriculture became the eighth executive department to achieve Cabinet rank. In those days, the Department served a population almost entirely engaged in agriculture as a livelihood. A farmer in Lincoln's time produced only enough farm products to supply himself and three or four others.

Today's Department serves a Nation in which less than 5 per cent of the population lives on farms a Nation in which each agricultural worker provides food and fiber for himself and over 50 others.

The National Wildlife Service is interested in finding where the winter roost of red-winged black birds can be located. If anyone in Boone County knows of winter roosts, please call Mr. Atlas Lynn, Wildlife Conservation Officer for Boone County. His number is 384-3621.

FARM NEWS AND ANALYSIS

By Darwin Foley
Kentucky Extension Agent

Pesticide is the term used to describe a wide range of crop protection chemicals which kills pests or control their populations. Pesticides include herbicides, insecticides and others. Herbicides control plant pests which we commonly call weeds. Insecticides control insect pests. Rodenticides are for control of rodents. Pesticide is any chemical used to control pests.

You have probably heard that you will have to be certified to use restricted pesticides in 1976. State certification programs are now being formulated. States that plan to certify applicators must have approved programs in effect by October 1976.

Certification programs are designed to ensure that users have the competence to handle restricted-use pesticides without causing danger to themselves, the public, or the environment. The certification programs will also allow continued use of certain products that might otherwise have to be withdrawn from the market.

Pesticides will be classified for general or restricted use. Those classified for general use may be applied by the general public without further restrictions other than those specified on the label. Persons using these products do not need the special competence required for the use of restricted pesticides.

There are two types of certified applicators of restricted chemicals. One is a private applicator who applies restricted pesticides on property he or his employer owns or rents. The other type is the commercial applicator who will be certified in one or more use categories.

You can get additional information on certification from Fred Waters, Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Frankfort, Ky. There will also be a pesticide dealers meeting at the Springs Motel in Lexington at 6:30 p.m. on February 13. Call our office at 356-3155 if you plan to attend.

You can obtain 1975 insect and weed control information from our office in Independence. Chemical Control of Weeds in Farm Crops in Kentucky 1975 gives weed control recommendations for tobacco, corn, alfalfa, and other farm crops. Recommendations are revised every year.

You are reminded to register for the home garden class to be held at the Independence Courthouse, Thursday, February 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Energy & Tax Program

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

Seldom has a State of the Union Address stirred so much controversy as has that of President Ford on January 15th. His program places a tariff on petroleum imports and raises taxes on domestic gas and oil in order to reduce fuel consumption and conserve energy. These taxes are mostly to be related to the people. Other tax cuts are intended to stimulate the economy. Expanding government spending is to be slowed. Domestic energy production is to be spurred.

The President stated, "The emphasis on our economic efforts must now shift from inflation to jobs." Rising energy costs and unemployment levels have worried the President and his advisors, and all public officials. The disagreement is in what to do about the problems.

The Ford proposal an energy program and an economic and tax program combined has been analyzed, dissected, drawn and quartered. It is very complicated, and beyond many people. Opponents urge gas rationing and deeper tax cuts. One thing is clear: no matter what is done or not done the average citizen taxpayer will pay more!

The Federal Energy

Administration has just estimated that energy costs per average family of $275 to $345 a year if the Ford program is adopted. But even if all of that were to be returned in the tax distribution, taxpayers face mounting costs. The Administration which has been committed to hold the line on inflation now is asking Congress to raise the "temporary" national debt ceiling from the present $495 billion to $604 billion!

How often, I have said that government debt hurts more than taxes! Taxpayers eventually must pay back not only the amounts borrowed but the interest as well. Government has no money of its own. It must get its funds in taxes from the citizenry or borrow it by the issuance of interest-bearing debt securities to be paid off by later taxes.

The taxpayers end up holding the bag for all government actions, good or bad, on every level local, state or Federal. Government officials don't like to acknowledge it, but they depend totally upon the private sector for their own salaries and for the funds to operate government programs. Government jobs as well as jobs in private industry depend entirely upon the well-being of the free enterprises that are the backbone of our society, that take the business risks to provide the salaries and wages and profit dividends out of which come the taxes that support government.

The final disposition of Mr. Ford's proposals, and the precise burden on the consumer taxpayers, await the slow deliberations of the legislative process. I'll do my best to see that the burden is as light as possible.

Senator
Dee Huddleston

REPORT
to the People

Senator Walter Dee Huddleston does not agree with President Ford's proposal to limit Social Security cost-of-living increases to 5 per cent. And he is co-sponsoring a resolution with some 50 other senators expressing congressional opposition. 531,000 Kentuckians are currently receiving Social Security benefits.

The Kentucky senator said it would be a "national disgrace" to give 30 million American on Social Security only a 5 per cent increase in benefits at the same time they are enduring 11-12 percent inflation.

The current estimate is that cost-of-living adjustments, scheduled to begin in July, will be 9 per cent under existing law. The President wants that increase limited to 5 per cent.

"Those Americans on Social Security are the last persons we should ask to bear the brunt of the economic recovery program," Huddleston said. "Most of these people barely make enough to live on and inflation always hits those on fixed incomes the hardest."

"That was the reason the cost-of-living escalator was enacted to help retired persons maintain an adequate source of income. Denying the low income and elderly American a decent income is not only unjust, it is also inconsistent with the goal of increasing consumer purchasing power as a stimulus to a recessionary economy. "It's just a case of asking those least able to afford it to make additional sacrifices."

LEGAL NOTICE

The Union Light, Heat and Power Company has filed an Application with the Public Service Commission of Kentucky requesting the Commission to issue an order, pursuant to KRS 278.020 and 278.040, granting to it: (a) a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity to construct approximately 61,000 feet of gas feeder pipelines from its existing gas feeder system in the Walton area to the Cities of Crittenden and Dry Ridge; (b) authorization to abandon its existing LNG plant, vaporization and storage facilities; and (c) authorization to charge the unrecovered portion of its capital investment in the LNG plant and facilities which are to be abandoned to Account 182, Extraordinary Property Losses, and to amortize the unrecovered portion above the line for accounting and ratemaking purposes, in equal amounts over sixty months by charges to Account 407.1, Amortization of Property Losses.

The Public Service Commission of Kentucky has ordered a hearing in this matter on February 18, 1975, at 10:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time in its offices at Frankfort, Kentucky.

SUNDAYSERMON

A Serving People

(1 Peter 2:9; 2 Corinthians 8:1-7; James 2:14-17)

Halford E. Loeck spoke to the heart of this Bible lesson in the following words: "As a substitute for becoming real disciples of Jesus, many people wish the church well. They say: 'Of course I sympathize with the church. I won't join it nor attend regularly, but I'll give a little money to support it, and I want my children to go to Sunday School. I think there ought to be a church in the community.' Would there ever

Christ has no hands but our hands
To do his work today;
He has no feet but our feet
To lead men in his way;
He has no tongues but our tongues
To tell men how he died;
To bring them to his side.

Commissioned For Service, 1
Peter 2:9

What God has said of Israel in the Old Testament (Duet. 7:6; Exodus 19:6; Hosea 2:23), is true of the followers of Christ today. God has chosen a people to bear witness to His redemptive work in the world. This chosen race God calls "a royal priesthood." Every citizen of this kingdom is a priest unto God (Revelation 1:5,6). It is "a holy nation" because it has been set apart for God's service. This race is referred to as "God's own people." This literally means "a people for his cherishing." They are "a peculiar people" because they are God's.

All of these privileges had been bestowed or lavished upon this chosen generation "that (they) should show forth the praises of him who had called (them) out of darkness into his marvelous light." People who have been blessed with privileges always have a corresponding responsibility. Israel was expected to bear witness of the redemptive work of God to all nations. Israel failed. The church of our Lord Jesus Christ has been chosen, called, and commissioned to be His witnesses. The church must not fail.

Commendation for Service, 2
Corinthians 8:1-7

In this passage the Apostle Paul with glowing enthusiasm commends the churches of Macedonia for their service through giving. He calls this "the grace of God." Many Christians today fail to see giving as having anything to do with the grace of God.

Paul commends those churches who have given out of their deep poverty. They were going through trials of persecutions which probably resulted in the loss of their material possessions. This did not keep them from sharing out of what little they had left. Many today feel that only those who are wealthy ought to give. Those who refuse to give out of their poverty most likely would not give out of their riches. The accumulation of wealth usually does not make one more generous.

Abundance of joy came to those who gave out of their poverty. They gave beyond their ability to give. Someone has suggested that we ought to give until it hurts, and then keep on giving until it quits hurting! That's what those churches did. They were glad to have a part in the great missionary work of Paul and others.

Verses 5 suggest to us the key to their liberality. "... but first gave their own selves to the Lord." Many people do not give of their possessions because they have never really given themselves. It is also true that where your heart is there will your treasure be also.

Contradiction in Service, James
2:14-17

James recognized those to whom he wrote as brethren but some of them were not walking as men in Christ ought to walk. They seemed to have been content to go through life with an empty, hollow faith. James is not saying that a person is saved by his works but he does say that if there are no works there is no evidence of salvation.

It is not enough to be orthodox. Dr. Vance Havner says that one may be as straight as a gun barrel and just as empty! The best evidence that one is a Christian is that he follows Christ, and Christ went about doing good. Christ went about doing good because He was good!

Scout Sunday

On February 9th, at 11 a.m. will be "Scout Sunday" at the Independence Christian Church.

The boys and girls scout with their leaders will be combined and they will be representing the Northern Kentucky area.

The Speaker, Winston Stubbs, former scout executive and professor from Transylvania College will provide the service.

Maurice Johnson, pastor, extends a warm welcome to everyone to attend this special day of service.

St. Cecilia Mothers Club

The St. Cecilia Mothers Club of Independence met on January 8, at 8 p.m. It was decided to make lunch for the school children on January 15.

Mrs. Bergman told how well the Christmas Party was and that the children seem to have a good time. It also was decided on February 9 from 3 till 7 p.m. to have a Chili Supper.

Also that each class would have a game in their class room and to have a table.

The next meeting was held on February 5 at 8 p.m. After the meeting some of the 7th and 8th grade girls put on a play and it was enjoyed by all.

Life-Line

Dad . . . Mother . . . his girl friend . . . someone dropped him a line! It brought a smile, a bit of nostalgia, a new incentive to succeed.

Those first weeks away at college mean quite a transition. New surroundings, new friends, new subjects are only a small part of the experience. New freedoms and new responsibilities are the crucial areas of this adjustment.

If he were your boy you would remember this, and keep those letters coming . . . even if he hasn't much time to answer.

And if he were your boy you would be mighty glad you reared him in a Christian home, and went with him to church, and saw to it he had moral and religious training, and an earnest faith.

For letters can be a life-line with home . . . but they cannot provide what Home and Church must provide first.

FEARLESS FORECAST

by R. W. Lancaster

Thursday, February 6th

Another good day for sewing and house cleaning and if you get all your chores caught up early you can start thinking about the weekend shopping. There should be some good bargains in staple goods at the local markets Friday and Saturday. After 4 p.m. would be a good time to start any home baking as the moon goes in to the sign Capricorn so any goodies will brown nice and save you money.

Friday, February 7th

If you didn't get those plant beds ready last week, today or tomorrow would be a good time to get started if the weather permits. If you are planning to build some fence this spring, next Monday would be a good time to put the posts in the ground. Today and tomorrow is a poor time to travel so plan on trading with the local merchants this weekend. They probably need the extra cash to pay last year's tax.

Saturday, February 8th

A lot of conflicting aspects between the planets this morning and a poor time for traveling, probably be a good day to stay close to home and do some day dreaming and planning on the future. Checking the seed and plant catalogs would be an enjoyable pastime and if you can get any literature on companion planting to keep bugs and insects away from your garden it will be time well spent and save you money and possibly make you healthier next year.

Sunday, February 9th

With the good aspects to Venus this Sunday our thoughts should turn to love. Shakespeare had much to say on this subject. Quote (Love looks not with the eyes, but with the mind. Also, Love's light is good, but given unsought is better.) And Emerson said, (Quote (Love, and you shall be loved. All love is mathematically just, as much as the two sides of an algebraic equation.)

Monday, February 10th

If you had plenty of rest and recuperation yesterday, you should be ready for a good week. Start this Monday by making at least one new friend and if you are a salesman you will be making a new customer for your product. With the conjunction of the Moon and Mercury at noon you will enjoy your lunch especially if you invite someone of the opposite sex.

Tuesday, February 11

We had a new moon late last night so we can expect everything to be on the increase the next couple of weeks. This would be a good day for renting or signing a long term lease if you are planning on going in business or changing your residence. With the sextile between Venus and Mars early this morning you will be full of ambition and easy to get along with.

Wednesday, February 12th

The new moon went in to the water sign Pisces last night so if you want to stimulate your hair growth get it cut today or tomorrow and give your scalp a good massage. You may be surprised at the results. Old fisherman claim that the new moon in a water sign is the best time to catch a fish and a good angle can set some records. If you need a favor ask during the morning hours.

CPA's Talk About Advanced Digging

(This is the third of a series of five articles on 1974 Federal Income Tax Returns offered by the Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

Filling out an income tax return is like running a race: how well you do will depend in part on how well you prepare.

What jogging and pushups do for the runner, digging through personal records does for the tax preparer. This is true whether you prepare the return yourself, or have it done for you. Someone has to uncover all income, deductible expenses and other data and in most cases that someone is necessarily the taxpayer himself.

Take income, for example. It's not difficult to calculate what you earned in salary and wages, since employers are required to supply those totals on W-2 forms.

But consider just some of the other types of income, both taxable and nontaxable, there can be: dividends, interest, tips, tax refunds, rents, royalties, gambling winnings, prizes, awards, scholarships, meals and other payments in kind from an employer, capital gains, alimony, gifts, inheritances, insurance proceeds, Social Security and pension benefits, stock options, unemployment benefits or sick pay.

Overlooking any additional income can lead to trouble with the tax collector. Conversely, overlooking any of the deductible costs incurred can cost you money in overpaid taxes. So prepare to dig out all the data.

But where do you begin? If you piggy back, your bank records are a good starting place. The stubs or canceled checks will remind you of expenditures, while deposit receipts will recall items of income that may have slipped your mind.

Amounts of dividends received, capital gains or losses and brokers' fees, will be found in stock market transaction records. Interest payments or receipts will be listed on bank statements. Receipts from stores and service firms can lead to all sort of tax reductions: grocery, utility and maintenance bills, for example, can help substantiate that you provided more than half the support of a person claimed as a dependent.

As you get involved in the digging process, you may find yourself developing a sharpened "tax awareness" a feeling for less obvious but very real tax-saving possibilities.

If you pay someone to prepare your tax return for you, your own thorough examination of your records is essential to letting the tax preparer do a better job of maximizing your tax benefits.

Clam Hints

If you're steaming clams, soak them first for several hours in water to which corn meal has been added. This makes them spit out the sand.

Work Saver

To simplify the job of removing burned-on foods from your kitchen cookware, follow this advice:

Soak the utensil in a solution of two quarts hot water to one tablespoon of baking soda. Then scour with a non-abrasive cleaner.

Pizza Freaks

Americans will devour one million tons of pizza this year... a world record. Not even Italy can match that.

In fact, Italians now rank a distant fourth behind the world leading Americans.

Sales Tax Removed

On Wednesday, Gov. Julian Carroll signed an emergency regulation order removing sales tax on receipts from sales to local governments by in-state vendors. This will apply only if the amount of sales exceeds $500.

Father & Daughter Nite

On Tuesday, February 18, 1975, the Walton Lions Club will host their Father & Daughter Nite, at 7:00 p.m.

The menu will be chicken or roast beef dinner.

Program will be provided by Delta Airlines, Stewardesses, Annette Yarbrough and Theresa Ambury, on opportunity for young girls interested in aviation.

If you don't have a daughter contact Lion Stan Jones for adopting a daughter for a nite.

Citizens: Ban Together!

Area citizens are banning together to help themselves fight the rising cost of high fuel adjustments. On March 4, the Public Service Committee is holding a meeting at 1:30 p.m.

Our goal is to fight for the relief of fuel adjustments and higher rate increase against the Owen County Rural Electric.

We need $2,500 and if you would like to send a donation, send it to:

Co-op Legal Defense Fund
Covington Trust Bank
4185 Richardson Rd.
Independence, Ky.

You will be helping yourself as well as others if we all ban together to fight high fuel adjustments.

Booth Memorial Hospital Move

When Booth Memorial Hospital moves to Boone County some year or two, hence it will bring with it new device to help in the detection of breast cancer.

Major Glen Seiler, Booth Administrator, reported to the Advisory Council the plan to purchase a $39,000 piece of equipment made by the Xerox Corp., Pasadena, California.

The equipment, he said, would be portable and company officials explain that it is operated by using the techniques of a Xerox office copier.

They also said that many radiologists believe a "xeroradiography" Examination gives more information than does an x-ray film.

Booth will be the only local hospital to have the equipment when it is delivered in approximately two months.

Cincinnati's General Hospital, Major Seiler said, has a similar machine but also has a backlog of appointments for its use. Hence, the decision to obtain a machine for Northern Kentucky. He also said the device is portable.

Boone County Democrats Meet

The Boone County Democratic Club had its regular meeting to elect officers on January 16. As a result the officers are as follows:

Austin Mann-President, Ronnie Jones-Vice President, Hanna Baird-Secretary, Mary Carroll-Treasurer. The 1975 Executive Committee is as follows: Ab Ryan, Larry Crigler, Irene Patrick, Galen McGlasson, Virginia Lainhart, John Carroll, Robin Jones, Bruce Ferguson, Charlie Patrick, Bill Mathis, Bobby Taylor, Mrs. Walter Gaines, John Weaver, Bill McBee, Rick Clements, Audrey Plaggenburg, Parry Weaver, and Bob Kirby.

The next Executive Committee meeting will be Wednesday, February 19, at 8 p.m. in the Courtroom of the Boone County Courthouse, and the public is cordially invited. The regular meeting will be in March, the exact time and place will be posted at a later date.

Any one desiring to serve on a committee or help in any way please contact one of the officers or a committee member.

Thomas More Dean's List

Two hundred and twenty five Thomas More College students were named to the Dean's List in recognition of their academic achievements in the first semester.

The students qualified for the Dean's List by achieving at least a 3.5 average in all their courses. In a letter grade system a 3.5 is the equivalent of an upper level "B" average.

Those making the list from Walton are Miss Debra Lamb of Verona, Ky. who is a senior this year.

Banquet To Be Held At Beverly Hills March 2

Invitations are going out for the annual banquet at Beverly Hills sponsored by the Friends of Comprehensive Care. The party, set for March 2, features the famed Carol Channing. Above, Addressing the bids, are, left to right, Mrs. George Lyons, Park Hills; Mrs. Charles Fletcher, Erlanger; Mrs. Frank Donahue, Edgewood, and Mrs. Sam Rees, Lakeside Park, chairman of the organization for 1975. The group's aim is to educate the citizens of eight northern Kentucky counties on the work of Comprehensive Care. Two projects are located in Boone County, a satellite center in Burlington, and an adult workshop center in Hebron.

Search For More Information

The Kenton County Board of Education is continuing its search for new data and information prior to making a decision on a building program.

At a special meeting, Chairman Robert Scott named a committee to search for land on which to build a sports complex for Dixie Heights High School.

The present football field, it was pointed out, is needed if a proposed expansion at the school is approved.

Members at the special meeting also considered "phasing" the program in building a portion of the expansion first and then completing the job later when more money is available.

No decision was reached but a majority of the board by a show of hands indicated they favor additions to the two high schools, Simon Kenton and Dixie, over the construction of a third high school.

However, Supt. Don Davis reported that no hard decision had been made and any recommendation by the board will be submitted to the state Department of Education.

Southern States To Attend Meeting

Approximately 250 members of Southern States Cooperative's local board and committee members, agricultural workers and retail agency managers from this area, will attend a regional board meeting in Lexington on February 21. The session will be held at the Holiday Inn North and registration will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Also attending the meeting will be a number of guest young farmers from this area. They are:

Christopher Combs, Manager of Boone County Farm Supply and local board members, Kline Menefee, Raymond Massie, Charles Gibson, Elbert Menefee, Warren Van Horn and Ed Helmer.

Tournament Drawings For Boys & Girls

On Friday, February 21, at 3 p.m., a live telecast will be shown for the Kentucky Boys and Girls High School Tournament. This is the first live telecast on the KET channel.

On March 2 at 4 p.m., the official game will be played.

Hardy Bros. Lists New Owner

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spillman of Walton are now listed as being the new owners of the Hardy Bros. Mill which is located at 94 North Main Street in Walton.

The former owner was Mr. Rees Hardy.

The Hardy Bros. Mill now known to most of us as the "Walton Feed and Farm Supply."

When listed in the Advertiser a few weeks ago as the Hardy Bros. Mill that gave all the information that was all out dated.

Correction has been made and we hope that the new Walton Feed and Farm Supply will keep enjoying the same friendly and even new people as their customers.

Walton Lodge Will Meet

Walton Lodge No. 719 F&AM will hold its regular monthly business meeting on Tuesday, February 20, 1975 at 7:30 p.m.

On February 22, work will be done on the M M Degree sponsored by the Bradford Lodge. The time will be at 2:00 p.m. at the Walton Lodge.

Knothole Needs More Managers

As in the past the Boone County Knothole wishes to keep people fully informed on the Knothole Program. For any program which is run on a voluntary basis to work properly, new people are constantly needed to move the program forward. This year we have a need for new managers in our Class "A" program, 14 and 15 year olds and our Class "D" program, 6 year olds thru 9 year olds. As the shortage stands, there is enough players available who played in the program last year to fill a minimum of 12 teams. If you are interested in managing or coaching please call Mr. Becker at 371-7785 or Mr. Duncan at 371-6462.

There will be a sign-up and open draft on Saturday, March 1, at Boone County High School parking lots for new players wishing to enter our program. It is the desire of Boone County Knothole to have a parent along with the player signing up. This will help us to relay and receive all necessary information regarding our program at one time. The specified times for each class will be published one week before the event takes place.

Since Knothole has changed its By-Laws stating "Youth" rather than "boys only" for the upcoming season, this means only that every Youth will be given an opportunity to try out, this does not guarantee that they will make any particular team. We want the make this very clear that we will do our very best to treat every Youth equally, as we have in the past.

Veterans Counselor At Burlington

Mr. Billy R. Cox, a Veterans Counselor of the Department for Human Resources; Kentucky Center for Veterans Affairs, will be present on February 19, 1975 at the courthouse in Burlington, Ky. to assist veterans and their dependents with claims for benefits due them as a result of their military service. He will be present from 9:00 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Will Hold Fish Fry

The Boone County Memorial Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 6099 and Ladies Auxiliary will have a Fish Fry on Saturday night, February 22nd, at 2:00 p.m. at the post on US Highway 42 in Union.

Finishes Basic Training

Pvt. Randall Ray Strause, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur and Anna Strause of Independence, Ky. and formerly of Walton, Ky. will finish basic training of eight weeks on March 15th.

He enlisted on the 15th of January and is stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky.

His address is:
b-8-4 5th Plt.
Fort Knox, Ky. 40121

Any Boone County citizen who would like to become a member of Friends of Boone County Library is encouraged to attend this meeting.

Speaker At Taylor Mill

Dennis Stein of Cincinnati Bell's Speaker Bureau will discuss the "Life and Legend in Northern Kentucky", during a meeting of the Taylor Mill PTA at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, February 18 at the Taylor Mill School, 5907 Taylor Mill Road, Taylor Mill, Kentucky.

The talk and slide presentation examines the colorful landmarks of Campbell, Boone and Kenton Counties, landmarks that recall a romantic bygone era.

Girl Scouts Gathering

Girl Scouts from the Independence-Taylor Mill area will gather at Simon Kenton High School on Tuesday, February 18, 1975 for parents night. Brownies, Juniors and Cadettes will be with their parents to find out a little more about scouting and camping. This is only one of the many events in which girls from different troops get together. Others include day camp roller skating, swimming and caroling at Christmas. Join the Fun! Be a Scout!

Oak Island Homemakers

The regular monthly meeting of the Oak Island Homemakers Club was held at 1 p.m. on February 3rd in Fellowship Hall of Oak Island Baptist Church. Mrs. Betty Goebel, president, presided during the business session.

Mrs. Leontine Stephens gave an interesting devotional using an excerpt from the book "Aunt Jane of Kentucky". Aunt Jane compared a life with a quilt made of various pieces of calico. In the beginning the seamstress is free to select the pattern for the quilt blocks and the color, bright or dark, to put the blocks together. This determines the beauty of the finished quilt. So it is with life. Each person may select the pattern of his life and his attitudes determine the beauty of his life.

Mrs. Nancy Peebles gave a most interesting lesson on "Kentucky Folklore." the traditions, customs, ballads, stories, and superstitions of our ancestors. She recited several regional words which are a form of Kentucky folklore. She discussed folk music and folk medicine. Some of the group remembered the sassafras tea, asafetida bags, spring bitters and so forth of their early school days. The group enjoyed taking a test on "proverbial" lore.

Members answering roll call were: Mmes. Elizabeth Barberick, Dixie Dressman, Betty Goebel, Lydia Huffaker, Glenda Jackson, Mary Jackson, Nancy Peebles, Betty Rucker, Leontine Stephens, and Miss Elma Taylor.

Children present were: Dawn Ellen Dressman, Laurie Goebel, Danny Peebles, and Stevie Rucker.

Hostess for the coffee hour, which preceded the meeting was Mrs. Betty Rucker.

When a boy breaks a date, he usually has to; but, when a girl breaks a date, she usually has two.
Pessimist: one who counts his blessings, "ten, nine, eight, seven, six...."
"What made you believe in flying saucers?"
"I pinched the waitress."
Have you been counting your blessings lately, running on those bald tires? Why not set your mind at ease and let us put a set of Remington's on your car, then you will never have to worry again.

Order Tickets Now For Reds Games

Tickets for all Cincinnati Reds Games, including the April 7 Opening Day game against the Los Angeles Dodgers, can be ordered now by mail.
A set of four handsome glass mugs, bearing the C-Reds Logo, will be given free as a special bonus with any mail order of $100 or more that is received with payment in full prior to March 1.
Tickets can be ordered for any of the 75 dates at Riverfront Stadium during the 1975 regular season. Box seats are $4.50 and reserved seats are $3.50. A limited number of club box seats are available for $6.50.
Opening Day tickets, which are $1 higher per ticket, are still available but only for reserved seats and logs reserved. No box seats are available.
All mail orders will be filled in the order received and ticket orders received prior to March 1 will be mailed before the opening of the Stadium Ticket Office later in March, so the earlier orders get the better seats.
Add $.25 per order for postage and handling and mail orders to Cincinnati Reds, Inc., Box 1970 Cincinnati, Ohio 45201.

Bowlers Get Ready!!!

Youth league bowlers have been invited to participate in the "1975 Bowl Down Cancer" tournament, according to Motz DeFelice and Mrs. Anita Vollmer, co-chairman of the event.
Dates for "Bowl Down" are March 3 to the 9.
The annual tournament, sponsored by the Greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky Units of the American Cancer Society in cooperation with Greater Cincinnati Bowling Proprietors Association and the Cincinnati Bowling Association, is conducted in over 60 bowling establishments in a five county area.
Cost for entering the tournament for youth league bowlers is 50 cents. Youth bowlers will compete for trophies and medallions.
Information is available from "house chairman" at individual bowling lanes, on how to enter the tournament.

Car Precaution

Now that winter is in full swing, the Kentucky Society for the Prevention of Blindness warns about "jump starting" cars with dead batteries. More and more cases of loss of sight, facial disfigurement (even death!) are being reported from a very common practice using "jumper cables" to start a car with a dead battery. Such batteries often explode violently unless proper precautions are taken. The Society Warns: When starting a car using jumper cables, do not connect cables to the four terminals.
Follow these instructions in sequence:
1) Attach red cable from positive dead battery to positive live or booster battery.
2) Attach second black cable from the negative live battery to engine blockaway from battery.)
To remove cables, reverse above instructions. Do in exact order: Disconnect cables from the engine block, from negative booster, from positive booster, and from positive dead.
For safety's sake, The Kentucky Society suggests that these instructions be attached to the side of the battery or elsewhere under the hood where they are clearly visible.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

In many of its aspects, as an experienced horticulturist and plant specialist once told a group, gardening is a mixture of fact, fancy, foolishness, and folklore. Then he added that, while many of the quaint practices had absolutely no basis in science, a J made no sense, he did not hold them up for ridicule because a lot of them seemed to work.

With the gardening season impending in the immediate future, it does not seem a bad idea to take another look at some of these off-beat practices. It must be remembered, though, that they are not being recommended. Rather, they are being listed more out of curiosity than anything else.

Late spring frosts have always been a problem and, to prevent an early bean patch from getting frostbit, some gardeners stretch a yarn or seagrass string over the rows. The theory is that the frost will "settle" on the strings and the plants will not be injured. In this respect, other gardeners have had better results with hotcaps or newspaper placed or tented over the tender plants.

Insects, too, cause difficulties and many are the non scientific ways of limiting their depredations. For example, some gardeners still make a practice of crumbling up cornbread pones around their cucumber, watermelon, and muskmelon hills. These crumbs, the gardeners say, attract ants that eat not only the crumbs but also the beetles and their eggs. A piece of suet fastened to an apple tree will keep the tree free of caterpillars and scale insects, some believe. Downy woodpeckers attracted by the suet will rid the tree of pests.

A few gardeners still have specific dates for planting specific crops, despite solid evidence that, if soil conditions, mean temperatures, and times of the year are suitable, crops will thrive when planted on other days.

One time-hallowed date for planting beans and potatoes is Good Friday. This, of course, is the anniversary of Christ's Crucifixion and, on that day, Satan is not supposed to have any power for evil over the soil. For best results, both crops should be planted immediately after sunup, some believe.

Once, upon being asked what he would do should it be pouring down the rain on Good Friday, an old gardener of this tradition said, if it should be raining, "the Lord extended the period of grace until the next dry day."

Heart Fund Appoints Leaders

Thirteen further appointments to leadership posts in the 1975 Boone County Heart Fund drive have been announced by Kentucky Campaign chairman Jesse Stuart. They are: Huey Parker, Florence, County Industrial Park Chairman; Arthur Tanner, Florence, County Heart Fund Treasurer; Larry Barnett, Florence, County Assistant Treasurer; Mrs. Richard Kuchle, Erlanger, Airport Heart Fund Chairman; Mrs. J.O. Cleek, Union, Beaver Heart Fund Chairman; Miss Martha Scott, Grant, Bellevue, Grant Heart Fund Chairman; Mrs. Melvin Howell, Union, Big Bone Hamilton Heart Fund Chairman; Mrs. Harold Marksberry, Burlington, Bullittsville Heart Fund Chairman; Mrs. Jo Reeves, Greenville Heart Fund Chairman; Mrs. Harold Wilson, Hebron, Hebron Heart Fund Chairman; Mrs. Franklin Blank, Union, Union Heart Fund Chairman; Mrs. Jack Norris, Walton, Walton Business Gifts Chairman; Mrs. Carl Wurtz will continue to serve as year-round Memorial Gifts Chairman in Boone County.

Mr. Stuart pointed out that, through his association with Heart, he has come to know first-hand of the "almost miraculous progress" science has made in the fight against heart and blood vessel diseases, and of how the Kentucky Heart Association, by its effective use of the Heart Fund Dollars in the state's communities, hospitals and medical research laboratories has vitally furthered this progress.

The statewide Heart Fund appeal begins with Coffee Day on Tuesday, February 14, and continues through the month with the annual door to door solicitation on Heart Sunday, February 23.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q. How much can I deduct for the mileage I drove for business purposes using my own car?

A. For 1974, the standard mileage rate has been changed. If you used your car in business, you may deduct 15 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use, and ten cents for each mile over 15,000. For other purposes such as moving expenses, medical expenses, and charitable contributions the rate has been increased to seven cents a mile.

Q. Is the interest I received with my tax refund in 1974 subject to income tax?

A. Yes. If you receive a tax refund that includes interest on the amount refunded, the interest must be included in your gross income in the year received.

... about your Social Security

People who apply for supplemental security income payments may be required to apply for Social Security payments and other benefits, according to John Walter, Social Security District Manager in Covington.

The supplemental security income program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind or disabled.

"The amount people get is reduced if they receive social security benefits, pension payments, and similar income of more than $20 a month," so people applying for supplemental security income payments must also apply if they haven't already done so for other benefits that may be due them."

People can get information about applying for supplemental security income and social security benefits by contacting any social security office. "About three out of five people getting supplemental security income payments also get social security checks."

Social security, retirement, disability, and survivors benefits are based on work and earnings. Supplemental security income payments are based on financial need.

"Supplemental security income payments are funded by general revenues, not by social security contributions, Walton Noted. The supplemental security income program is run by the social security administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

SBA Loan Officer Here

Small Business Administration will have a Loan Officer in the Covington office on the 3rd Tuesday of each month from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The SBA office is located in the City-County Building, Room 804, 301 (3rd and Court Streets in Covington). Those interested may contact the SBA representatives at the City-County Building, or by phoning 684-1771.

In order to determine credit and eligibility requirements for SBA loan programs, it is suggested that the businessman bring with him a recent financial statement or balance sheet of the business and a profit and loss statement for the previous full year. This information pertains to established businesses. However, anyone interested in establishing a new business is encouraged to consult with this representative, as well as other businessmen who are in need of financial advice or assistance.

SCORE consultants will be in the office five days a week from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Seafood Don't

Do not overcook fish or shellfish. Fish is tender as it comes from the waters. It is cooked to heat or brown, to develop the flavor and to soften the small amount of connective tissue present. Do not over season. Seafood has a delicate flavor that should not be over whelmed by too much seasoning. Also, do not refreeze thawed seafood and thaw frozen seafood at room temperature.

Coupons Save!

With food prices at an all time high, no one can afford to throw food money away. So be sure to take advantage of coupons.

It's true that coupons save only pennies, but pennies add up to dollars. And if you look, you'll find them everywhere. In newspapers and magazines, on take-one racks in stores, stuffed in and printed on cereal boxes.

And there are coupons mailing lists, too. Every year manufacturers send out nearly 28 billion coupons representing millions of dollars in savings. If you're not on a coupon mailing list, you probably know someone who is. Ask them to give you the source and write to them, asking to be included.

Of course there are some disadvantages. For instance, you have to forget brand loyalty. Also, if a coupon is for 6 cents off next purchase, it means you have to buy the item twice, with a net savings of only 3 cents.

Make sure it's worth it. Also, make sure that the price on the item has not been hiked recently just to counteract coupon savings.

I've said before that you cannot get something for nothing, but using coupons intelligently, you can come pretty close.

Rights For Firearms Threatened

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

A new drive has begun for tougher legislation against handguns, supposedly to reduce crime. Prohibition under the Volstead Act in no way stopped some people's desire to drink. Anti-gun laws can not stop an ugly desire to use force or even kill.

Any object, tool, or weapon, of itself, is totally inanimate, incapable of effecting good or working evil apart from the will of its human user. Man, not his material means, determines the non-use or use, for good or evil, of those means. A heavy, gold crucifix used as a club, could be a very effective murder weapon.

Two statistics now being used in promoting anti-gun laws are (1) 71 percent of all murders in this country in 1973 occurred during domestic disputes and other quarrels, not during commission of robberies, rapes or similar felonies, and (2) 53 percent of all murders are committed with handguns.

The FBI reports the total number of murders in the US was 19,510 in 1973. Let us assume there were 20,000 in round figures. The Task Force on Firearms of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, set up by President Johnson in 1968, reported in its book, "Firearms and Violence in American Life," that there were some 90,000,000 firearms in civilian hands in the US. Of these, 24,000,000 were handguns, 35,000,000 were rifles, and 31,000,000 were shotguns.

Let's assume there were only 20 million handguns in 1973, even though the 24 million figure has actually grown with new manufacture and import since the Task Force report.

If we take 20,000 murders more than the actual amount and assume 100 percent of them were committed with handguns, almost double the 53 percent actually reported, we would get the figure of 20,000 murders per 20,000,000 handguns. That is one murder per 1,000 handguns a percentage of .1 percent. The actual percentage, of course is far smaller, closer to .05 percent.

The anti-gun proponents would remove 999 handguns from upright citizens, or even twice as many, because one person for whatever reason used one handgun to kill someone. With this logic, human hands and feet should be cut off all Americans because 9 percent of all 1973 murders were effected by those appendages!

Senator
Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

Senator Walter Dee Huddleston says he does not want the CIA or FBI falsely accused or destroyed during the upcoming Senate investigations of US intelligence operations.

"Since we live in a world as it is and not as we would like it to be, I believe this nation must have a highly competent intelligence operation," said Huddleston, who is one of eleven senators on the select committee. "In fact, there are few who would argue that we could do without intelligence gathering activities especially in what appears to be an increasingly complex and uncertain world."

"But those intelligence-gathering operations must be exercised with great care to protect the rights of individuals and to protect the integrity of this nation's foreign policy. In addition, these agencies must be above reproach not just because of their special status and charge but also because actions which involve them in suspicion and question tend to impair their ability to function.

"I think the select committee can clear the air, exonerate the intelligence agencies of any false charges, and help correct any existing abuses. I do not want the CIA or FBI destroyed or damaged in any way, but I do want them to operate strictly within the law."

by: Joe Claxon

Anyone who has read the planting directions on a seed packet or a catalog is familiar with such instructions as "Sow seed in early spring as soon as the soil can be worked" and "Plant in a well drained sandy loam."

How early is "as soon as the ground can be worked" in your garden? A rain-soaked heavy clay soil may not be ready for spading or tilling until spring gives way to summer.

Why the repeated emphasis on "good drainage"? When water replaces the air in the soil, roots suffocate. Roots will not develop without a constant removal of carbon dioxide.

A well-drained soil is one in which the water moves through quickly never completely shutting off the movement of air through the soil.

A sandy soil is well drained but dries out quickly. Frequent watering washes nutrients through the soil.

The best advice a gardener ever had was "Don't try to live with an unfavorable soil. Nothing can dampen the enthusiasm of the beginner more quickly than a hard to manage soil."

The only quick way to change either a heavy clay soil or a light sandy soil to a substitute for a rich loam is through the addition of organic matter. Not just a little organic matter, but lots of it.

The addition of organic matter—compost, peat moss, manure, sawdust, ground bark makes clay soils more mellow and easier to work. Organic matter opens up tight clay soils, improves drainage and allows air to move more readily through the soil, warming it up earlier in the spring.

In light sandy soils, organic matter holds moisture and nutrients in the root zone.

Don't confuse this massive addition of organic matter to the soil with the long-term improvement program that comes with the breakdown of organic matter into true humus (that final black sticky stuff that holds soil particles together in crumbs).

The quantity of organic matter must be large enough to physically change the structure of the soil. An enough means that at least one-third of the final mix is organic matter.

Get Beef Cows Ready For Calving

Now is the time to get your beef cow herd ready for the spring calving season. That reminder comes from Russell Bre Dahl, Extension beef cattle specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Cows should be fed enough to gain slightly during the last 60 days before calving, says Bre Dahl. Supplemental vitamin A should be fed during the winter, and low-level feeding of magnesium oxide is advisable in Kentucky as protection against grass tetany.

Bre Dahl points out that a clean grass pasture is an ideal place for a calf to be born. "Kentucky winter weather is seldom severe enough to be harmful to even newborn calves." "Filthy barns and lots with high concentrations of cattle are responsible for far more calf losses than cold weather."

Keep the concentration of cattle on the calving pasture as low as possible by separating cows that will calve in the spring from fall-calving cows and stocker cattle, advises the UK specialist. Ideally, the calving pasture should be located close to shelter and restraint facilities, in case some cows require assistance at calving, he adds.

Kenton County
Extension Agent

Programs about home gardening, fruit and vegetables, beef production from forages, and tobacco are on tap in the month of February.

Home garden meetings are going to be held right here in Kenton and Boone Counties February 26 and 27. Dr. Dick Roberts, vegetable specialist from the University of Kentucky will be the primary speaker for the programs. The Boone County meeting will be at Kentucky Federal Savings and Loan on Dixie Highway in Florence at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday February 26. The Kenton County meeting will be held at the Independence Courthouse on Thursday evening February 27 at 7:30 p.m. Make

Sings Of Dangers

Too much moisture in your home could be sign of dangerous improper venting of the heating system.

Water vapor is a by-product of fuel combustion and it will remain in the home if venting is faulty. It may show up in closets, in peeling wallpaper, or on the outside walls of your home.

If proper ventilation is impeded and not enough oxygen is available, incomplete combustion may result, producing potentially fatal carbon monoxide. Only two-tenths of one percent of carbon monoxide in the air can render you unconscious within 30 minutes.

If you notice excessive moisture in your home this winter, the Greater Cincinnati Carbon Monoxide Safety Committee urges you to call your heating contractor to check your heating system.

reservations by calling the Boone County Extension Office at 586-6101, Ext. 17 or the Kenton County Office at 356-3155.

Commercial Fruit and Vegetable producers of Kenton and Boone Counties will meet at the McGlassen Farm on Route 8 February 27. Insect and disease control plus other recommended production practices will be covered at this all day event.

The production and marketing of forage-fed beef will be in the limelight when Kentucky farmers gather for the Kentucky Grassland-Beef Conference on February 18 and 19. The conference will take place at Harren River State Park near Lucas, Ky. It is sponsored by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, the Ky. Forage and Grassland Council, and the Kentucky Beef Cattle Association. You can make reservations by calling toll free 1-800-372-2961.

Tobacco Day, a program designed to provide Kentucky farmers with the latest information on tobacco production and marketing, will take place in Lexington on February 20. The program gets under way at 9:30 a.m. and will run until 3:00 p.m. Burley quotas have been increased 10 percent for 1975 and two speakers will discuss industry demand for this year's burley crop. The rest of the program is sponsored by the U. K. College of Agriculture and will be held at the Seay Auditorium in the Agricultural Science Building.

SUNDAY

SERMON

A Reconciling People

(2 Corinthians 5:16-21; Galatians 6:1-7)

Our Bible lesson begins today where it ought to begin - with Christ.

William Temple spoke of the church as "the one great ground of hope. As though in preparation for such a time as this, God has been building up a Christian fellowship which now extends into almost every nation, and binds citizens of them all together in unity and mutual love...It is the great new fact of our time...Here is one great ground of hope for the coming days."

Reconciliation and Christ, 2 Corinthians 5:16-18

It is doubtful that the apostle Paul ever saw Jesus in the flesh. If he had seen Him in the flesh, it is indeed strange that he never mentions it in his writings. Had Paul seen Christ in the flesh it would have been of little significance to him before his conversion experience. Jesus would have been only another Jew to Saul of Tarsus. Saul would likely not have been deeply impressed had he seen Jesus dying on the cross. For, you see, he then regarded Christ from a human point of view.

This is no longer the case because Christ has made all the difference in the world in Paul's life. Christ turned him completely around. In fact Paul describes his experience in verse 17, "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold all things become new."

Man was at odds with God. He was God's creation but he was also God's enemy. But God has reconciled man unto Himself. God did this through His Son Jesus Christ. So we see that Christ is the very heart of this matter of reconciliation. Now man can be at one with his creator because of the blood of the cross.

Reconciliation and Concern, 2 Corinthians 5:19-21

To say that God was in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself is another way of saying that God so loved the world...God saw the lost world and because of His great love and concern He paid the terrible price to bring the world unto Himself. The Bible never says, nor does it need to say, that God was reconciled to man. God has always loved man. The death of Christ was not to remove God's hostility toward man. As man looks at God's Son on the cross this ought to induce repentance, faith and confession in the sinner's heart. When this is done the greatest transformation on earth takes place. God performs a heart transplant. The sinner becomes a saint. The child of Satan becomes a child of God. Man becomes a new creation in Christ Jesus.

It was not the purpose of Christ to come into the world to condemn the world. His desire was to open the way for man's justification. He willed that man's sins be forgiven and buried in the sea of God's forgetfulness, never to be remembered against him anymore.

Paul goes on to say that God in Christ has committed unto us the ministry of reconciliation. The one who was God's enemy is to become God's message bearer. Those of us who were once against God have now been appointed as His ambassadors.

Because of our concern for the lost "we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God." "God made Christ to be sin for us." This means that Christ bore in His own being the judgement for man's sin. This was done that man might receive God's righteousness in himself. Man need no longer seek to attain a righteousness of his own. He needs to accept God's righteousness which comes through Jesus Christ.

Reconciliation and Conduct, Galatians 6:1-7 overtaken in some trespass. What is to be the conduct of other Christians? Paul's answer is that the one who has fallen aside should be restored. As a surgeon would set a broken limb so those who are stronger spiritually ought to restore the broken member. This must be done "in the spirit of meekness." This is always a very sensitive and delicate ministry.

Some members of Christ's body are bearing very heavy burdens. Others could get under the weight with them. It is so easy to think we are the only person who counts! Verse 4 speaks of the individual responsibility of the Christian. Let us not expect someone else to carry our load for us. Verse 6 means that those who teach the word should share in the things (probably materials goods) of those who are taught.

The law of the harvest is stated plainly "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Clean Up Your Plate

One of the most familiar and most often used statements I heard my father make was: "Son, clean up your plate." And if he saw any hesitation on my part, or my brother and 4 sisters, he emphasized that there were thousands of children who were starving.

Although his advice was given 25 years ago it has served as a constant reminder that there are many unfortunate people in the world. By many standards my childhood could be considered poor since we had few comforts that most families have and take for granted - today.

For example, we had no television, stereo tape deck, record player, central heating, or an automobile. I can remember helping my father wire our house so we could have electric lights. We also installed water lines and fixtures to bring "city" water into our meagerly furnished four-room home. A radio was the only entertainment we enjoyed after electricity came to Noetown, a small hamlet west of Middlesboro, Ky., where I grew up.

However, I can never remember being hungry. My mother prepared three large hot meals a day, seven days a week.

Since we lived on a limited income based on my father's small but fairly adequate salary earned at a local manufacturing firm, milk was equally rationed to each of us. Each member was given half a glass - with no seconds available.

A recent newspaper story stated that an entire underdeveloped country could be fed on the food scraps found in the garbage cans of New York City.

So now, at meal time, I almost say to my two children, "Clean up your plate boys, there are a lot of hungry children who would be happy to have that food."

President For Second Term

Rev. John Murphy, pastor of the Florence Christian Church, was re-elected to his second term as president of the Northern Kentucky Interfaith Commission at its fifth annual convention at Christ Church in Ft. Thomas.

Elected secretary was Miss Barbara Rohe, St. Aloysius Catholic Church, and Mrs. Leo Schnorbus, Trinity Episcopal Church, treasurer.

The convention, representing 10 denominations in the tri county, was told that approximately $7000 was spent in Kenton County for emergency relief. Boone and Campbell counties handle the problem through other agencies.

The IFC also adopted a resolution urging broad denominational activity in the campus ministry at Northern Kentucky State College. Such work was suggested to the commission by campus ministers representing the Northern Kentucky Baptist Association, the Human Catholic Church and the Christian Church.

The IFC also determined to sponsor a one day seminar on world hunger and urged church men and women to cut down on food consumption to "Identify ourselves with the poor".

BAROMETER OF LIFE

Would it really help to have an instrument to predict the storms of life? When the barometer falls it's too late to build a sea wall or to dig a cyclone cellar. Wise men prepare when the wind is calm. A leaking roof must be mended while the sun shines. The Church does not claim to provide a barometer of life. But it preaches every Sunday the spiritual readiness which climaxed Christ's Sermon on the Mount: "Whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man which built his house upon a rock: "And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat upon that house. . . . "And it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock."

Creamy Casserole for Supper

Winter weekend suppers are nicer than everyday dinners. The family is casual and relaxed, and though the wind is cold outside, everyone's snug and warm inside. The food is simple, hearty, and satisfying, a bubbling casserole hot from the oven, a loaf of crusty bread, fresh fruit salad. Tuna Green Bean Casserole, created by home economists for Meadow Gold Dairies, features an oniony cream sauce with cottage cheese for a protein plus. Fluffy Honey Dressing, rich and smooth, should be spooned over the colorful chunks of fruit.

TUNA GREEN BEAN CASSEROLE

(6 Servings)

- 2 cups drained, cooked green beans
- 2 medium tomatoes, sliced
- 1 can (8½ ounce) tuna, drained
- 1 small onion, chopped
- ½ cup (½ stick) butter
- ½ cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper
- ¼ teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- ¾ cup Meadow Gold milk
- 1 cup Meadow Gold cottage cheese, sieved
- ½ cup sliced pimiento stuffed olives
- ½ cup grated Swiss cheese

In a buttered 1½ quart casserole, alternate layers of green beans, tomato slices, and flaked tuna. Cook onion in butter about 5 minutes. Stir in flour and seasonings. Gradually add milk; cook until thickened. Add cottage cheese and stuffed olives. Pour over vegetables and tuna. Sprinkle Swiss cheese on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

FLUFFY HONEY DRESSING

(2 cups)

- 2 eggs, beaten
- ½ cup honey
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup Meadow Gold Sour Cream
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind

In a small saucepan, combine eggs, honey, lemon juice, orange juice concentrate, and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Cool. Fold in sour cream and lemon rind. Serve with fresh fruit salad.

Learn To Talk To Your Children

Parents and peers are major factors in battling the drug problem among adolescents.

That's the view of Miss Betty Santel, program planner on drug abuse with Northern Kentucky Comprehensive Care covering eight counties in this area.

She reaches her conclusion after working with students in the high schools of Kenton, Campbell, Boone, Carroll, Owen, Gallatin, Grant, and Pendleton.

The groups with which she works range in size from 35 to 40 to entire student bodies of four to five hundred.

"Parents must be consistent and aware of the fact that they transmit beliefs and values to their children. I know it is hard," she says, "but it is essential to set values and standards."

She urges parents to be communicative in a "meaningful way" early and often. "You can't talk to a 17 year old if you never have had a series discussion before."

She also pointed to another danger, the use of alcohol by children of 8, 9, and ten years of age.

Goshen Ladies Hold Meeting

The Goshen Christian Missionary Ladies Group held their regular meeting in the church basement for their February 5th meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Ruth Worthington in the absence of the president and vice-president, Mrs. Mary Cook and Mrs. Hazel Mullins. Both officers were on the sick list. We wish them a speedy recovery.

Roll call was answered by the ladies reading a verse of scripture with the word "Storm or Tempest" in it.

The Sunshine Report showed that 37 cards had been sent out and 12 visits made to the sick.

Several coupons and Campbell's Soup labels were brought in to be sent to Grundy Mission. Each month members will bring in coupons and labels and send them monthly but was not acted upon at this time.

At the noon hour a very nice luncheon was served by Mrs. Ester Glenn.

Those present were: Mrs. Goldie Glenn, Mrs. Lillian Elliott, Miss Ruth Piner, Mrs. Faye Bray, Mrs. Darlene Thornberry, Mrs. Esther Glenn, Mrs. Ruth Worthington, Mrs. Nannie Cliff Fisk, Mrs. Georgia Cornelius, and Mrs. Eula LaFollette.

The program in the afternoon was in Acts, Chapter 28. All ladies taking part in answering questions and in discussion with Mrs. Darlene Thornberry lesson leader. Hostess for March will be Mrs. Ruth Worthington, program leader, Mrs. Faye Bray and the word for roll call will be "Fire".

receiving ribbons on them. The County Poster Contest was discussed. Posters should be into the Extension office by Feb. 17th. New project books were passed out and to all members. All members voted to go skating as a group to the February 4th County Skating Party. The summer 4-H Camping dates were mentioned by the 4-H leader.

After the meeting adjourned all enjoyed birthday cake and ice cream served by Mrs. Parker and girls.

Those present were: Doug Smith, Tammy Black, Dexter LaFollette, Scott, Mark, and Chris Parker, Leader Mrs. LaFollette. Guests were Troy and Sam Schadler, Mrs. Parker and Girls.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Cherrie and Doug Smith.

Tax Breaks In Family Car

(This is the fourth of a series of five articles on 1974 Federal Income Tax Returns offered by the Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

The family automobile, with its inflated fuel and repair bills and recurrent charges for tires, dent removal, insurance, etc., may be a drag on the budget sometimes but it can look pretty good at income tax time, if it qualifies you for tax savings.

For example, if the car was bought during 1974, the sales taxes paid on it can be taken as a federal income tax deduction over and above the standard sales tax deduction shown in the tables, which are based on average payments.

If the car bought in 1974 is used at least partly for business purposes, it may also make you eligible for the investment tax credit, which lets you subtract a percentage of the purchase price from your tax bill.

There can also be a deduction for the miles driven on business, charity or medical transportation errands. The standard deduction for business driving has been raised to 15 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles and 10 cents a mile after that. The deduction for driving while engaged in charity work or going to and from the doctors' offices, treatment centers, etc. is up to 7 cents a mile.

If your employer compensates you for your business driving but pays less than the deductible amount, you can deduct the difference. If he pays 12 cents per mile, deduct 3 cents.

If your costs of business driving are higher than 15 cents a mile, you are permitted to deduct the actual itemized costs, in which case it will be necessary to keep detailed records of car expenses and miles driven for business and non-business purposes. A car diary is helpful not only in computing taxes but also in showing when maintenance expenses have climbed to a point where perhaps the car showing when maintenance expenses have climbed to a point where perhaps the car should be junked or sold.

Like other business deductions, those connected with use of the family car for business purposes may be taken even if you do not otherwise itemize. In other words, they can be taken in addition to the standard deduction.

Another car-related tax deduction is that for state and local gasoline taxes paid. Here again, you may refer to the diary for non-business mileage driven, then find in the tables the gasoline tax rate that applies.

Not related to the family automobile but applying to such off-road vehicles as snowmobiles, tractors and motorboats is the federal tax credit on certain fuels and lubricants. The credit is small, thought two cents a gallon on gasoline is hardly worth taking unless your volume of consumption is very high.

If, as a recent car purchaser, you took one of these stretched out (up to four years) auto loans, you have one further consolation at tax time: The CPAs point out that your seemingly endless interest payments also tax deductible, along with any other interest you may have paid.

Pancakes and Syrup For A Crowd

If you have a large family, or you're expecting lots of company, serve plenty of griddle cakes with Log Cabin Syrup. This type of hearty breakfast features light, fluffy homemade griddle cakes - just right for that country morning feeling.

- Griddle Cakes
- 2 cups of cake flour
- ¼ cup sugar
- teas. baking powder
- 1 teas. salt
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- ¼ cup liquid shortening
- Pancake and Waffle syrup

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Add milk to egg. Add dry ingredients and shortening, and beat with egg beater just until blended. Bake on hot griddle, turning to brown both sides. Serve with syrup. Makes 12 to 14 griddle cakes.

Dinner Candles

Dinner candles add a simple, elegant touch to any dinner table. And, candle wax can be removed from fine tablecloths by carefully scraping the wax with a dull knife. Then, place the stained area between several layers of white tissues or white paper towels and press with a warm iron. Launder the tablecloth in the usual way. It will be as clean as the day you bought it.

Congress Authorizes Money For New Jobs

Additional federal money for creating public service jobs to help the nation's unemployed has been promised by the Senate and House of Representatives in Washington. Senator Marlow Cook, reporting on passage of two bills December 12, said the Senate version of the Special Employment Assistance Act of 1974 authorizes approximately $7 billion to be spent for emergency financial help to stimulate, maintain or expand job-creating activities in urban and rural areas suffering from unusually high unemployment. The House bill adopted the same day suggests $4 billion for that purpose. A joint committee now will come up with a compromise version.

The money to actually carry out the program would have to be approved in separate appropriations legislation, the Senator said, but the Congressional action affirms the intention to meet the President's request last month for money to help jobless persons across the nation by providing employment opportunities.

VA Pension Increase Cleared For Signing

Eligible veterans' pensioners and their dependents or survivors may get an increase in benefits after the first of the year if the President agrees to a bill approved in Washington recently, according to Senator Marlow Cook.

The Senator said the bill basically would provide an average 12 per cent cost-of-living increase in nonservice-connected pension rates, and raise annual income limitations for single and married veterans by $400 to help soften the impact of inflation.

The Senate action December 10 cleared the bill for the President's signature.

IN Memory

Fred William Ryan died at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday at his home from Muscular Dystrophy - a disease his mother came to know all too well, for her other sons were afflicted by the same disease.

He was bedfast for over three and a half years after contracting the disease when he was five years old.

Fred William leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ryan of Crittenden, brothers, Martin and Leo, who also have the disease, sisters, Margaret Ann, at home, Mrs. Kathleen Robinson, Dry Ridge and Mrs. Ruth Davidson, Cincinnati.

Services were held on Tuesday at the All Saints Church in Walton and Burial was in the St. Patrick Cemetery of Verona.

VA & Letters

Letters are sent by the Veterans Administration to each man and woman as they leave the military service, urging them to take advantage of veterans' benefits. A second letter is sent six months after the person's separation date.

Cemeteries Act

The National Cemeteries Act of 1973 provided for the transfer of responsibility of 82 national cemeteries from the Department of the Army to the Veterans Administration. These joined 21 VA cemeteries to form the National Cemetery System.

FEARLESS FORECAST

by R. W. Lancaster

Thursday, February 13, 1975

The new moon is still in the water sign Pisces, so if you didn't get that thinning hair cut, or massage yesterday you can go to the barber today and get the hair roots stimulated for some new growth. Any time today will be right for making friendly calls and if you take some one of the opposite sex to lunch you will both enjoy yourselves. A safe day for traveling and an excellent time for buying new shoes.

Friday, February 14

The moon went in to the fire sign Aries early this morning so if you have been planning on doing some home baking today or tomorrow would be an excellent time as the yeast dough will rise well and the end product will brown to perfection. This is also an excellent time for making economical food purchases, the indications are that the sales will probably be on staple items such as potatoes etc.

Saturday, February 15

This is a poor day for traveling but still a good day to finish any home baking you didn't get completed yesterday. If you have been planning on a new permanent try to get an appointment for next Monday or Tuesday while the moon is in the sign Taurus, if you want if to stay in a long time and look nice. If you have any outstanding money and want to collect, make you contact about noon and you will probably be successful.

Sunday, February 16

With the good aspects this Sunday our thoughts should turn to love; A MacLeod a century ago had this to say; (A man may be amiser of his wealth he may tie up his talent in his napkin he may hug himself in his reputation but he is always generous in his love. Love cannot stay at home; a man cannot keep it to himself. Like light it is constantly traveling. A man must spend it. Must give it away.)

Monday, February 17

Don't forget that today or tomorrow is the right time for that new permanent wave so if you didn't get that appointment made last week you can call now and maybe be lucky. This is a good day for sewing or mending or starting any other new projects about the house but a poor time to start a diet unless you have a lot of willpower. The aspects for safe traveling are good through this Thursday.

Tuesday, February 18

With all good aspects today this would be a good time to start a new venture or form a partnership, after lunch would be an ideal time for a marriage ceremony for a long lasting marriage and a lot of happiness. If you haven't finished last years income tax forms this would be a good time to look them over and you will probably get them finished before the day is over.

Wednesday, February 19

If you haven't visited your doctor or dentist lately this would be a good time to give it some thought, extractions will be easy today or tomorrow and if you need glasses this would be the day for an eye examination and the frames you choose will look nice and fit well. If you are behind on your correspondence wait until after the evening meal when the moon is trine Mercury and you will put the right words down to cheer someone you love.

Veterans Are Advised

The Veterans Administration today advised veterans recently separated from military service to keep current with important federal and state opportunities and obligations as part of their transition.

Officials noted that in the press of returning to civilian status, veterans sometimes overlook matters which could affect their well-being.

To insure a smoother transition after discharge, VA suggests the following timetable:

As soon as possible, register with local state employment service office. (Veterans have up to one year to apply for unemployment compensation, but applications filed after a long period of unemployment could result in a lower rate of unemployment compensation).

In 10 days, report address to Selective Service through local board (in person or mail). In 30 days, register with Selective Service or any local board, if not already registered.

Within 90 days, apply to former employer for reemployment.

Up to 120 days (up to one year if totally disabled at separation from service) convert Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to low cost five-year Veterans Group Life Insurance.

Within one year from date of notice of VA rating on disability, apply to VA for GI life insurance based on service-connected disability.

Within one year, apply to VA for dental care.

As soon as possible, apply to VA for GI education or training, which must be completed within 10 years of separation from military service.

VA noted there are no time limits for veterans to:

Apply to the agency for a GI loan guaranty to buy, build, or improve a home.

File claim with VA for compensation for service-connected disabilities or disease, or apply for hospital care.

Seek assistance from local state employment offices in finding work or entering Labor Department job-training programs.

There are 72 veterans assistance centers around the country to help veterans get a fresh start in civilian life, VA said.

"Little Miss Big Britches"

By: Bob Fonde

Welcome Lord

It's comforting to know that You are here beside me this evening, giving me the strength to endure this the greatest loss of my life.

Doesn't she look peaceful Lord? Just as though she were only sleeping.

Remember the day she was born? I held her in my arms, and together, my wife and I have thanks for this precious living blessing you had seen fit to bestow upon us.

When I left the hospital, I was so excited that I went all over town passing out cigars to everyone I met. I even gave her grandmother a cigar.

After we were allowed to take her home, the days, weeks, and months, seemed to fly by until all of a sudden we were giving her a third birthday party.

Remember Lord?

How she and her little friends had cake and ice cream all over the house.

She had so much cake icing on her that she looked like a little snowman in July.

I have a picture of her in my wallet. It was taken that day, by a very proud and happy father.

She was always such a tiny thing. Every time her mother would pin a diaper, it would slide down and down, until it finally dropped off. It seemed that every pair of strollers or play pants we bought her would always be a size to large.

That's where I got the name "Little Miss Big Britches".

As you know Lord, tomorrow will be her fifth birthday.

Even though she can't be with us, our sorrow will be lessened, just knowing that she will have a much more wonderful party with you than we could ever have given her.

I do not question your reasons for calling her, Lord.

I am sure they are for the best.

After all, she has been away from you for five years, and I realize how lonesome you must be without her, for you love her as much as I.

Well I guess we must leave now and let you make the preparations for her journey.

Just one more thing Lord.

As you know, her real name is Karen.

I just call her "Daddy's" Little Miss Big Britches.

"Festival '75" To Start

The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs' Board of Directors recently approved KFWC's participation in Kentucky Educational Television's (KET) "Festival '75," March 7 to 17. During this time KET will be asking all Kentuckians to support public television in the state by investing in the KET network. O. Leonard Press, executive director of KET, is shown with Women's Club members (left to right) Mrs. Larry Whalen, Falmouth; Mrs. Thomas A. Weldon, Ft. Mitchell; Mrs. Larry Moore, Falmouth; Mrs. James Lee Cobb, Walton; Mrs. Isabell Kinney, Ft. Mitchell; and Miss Beulah Lowe, Covington.

Independence: Dogs and Parking

The City of Independence has long had a problem with stray dogs and illegal parking on Main Street. At a recent meeting, the City Council voted to employ the Kenton County SPCA to pick up stray dogs and cite owners to Police Court. All dog owners are warned to keep their dogs from running at large and they must purchase the County dog license. The SPCA will begin its enforcement of the dog restrictions on March 1.

The Police Department was directed to strictly enforce all parking ordinances in the City. Persons are reminded that Main Street has been marked with certain no parking zones and it is illegal to park within twenty five feet of a street or drive way. A new ordinance was passed prohibiting parking on curbs and sidewalks and a $5 to $50 fine will be imposed. Persons are also reminded not to block fire lanes, and this has been a special problem in the Cherokee Shopping Center.

School Board Elects Officers

J.B. McCubbin and Walt Ryan have been re-elected as Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Walton Verona Board of Education. The Board at its February 13th meeting voted unanimously to continue under the same organization as it had during the past two years. Mr. Ryan and Mr. McCubbin have served as board members for thirteen and nine years respectively.

Home Improvement

Something Old, Something New. Jim (Bill) Bond and Bill Fleener have opened a new business selling and installing many old familiar name brand products in Walton and Northern Ky. also in Cincinnati, Ohio. The sales office and showroom are located at 12 South Main Street in the old location of Kentucky Motors.

Boone County Tobacco Meeting

The Annual Boone County Tobacco Meeting will be held Wednesday, February 26, 1975, at 8:00 p.m. at the Courthouse in Burlington, Ky.

With the 10 percent increase, high price of fertilizer and insecticide, and also a short supply of nitrogen, there are many decisions you as a tobacco farmer must make.

To help you in making these decisions and to produce your tobacco crop, Mr. Ira Massie, Tobacco Specialist at the University of Kentucky will be here to discuss tobacco production for 1975.

Wes Gregory, Entomologist Specialist at the University of Kentucky will also be with us to discuss the economical use of insecticides for best control.

Hope that you will be able to attend.

Taxpayers Of Walton Listen

Taxpayers in the Walton Verona School District can breathe easier. The school tax is still $1.16 per $100 property valuation not the $1.30 reported in the Kentucky Post on last Thursday in a story on reassessment of property values in Boone County.

The $1.30 figure was taken from the Kentucky Property Tax Rates 1974 book published by the state Department of Revenue.

The book was wrong, said John Grubbe, superintendent of the Walton Verona Schools. "They ran a correction on that."

4-H Scholarships To DC

Plans are being made between left, Julie Heeger and right, Michelle Maddox for their April trip to 4-H Older Youth Conference in Washington DC. They are both from Independence and freshman in high school. They received their scholarship money from their 4-H Club Trailblazers, on the merit of their 4-H participation. While in Washington the girls will be guided, along with many other Kentucky 4-H'ers, on tours and sites of interest. The conference is also designed to build their leadership qualities and citizenship. Both look forward to this exciting week to be held during school spring vacation.

Oldest Employee

Thomas Morgan, one of the "Oldest" employees in years of service, was honored at his retirement dinner held Friday, January 31st at the Independence Office. The Cooperative Personnel honored Tommy and his wife, Ethel, for their many years of faithful service to Owen County RECC. He was presented with a watch by the Coop and a gift of cash from his fellow employees.

Many stories were told by Tommy's fellow employees about things that had happened both on and off the job which had a sad, as well as amusing ring to them.

Tommy, as he is called by all who know him, began his career with the Coop in 1938. During World War II, he worked at the powder plant in Charlestown, Indiana. When he returned to the Coop, he was given the job of serviceman for Boone County. He remained in this capacity until retirement.

Tommy has always been noted for his excellent memory and it has been said that you could give Tommy an account number in Boone County and he could tell you the name of the person who had service at that number. Tommy was also a great ball player and fan, and many people in this area can remember him for his ability as a player.

Tommy and Ethel live on Main Street, Walton, Ky. They have three daughters.

All the employees of the Coop and his many friends are very proud to have known and worked with him over the past years and wish him many happy years of retirement.

Save Our Countryside

Announcement was made today of the formation of the Save Our Countryside Association. This association is made up of concerned citizens primarily in Kenton and Boone Counties. The formation of this association came about as a result of a law suit filed by Mr. Charles H. Deters in Kenton County Circuit Court, objecting to a proposed power line to be run through Campbell, Kenton and Boone counties by Charleston Bottoms Rural Electric Cooperative.

Of great concern to the residents of this area is the proliferation of power lines being run through Kenton and Boone counties. Not only are there a number of power lines presently polluting our landscape but concern is expressed regarding additional lines being contemplated in the near future. In addition to the line Charleston Bottoms is presently negotiating for, they have already filed with the Rural Electrification Commission in Washington for an additional line through these same counties.

Also, Cincinnati Gas and Electric has proposed the building of a power plant at Bellevue Bottoms in Boone County. It seems extremely foolish to the members of the Save Our Countryside Association that competitive companies are building power lines throughout the area when adequate power generating facilities will be available in Boone County in the near future. As a result of this concern the Save Our Countryside Association was organized. It is comprised of many landowners in the northern Kentucky area. All interested citizens are welcome to join the association and aid in this fight against the proliferation of power line structures. A governing committee was elected at the meeting of the association recently. This committee is composed of Mr. Terry Averbeck of Ft. Mitchell; Mr. Raymond Buse, Jr. of Ellis Farm, Walton; Mr. Charles Deters of Walton; Mr. Thomas McClorey of McClorey Bros. of Walton; and Mrs. Edward Smith of Walton.

Anyone interested in joining with Save Our Countryside Association can do so by contacting one of the above committee members.

Jarman Hired As Police Dispatcher

Boone County has hired Mike Jarman as a dispatcher to replace Robert Elliott, who was accepted into the Kentucky State Police cadet program.

Jarman, 20, of 73 South Main in Walton, will receive an associate degree in law enforcement from Eastern Kentucky University.

He attended college on a Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grant. He placed second with a 97 per cent grade in an examination for 30 persons seeking the position.

A graduate of Walton Verona, Jarman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jarman.

Kenton County Ousts Davis

The Kenton County School Board, Wednesday night decided not to rehire Don Davis as superintendent when his one-year contract expires July 1.

The board opened the doors to its conference room and voted 4 to 1 in front of an audience of four not to reappoint Davis as head of Northern's Kentucky largest school system.

The board members offered no public reason for their decision.

Kenton County becomes the fourth school district in northern Kentucky that will have a new superintendent next year.

The Kenton County School Board's decision on Davis' contract came at the end of its regularly scheduled meeting. The issue did not appear on the board's agenda.

Davis, 54, had been assistant superintendent for nine years when he was made superintendent in the summer of 1971 and given a two year contract. He was given a one year contract in 1973 and again last year.

He is a former teacher and football coach and has served as president of the Kentucky High School Athletic Assn. Board of Control.

Davis said he has not decided what he will do next year. Davis has "a continuing contract" with Kenton County Schools, but no decision had been made on what, if any, position to offer him.

Turn Your Clocks Back

Along with most of the nation, Kentucky will go back on Daylight Savings Time at 2 a.m. on Sunday, February 23.

Normally the changeover to daylight time comes the last Sunday in April but Congress made it start in February this year by repealing a temporary move to year round fast time.

Like Fish?

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Independence Fire Department will hold a fish fry on Friday, February 21st from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the firehouse.

There will be fish set ups, individual fish sandwiches, hot dogs, bar-b-que, french fries, and desserts.

The public is cordially invited for an evening of good eating.

Come out and support your fire department and enjoy some good food.

Home Gardening By: Nancy Norman

Home Gardening will be the topic of a program presented by Dr. G.R. Roberts, University of Kentucky Horticulture Specialist on Wednesday, February 26, 7:30 p.m., Kentucky Federal Savings and Loan, Florence. Dr. Roberts will cover basic information from getting ready to garden to taking care of your garden to harvest.

The public is invited to attend this meeting. Everyone in attendance will receive the University of Kentucky Garden Tabeleod which is just off the press.

Please call 586-6101, Ext. 17 to pre-register.

Kenton County will have a similar program the following evening on February 27.

VFW Plans Fish Fry

The Boone County Memorial Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 6099 and Ladies Auxiliary will have a Fish Fry on February 22 at 2:00 p.m. at the post on US Highway 42 in Union.

A band will be on hand for live music.

Have Any Old Papers?

The Junior Class of the Walton Verona High School are looking for old and unused papers. Would you like to donate these papers to them?

The Paper Drive will be held on February 22, between the hours of 9:00 and 2:00 p.m. on this coming Saturday.

Don't forget. If you need any help in getting them to the Junior Class, call any member and they will be more than glad to come and pick them up or you may bring them to the school.

Your support and help will be greatly appreciated!

Singles Club Will Meet

The Kentucky Tri County Singles Club will hold their regular meeting on the fourth Thursday, February 27 at 8:00 p.m. at the Anchor Grill in Covington.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. All Singles are welcomed. A social hour will follow the meeting.

Kenton Co. Branch YMCA

Harold and Donna Brautigan and Nancy Chadwick, Kenton County "Y" Board Members, are shown participating in a song fest at a membership campaign meeting.

The second report meeting revealed that 75 percent of the $5,000.00 goal in sustaining membership had been achieved the two weeks.

A successful sustaining membership drive to support current youth programs and to initiate additional programs throughout the year is the first priority of the Board of Managers.

Following the Membership Drive the attention of the Board of Managers will be devoted to seasonal program plans, and a property site location study.

Bearcats Have Roadtrip

On February 14th the Walton Verona Basketball team along with cheerleading squad traveled to Somerset, Ky.

The team stayed at the Holiday Inn in Somerset where they were joined by several parents of the team.

On Friday the team went into Monticello to play Wayne County. Wayne County is in a new gym which seats about 5,000 fans.

The W V Bearcats played a good game but could not overcome the 73 per cent shooting average in the second half of Wayne County as the score ended Wayne Co. 79 to Walton 64.

On Saturday night the team traveled to Nancy, Ky. which was celebrating Homecoming. After a hard fought game in which the W V Bearcats played a very good second half but could not overcome the lead that the Nancy's Dragon had built up in the first half.

The final score was 78 to 64. The team left Somerset at about 9:30 a.m. Sunday for the return trip home.

Even though the Bearcats lost both games they were quite respectable in their efforts in trying to overcome the odds against them.

Walton Woman's Club Meets

Walton Woman's Club met February fifth at Walton Christian Church's Fellowship Hall.

Hostesses Mrs. John Farrell and Mrs. Stanley Vallandingham made the hall and tables beautiful with hand made Valentine decorations. Mrs. Sam Sleet and Miss Virginia Beverly who were also hostesses, could not be present to assist because of illness.

After delicious refreshments of Cherry pie, candy and nuts were served, the program began with Spiritual Guidance given by Mrs. A. Gaines.

The film "John Marshall" which had for it's theme, the integrity of John Marshall, Attorney General, United States, in his handling of trial and prosecution of Aaron Burr for conspiracy. The club is indebted to Mr. Bruce Wallace and Mr. Kenneth Berkemeier, who showed the film. It was interesting and very true to our historical heritage. Mrs. James Lee Cobb, president presided and held a business meeting after the program.

Members present: Mmes. W.R. Belcher, R.C. Brakefield, William Brown, John Campbell, James Lee Cobb, Carl Conner, John Farrell, A.H. Gaines, D.L. Lusby, J. Clifton Mayhugh, W.H. Presser, W.W. "Chad"

By: Bob Fonde

There was Mom and there was Dad, Mom had Chad and Dad was glad, Chad would romp and play and run, Dad and Mom watched Chad have fun,

Chad had a grandma and grandpa too,
You should see what he puts them through,
He screams and jumps through the entire house,
One thing he's not, is as quiet as a mouse,

He takes his grandpa for a walk,
Gibbers and jabbars his baby talk,
When he tires and they finally get back,
Poor old grandpa is ready for the rack,

Grandma has her problems too,
She has to find safe things for Chad to do,
She could easily keep us with her little man,
If she had eight legs and four pairs of hands,

Though he is mischevious and sometimes mean,
He's the sweetest baby you've ever seen,
Ask grandma and grandpa about this lad,
They'll tell you their lives revolve around Chad.

Government: It Keeps Growing

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

Government employment in the US is growing every year, and with it grows the burden on every taxpayer's pocketbook.

I asked the Library of Congress to provide me with figures showing this growth at Federal, state, and local levels and their totals in two ways: government employment as percentages of the total American workforce, and government pay as percentages of total wages and salaries of all US workers. While the Library gave me numbers of employees and dollar figures, space must limit me here only to the percentages. 1950 was the first year for which all figures I asked for were available.

In 1950, of a total workforce of 55.1 million earning $146.8 billion, 6.4 million government employees earned $18.3 billion. 2.11 million Federal workers earned $7.356 billion, 1.05 million state employees earned $2.616 billion, and 3.22 million local government workers earned $8.352 billion.

In 1973, of a total workforce of 79.9 million earning $626.7 billion, 14.13 million government employees earned $132.18 billion. 2.78 million Federal workers earned $36.144 billion, 3.01 million state employees earned Federal workers earned $36.144 billion, 3.01 million state employees earned $25.752 billion, and 8.33 million local government workers earned $70.284 billion!

State and local government have doubled their impact on the taxpayer in size alone, to say nothing of their growing expenditures, or enormous Federal outlays. The Tax Foundation figures that based on a 40 hour week, taxpayers will have to work 17 weeks and 5 hours just to pay for taxes in 1975!

VA Advises

It's a good idea to check periodically the type of payoff plan for your beneficiary, the Veterans Administration today advised veterans holding government life insurance policies.

"All too often," VA officials stressed, "widows of GI policyholders have been penalized following deaths of husbands who had selected small monthly payments over 36 month period."

In some cases, veterans chose smaller payments for life more than 25 years ago, and never updated their policies, officials noted.

Veterans who now wish to switch to lump sum payments should request form 29-336 from VA and select option number 1. This would allow widows to select monthly payments should they deem it necessary.

Veterans should mail completed forms to the VA insurance center, where they pay premiums, officials said.

Questions & Answers

Q. I am a veteran with a 60 per cent service connected disability. Will the Veterans Administration pay an allowance for my son who was born two months ago?

A. Yes, but you must notify the agency by filing a claim within one year of your child's birth.

Q. I lost my National Service Life Insurance policy which I have carried since World War II. Can I get a copy from the Veterans Administration?

A. Yes. Request a copy from the VA insurance center where you pay your premiums. If you had a paid up policy, direct your request to the insurance center in Philadelphia.

Q. My father was killed in service during the Vietnam War, which makes me eligible for War Orphans Educational Assistance from the Veterans Administration. Now that I'm in the military service, can I take advantage of this benefit?

A. Sorry but no. A person eligible under the War Orphans Educational Assistance program may not participate in the program while in service.

Consumer Comments

As you spray your hair with hair spray, spray your bathroom sink with a cleaning foam, spray your lawn with insecticides or spray anything else with an aerosol can, remember that aerosol sprays can be dangerous. According to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, each year about 5,000 persons are given emergency room treatment for injuries associated with aerosols.

One problem with aerosol spray cans is the danger of explosions brought on by puncturing or by high heat. So don't smoke while spraying and don't use sprays near heating appliances or other heat sources. Keeping aerosols away from heat also means keeping them out of direct sunlight and not storing aerosol cans in the car during hot weather. Store aerosols in cool places. Never throw aerosol cans in incinerators or trash compactors; the cans contain propellants that may cause explosions.

Another risk of aerosol sprays is flammability. Always keep aerosols away from open flames, burning cigarettes or matches.

Some aerosols may be toxic if large quantities are inhaled in an unventilated room. When using an aerosol spray indoors, have plenty of ventilation. If any dizziness, nausea, headache, blurred vision or skin irritation occurs, stop spraying immediately. Get some fresh air and call a doctor if these symptoms persist. Although some aerosols are specifically made for direct application to the body, others such as insecticides should be kept away from the body and should be washed away immediately after contact. Some aerosols, such as some household products, should not be used around food. Yet there are others specifically made to be used with food. Check the instructions on all aerosol cans, so that you are aware of any restrictions or warnings.

Beef'n'Beans, Rocky Mountain Style

This Pinto Bean Pot is a recipe to be lazily-simmered in a Dutch oven or in the popular slow-cook electric pots, forgotten for hours. Its origin is in the Rocky Mountain region where, because of unexcelled growing conditions, these buff-colored, dappled-with-brown Pinto Beans are grown.

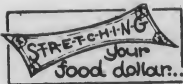

Beef'n'Beans

- 2 cups Pinto beans
- 6 cups water
- 1/4 to 1 pd. lean beef, cut
- 1/4 pd. diced salt pork
- 2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
- 1/4 cup diced green pepper
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 3 cloves minced garlic
- 1 teas. salt
- 1/2 teas. crushed oregano.

Soak rinsed beans overnight in measured amount of water. Or bring the water to the boiling point. Add beans; boil 2 minutes. Cover and let stand 1 hour. Bring beans and soaking water to the boiling point. Reduce heat; simmer beans 1 1/2 hours. Add remaining ingredients. Again simmer for 1 1/2 hours or until beef and beans are tender, stirring occasionally. Water or beef stock may be added. Makes 8 to 10 hearty servings.

Serve with a tossed green salad, hot rolls or garlic-buttered French Bread and not much else. This dish can change completely by using chili powder to suit the taste instead of oregano. It freezes well. Dry beans are the richest common source of proteins among foods of vegetable origin. By adding to the bean dish some meat, even a little of the animal proteins, you have a good protein team.

Have you tried the leaner beef, known as grass-fed or non-grain-fed beef, now available at attractive prices in many supermarkets? These covering and less marbling than the grain fed beef consumers have become accustomed to. This may have an effect on flavor and juiciness but should make little difference in tenderness, according to UK Extension foods specialists. Grass-fed beef should be cooked somewhat differently to grain-fed beef; for information on cooking these less-expensive beef cuts, contact your county agent for home economics.

President Of Kentucky Chapter

Noel Walton

Noel Walton, partner in the firm of Walton & Walton Civil Engineers and Surveyors of Burlington, Ky., was elected President of the Kentucky Chapter of the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping at the 1975 joint Lincoln Heritage Conference of the Illinois Land Surveying Association and the Kentucky Chapter of the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping held at Ky. Lake on February 13 to 15. The Congress, a joint organization with the American Society of Photogrammetry is devoted to the advancement of Land Surveying and Photogrammetry throughout the 50 states.

Answer All Questionnaires

About 120,000 Veterans Administration pensioners who failed to return a required income questionnaire mailed to them in November face a possible delay in their February pension checks.

The Veterans Administration explained that the questionnaires are required by law. Income questionnaires are sent to veterans receiving pensions based on non-service-connected disabilities, to widows, to widowers of veterans who died of non-service-connected causes and to certain parents of veterans killed in service. Pensions to these beneficiaries are based on income, and eligibility must be established each year. Persons over 72 years old are exempt from filing the questionnaires if they have been receiving benefits two years or more. They must report changes that might occur in income, however.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Richard L. Roudabush said that response to the questionnaire this year has been the best ever. More than 1.2 million were sent with November checks, and all but 120,000 had been returned by January 15. Return was requested for January 1.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

Over the years much of the information contained in this column has been furnished by Extension specialists of the UK College of Agriculture, but in order to present still broader view of the art of the green thumb we are going to present statements and ideas of other noted people on the subject.

To start off, not many gardeners think of a vegetable patch in this light but Swiss Philosopher, Henri-Frederic Amiel, likens a garden to a source of information. "For those who know how to look and wait," he said, "a modern garden contains more information than a library."

Along with a source of information, gardening has also been extolled as a fountainhead of health. For instance, James Douglas wrote that "an hour in a garden heals and soothes and calms all the disordered nerves in your body and all the tormented thoughts in your mind."

Then he added, "Any garden will do, your own or somebody else's provided you have something to sit on or lean on while you allow the leaves and flowers and birds to work their witchery in peace."

John Erskine, the American author and historian, also found garden work mentally stimulating. "I have never," he said, "had so many good ideas day after day as when I worked in the garden."

As every gardener knows, along with the pleasures of gardening there are also pains. Nathaniel Hawthorne pointed this out when he wrote: "Last night there was a great damage to my garden. It is sad that Nature will play such tricks with us poor mortals, inviting us with sunny smiles to confide in her, and then, when we are entirely within her power, striking us to the heart."

"The trouble with gardening," as Phyllis McGinley wrote, "is that it does not remain an avocation. It becomes an obsession. A real devotee will filch the money for his wife's winter coat and spend it on a new breed of gladiolus." He will also deprive his children of bubblegum in order to purchase a new variety of cucumber seed.

Perhaps at times readers have become a bit weary of all the tips, recommendations, exhortations, and such written into this column week after week and felt a surge of rebellion. If so, they may ponder these words from the English poet, Victoria Sackville-West:

"After many long docile years of following all the advice given me by professional gardeners and by the authoritative authors of gardening books, I have turned insubordinate. I have discovered for myself that it sometimes pays to treat plants rough; to go against the rules and get a surprising reward."

"Yes, indeed," as still another writer said, "there's more to gardening than that which meets the eye."

Buying Meat

If you're like most people, you are probably on the verge of deciding that you cannot afford to buy meat anymore. Well, it doesn't have to be that way. There are number of things you can do to save on meat.

The first step is to get to know your butcher. And, more importantly, get him to know and like you. He knows more about his selection of meats than anybody else, and he can steer you towards the real bargains and away from the losers. And if he is acquainted with the size of your family, he can suggest items especially suited to your needs.

It's a good idea though, to go in with a good working knowledge of meats. I'd suggest reading the booklet, "101 Meats Cuts." It's available from the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

One sure way to save on meat is to buy the less expensive cuts. Chuck roast and round steak have just as much flavor as the more expensive cuts. All they lack is tenderness, which you can add with any commercial meat tenderizer or your own marinade.

And one last hint. When you're at the supermarket, make the meat department your last stop. An empty shopping cart makes it easier to buy too much meat.

County Agent's 1/2 Acre

by: Joe Claxon

Would you like to raise a vegetable garden, but feel handicapped by lack of space? Get rid of the idea that it takes an acre of land to grow vegetables. Just about every yard, patio, or balcony is a potential garden. The key is planning a garden to fit the space available.

The conventional garden with orderly rows of vegetables located in a rectangular plot, is the most common vegetable garden. However, there are those who do not have to occupy your whole yard, and do not hesitate to utilize another shape for more efficient use of space. By employing space-saving techniques, such as vertical training, staircase arrangement, and succession cropping, even a tiny plot can be very productive.

You might want to plant several mini-gardens instead of placing all your vegetables in vacant spots around the yard. Some possible sites are near the kitchen door, along the sunny side of the house or garage, around the outdoor grill, in a flower bed, or along a fence. Placed this way, vegetables serve a dual purpose as both food and landscape plants.

And what do you do if you have no yard at all? With a container garden it's possible to raise vegetables on patios, porches, balconies, or even windowsills. Lettuce and radishes will grow in a flower pot, tomatoes in a bucket, and cucumbers in a washtub.

Walton Verona Students Win DECA Contest

The Walton Verona DECA Chapter brought home 8 winning trophies from the Regional DECA Contests held at Northern Ky. State College on Thursday, February 13.

There were 10 schools participating in the contests from Region V DECA area.

The winners from Walton Verona were: Curtis Locke-1st Place-Job Interview, Cindy Cheesman-1st Place-Public Speaking, Danny Black-2nd Place-Store Layout, Nancy Burden-2nd Place-Gift Wrapping, Jackie Hartman-2nd Place-Visual Display, Ricky Rich-2nd Place-Petroleum Industry, Missy Messmer-3rd Place-Gift Wrapping, Tom Webster, Karen Gadd, Brenda Spencer, Danny Black, Daryl Martin, Jeff Watts-3rd Place-Parliamentary Procedure Team.

The 1st and 2nd place winners will travel to Louisville on March 7, 8, and 9 to compete in state DECA Contests.

Kenton County Garden Club Meets

The Kenton County Garden Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Ralph Gouge at 5436 Madison Pike in Independence at 7:45 p.m. on February 27th.

The program will be Vacation Memories by Mr. Edwin Damon of 76 Roselawn.

All members and visitors are welcome to attend this meeting.

Randy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Crouch of Beaver, Ky.

Although many of the display samples have not arrived yet they invite you to drop in and get acquainted, look over their showroom and have a coke.

A complete line of home improvements products will be sold plus parts and service. They will be featuring Aluminum siding, awnings, storm and prime doors and windows. Carpets and patio covers in both aluminum and fiberglass. They will also sell and install if necessary mobile home building products. Covers, underpinning, screen rooms, Florida rooms, etc. Commercial marquees and sun flair facia are also offered. They are carrying time proven building products by Rusco, Flexadon, Gapco, Alean, Aloca, Hess, Sunco and many others.

Bill Bond or Uncle Will, to many of his friends, comes to Walton from east Tennessee where he owned and operated Rusco Improvement Co. successfully for 19 years. He's had invaluable experience in handling special window treatments for insulating purposes on casements, slides, and awning type windows. He resides at 14 South Main and will be glad to be at your service day or night by calling 485-7445.

Bill Flenor, formerly of Walton and now living in Florence has worked in this field for 6 years. You'll find he's a firm believer in quality products and expert installations which has contributed to his success with Rusco Improvement Co. and Rusco Window Co. of Roanoke. He also owned and operated Rusco Improvement of Walton before he was employed by B.F.I. He will remain at his present position but invites his many friends of over six years to drop in and see "Uncle Will" at 12 South Main for sales or service, in Florence call 371-3531.

Bill Bond says "Things are supposed to be rough all over but the home improvement business is up about 80 per cent and we believe that by offering a quality product and expert installations we will be able to save dollars for customers at the time of purchases and through the coming year by lowering heating and air conditioning costs."

Walton Homemakers Hold Meeting

The Walton Homemakers Club held their regular monthly meeting on Friday, February 14th at the Walton Methodist Church. Mrs. Paul Beigle and Mrs. Don Rice were hostesses.

The lesson "Know Your Local Government" was given by Mrs. John Hetterman. She presented three most informative speakers, Mr. Dick Houston, County Commissioner, Mr. Joe Ryan, County Tax Commissioner, Mrs. Billie Jo Morris of the Juvenile Court Department.

A very interesting discussion was held with all of these people.

After lunch served by the hostesses the regular business meeting was held. Sixteen members were present.

Kenton County
Extension Agent

The Ramada Inn in Florence was the scene of the five session Boone County Health Herd Workshop. A capacity crowd was on hand to hear Extension Veterinarians and Specialists from the University of Kentucky speak on topics ranging from Diseases Affecting Reproduction to External and Internal Parasites of Cattle. Local veterinarians also participated on panels to answer specific questions about herd health.

Printed copies of the proceedings were passed out during the last session as an added bonus. Some extra copies are available at the Boone and Kenton County Extension Offices. Copies of health and disease publications are also available. Beef Health and Management Calendar is a one sheet publication that serves as a monthly reminder to use good health practices.

The following people from Kenton County attended one or more sessions: Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Heckman, Mr. and Mrs. John Heckman, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Chastain, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Willenborg, Mr. and Mrs. David Roland, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ballinger, Mr. and Mrs. George Fennell, Jr., Clyde M. A People Of Hope

(Romans 5:1-5; 8:18-25)

Jeremy Taylor described hope as "the wing of an angel, soaring up to heaven, bearing our prayers to the throne of God."

Watson likened hope to the cork to the net which keeps the soul from sinking in despair.

Thomas Carlyle saw hope as the "sole boon of man, whereby on his strait prison walls are painted beautiful, far stretching land escapes, and into the very night of death itself is shed holiest dawn."

Thou art to all an indefeasible condition and possession in this God's world. To the wise, a sacred Constantine's banner, written on the eternal skies, under which they conquer, for the battle itself is victory.

In Romans 5:1-5 the apostle Paul speaks of the products of hope.

The Products of Hope, Romans 5:1-5

Whether or not anyone has peace with God depends upon his relationship to God. Every human being is a creature of God, but not every human being is a child of God. The word "justified" is a legal term. God Himself declares the believer in Jesus Christ to be in right standing with Him. The basis upon which man comes into this right relationship is by faith. On God's part it is grace. Man must respond in faith to the grace of God. He does this through Jesus Christ.

Jesus Christ has also achieved for the believer "Access by faith into this grace wherein we stand." This means that we now have the glorious privilege of entering into the very presence of the Eternal God.

Man also "rejoices in hope of the glory of God." Because of sin, man had fallen short of the glory of God (Roman 3:23). The person who has not been justified by faith in Christ is without hope in the world. There is no hope for anyone outside of Christ.

Hope enables man to rejoice even in his tribulations. For the believer who possesses this hope tribulations will result in steadfastness, character and a more blessed hope. This hope is not wishful thinking. It is hope which is based on the promise of God. No one who has his hope in God will be disappointed. We know this to be true because God's love for us has already been poured out into our hearts by the Holy Spirit. He makes us know there is more and greater things ahead!

Romans 8:18-23 speak of perseverance in hope.

Perseverance in Hope, Romans 8:18-23

The writer sees the future glory of God's people to far outweigh the present afflictions of this life. Afflictions and persecutions are to pass with the time, but God's glory is eternal. In verse 19 all of creation anxiously awaits the wonderful sight of God's coming into their own. When Adam sinned he let sin loose in the world. Even nature itself was affected. The ground was cursed (Genesis 3:17) through Adam's sin. But just so, even nature was affected by the redemptive act of Christ on the Cross.

Though the believer is justified he still must settle down to wait for full redemption which includes the body. The believer has been saved from the penalty of sin. He has been saved from the power of sin (Romans 6:6). Someday thanks be unto God, the believer will be saved from the very presence of sin!

Come & Hear The Gospel Reporters

The Gospel Reporters will be singing at the Walnut Street Baptist Church in Cincinnati on Sunday, February 23 at 2:30 p.m.

Also, they will be in charge of the service at New Bethel Baptist Church in Verona at 7:30 p.m. that evening.

Everyone is invited to come and hear some good music.

"Sisters Shower" At St. Cecilia

On February 23rd at 2 p.m. the St. Cecilia Altar Society will have their annual "Sisters Shower".

This is a social for the benefit of the sisters who teach at St. Cecilia School in Independence, Ky.

Cupcakes and coffee will be served. Come and enjoy yourself.

Celebrated Candlemass At St. Elizabeth

The Most Reverend Richard H. Ackerman, bishop of the diocese of Covington, celebrated Candlemass at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Sung at ten o'clock Sunday morning, this was the first solemn mass to be said in the renovated chapel.

His Excellency's vestment, interwoven with solid gold and stitched by hand in France, was one of the original robes brought from Europe for the dedication of the initial chapel, dating early this century.

Among those attending the services that officially reopened the restored sanctuary were the hospital chaplains, members of the board of trustees and members of the administrative council.

Candlemass is the church feast, observed on the second of February, in commemoration of the presentation of Christ and the purification of the Virgin Mary. All of the candles to be used during the entire ensuing year including the votive candles as well as those for the Feast of St. Blase are blessed during the Candlemass ceremony.

MOUNTAIN MOMENTS

by K. Maynard Head

The Apple Tree

Jack was a big dog of the Boxer variety we owned when I was a child. He was a gift of Aunt Mary Alice whose small home was a bit cramped for such a large animal.

When my father brought him home the children hid behind the couch because he looked so frightening.

One morning I missed Jack when I went to feed him. After a few minutes of calling for him and searching the places he could usually be found, I heard him bark.

He was sitting under a nearby tree as if he were a hound who had just treed a coon. No amount of coaxing could budge him from his post so I went after him.

Jack looked at me, barked several times, and tried to climb the tree. When I got to him, someone yelled, "Hey kid, call off your dog." Up as high as he could climb was a man I had seen pass by our house occasionally.

"What are you doing in this tree," I asked.

"Well, last night I was drunk and walked across your property to get home. That dog chased me up here," the man answered.

I called Jack off and our neighbor hurriedly descended from the apple tree and went home.

How many times have you felt chased by worries, fears, and disappointments, and looked for an "apple tree."

We try to escape from the pressures of life when it seems that everything is closing in and find a place where we can feel safe.

At best the retreat is temporary and soon we must climb down to go back to the tasks facing us.

Find a retreat and be thankful for it. Your home, though often taken for granted, provides safety and encouragement when you need an "Apple tree."

THE STEPS OF LENT

Between Ash Wednesday and Easter Sunday there are forty days? No, that's not quite right.

Between Ash Wednesday and Easter Sunday there are forty weekdays—and six Sundays. Traditionally the weekdays were the Lenten fast, the Sundays were festivals of Christian worship.

If your faith has taught you to observe Lent: by foregoing pleasures or adding new religious experiences or both . . . those Six Sundays are occasions for taking inventory of your spiritual progress.

If yours is a religious background that does not emphasize Lent, those Six Sundays are still milestones on the way to the great Christian celebration of Christ's Resurrection—Easter!

And if, perchance, you have never given much attention to spiritual matters, those Six Sundays (and the thoughtful days between) are an invitation from your Lord . . . to walk with Him the path He walked for You.

Homemakers Club Hold Meeting

The Cooperative Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Walter Sleet, 45 Church Street. Mrs. Porterfield led the devotion and later the lesson on "How To Pack A Suitcase" was given in full details. Their White Elephant Sale which they held at their meeting was reported as being a great success.

Fifteen members were present and they are as follows: Mrs. Vernon Porterfield, Mrs. Jim Riddell, Mrs. James Ingram, Mrs. Fred Kirtley, Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Acie Davis, Mrs. Charles Alexander, Mrs. Charles Spriggs, Mrs. Charles Vance, Mrs. Collie Luke, Mrs. Evert Porterfield, and Mrs. Harry Chambers. The hostess, Mrs. Walter Sleet, prepared a nice luncheon and it was enjoyed by all.

FFA - A Chance For Growth

The day Joe attended his first class of vocational agriculture, he was not sure what to expect. He studied and learned of agriculture and also about the organization of Future Farmers of America (FFA).

While attending his first State FFA Convention, he saw a young man, only a few years older than he, preside over the convention with all the polish and confidence of a United States Senator.

He watched the speeches, contests, and experienced the glory of the newly elected president and the tears of a retiring president. He sat back in his seat and daydreamed could he ever stand on that stage, receive an award, give a speech or possibly be a state officer? He dreamed of the cheering or possibly be a state officer? He dreamed of the cheering audience, their applause directed to him. He developed a lump in his throat and a tear in his eye from just the thoughts of his day dreams.

Joe set a goal, worked hard, and today his dreams have come true. Joe Roberts is the 1974-75 Kentucky FFA State President.

That is the dream of many young men and women who enroll in vocational agriculture. They are working hard accomplishing their goals, as they prepare for tomorrow's agriculture.

Julian Carroll recently signed a proclamation officially designating February 15 - 22 as FFA Week in Kentucky. The FFA Week is held annually during George Washington's birthday in observance of his leadership in promoting scientific farming practices. Washington is considered the patron saint of the FFA.

The 161 chapters in the Kentucky Association, along with some 7,637 chapters throughout the nation are celebrating National FFA Week. I hope you will join us as we promote leadership, cooperation, and citizenship. FFA - A Chance For Growth!

What's Ahead, Food or Famine? National FFA Week

What's ahead for tomorrow's agriculture? Over 450,000 members of the Future Farmers of America are confident that agriculture has a bright future. They are preparing for careers in this vital industry that provides food, fiber and a better environment for the nation and the world.

In over 8,000 high schools across the nation, students in the vocational agriculture instruction program are learning the skills and gaining the technical know how that will prepare them for the careers in production agriculture, agribusiness or natural resources.

Their goal is to become employed in one of the thousands of occupations that serve consumers by supplying and servicing the nation's farmers, by producing an abundant supply of food and fiber and by maintaining and carefully using precious natural resources.

The optimism of these young people comes from the realization that they will be part of the nation's largest and most vital industry. Today two out of every five jobs are related to agriculture. They know that food produced by the nation's farmers is the backbone in our successful free enterprise system. They know too the pride and accomplishments of working in one of the most modern and efficient agriculture production plants in the world.

Through their membership in the FFA, vocational agriculture students are preparing themselves for the challenges of tomorrow's agriculture. As officers, committee participants, and in chapter business and community service ventures, FFA members learn to set goals, work together and take a leadership role to achieve their goals. It is this training that helps prepare for tomorrow's agriculture and gives members a chance for GROWTH.

Separate Your Nursing Cows

If you are trying to stretch the winter feed supply of your beef cow herd, here is a tip from an Extension beef cattle specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Curtis Absher says one of the best ways to conserve winter feed is to separate cows which are nursing calves from cows which are dry. The feed requirements of a dry, pregnant cow are only about 60 percent as great as those of a cow which is nursing a calf. A dry cow can be fed adequately with 16 to 18 pounds of hay per day and supplementary vitamin A.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

Simon Kenton FHA Gives Report

This year the Simon Kenton FHA (Future Homemakers of America) Chapter is taking on a community service project to help needy children in Newport.

Mrs. Jean Fricke, supervisor of family service workers for the Bureau of Social Services, explained the need to the club. Currently children waiting to be taken into Foster Homes sometimes spend hours in a small bare room with no furniture or toys. For infants there is a cardboard box with a pillow inside.

The FHA girls voted to take money from the club treasury for paint, curtains and cleaning supplies. A drive has been started for boys and children's furniture, including a baby bed.

The girls and their advisors, Mrs. Beverly Searcy and Mrs. Mary Abell and their chapter mother, Mrs. Jan Deters will be spending four Saturdays working on the nursery. The dates are February 15 and February 22, March 1 and March 8. The address is 935 Monmouth in Newport.

Another project recently started by the chapter was to adopt an underprivileged child from a foreign country. This involves sending $15.00 monthly for his care and corresponding with the child.

FFA Week February 15th - 22nd

February 15th to the 22nd is National FFA Week. During this week they will try to inform you of what the purpose of FFA is. FFA stands for Future Farmers of America. Give these people all your support and it will be greatly appreciated.

Laundry Tips For Washables

Now you can wash delicate lingerie the same way you wash your towels and sheets - right in the washing machine - by simply following a few "fine fabrics" tips from Amway Corporation.

To keep panty hose, panties, and bras from tangling, place them in a small mesh laundry bag or pillow case. The bag will also reduce the thrashing that occurs if lingerie is placed in the machine individually.

Use a mild detergent, a versatile cleaner that is as mild as bubble bath. Hang up all fine washables to dry; never put them in the dryer, as the heat will yellow and eventually disintegrate fibers such as spandex.

If you have any questions about whether or not you can wash any garment, always check the hangtag.

Tips On Your Dishwasher

These simple suggestions will help you save energy while using your dishwasher: To save hot water, wash full loads. Run once a day, during off peak load hours: Use the short cycle setting for normally soil dishes. Be sure to use the correct amount of detergent - depending on water hardness, too little or too much detergent can cause spotting or filming.

FEARLESS FORECAST

by R. W. Lancaster

Thursday, February 20, 1975

The Moon stays in the mutable air sign Gemini the rest of the day so you can complete your Health appointments if you didn't get done yesterday. If you got that new permanent the first of the week, think about a manicure sometime today and you will be ready for a pleasant weekend. The aspects are right for taking care of legal matters and if you get those tax forms signed and mailed in maybe you will get a good refund.

Friday, February 21st

The Moon goes in to the watersign Cancer early this morning so start thinking about those house plants and give them a good watering and if you have been planning on taking some cuttings or transplanting try to get it done today or tomorrow and you will have good growth also a bit of plant food would probably help their growth and appearance. This is the day the local markets are supposed to have sales on staple goods so it might be a good time to stock up on non-perishable items.

Saturday, February 22nd

This is a poor day for sporting activities but a safe day for traveling so a weekend trip would probably be enjoyable providing the weather doesn't turn nasty. If you want to stimulate your hair growth see your barber today but if you want it to be slow growing back wait until March 1st for that haircut. If you will have anything to sell next week this would be a good weekend to write ads for next weeks paper and don't forget to get it in early Monday morning.

Sunday, February 23rd

Mrs. Lydia Child the American Abolitionist was a great lover of flowers as well as mankind and these words of hers will never be forgotten. (How the universal heart of man blesses flowers! They are wreathed round the cradle, the marriage altar, and the tomb. They should deck the brow of the youthful bride, for they are in themselves a lovely type of marriage. They should twine round the tomb, for their perpetually renewed beauty is a symbol of the resurrection. They should festoon the altar, for their fragrance and beauty ascend in perpetual worship before the most high.

Monday, February 24th

The Moon in the fixed fire sign Leo the day before the full moon is the right time to make decisions that you want quick action on. If you have been wanting a new job or position try to get the interview today, and you might be surprised at the outcome. Also if you are satisfied with your present position but think you deserve more money, work hard all morning and make your request in the afternoon. This is also a good day for sporting activities as you should be well rested after a quiet Sabbath.

Tuesday, February 25th

The Moon goes in to the earth sign Virgo at 9 a.m. and we have a full moon at 7:37 p.m. tonight, so if the locks around your home need repair or replacement get the job done today while you can get the things you need to do the job. Serious studies made by police departments state positively that crimes such as robbery and rape increase during the full moon, they also advise to look in your car before entering and to drive with the doors locked and picking up hitch hikers is a no no at all times.

Wednesday, February 26th

The Moon forms a sextile to Saturn early this morning so don't be surprised if you dreamed of some older relative or friend before you awoke. Why not give some serious thought to spending a little time with the elderly some time today. You can do your house cleaning tomorrow and will probably even enjoy it after the good nights sleep you will be rewarded with after your good deed today.

Piner PTA Will Meet

The Piner PTA will meet on February 20, 1975 at 7:30 p.m. at the Piner Elementary School. We will have a Founders' Day program honoring the past presidents of the Piner PTA. Mrs. David Wolfe will be in charge of the program.

Founders Day To Be Observed

Kenton Elementary PTA will observe Founders Day at their February 20 meeting at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. George White will be our guest speaker for the evening. Mrs. White was the Kentucky PTA past president. There will be a Silver Tea following the meeting in honor of all past presidents. There will be an Antique Fashion Show narrated by Mrs. Wanda White. Due to illness the January PTA meeting was cancelled, the Sport Night will be presented at a later date.

White's Tower PTA

The talents of various members of White's Tower Elementary School were displayed Tuesday night at the Student Variety Show. The show is an annual event sponsored by the PTA and produced by two of the teachers, Miss Childers and Miss Powers. Singers, dancers, comedians, and musicians were among the performers. It was a delight to see how eager these young people are and we appreciate their enthusiasm and hard work.

Kenny Price At Club 25

On Sunday, February 23, 1975 at 9:00 p.m. Kenny Price will be at the Club 25 in Walton, Ky. to do a show. Anyone wishing to see and hear Kenny Price perform should purchase a ticket from the management. Come out and enjoy some fine music and dancing at the Club 25.

Thomas More Presents Play

"The Villa Players of Thomas More College will present William Shakespeare's Comedy, Twelfth Night, at the college theater in Fort Mitchell, Kentucky on the weekends of March 14, 15, 16, and March 21, 22, 23 at 8 p.m. Tickets may be reserved at $1.75 by calling 341-5800."

Piner Fiskburg Ladies Met

The Piner Fiskburg Ladies Auxiliary had their regular meeting on Tuesday, February 11 at 8:00 p.m. after a short business meeting. A Valentine Party was enjoyed by the 9 members and one guest present: Leatha Woods, Faye Bray, Ruth Worthington, Audrey Ferguson, Eula LaFollette, Carolyn Jenkins, Carol Chapman, Hazel Vickers, Debbie Nickell, Darlene Van Cleave. The next meeting will be March 11, which include a business meeting at 7:30 p.m. and at 8:00 a Sarah Coventry Jewelry Party at the Firehouse. Coffee and donuts will be served and everyone is invited to come and bring a friend.

Fifth Grade Class Will Entertain

The Fifth Grade Class of White's Tower Elementary School will entertain the PTA on Thursday, February 20th at 7:30 p.m. with a series of short skits, one celebrating George Washington's birthday and the other Abraham Lincoln's. They will also present a brief history of the school and past PTA Presidents will be honored. Two Life Memberships will be given to outstanding PTA members for their generous work in the school. Baby-sitting will be available.

Gaint-size packages of many foods often cost less per ounce than smaller packages, but the larger size is a bargain only if you have storage space for it and can use the product before it becomes stale.

McBee Runs For Re-Election

Bill McBee

Bill McBee, Boone County's Democratic State Representative and a native Boone Countian, announces his candidacy for re-election to the Legislature of Kentucky which is the 60th District.

Since elected to the post, Bill has put forth many untiring hours in working for good legislation, road improvements for Boone County, a regional shopping center in Florence, helped in working to see the Hospital become a reality, and helped senior citizens receive benefits now coming to them. He has worked hard in trying to up-grade education in the State since he was a teacher at one time himself. Bill assisted the City of Walton in receiving one of the best grants of any city in the State for its sewer project.

One of Bill's pet bills was a new Circuit Court District for Boone County which he promised and got passed. He worked hard on the bill to take the sales tax off of groceries; to up-grade and get funds for Northern Kentucky State College. He was one of the leaders of the Northern Kentucky delegation in the General Assembly which was able to get Legislation passed to benefit all of Northern Kentucky which are too numerous to mention.

Bill, in his second term, was chosen as Vice-Chairman of the strong Business Organizations and Professions Committee in the House and also was chosen as Chairman of the Sub-Committee on Regulatory Licensing.

Representative McBee has a 100 per cent attendance record in the Legislature, is in good health and pledges to work as hard for all the people of Boone County as he has in the last two sessions.

Jr. Achievement Trade Fair

The 23rd Annual Junior Achievement Trade Fair will be held at the Cincinnati Convention Center on April 5th and 6th, 1975.

3,800 "Young Entrepreneurs" representing 88 local high schools will be displaying and selling their wares ranging from a $.50 Cathedral Candle to a $10.00 Cincinnati Bengal Helmet Football Lamp.

The J.A. Fair has developed into more than just a product display. Exciting, professional entertainers and family entertainment will highlight the two day event. Saturday's features include WCPO-TV's Wirt Cain, WLW Radio's Morning Mayor James Francis Patrick O'Neill, Jim LaBarbara, Jockey Joe Kelly, and Lt. Jim Stanley. Pat Matson of the Cincinnati Bengals will join Kings Island Banana Splits and Scooby Doo at the celebrity corner. The stage entertainment on Saturday will feature Cecil Jackson and Eddie the Chimp and his Chimp friends from the Cincinnati Zoo along with the Queen City Cadets, Mr. Kim's Karate, Kings Island Family Entertainment, the St. Xavier High School Band, Brenda Gronefeld's School of Dance, Fairfield High School Jazz Lab Band, and the Ziegler Studio of Dance and the major attraction - Larry Smith and his Puppets. Also, the JA's search for the Greater Cincinnati top teen talent will join the array of entertainment.

Highlights of the two day event will be the appearance of Ronald McDonald who will have a gift for all the kiddies, 2 to 5 p.m.

The Fair will be open to the public Saturday April 5th from 12 noon to 10 p.m. featuring the Greater Cincinnati search for the Top Teen Talent beginning at 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. and the Trade Fair on Sunday April 6th from 12 noon to 8 p.m.

Firefighters Will Hold Meeting

Chief Robert Messmer and the Southern Hills Firefighters host our February meeting at their headquarters on Dudley Pike. This meeting will be at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday evening the 25th of February.

Representatives of the Shrine Burn Hospital will present the evening program and they have requested that the program be at the beginning of the meeting instead of the end. We urge everyone to be punctual in order not to miss any of the presentation.

Was held in January was a great success and Chief Muench thanks who helped to make it successful. Keep in mind that the convention will be held in Northern Kentucky in August and it will take all of us to make it a success.

Men, if your wives are interested in becoming a member of the Womens' Convention Committee, please ask them to make contact with Mrs. Joan Muench at 441-7257 or Mrs. Dorothy Radenheimer at 331-0135 for more particulars.

Florence Star Chapter Meets

The Florence Star Chapter No. 559 O.E.S. will meet on Thursday evening, February 27 at 8:00 p.m. at the Masonic Temple in Florence, Ky. Betty Fobbe, W.M. and Bob Fobbe, W.P. presiding.

Hoffman To Take Over

Roy Hoffman is officially the acting police chief in Walton. The action was taken by the members of the Walton City Council last Tuesday night at their meeting.

Acting Chief Hoffman replaced Melvin Collins who resigned to take the position of 54th Judicial District Detective.

In other action the Council appointed Russell Hall to the Boone County Planning Commission. He will replace Gayle McElroy who resigned because of business commitments.

In other action before Council an ordinance was passed rehiring the following City Employees for the coming year: John Taylor, Preston Hedges, John Hines, Glenn Howard, Anna Mae Simpson, Woodrow Ross, and Ruth Glenn.

Community Program

Paula Collins & Diana Schneider

Four-H's in Kenton County are always looking for ways to improve their communities and they take a real "pride" in this endeavor. The Briarcrest Bridleirs 4-H Club of Taylor Mill, with 45 active members, recently worked very diligently to raise over five hundred dollars to buy a 16 mm projector for the county 4-H program. Above right, Paula Collins, active president of the club presents the new projector to, left, Diana Schneider, Kenton County Extension Agent for 4-H. Leaders that organized the youth's efforts included Mmes. Janice Kenney, Karen Coleman and Sue Hegge. Youth throughout the county will now benefit through educational films; many of which are secured from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, to which the Cooperative Extension Service is a part.

Other recent 4-H community pride projects that Kenton youth have participated in include over two hundred dollars improvement at the county fair grounds, visits to the aged and entertaining at institutions, such as the Garrard Convalescent Home in Covington. During thsummer the Garden of Hope in Covington was also most appreciative of the efforts of the Clover Leaf 4-H Club of Independence. Their activities included cleaning up debris, straightening results of vandalism and planting flowers and shrubs, at this public site.

Walton Verona Changes Crowning

The Homecoming of the past has featured only the basketball players and cheerleaders as candidates for Homecoming King and Queen, with the high school students electing the King and Queen in a vote taken the day of the crowning. This year's Homecoming will feature candidates from all active organizations of the high school, which will be nominees from the Junior and Senior classes. The nominees will then be announced at the ballgame, on February 28th when the mighty Bearcats take on the St. Henry Crusaders. At a dance immediately following the ballgame the King and Queen and a court of six will be announced in a beautiful and most remembered ceremony. The dance is to be open, to all students, alumni, and parents. Everyone is invited to the ballgame, dance and a beautiful Homecoming Ceremony.

Firefighters Will Hold Meeting

Chief Robert Messmer and the Southern Hills Firefighters host our February meeting at their headquarters on Dudley Pike. This meeting will be at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday evening the 25th of February.

Representatives of the Shrine Burn Hospital will present the evening program and they have requested that the program be at the beginning of the meeting instead of the end. We urge everyone to be punctual in order not to miss any of the presentation.

"To Wanda Sue"

By: Bob Fonde

I'd walk the sands of the Kalahari,
Rebuild the Pyramids along the Nile,
Brave the snows of Kilimanjaro,
Improve the Mona Lisa smile.

I'd straighten the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

Climb Mt. Everest's majestic heights,
Carve your face upon Mt. Rushmore,
Set your name in Northern Lights.

The Taj Mahal I'd make your castle,
And the Sphinx your personal steed.
And the great falls of Niagara,
Your leisurely bath would feed.

I would harness the wind Merria,
For you a gentle summer breeze,
And the mighty hurricane Agnuss,
You could do with as you please.

I would swim the unending Amazon,
From it's mouth back to it's source,
We would ride through Greek Mythology,
On that famous Trojan Horse.

Yes these and other great deeds,
I could perform the whole night through,
If when from each dream I awaken,
I knew lying beside me there'd be you.

Woman's Auxiliary Review Booth

Booth Memorial Hospital's plans for the future including its proposed move to Boone County will be outlined to members of the Women's Auxiliary when it meets next Wednesday, March 5th.

The speaker will be Major Glenn Seiler, Booth Administrator, who has been working with architects and other planners since the Advisory Council approved the selection of the Scott farm as the new hospital site.

Reservations for the luncheon preceding the March meeting should be made with Miss Edna Bradford, hospitality chairman.

Mrs. Charles Norris, president, also reported plans will be outlined for the auxiliary's annual geranium sale set for early May.

Beechgrove Homemakers

February is the time for Valentines and when the Beechgrove Homemakers met February 20th, the tables decorations and candy hearts made the meeting quite festive. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Minoque, mother of Mrs. Betty Skelton. The members appreciated meeting Mrs. Minoque and wish to thank her for her hospitality.

"Retaliation" was the devotional given by Mrs. Ruth Powers. During the meeting it was voted on to subscribe to KEHA. After the business meeting the members had a delicious meal prepared by Mrs. Skelton and Mrs. Powers.

The lesson "Kentucky Folklore" was given by Mrs. Ruth Powers and Mrs. Carrie Hall. The members heartily enjoyed reading and hearing some of the old customs and beliefs. Later Mrs. Alice McHale demonstrated a different "stitchery" to make pillow tops. They are different and very pretty. Most of the members will be trying this before the next meeting.

The sixteen members present were Mmes. E. Andres, A. Sterbling, W. Blanton, L. Spegal, R. Dickson, W. Skelton, T. Ellis, A. J. Schneider, W. Hall, F. Powers, G. Kelly, J. Mutsch, V. Kelly, J. McHale, R. Kunkler and R. McHale.

A continuous supply of nutrients is important for producing high yields of quality vegetables. Commercial fertilizers are a convenient and economical way of supplying these nutrients. However, they must be used properly, for plants can be damaged by improper application and excessive use of any fertilizer material. Organic fertilizers also supply necessary nutrients but they are often more expensive, less available, and act more slowly than commercial fertilizers. The value of any fertilizer can be determined by its analysis, in percentage, of the three elements nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium. Difference analyses are available to correct various nutrient deficiencies and supply different crop requirements. The amount to use is best determined by a soil test. The soil test should be used as a guide in establishing a basic fertility level that will be satisfactory for growing most vegetables crops in the average garden soil. The standard test measures soil acidity (the pH), the levels of available phosphorus and potassium, and, if requested calcium and magnesium. The results of the test are used to make recommendations for fertilizer needs and lime requirements.

The ideal garden soil should have, or be, fortified to have approximately 60 lbs. nitrogen, 120 lbs. phosphorus and 200 lbs. potassium per acre.

Apply the recommended amounts of fertilizer in the spring. Spread the fertilizer evenly over the garden area before plowing or spading, or after plowing and before rototilling or hoeing in preparations for planting. In the absence of a soil test, for those who have very limited garden area or are container growing, the following rule may be followed: apply 25 lbs. of 5-10-10 or 6-12-12 per 1000 sq. feet (2.5 lbs. to 100 sq. feet) or 1 oz. or 2 tablespoons per bushel of soil. If the same soil or area is used the second year, a soil test should be made to prevent under- or over-fertilization. Call the Extension Office for how to take a Soil Sample.

FARM NEWS AND ANALYSIS

By Darwin Foley Kenton County Extension Agent

It's time to order trees if you are interested in improving the forestry income on your farm. To encourage the reforestation of approximately 1,000,000 acres of eroded, idle and submarginal land, the planting of farm windbreaks and the improvement of existing woodlands, the Division of Forestry operates three nurseries from which tree seedlings are distributed at low cost to farmers and timberland owners in Kentucky. Seedlings are not to be planted in city limits.

Loblolly pine, white pine, Virginia pine, scotch pine, black locust, white ash, cottonwood, yellow poplar, black walnut, and cherrybark oak will be available in multiples of 1,000, 500, and 250. Black walnuts should not be spaced closer than 14' by 14' which will be approximately 250 trees per acre. Spacing for all other species should be 6' by 7' which will be approximately 1,000 trees per acre.

A special wildlife packet containing yellow poplar, white ash, black locust, autumn olive, cottonwood, sycamore, Chinese chestnut, sweet gum, white pine, shortleaf pine, loblolly pine, Virginia pine and scotch pine at $5.00 for the bundle of 100 assorted trees is also available in limited quantities.

The Division of Forestry will transport trees from the nursery to a central point in the county where they can be picked up. All seedlings are inspected and graded when lifted and are again inspected before shipment. For specific prices call the Extension Service, Soil

A Forest Management Meeting for forest landowners is scheduled for March 6, at the Imperial House, Exit 14, I-75, in Cincinnati. The program begins at 7:00 p.m. If you are a woodland landowner you are invited to attend. We would also like to add you to our mailing list to keep you informed about forestry programs. Call our office in Independence at 356-3155.

Oak Ridge Homemakers

The Oak Ridge Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Alva Yates on February 18th.

Mrs. Richard Horney presided. Mrs. Kenneth Finnell gave a Devotional "The Ideal Homemaker".

Mrs. Charles Cummins and Mrs. William Thompson gave a very interesting lesson on "Kentucky Folklore", followed by a discussion of superstitions customs of years ago, old wives' tails they had heard from parents and grandparents.

Mrs. Horney gave a report of the homemakers council. The members discussed the Red River Gorge and the proposal Dam and most members signed a letter to the Governor opposing the Red River Dam.

A delicious spaghetti dinner was enjoyed by all while Mrs. Theresa Willinborg had baked three loaves of homemade bread to serve with the dinner. A White Elephant sale was held after the meeting.

Others present were: Mrs. Donnie Jones, Shirley Talbert, Mrs. Mickey Kemper and her son, Mrs. Lonane Selter and son, Mrs. Francis Gauds, Mrs. Allen Monson and Mrs. Ruce Kennedy.

SUNDAY

SERMON

How Is God Known Best?

(Hebrews 1:1-4; 2:1-9)

Mark Twain received an invitation to call upon the Kaiser. This greatly impressed his small daughter, who exclaimed, "Why, father, if it keeps on this way there won't be anybody for you to get acquainted with but God."

The Bible declares that "No man hath seen God at any time." "How then would man go about 'getting acquainted with God? That Bible verse does not stop with the declaration that no man has seen God. It goes on to say, 'the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him' (John 1:18).

When a backwoods preacher was being examined by the conference committee, he was asked how he would prove the deity of Jesus. With tears in his eyes he replied, "Why, my brother, he saved my soul."

Yes, there is a way in which man may know God. But that is not man's way. It is Jesus' own revealing of Himself to man.

Revelation and Reverence,
Hebrews 1:1-4

In times past God has spoken to the fathers in the prophets. Because of man's limitation to grasp the fullness of God's revelation, it was superior to the angels. He is worthy of reverence and worship.

Revelation and Responsibility,
Hebrews 2:1-4

Now that we have such revelation of God through His Son we must not hold these truths lightly. In the mind of the writer of the book of Hebrews there was nothing so valuable to man as his relationship to God. This salvation was like the pearl of great price. Not only would it lead man ultimately to "heaven and immortal glory," but it included man's true destiny here in this life. The writer is supremely concerned that his readers do not stand back and fail to meet the demands of their profession. The Israelites who were redeemed from slavery in Egypt were called to enter the land of Canaan. In Canaan they would become a serving people - "a kingdom of priests and a holy nation." But the cities were walled and there were giants in the land. They refused to enter. They did not return to Egypt and slavery but their lives were fruitless. Are there not multitudes of Christians making the same terrible mistake in these days?

Carnival Time Get-Together

A "Carnival Time Get-Together" will be sponsored by the Cincinnati Chapter of the Catholic Alumni Club on Friday evening, February 28th at the Colerain Civic Association Hall, 3000 West Galbraith Road (next to the Ponderosa Steak House).

The "Get-Together", which will be held from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m., will feature music by the Three-Way Traffic.

Guests attending the event are encouraged to wear carnival or mardi gras-type costumes. Prizes will be awarded for the best outfits. All Greater Cincinnati singles are invited to attend the "Get-Together."

For additional information please call Margie Stigler at 541-7837 or 221-3230.

Missionary To Be At Church of Christ

Don Stoll is a graduate of the Cincinnati Bible Seminary in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a former minister at Christ's Church in Butler, Kentucky. For the past several years he and his family have been serving as missionaries in Africa.

March 2nd on a Sunday Night at 7:00 p.m. he will be showing slides and telling of his missionary labors in Africa. This missionary program will be held at the Church of Christ-Nicholson on Walton Nicholson Road near Independence, Ky.

Charles Carter and Darryl Moulder are ministers and they invited the public to come and hear this wonderful message.

Holds Seminar

The American Bible Society is sponsoring a Seminar for Northern Ky. on March 9th.

A unique American Bible Society Seminar of interest to the Northern Ky. area residents will take place on Sunday, March 9th from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Madison Avenue Christian Church, 1530 Madison Avenue, Covington, Ky.

Men, women, and young people of all Christian communions are welcome to attend. The Seminar is sponsored by the Volunteer Activities Department of the American Bible Society, 1865 Broadway, New York City. The name of the theme of the seminar will be, "Let The Word Speak!"

No prior registration or cost is involved in the Seminar which is designed to undergird and enrich the effectiveness of individuals engaged in civic and church organizations. Mrs. E. Newcomer, who has served on the American Bible Society Staff since 1964 will direct the Seminar. She will be assisted by volunteers who are currently participating in imaginative Scripture sharing projects. Child care will be provided.

Individuals participating in the Seminar will receive attractive Scripture publications prepared by the American Bible Society.

The American Bible Society, founded in 1816, is a non-profit organization whose sole purpose is to translate, publish, and distribute the Scriptures, without note or comment, to people everywhere in a language they can read and understand and at a price they can afford.

MOUNTAIN MOMENTS

by K. Maynard Head

What I Didn't See

My first airplane ride was in a small single-engine private plane from Middletown to Louisville, Kentucky. Although I had lived here all my life, I never appreciated the beauty of the rugged landscape. The mountains with their great oaks, majestic pines and hemlocks seemed to stand guard over the valleys beneath.

Early settlers had carved a home out of the more easily tamed wilderness under the protective shelter of the watchful Appalachians.

The hills and valleys soon became friends and our ancestors gave them names by which they are known today. To those of us who live here, names like Cumberland, Pine, and Black Mountain rank with more nationally known mountain ranges. And our appreciation for them grows each year.

While flying over the mountain ranges in the small airplane in which I took my first ride, I could see each hill and valley, lake and pond very clearly. The automobile traffic could be seen winding its way along the easily defined major highways. Smoke could be easily spotted as it rose from the distant chimneys to drift into nothingness. With the help of a pair of binoculars, I could even determine the numbers of the roads, and the messages contained on the ever-present billboard.

Recently the National Aeronautics and Space Administration released a picture of earth taken from the window of one of its spaceships. I was startled at what I saw - or at what I didn't see!

Not one mountain peak was visible. Only the vast oceans and great rivers could be seen meeting with the land mass of the earth.

None of man's great works was noticeable. I saw no buildings or highways. The great pyramids of Egypt could not be seen and the East Coast of the United States, where a major portion of our population lives, looked deserted. It seemed that I was looking at an uninhabited planet.

I thought that perhaps the entire human race had spent all its history working for nothing. But maybe we had just been putting most of our energy on the unimportant.

Which CRUMBLES First?

Here stands what remains of a Grecian temple dating to 300 B.C.

Which crumbles first — the civilization or its religion? Do spiritual foundations collapse because a culture is in trouble? Or do cultures deteriorate because their spiritual foundations are collapsing?

To historians it's like the question about the chicken or the egg.

My main concern is our own civilization. This involves my family and the contribution we can make. We have a Bible — we read it! We have a Faith — we try to live it!

My religion makes me conscious of the dangers of today's civilization. Yet, I am an optimist... especially on Sunday when my family is at church... and when we see your family there too!

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

Senator Walter (Dee) Huddleston has asked the Federal Power Commission to make emergency gas supplies available to two fertilizer plants that have curtailed production as a result of natural gas.

Huddleston said cutbacks in production by plants in Cherokee, Alabama, and Tunis, North Carolina, could result in Kentucky receiving 25-30 percent less fertilizer than last year.

In a letter to Chairman John H. Nassikas, Huddleston called the situation "critical" and added "the effect on crop yields in the southeastern states, and the resulting effect on food and fiber promises to be disastrous."

Huddleston sent Nassikas a letter from Dr. Charles Barnhart, dean of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, in which Dr. Barnhart estimates that 25-30 percent loss in nitrogen fertilizer supplies could mean the loss of up to 28.6 million bushels of corn.

"Further, if the shortage were spread over the tobacco crop, which is of critical importance to Kentucky, it could equal a loss of $216 million to our farmers," Huddleston added.

Barnhart, in his letter to Huddleston, said U.K.'s Agronomy Department "has calculated that Kentucky farmers are likely to receive only 70 to 75 percent as much pound of nitrogen as were applied to the 1974 crop."

"I urge you to act immediately to alleviate the current emergency and to take whatever administrative steps are necessary to insure against future threats to vital fertilizer production," the senator concluded.

GOVERNMENT GROWTH PART II: STATE & LOCAL LEVELS MUSHROOM

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

In my column last week I presented figures furnished at my request by the Library of Congress which showed that government employees at all levels had increased from 7.5% of the total U.S. workforce in 1930—just before the advent of the New Deal—to 17.7% of the overall workforce in 1973. The first year the Library gave me complete figures for state and local government employees and salaries was 1950. Here I want to examine more closely the Federal, state and local government growth in numbers and salaries, as compared with the national growth in the workforce and in wages and salaries for 1950 through 1973, the last year final figures are available.

The American workforce rose from 53,143,000 in 1950 to 79,904,000 in 1973—a growth in numbers of some 45%. Wages and salaries increased from $146,800 million to $626,777 million—a rise of approximately 325%.

Federal workers went from 2,117,000 to 2,786,000 in the same period—a growth in numbers of about 31%. This actually constituted a drop in their percentage of the total workforce, from 3.8% to 3.5%. However, total Federal pay rose from $7,356 million to $36,144 million—a rise of some 390%, which was 65% above the increased all American workers together gained.

State and local government figures are overwhelming by comparison.

State employees increased from 1,057,000—1.9% of the U.S. workforce to 3,013,000, or 3.8% of the total workforce. Their paychecks rose from $2,616 million—1.8% of all U.S. workforce. But their total pay was increased by a whopping 875%. That was 550% above the pay increase for all U.S. workers, including government employees.

At the local level, government employees increased in number from 3,228,000, or 5.8% of the U.S. workforce in 1950, to 8,339,000, or 10.4% of the 1973 workforce. Their salaries rose from $8,352 million—5.09% of all U.S. paychecks, to $70,284 million, or 11.2% of all U.S. wages and salaries.

Thus, local government employees went up in number 157%—increasing their percentage of the total workforce by about 80%. But, the increased local government pay was 745%—420% greater than the increase for all U.S. workers' paychecks combined.

In 1950, 11.6% of the workforce were government employees who drew 12.4% of the workforce worked for government and drew 21.1% of all U.S. pay.

Veterans Administration Can Help

A reduction in interest rates plus a new law making more veterans eligible for home loans are two factors expected to encourage more veterans to use their GI home loan guarantee.

The Veterans Administration says more than four million veterans whose GI home loans have been paid in full are potentially eligible for new loans as a result of a law signed December 31 by the President. Another four and a half million who have loans at the present are potential new home buyers in the future as loans are paid in full.

In January the VA lowered its interest rate to 8.5 per cent on home loans guaranteed by the government. This could mean a savings of about $40 a month for the average veteran home purchaser.

Loan amounts for mobile homes were increased to $12,500 for single widths and $20,000 for double widths. Rules for guaranteeing mobile home loans were liberalized by the new law.

One family condominiums meeting VA requirements may now be purchased with GI loan guarantees without HUD insurance. The new law also closed out the VA's farm and business loan program.

Supermarket Thieves

One factor contributing to higher food prices these days is dishonesty by shoppers and store employees. This is pointed out by Larry D. Jones, Extension specialist in consumer economics with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Jones says thefts and shopping cart losses cost supermarkets in the US billions of dollars each year. Some experts have estimated that three cents out of every retail dollar taken in by supermarkets must go to cover dishonest employees and consumers.

Independence Adopts:

The Independence City Council recently adopted the 1975 budget in the record amount of $267,974.00. The City has grown considerably in the past couple of years through annexation and the City has received additional revenue and is now able to provide better service to its citizens.

The City has been cooperating with the Independence Fire Department in the financing and construction of the new fire station on Cox Road and a second new station will soon be located in the western part of the City near Beechgrove, when a suitable location has been found.

The City now has an office in the basement of the firehouse, which has been recently remodeled. The City Clerk is open for business from 9:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday.

The City, through the cooperation of the Kenton County Water District, has recently begun construction of a water main from near Beechgrove community across Bristow Road and Shaw Pike to L.L.L. Highway. An additional line is under construction along Taylor Mill Pike from Nicholson to Ricky Lane. Any resident along these lines desiring to tap in for city water should contact the Kenton County Water District at 331-3066 for the installation of the meter.

The City residents will not be required to pay a fire department assessment this year, as the City will aid the Fire Department financially from the general tax revenues. The City has recently passed a Resolution opposing the proposed electric rate increase for the Owen County Rural Electric Company, which serves approximately one half of the City residents. The City voted to give financial support to the Citizens Committee recently organized to protest the rate hearing before the Kentucky Public Service Commission at Frankfort.

FEARLESS FORECAST

by R. W. Lancaster
Thursday, February 27, 1975

If you did your kind deed yesterday and got that good nights sleep as the result you should be ready for an enjoyable day of house cleaning, sewing, and mending. The moon in Libra will give you a sense of balance, so anything you do today shouldn't be too difficult and turn out right. The evening hours would be a harmonious time for more friendly calls or a night out to a dance or movie would be very enjoyable.

Friday, February 28th

If you haven't had your eyes checked for a few years this would be a good day to get the job done, also a good physical checkup probably wouldn't hurt you, and you would know your blood pressure reading. If you want to rest over the weekend try to get your home baking done today while the yeast dough will rise quickly and the oven will brown nicely. There should be some nice sales on hams and potatoes so if you bake a ham and make the potato salad tomorrow you should have a rest on the sabbath.

Saturday, March 1st

The moon goes in to the water sign Scorpio this morning so this would

Sunday, March 2nd

With the moon in adverse aspect to the mental planet mercury at mid-morning some people might be inclined to stretch the truth, if they do just think of what Lyman Beecher said a century past (Never chase a lie. Let it alone, and it will run itself to death. I can work out a good character much faster than any one can lie me out of it.)

Monday, March 3rd

If you want your hair to be slow growing back get it cut during the morning hours or else wait until next Monday. If you have been planning on cutting timber or fence posts this afternoon through Wednesday would be a good time if you want the wood to season properly. Take care of any legal matters during the morning hours.

Tuesday, March 4th

Today and tomorrow would be excellent time for buying new clothing and foot wear, and it would probably be best to buy the shoes last after your feet get tired and start to hurt, anything that feels comfortable at that time should give a lot of service and comfort. If you are going to stay home you could enjoy doing some sewing or mending but it would be best to put off the home baking until Thursday or Friday.

Wednesday, March 5th

Probably be a good day to start getting your plant beds ready while the moon is still in a fire sign, if you burn the beds now you should kill most of the weed seeds and not have to work too hard this spring. You still have time to cut timber or fence posts to season out properly.

Dessert-Style Show Presented

Taylor Mill PTA is having a Dessert-Style Show on Thursday, March 6th, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Fashions are to be provided by the J. C. Penney Co., of Covington, Ky. Mrs. Honeycutt of J. C. Penney will coordinate the fashions for the style show.

Mrs. Dennis New, chairman of the event, has announced that a television will be given away as door prize.

Dessert and coffee will be served prior to the style show. The desserts will be special recipes donated by the PTA Mothers. One of the desserts to be served will be Mrs. Mike Campbell's "Sour Cream Pound Cake". Mrs. Campbell brought the recipe with her six years ago when her husband was transferred here from Jacksonville, Florida. The recipe was handed down to her from her mother, Mrs. John Castleberry of Live Oak, Florida.

"Sour Cream Pound Cake"
3 cups of sugar
2 sticks of butter
6 whole eggs
3 cups sifted plain flour
8 oz. sour cream
1/2 teas. baking soda
1 teas. vanilla
8 drops orange flavoring

Cream butter and sugar and add eggs, mix well; add two cups sifted flour, mix; add remaining one cup of flour last. Bake in a greased angel tube cake pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 1 1/2 hours.

Live Music will be provided by Mr. Ron Watson.

Admission for the Dessert-Style Show will be $2.00 at the door. Advance reservations may be obtained by calling Mrs. Dennis New, Mrs. Ronald Watson or Mrs. James Gregg. The doors will open at 7:00 p.m. with the dessert being served starting at 7:30 p.m.

A special surprise event will climax the evening's entertainment.

Ride A Bike

Raise Some Money

Alpha Delta Gamma fraternity men will be needing plenty of 'pedal power' February 26, when they undertake a 128 mile bicycle trek to Louisville, Kentucky to raise money for the Enid Henry Memorial Fund.

The bike riders and drivers will depart Northern Kentucky State College at approximately 8:30 a.m. from in front of Numan Hall on the Highland Heights Campus. They will travel US 42 to Louisville and hope to reach Bellarmine College in time to watch the Norseman of NKSC match up against Bellarmine later that evening.

Members of the fraternity are circulating lists so individuals on campus may pledge to pay so much for every mile a member rides. There is no minimum amount that an individual must pledge.

All members of the community are invited to participate in the fund drive. All proceeds will go to the memorial fund created to honor the late assistant professor of political science at NKSC, Mrs. Enid Henry.

Individuals wishing to contribute should contact the Student Activities Office (781-2600, ext. 217).

Musical Sounds

A variety of musical sounds will fill the air around Riverfront Stadium to delight Cincinnati Reds fans again this season.

Organist Add Lovejoy and the Stan Plates Band will return to Riverfront this year to entertain with their pre-game, in-game, and post-game music.

It will be the third year for Plates and his band, which will be on hand on Opening Day and for each weekend game.

Lovejoy, who will entertain each Monday through Thursday, is starting his second season with the Reds.

Simon Kenton PTA Meets

Simon Kenton PTA was called to order by the president, Mrs. James Arvil. Mrs. Kay Kelly, Mrs. Robert West and Mrs. Joseph Gadd will serve on the nominating committee. Mrs. Robert Abel, principal of Simon Kenton was presented a Life Membership by the PTA. Mrs.

Clifford Martin presented the Founders Day Program honoring the past presidents. Seven past presidents attended: Madames Ray Baldwin, Dean Martin, Bernard Ballinger, Smith Gibson, Harry Rubbe, William LeMaster and Helen Collins.

Mrs. Dan Daniels, band director introduced the Simon Kenton Dance Band.

Cincinnati Bell Hosts 35 Seniors

Cincinnati Bell was host recently to 35 area senior high school students for a one day tour of the Bell Telephone Laboratory, Columbus, Ohio.

The all day tour allows the students an opportunity to see actual laboratory operations and talk with the scientist and technicians working on new communication ideas at the facility.

The students are selected for the tour by the teachers and administrators of the individual schools.

During the tour the students visited and heard explanations concerning:

Experimental Telephone Switching Equipment Office where laboratory staff members have conducted trials, designed and developed the switching methods and techniques for such customer services as PICTUREPHONE Service, Call Waiting and Direct Distance Dialing.

Electronic Translator System is one of the Seven Engineering Wonders of Ohio and was developed by Columbus Engineers to better connect dialed numbers into routing information for telephone calls along the Long Distance Network.

Surface Studies Laboratory examines the physical phenomenon on the surface of metals and wear patterns generated by mechanical stress and motion.

Scanning Electron Microscope which enlarges objects 50 times larger than possible with the best conventional microscope.

CalComp Digital Plotter, an automated drafting device that combines computer technology with the traditional techniques of design and drafting to produce precision graphics.

Twenhofel High Has Sports Night

The Twenhofel Junior High School PTA's Sports Night will be held on Monday, March 10, from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. The cost of tickets to be sold in the front hall will be 50 cents.

Mr. William Pelfrey, Athletic Director, will direct the following sports events: eighth grade gymnastics; PTA women and women faculty volleyball game; and men faculty and ninth grade boys basketball game.

The PTA will have a home made bake table. Please demonstrate your baking talents and contribute such items as cookies, cupcakes, home made candy, brownies, etc. to the bake sale. These items can be brought to the school after 6:30 p.m.

Proceeds from the sports night will benefit the Athletic Department and help to defray the cost of a new score board in the gymnasium.

Mrs. Elmer Price and Mrs. Bill Schunder are chairman and co-chairman of this annual event.

Plan to attend. It will be a fun evening. Door prizes will be given.

Veterans Counselor At Burlington

Mr. Billy R. Cox, a Veterans Counselor of the Department of Human Resources, Kentucky Center for Veterans Affairs, will be present on March 5, 1975 at the courthouse in Burlington, Ky. to assist veterans and their dependents with claims for benefits due them as a result of their military service. He will be present from 9:00 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Nancy Admas, right, of 30 Locust Avenue and a senior at Walton Verona High School, was among the 35 Northern Kentucky High School Science Students who toured the Bell Telephone Laboratory, Columbus, Ohio as a guest of Cincinnati Bell. She is shown with students from Conner Senior, Boone County, and Villa Madonna High Schools.

Electrical Show Coming To Cinti.

The 1975 Cincinnati Electrical Industry Show will be held on May 6, 7, and 8 at the Cincinnati Convention Center, Fifth and Elm Streets.

"The theme of the show is 'Electricity is for Always - All Ways'."

The Electrical Show will be sponsored by the Manufacturers Division of the Cincinnati Electrical Association.

The show will feature the very latest in electrical equipment that can be used efficiently in the manufacturing and construction industry. Approximately 70 manufacturers of electrical equipment will be represented at the show.

A "Kick-Off Luncheon" will be held on Tuesday, May 6, at the Convention Center.

J. Roger Masquellier, Manager Utility Relations, Consumer Products, Westinghouse Electric Corporation, will be the principal speaker at the luncheon.

Booth Memorial Honors Bo. Countians

Two members from Boone County of the Booth Memorial Hospital staff will be honored on Friday night when service pins are presented by the Advisory Council.

Mrs. Erma Taylor of Florence has been a member of the nursing staff for 20 years while her co-worker, Mrs. Wanda Waller, also of Florence, has been ward secretary.

Others from this area to receive pins include: Mrs. Virginia Daugherty, Independence, ten year pin, nursing office secretary; and Alvin Cox, Morningview; and Cecil Bates, Independence, both five year members of the engineering department.

Top honors go to Herbert Snell, Covington, for 30 years as the Booth Elevator operator, and Roberta Brown, also of Covington, 25 years in the dietary department, for their service.

Kindergarten Holds Registration Soon

The Walton Baptist Kindergarten will hold its registration on Thursday, March 20 from 9:00 a.m. until 12 noon for the school year 1975 - 76. Registration will take place in the Kindergarten room of First Baptist Church.

The registration fee is $10.00, this is to be paid at the time of registration. The tuition will be $20.00 per month.

Each child must be 5 years old by December 31, 1975 to be eligible. The parent is to present a birth certificate at the time of registration.

The class will be limited to 22 children. You may reserve a place prior to March 20 by calling Lucille Maddox at 485-4704.

Walton Verona Holds Homecoming 1975

On Friday, February 28, 1975, Walton Verona High School held their annual Homecoming for their annual school event.

Homecoming at the end of each basketball season has been a tradition with Walton Verona for the past several years, but this year the event was a little different.

Instead of selecting a basketball king and queen from the group of ballplayers and cheerleaders, the high school selected a boy and a girl to represent their class or organization to be in the homecoming.

Nominees were: Nancy Adams, Vickie Boyers, Cindy Cheesman, Pam Cundiff, Barbara Dixon, Mary K. Dixon, Johnnie Johnson, Nanette Johnson, Connie Lawrence, Laura McMillian, Pam Morgan, Terry Phipps, Dianne Raybourne, Joy Robinson, Debbie Shaver, Valerie Stephenson, Brenda Tungate, Dan Albers, Danny Black, David Brooks, Jeff Coyle, Danny Dixon, Tony Hill, Bobby Holder, Freddie Leicht, Kenny McWhorter, John Maddox, Sammy Mosley, Danny Ryan, Greg Ryan, Ricky Sargent, Lenny Spicer, Bill Tungate, and Jeff Watts.

After the ballgame between the Walton Verona Bearcats and the St. Henry Crusaders a dance was held in which the crowning took place.

Out of 34 candidates, Miss Pam Morgan a senior and Mr. Lenny Spicer a junior, was chosen for the new "Homecoming King and Queen" for 1975.

St. Henry 57 Walton Verona 44

On Friday, February 28, the Walton Verona Bearcats faced the St. Henry Crusaders on the Walton Verona Gym Floor.

Dixon with 28 points and Ramsey and Leicht both sharing 6 points apiece were defeated by the Crusaders by a score of 57 to 44.

Keep with 23 points was high point man for St. Henry for that night.

Walton trailed behind on each quarter by an 8 to 10, 18 to 26, 31 to 40 and 44 to 57 by the end of the fourth quarter.

Walton Verona
Dixon 10-8-28
Ryan 2-0-4
Leicht 2-2-6
Ramsey 2-0-3
Bonar 0-0-0
Totals 17-10-44

This was Walton Verona's Homecoming Night.

St. Henry reserves also won over the Bearcats by a score of 38 to 30.

This was the last seasonal game to be played until the tournament time in which Walton will face Dixie Heights. Their record was 9 and 21.

Runners up were: Miss Connie Lawrence and Mr. Dan Albers for First Place, Miss Barbara Dixon and Mr. Danny Ryan for Second Place, and Miss Nancy Adams and Mr. Bill Tungate for Third Place.

Congratulations to all the candidates and runners up for 1975. And a big Congratulations to Pam and Lenny for being chosen for the reign of 1975.

Everyone is invited to come out and enjoy the evening.

New Ambulance!

The Walton Volunteer Fire Department and Life Squad has a new ambulance.

If you would like to take a look at it, drop in any time.

We are here to serve you!

Let's All Rent-A-Kid!

Do you have any work piling up around your house? Do you need someone to help with that spring cleaning or need some body to watch that little one while you go shopping?

The Walton-Verona High School Freshman Class may have the answer for you!

On March 29 about 25 high schoolers will "rent" themselves out to local citizens to do just about any kind of manual labor you may need done.

The purpose of the Rent-A-Kid day is to raise money for class activities and also give the class a chance to help its community in some way.

You may call and schedule a worker or workers for a specific period of time, anytime during the month of March. And workers will be on-call all day (9 a.m. to 4 p.m.) on March 29.

The workers are asking for any donations, but suggests about 2.00 per hour, per worker.

Anyone interested may call the following numbers to schedule workers:

In Walton: 485-7221 and 485-7723

In Verona: 485-4306 and 485-4403

Your help will be greatly appreciated!

CG & E Conduct Annual Survey

It was "the year of the freezer" in 1974 appliance sales throughout the Greater Cincinnati area.

Freezers were among the few appliances showing a sales increase, according to a survey compiled by the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company's Display and Consumer Education Division.

The survey has been conducted annually since 1939 to aid CG&E in planning the future energy requirements.

Freezer sales were up 33.4 per cent over 1973, from 13,718 to 18,306.

Television set sales, both black and white and color, were again highest among appliances totaling 83,590. That figure was a 13.5 per cent drop from the 1973 total of 96,684, however.

Radio sales totaled 68,441, down 5.1 per cent from 1973's 72,126.

Some new appliances showed sales increases during 1974, including compactors, up 23.3 per cent, from 1330 to 1640; and microwave ovens, up 60.8 per cent, from 3921 to 6305.

Electric house heating registered a 102.6 per cent increase, up from 3663 to 7421.

No other appliances showed sales increases of as much as 10 per cent. Appliances with decreases of more than 15 per cent included:

Room Air Conditioners, Electric Dryers, Gas Dryers, Free Standing Electric Ranges, Automatic Washers, Gas Water Heaters, Dishwashers, and Built in Electric Ranges.

Poster Contest

Eric Deters, St. Cecilia School, was among the winners in the recent Tri-State Safety Poster Contest sponsored by the Cincinnati Automobile Club.

Eric's Poster won third place in the elementary division (grades 4 to 6). He was presented an award plaque for his winning entry.

The local contest is a part of the AAA's national competition which is now in its 31st year. All local entries are forwarded to Washington for national judging.

Health Meeting Has Been Changed

The regular quarterly Board of Health Meeting scheduled for March 13, 1975 has been cancelled and has been rescheduled for 8:30 a.m. on March 27, 1975 in the auditorium of the Health Department Building, 7325 Woodpoint Drive, Florence, Ky.

Regular meetings are held at 8:30 a.m. prevailing time, on the 2nd Thursday of December, March, June, and September.

"The Women"

Boone County High School art instructor Martha Daugherty adapts well to the role of nurse as she hands "baby" to fellow thespian Jonni Miller for their roles in "The Women".

School teachers, secretaries, students, fashion buyers, housewives, magazine editor, supervisor for a cosmetic company, nurse, hairdresser these are some of the myriad backgrounds that make up the women of Center Stage Players who have switched roles to play the parts of a countess, a manicurist, a pediatricist, a cigarette girl, women of the Social Register and other roles completely different from their "real life" roles for their production of Clare Booth Luce's "The Women".

Rehearsals, which began in January, will be complete, sets will be in place, and lights will be on "the women" as the production opens March 13 at Boone County High School. The show runs March 13, 14, 15, 21, and 22 with an 8 o'clock curtain for all performances.

The cast is made up almost entirely of Boone and Kenton Countians. Reba Wofford, Ruth Goyette, Jonni Miller, Jean Jenike, Joan Willoughby, Mary Lucas, Mair Mason, Kelly Sittason, Sharon Carroll, Susan Patterson, Sheila Thomas, Jackie Walsh, Joan Kelly, Ruth Rachford, Renee Smith, Carol Gebuhr, Juanita Rutemiller, Linda Sittason, Martha Daugherty, Karen Mallott, Madelon Nortker, Julie Hoppe, Betty Luken, Carol Allen, Jora Lee Smith, Zandra Hoppe, Elizabeth Mason, Jamie Nyberg, Mary Cate Daugherty, and Pam Jett comprise the all-female cast.

Cincinnati Robert Allen will be the guest director and Dick Willoughby of Center Stage Players will be the producer. Tickets may be reserved by calling 341-9516.

Community theater is growing in your community for your entertainment and enjoyment. Please give it your support.

Boone Garden Club To Meet

The Boone County Garden Club will meet on Tuesday, March 11, at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Walter Reidl in Florence, Ky.

The program will be Ray Harm Prints.

I Bid Adieu My Love

By: Valerie Stephenson

I must inform my love how much I care;
How much I want to cast my love so true;
Although the one thought which I cannot bare,
Is the bidding of a final adieu.
If only he knew of the ill disease,
Which has sadly been bestowed upon me,
The essence of time, by life it will seize,
For soon my life will end in misery.
The picture of my past life is clearer,
But the picture of my future is dark.
The end is drawing nearer and nearer,
But pain and bleakness, the end they will mark,
My love, please remember our love so true,
The end is here and so, I bid adieu.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank all my friends and neighbors for the cards, flowers and prayers while I was in the hospital. Its so nice to be remembered.

"Bride Of War-Cloud"

By: Bob Fonde

One day as I was riding over a mountain wild and high,
I had to stop and gasp for breath, a strange sight caught my eye,
From a top a crest an Indian maid gazed wildly at a cloud,
Her hair was blowing in the wind, her heart was beating loud,
A sight before, I've never seen, I could not turn away,
And then I heard a voice shout, Bride of War-Cloud come away.

I raised my eyes up to the sky, A blinding light came forth,
The cloud was gone and in its place, A warrior on his horse,
The mighty steed was black as jet, the rider tall and strong,
And as they thundered down to earth,
I could hear a chanting song, He took the maiden in his arms and slowly rode away,
Again I heard a voice shout, Bride of War-Cloud come away.

Card of Thanks

I would like to thank everyone for the cards and flowers I received while I was in the Hospital. I would also like to thank Rev. Ira Harris for his visits and his thoughtfulness. But the biggest thanks of all goes to my Mother and Father-In-Law for just being who they are.

Thanks Again,
Mrs. Elmer Groger

A Little News . .

Looks like we're going to have an early spring, the sunshine has begun to make people want to get outside and do a few jobs, but the prediction is for several more wintery days yet to come.

Little Cris Collins has begun to be herself again after her surgery, and now her mother, Cindy, has bronchial phenomenia, hurry up Cindy and get well. We all miss you!

Mrs. Omar Kite is on the sick list again also Mr. Charley Robinson, all hope them a speedy recovery.

Gene Stephenson made a business trip to Wisconsin are still growing.

Al Crouch has at last recovered from his attack of influenza, he had it earlier and was feeling better, and had a relapse, you just can't keep a good man down.

The Beaver Baptist Sunday School and church are still growing. Come on people! Let's get on the Lord's Side and build all our Lord's Houses on Sunday Mornings.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rhodes will soon be returning home to Cleek Lane, from Florida where they usually go to spend the last 3 months of the coldest wintery weather, so hurry on back home.

Card of Thanks

We the husband and family of Lillie Moore wish to express our most sincere appreciation to her host of friends for their wonderful expressions of kindness at her passing. All of God's creatures were her only treasure.

May she continue to live in your memories.

Why Love Is Gone

By: Tracy Smith

When bright leaves shall from all the trees descend,
The love I feel for you will all be gone.
I must take care on how much I depend,
Upon your word; Oh, how you've done me wrong.
I can no more love you; your heart is black.
For when I see your face I know for sure,
That within you there is a mounting lack,
Of all the things you said were true and pure.
Til now I thought our love was here to stay.
You said there was but one; still I made three.
Then after that your love began to sway,
And to the others you began to flee.
Like autumn winds that blow across the bay,
My love for you has almost gone away.

One Morning

By: Jayna Cheesman

The air-borne sun rose high one new morning.
It was a brilliant yellow and bright red.

It showed such life that I know 'twas not dead.
This quiet scene had no room for scorning.
I tried to recall surises I'd seen
But there seemed to be little thoughts of this.
It shocked me that I could not reminisce.
These bright scenes of nature, what did they mean?
My mind began to wander to places
And times that were in the nearing future.
I began to see forgetting faces.
Faces that are common to you and me.
For really to think about it seriously.
Will the sun rise again in the future?

Queen

By: Ken Baumgartner

From the beginning to the end,
She fought with glory, honor, and fame.
Not a man did she ever lose,
Yes, she was a grand old dame.

The enemy did hail her,
When at last they had seen,
Our guardian and protector
The ship that we called Queen.

With the war ended,
And she had sailed the map,
We soon all forgot her,
The Queen they sold for scrap.

Vows Exchanged on Jan. 25

Mr. and Mrs. Steven G. Parker

The New Bethel Baptist Church, Verona Ky., was the scene of the wedding of Miss Terri Lynn Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Perkins Sr. and Mr. Steven Gregory Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Parker of Georgetown, Ky. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the church, and vows were exchanged before relatives and friends, with Rev. Lewis E. Searcy of Winchester, Ky., officiating.

Miss Less Lassiter was organist, Miss Paula Dunn sang "We've Only Just Begun," and Mrs. Ruth Tilley, sister of the bride sang, "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, Terri wore a long gown in Ivory Sat A'Peau.

The gown had a wedding band neckline with a bib lace of Ire-embroidered alencon lace, long tapered sleeves, with a ruffle edging at the wrist, a-line skirt lace panels on sides and an attached chapel train with her heirloom style gown Terri wore her Grandmother's antique watch. Her Bridal bouquet was composed of Colonial Baby's Breath and red roses tied with a red ribbon. Her attendants all wore long-sleeved gowns of wedgewood blue, accented with white antique lace and heirloom lockets and carried a long stem rose with a red ribbon attached. Miss Shirley Wainscott of Bedford, Ky., a classmate of the bride was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Theresa Prather of Langley, Ky., Miss Leslie Johnson of Crawfordsville, Ind., Miss Debby Alvey of Morgansville, Ky., all classmates of the bride and Miss Melanie Stricker, Ft. Mitchell, Ky., niece of the bride.

The flower girls were Kim Stricker, Shannon Perkins, and Dana Tilley, all nieces of the bride. Mr. Parker's best man was his brother, Mr. Paul Parker, Georgetown, Ky., ushers were Mr. Paul Perkins and Mr. Joe Perkins Jr., all brothers of the bride. A reception was held in the church dining room.

The couple are now residing at their new location, Georgetown, Ky.

Light and Dark

By: Pam Cundiff

Oh, when I see your sweet and smiling face,
And touch your long and lovely,
sunlit hair
To know that I am not in your great race,
Is more than my crushed heart can ever bear.
My love for you is oh so very strong,
It is my one and only will to live.
But loving you is oh so very wrong,
For all I have is my true love to give.
You are very rich and famous and white,
But I am poor and am an African.
My love we must put up a furious fight,
For our love they are trying hard to ban.
But I can't stand this any more my love,
So let us fly just like a turtle dove.

Unemployment Still Rising

Kentucky's unemployed reached a total of 118,300 during January, with a state rate of 8.4 per cent, according to Robert MacDonald, chief statistician for the Manpower Services Bureau of the Department for Human Resources (DHR). The January figures show that 51 counties now exceed 10 per cent unemployed and that 98 counties exceed 6 per cent unemployed. The figures also show that unemployment is spreading throughout the state rather than being limited to metropolitan areas.

Meatless Meal In Minutes

Tuna Supreme, a new meatless casserole developed in The Kraft Kitchens is an interesting dish combining two American favorites - packaged macaroni and cheese dinner and canned tuna. It is practically a meal in itself, for it contains foods from all of the basic food groups - tuna from the meat, poultry and fish group; pasta from the bread group; vegetables; and milk and cheese from the milk and milk products group.

To complete the meal, serve a fruit salad or toss citrus sections with fresh greens. You can prepare the salad and set the table while Tuna Supreme is cooking, bringing preparations and cooking time for the entire meal within 60 minutes.

Tuna Supreme

- 1 7/4 pkg. Kraft Macaroni and Cheese Dinner
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 6/4 oz. tuna, drained
- 1 2/4 oz. jar sliced mushrooms
- 1 8 oz. can peas and carrots
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 teas. celery salt

Prepare Dinner as directed on package, except using 1/2 cup milk. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Pour into 1 1/2 quart casserole. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

More Love To Thee

By: Vickie Wethington

Thou art more grand than stars above that shine.
And in mine eyes thou art the King of King's.
Upon my lips thy kiss is sweet as wine.
Upon my fingers lies your golden rings.
Do rest your hand upon my shoulder fair.
And put your worries and fears away for now.
Let your fingers caress my golden hair.
As I bend down for you in graceful bow.
For us the moon shall shine forever bright.
With light to shine on those who love each other.
So take me in your arms and hold me tight.
Whilst I sleep and dream of you, my lover.
Without your sunshine, I could never be.
I give my heart, my life, my soul to thee.

Dream Dove

By: Donna Sparks

One night I had a dream so real to me,
It was all made of happiness and love.
But, only if I had the chance to see,
How the earth is made up of the dream dove.
One time I saw the dove of happiness,
Showing how happiness can mean so much.
With much life made up of all gentleness,
It didn't seem that life could hold a crutch.
Once I saw the white dove of brotherhood,
Sharing his most gracious love for all would.
Bestowing all for one and one for all.
Waking up was my one fear of my dream,
Because then my dove would turn into cream.

Born To Be Free

By: Tony Hill

When you were born, you climbed into a tree
You used to take a muddy river bath
We were born to be men forever free
We always tried to walk a narrow path
They always thought you were kinda crazy
We begged them for our land.
Give us some slack
They felt we were born a little lazy
Because we were raised and we were born black Said we were inferior and we were bad
'Cause we were different and they were rich
We felt we didn't need what we never had
They say when we come around we make them itch
My mind and heart were really full of haze
When they set my home ad my land ablaze.

Eternal Love

By: Tony Martin

The love in which thou may'st in me behold,
Shall linger on till the death of us both.
In dreams the future of passion is told,
Mature and strong it will become in growth.
The passion in you doth burn like a flame,
Consumed by the love which dwells in my heart.
The goodwill between us no one can claim,
Because our strong passion can never part.
With our hearts filled with a strong binding love,
We can live in any world comprised of hate.
Because our strong passion will seal our fate.
A real strong binding love as you can see,
Is my love for her and her love for me.

adapted vegetables crops throughout the season which extends from late winter to late spring. The seed of some of these crops can be planted directly in the garden soil while others will need to be started in a greenhouse or other suitable growing area and then transplanted to the garden.

Plants of the spring garden grow best under relatively cool air - temperature of 50 to 65 degrees and are raised for either their leaves, stems, or flower buds. Peas are grown for their immature fruits. The vegetative growth of these crops is produced during the short cool days in the spring season, and the quality is reduced by the summer heat if they are planted too late in the spring. The long, warm summer days force some crops to flower and form seeds, while some spring vegetables develop off-flavors, bitterness, poor texture and low yields.

All of these such reactions can and will lower the quality of these crops. Bibb lettuce, for example, will go to seed and be bitter tasting when grown under hot temperatures. Peas will be low in quality and yield if planted late in the spring. These problems can be avoided in certain crops by planting them as soon as the soil can be worked in the spring since light frost will not injure them. Either seeds or transplants of these vegetables crops are planted before the frost free dates, allowing these crops to reach edible maturity before the hot summer days arrive.

Simon Kenton FHA Alumnae Meets

The Simon Kenton Future Homemakers of America Alumnae held its regular monthly meeting at the RECC Building in Nicholson on Thursday, February 13.

The meeting was called to order by our President, Sharon Willenborg. We had a short business meeting at which time several important items of business were discussed. We had nine members and two guest preser

Our Speaker this month was Mrs. Edna Gangwisch from Cincinnati "Weight Watcher". She gave a very interesting talk on weight problems. Delicious refreshments which were made by Ginger Bailey, was served, using only Weight Watchers' Recipes, and they were enjoyed by all.

Our next meeting has been changed to Wednesday, March 12 at 7:30 p.m. at which time Mrs. Helen McElroy will be our speaker.

All past FHA members try to attend.

Hunting Season Has Ended

Kentucky's 1974 - 75 hunting season will come to an end on February 28 with the closing of the rabbit, quail and grouse seasons, according to Arnold Mitchell, Commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

This has been the first time in many years that rabbit and quail hunting has been permitted during February. Reports from the state's conservation officers indicate that there has been little hunting pressure during the last month of this extended season, and game biologists with the Department of Fish and Wildlife will measure carefully the effects of February hunting before establishing future hunting dates.

The taking season on furbearers will also close February 28. After this date, raccoons and red foxes may be chased with dogs but may not be taken in any manner. Groundhog hunting is permitted year-round in Kentucky, except for a brief period just before the opening of the upland game season.

The dates for next fall's hunting seasons will be set by the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission later this spring and summer.

Green Road Special

The Green Road Special 4-H Club held its meeting on February 24 at the home of Mrs. Simpson. We discussed awards won: Susan Waymeyer's poster goes to state, Lori Simpson's poster got a blue ribbon, Joyce Waymeyer's area record book got a blue and 2nd place ribbon.

Possibilities for the Teen Leader Environmental Workshop were discussed and also the coming rally day and skating party.

Next meeting will be March 10 and a knitting class on March 11.

IN Memory

Catherine Klette - 56, was born in Dayton and Married Robert Klette in 1937.

She had been employed by Liberty Cherry and Redwood School and was later appointed as the Kenton County Treasurer.

Mrs. Klette had had diabetes for years, and on Friday evening she suffered a massive heart attack and was dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Besides her widower, she leaves a son, Robert of Covington, daughter, Mrs. Peggy Holloway of Elsmere, brother, Oscar Hastings of Independence, sisters, Mrs. Mildred Klette, Mrs. Blanche Stiles, and Mrs. Edna Herzog and four grandchildren.

Services were held on Tuesday at the Swindler Funeral Home and she was buried in Independence Cemetery.

according to a recent announcement from the US Department of Agriculture. The new withdrawal time is effective immediately.

Effective March 17th, feeders will also be required to file a certificate stating that they have not fed DES to livestock in the 14 days prior to sale for slaughter.

DES is a synthetic hormone used primarily on cattle and sheep to promote growth so animals reach slaughter weight more quickly at less cost. If not used according to label directions, DES can leave residues in slaughter animals. However, residues have been detected only in internal organs and not in muscle tissue. Federal law prohibits the marketing of meat from animals which have DES residues at the time of slaughter.

Why do some farmers continue to make a profit in times of low farm prices like the present? Farm management is usually the difference. The farmers who have continued to make a profit are the ones who have done a good job of buying and selling, and everything else in between.

Kenton County farmers will have the opportunity to sharpen up on farm management skills during the month of March. A Farm Management Workshop will be held at the RECC Building on the Walton Nicholson Road on Thursday, March 6, 13, 20, and 27. Each session will start at 7:30 p.m.

A farm in Kenton County has been selected as a sample farm. Steve Allen, Farm Management Specialist from the University of Kentucky will conduct the workshop.

Reservations are requested so adequate can be made. Please call the Kenton County Extension Office at 356-3155.

Livestock feeders using diethylstilbestrol (DES) will be required to withhold this growth stimulant from slaughter animals for 14 days, instead of seven,

Don't hesitate - renovate. With high fertilizer prices and more livestock on your land, renovation is a must.

March and early April is the time to add legumes such as clovers and alfalfa to your grass sods. This year should provide ideal conditions since most pastures have been grazed short over the winter. Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

Senator Walter Dee Huddleston is co-sponsoring legislation to establish a series of coal research laboratories and energy research graduate fellowships. He is co-sponsoring the bill with Senator Jennings Randolph.

"Coal is our most abundant energy source," Huddleston said. "Kentucky alone has known reserves equaling 100 years of US consumption at present levels."

"And, coal is versatile; it can be gasified, liquified, or burned directly. But, despite coal's unique abundance and versatility, it is severely under-utilized due to the serious restraints on its production and use."

"While we sit on almost half of the world's reserves, we use coal to fulfill barely 20 per cent of our energy needs. If we're going to achieve any significant degree of energy self-sufficiency, we're going to have to increase that percentage substantially."

The Randolph-Huddleston bill would establish research laboratories at selected universities for research into coal utilization. These laboratories would be located at institutions in coal-producing states like Kentucky.

The bill would also increase the pool of technicians and engineers specially trained in the fields of energy resources, production and utilization through a program of energy research fellowships.

GOVERNMENT GROWTH PART II: STATE & LOCAL LEVELS MUSHROOM

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

Government Growth Is It Worth It?

In last week's column, for the period 1950 to 1973, the last year for which complete figures are available, I showed that while the total US workforce - which includes federal, state, and local government workers - grew in size by 45 percent, federal government by 31 percent and state employment by 185 percent, and local government employment by 157 percent.

But more important, while wages and salaries for the total workforce increasing by 325 per cent, Federal pay alone increased by 390 percent, state employees pay rose an amazing 875, and local government pay went up 745 per cent.

It is easily seen that government pay rose at considerably higher rates than the pay increase for the total workforce. But this is not an accurate picture. The comparison, to be precise, should match government size and pay against the private sector workforce and pay, each separated out of the totals.

Thus, if we eliminate all government workers from the total workforce, we find that private sector employment grew from 48,741,000 to 65,765,000, an increase of only about 35 per cent. Similarly, by subtracting all government pay from the total of all US wages and salaries, we find that private sector pay rose from $128,464 million to $494,597 million, an increase of only 285 per cent, far less than pay increases at each of the three levels of government.

Non-government pay increases were 105 per cent less than Federal pay increases, 590 per cent less than state increases, and 460 percent less than local government pay increases.

This means that just about one out of every five American workers is now supported by the other four who also have to support those other citizens retired and disabled on Social Security, the jobless who are drawing unemployment compensation, and all those on welfare, to say nothing about all other government expenditures, including aid to foreigners. The question for non-government workers must be: "Is big government worth it to me?"

What Kind of Priest is Jesus

(Hebrews 4:14 - 5:10)

Bishop W. F. McDowell said, "I would not cross the street to give India a new theology; India has more theology that it can understand. I would not cross the street to give China a new code of ethics; China has a vastly better code than ethical life. I would not cross the street to give Japan a new religious literature, for Japan has a better religious literature than religious life. But I would go around the world again, and yet again, if it pleased God, to tell India, China, and Africa, and the rest of the world There is a fountain filled with blood Drawn from Immanuel's veins; And sinners, plunged beneath that flood, Lose all their guilty stains."

What kind of priest do we have in Jesus? In Hebrews 4:14-16 we learn of His gentleness.

A Gentle Priest, Hebrews 4:14 - 16

The writer of this book reminds his readers that they have a high priest who has passed into the heavens. Under the Aaronic system the high priest passed through the courts and the inner veil into the holy of holies in a material and temporary sanctuary, there to appear before God on behalf of the people. Here their high priest, Jesus the Son of God, is described as having gone through the heavens and is now seated at God's right hand. With such a high priest as the Son of God, they should be encouraged to hold fast their confession.

Their high priest was not one who was out of touch with the feelings and failures of the human race. Many of the religious leaders of the earth might have been living aloof both in interest and involvement, but this was not so with Jesus. He had experienced every temptation, every testing of one's faith. He knew every degree of every temptation because He came through all of them without ever yielding. The only person who knows the true strength of temptation is not the person who has yielded but the one who withstood the test.

Infirmities mean all of the frailties of human nature. Christ took upon Himself human nature and He knows how to help us. With this encouragement, Christians should come boldly to God's throne of grace where mercy, grace, and help are graciously given.

A Great Priest, Hebrews 5:1 - 4

Jesus the Son of God is a greater priest than those who ministered in the tabernacle or temple. He is greater because He meets all of the qualifications in a greater way. He was taken from among men by His incarnation. He was ordained or chosen of God to act for men in their relations with God. He could have compassion on those who went astray through ignorance. According to Numbers 15:28 provision was made for the soul that sinned unwittingly. The priest was to make atonement for such person. But according to Numbers 15:30 no such provision was made for the deliberate and defiant lawbreaker. The Aaronic priest always had to make an offering for his own sins before he offered for the sins of the people. Christ had no sin and again was the greater high priest.

Verse 4 declares that no man of his own accord was to be set himself up as high priest. This was true in the case of Jesus. He sought honour for the Father rather than Himself.

A Glorious Priest, Hebrews 5:5 - 10

Jesus was declared a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec. His appointment was directly from God. Just as there was no mention of the genealogy or beginning of the priesthood of Melchisedec so with Jesus. His would be an eternal priesthood.

Verse 8 says that Jesus learned obedience by the things He suffered. This does not mean that He was once disobedient. It means that Jesus was perfectly fitted for the task of securing eternal salvation for all who would obey Him.

Thanks be unto God that we have such a high priest who ever liveth to make intercession for us!

March 7 World Day of Prayer

The "World Day of Prayer" will be Friday, March 7, 1975 at 7:30 p.m. at the Walton Methodist church. The Walton Christian Church will have the program.

The theme for 1975 is "Become Perfectly One."

Everyone is invited to attend and enjoy an evening of fellowship.

A Consumer Tip from Extension Specialists at the UK College of Agriculture

Carefully planning the amounts of food you purchase and prepare at home can help you cut the family food bill, according to UK Extension foods specialists. To avoid waste, plan family meals for five to seven days at a time; this lets you determine the most economical amount of food you can buy.

MOUNTAIN MOMENTS

by K. Maynard Head

Kiss It and Make It Go Away

When my children were smaller, occasionally one of them would hurt himself during play and come into the house in tears. Usually the injury was slight, but painful, and my wife would say, "Let mommy kiss it and make it go away."

That normally was enough to send the child on his way again. What happened here? Was there some type of healing in the kiss the injury received?

My first response would be, "Of course not, a kiss or a touch has no healing properties." Why then did the child dry his tears and happily return to his games?

I think this illustrates the need for closeness that touching another person allows, and we never outgrow the need for close companionship. Even among animals this same need can be seen. An injured puppy hunts for its mother, and a bird with a broken wing seeks the safety of the tree where it was hatched.

A familiar quote says, "Home is where one goes when there is no place else to go." This is the place where one finds acceptance and safety.

The busy pace we set for ourselves today too many times keeps us from expressing our love for each other through the medium of touch.

We teach our boys to "be a man" and remind him that a man doesn't run home when he is hurt. He fights his own battles - win or lose. In most families, boys are closest to the mother because she doesn't express herself so severely, and will hold and comfort a frightened child.

It may be that men enjoy trips to the barber because he enjoys being touched through socially accepted means. Men shake hands to express acceptance - the sense of touch is involved here. Women frequently hug each other - as do men in certain countries - to exhibit friendship.

An owner of a new car runs his fingers over it, and may even kick the tires. Women who are buying a new fabric often feel the material before making the purchase.

So then the next time some one does a good job, pat him on the back or shake his hand, and say "well done." The reward will be yours.

OPENING DOORS

A jigsaw puzzle of a church was Billy's project for the afternoon. He worked diligently as the church took form. But one section was missing—the door. "A church has to have a door," he said. At last he found it.

As Billy grows older, he may discover that the Church has many doors which can open to him:

Gratitude for his home, his family, his friends
Knowledge of God, his Creator
Sensitivity to spiritual life
Inspiration from Bible accounts of dedicated lives Experiences in sharing his beliefs with others
Development of his character
Foundations of a sustaining faith

Open these doors to your child so that he may grow spiritually. Take him to church each Sunday.

FEARLESS FORECAST

by R. W. Lancaster
Thursday, March 6, 1975

The moon is in the cardinal earth sign Capricorn today and tomorrow, so plan on doing your home baking before Saturday and everything will turn out to perfection. If you have planning on weaning an infant or possibly a pet, anytime between now and next Wednesday would be a good time to start the quicker you start the easier the job will be.

Friday, March 7th

The aspects indicate that this will be a safe day to travel and an excellent time to do some shopping if you want to make some economical food purchases. Do your collecting during the morning hours and you shouldn't have too much trouble settling accounts. Also a good day for sports and outdoor activities but a poor time for fishing, as they won't bite until next Tuesday.

Saturday, March 8th

If you want your hair to be slow growing back get it cut after lunch today or anytime on Monday or else wait until the end of March if you don't need it now. Next Wednesday is going to be a good time to advertise for sales or new ventures so write your ads and get them in to the Advertiser early Monday and you will be ready for some increased business. The moon conjuncts Mars this evening so you should have a spurt of energy to finish the week out.

Sunday, March 9th

A very harmonious day is in the making, all good aspects from the planets this Sabbath so we should have a lot of inner calm. Archbishop Fenelon had this to say, "Peace does not dwell in outward things, but within the soul. We may preserve it in the midst of the bitterest pain, if our will remain firm and submissive." Peace in this life springs from acquiescence, not in an exemption from suffering.

Monday, March 10th

If the weather permits this would be a good time to get some outside work done, this is the right day for putting posts in the ground if you want them to stay tight, also the right time for painting or pouring concrete. Any building started now should go up without too much trouble. If you need a loan or want to sign a contract anytime today would be fine.

Tuesday, March 11th

The moon in the water sign Pisces is a good time to take care of your house plants, give them a good watering and do any repotting or grafting that you have been putting off. This is also an excellent day for pruning your fruit trees it will prevent too much spreading of the branches and help produce an excellent crop of fruit. Grafting will be better if you wait until March 21st or 22nd when the moon is increasing in the water sign Cancer.

Wednesday, March 12th

We have a new moon in the water sign Pisces tonight, so all you true fishermen can make some record catches the next few days, be sure to check your license or the game warden might make a catch also. If you ran that ad in this weeks paper start getting the merchandise ready and have some extra change on hand as the customers will be there tonight or tomorrow. If your hair is hard to curl and you have been wanting a new permanent try to get an appointment for next Monday, March 17th.

Paxton Resigns

Billy Paxton, state secretary of transportation, has announced his resignation effective February 28. Governor Carroll said he will appoint John C. Roberts to succeed Paxton. Roberts also will remain as highway commissioner. Paxton plans to enter the race for circuit court judge of the 45th Judicial District.

Kids For Rent

Don't forget that on March 29, the Freshman Class of Walton Verona High School will have Rent A Kid Day for the people who would like to have some work done but can't seem to find the time.

The purpose of the Rent A Kid Day is to raise money for class activities and also give the class a chance to help its community in some way.

Call and schedule a worker or workers for a specific period of time, anytime during the month of March. And workers will be on call from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on March 29.

They are asking for donations but would suggest $2.00 per hour, per worker.

In Walton call 485-7221 or 485-7223 and in Verona call 485-4306 or 485-4403.

Your help is appreciated.

Rummage & Bake Sale

A Rummage and Bake Sale will be held on Friday and Saturday, March 14 and 15th from 10:00 a.m. till 6:00 p.m.

The sale will be held at the Old Verona Post Office.

Lots of good clothes, sheets, 75 small records and albums, selling at a very low price, and plenty of odds and ends.

Come out and buy something or just look around.

Paper Drive To Be Held

The Junior Class of Walton Verona High School will be holding another Paper Drive on March 15, 1975 from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Contact any Junior for more information about picking up your papers if you have no way in which to get them to the school. Or drop them off yourself.

Your help and support will be appreciated and this will help the Junior Class raise more funds for futher activities.

Girl Scouts Hold Program

Recently Girl Scouts in the Independence-Taylor Mill Neighborhood held a Parent's Night at Simon Kenton High School. Cadette Troop No. 73 opened the program with a Flag Ceremony. The Brownie Chorus entertained with "Brownie Smile Song." "How Scouting Began" was presented by Junior Troop No. 222. Mr. William Oldfield of Covington, Chairman of the Sustaining Membership Enrollment for this area spoke on council financing. He stressed the importance of supplementing the United Appeal allocation and the Cookie Sale proceeds with additional sources of income. Junior Troop No. 64 ended the evening with an impressive closing ceremony.

First Baptist Holds Revival

The First Baptist Church of Walton is having a Youth Revival on Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday morning on March 21, 22, and 23.

Friday and Saturday nights start at 7:30 p.m. and the Sunday service will start at 11:00 a.m.

Buddy Pyles and Mike White from Georgetown will be leading the services.

Come and here the Goods News and have fellowship.

All are invited to attend, both Young and Old!

Boone Democrats Hold Meeting

The Boone County Democratic Club will hold its regular meeting on Thursday, March 20, 1975 at 7:30 p.m. in the Courtroom of the Boone County Courthouse.

The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Revival

A Revival is now in progress at the Verona Full Gospel Church, located at the corner of Highway 14 and 16, Verona.

David Hocker is the pastor and the evangelist is Rev. Dallas Alexander.

Time To Be Careful

As you can tell by the street conditions in Walton while the sewer project is going through, the citizens of Walton should try to be more careful when driving in the town of Walton.

Pretty soon all the project will be finish and then the streets will be back to normal but until then, try to be more careful!

Kenton County Garden Club

On March 25th, the Kenton County Garden Club will meet at the RECC Building on Nicholson Road in Walton at 7:45 p.m.

The program that will be presented will be on "Kentucky Wildlife Conservation" given by W.T. Lynn of the Ky. Wildlife Conservation Department.

All members and visitors are welcome to attend this fulfilled meeting of interesting facts.

1,237 Representatives From VA

A team of 1,327 Veterans Administration representatives worked last fall on campuses of nearly 2,000 colleges and universities, resolving pay and other problems of veterans training under the GI Bill.

Home Loans Are Approved

The Veterans Administration approved 106,000 GI home loans during the first four months of fiscal year 1975, a 5.4 per cent increase over the same period in fiscal year 1974.

Direct Loans Up To $600

The Veterans Administration reminds that direct loans up to $600 per academic year are available under some circumstances to eligible veterans, wives, widows, and children training on a half-time or more basis at undergraduate colleges and certain other schools.

Red Cross Moves To Ky. Office

The Northern Kentucky office of the Cincinnati Area Chapter of the American National Red Cross will be moved from its present location at 421 Garrard Street in Covington to 31 East Fourth Street, Newport.

James Crooks, Ft. Thomas, chairman of the special committee made up of Red Cross Board Members who reside in Northern Kentucky, announced this move. "Red Cross is moving its courses and programs out into the community as much as possible and is finding that the large building facility that we presently have is not being utilized," said Crooks.

This means that the expenses of maintenance and up keep are perhaps not completely warranted and has prompted the committee to look for an alternate facility.

The Newport offices will be housed in rented space. This fact should result in substantial savings for the chapter. Mr. Crooks emphasized that this move to the new location will in no way lessen the services and programs offered to three Northern Kentucky counties.

He noted that this smaller office facility should result in more efficient operation at a considerable financial savings. "Red Cross is financed by the United Appeal," he said, "and we are obligated to see to it that the people's contributions are spent in the most effective manner."

The exact date of the move has not been set as yet, but Mr. Crooks assured that there should be no appreciable break in service for the Kentucky area residents.

March 13 White's Tower PTA

The White's Tower PTA will meet Thursday, March 13, 1975 at 7:30 p.m. at the school. The guest speaker for the evening will be Mr. Fred Johnson, Department of Finance, Frankfort, Kentucky, a member of the Citizens Advisory Board. He will be speaking on the citizenry's role of devoting their efforts, through the 1976 legislature, to the promotion of elementary-secondary education in the Commonwealth.

Everyone is invited to come and hear this guest speaker and to views on education.

Keen-Age Group Meets

The "Keen-Age" Group of the Walton First Baptist Church will meet at the Walton Baptist Church on Monday, March 17, 1975.

They will be visiting the Conservatory at Eden Park. Followed by lunch at the Art Museum.

Everyone and anyone who would like to attend, phone the First Baptist Church for more information concerning the trip.

Commercial Art As A Desire

High school and college students, including those from Boone and Kenton Counties, with a desire to go into commercial art have been issued an invitation to design a logo for Northern Kentucky Comprehensive Care. A logo to the uninitiated, is akin to a signature and will be used on Comp Care's letterheads and promotional material. The device should reflect the work of the eight-county agency in working on mental health and mental retardation problems. Above members of the committee looking up "design" information are, left to right, Dr. J. E. Willett, executive director of Region Seven, Mrs. William Kerlin, Park Hills, and Mrs. Richard Franz, Edgewood. Logo designs should be sent to the regional office on 430 Garrard Street, Covington, 41012. The competition is being sponsored by the Friends of Comprehensive Care. Two top prizes of $50 each will be awarded. One will go to the winner in the group under 18 years of age, the other to the best design in the over 18 years of age group.

New Farm Business South Walton

United Farm Agency, Inc., nationwide real estate sales organization, has opened a new Walton, Ky. sales office, under the management of Carl H. Cummins, broker.

The office is located one mile south of Walton on US 25 and SR 14. Phone number is 356-3133.

Prior to joining United, Cummins was engaged in the real estate field for the past three years in the Florence, Ky. area. He is a member of the Florence Baptist Church and is active in community affairs.

Now starting its 50th year, United Farm Agency, Inc. operates in forty states through 540 offices and specializes in the sale of farms, ranches, town and country homes, waterfronts, recreational and business properties. National headquarters are in Kansas City, Mo.

Piner PTA Changes Meeting

The Piner PTA Meeting for March has been moved up to Tuesday, March 18, 1975, at 7:30 p.m. The program this month will be about Boy Scouting and our own local Boy Scout and Cub Scout Troops at Piner. Our guest speaker will be Mr. Don Tanner who is the Boy Scout Master of Troop 800 in this area.

Come out and enjoy some good talent.

Auction Brings Record Crowd

The Auction Sale that was held last Saturday, March 1, 1975 on the George Brooks Home on Beaver Road in Walton brought a record crowd.

Everything went good and the highlight of the sale was an Antique Cut Glass Basket bringing $185.00.

The Auctioneer was Col. Cecil Wayman.

Six Years No Absence

Miss Helen Schmidt, of 1220 Central Row, Elsmere, a service assistant in Cincinnati's Bell's Operator Services Department, recently completed six years of service without an absence.

Road Repair In Walton

Governor Julian Carroll and Transportation Secretary John Roberts today announced the 1975-76 Municipal Aid Program for the City of Walton. The program is based on an anticipated allotment of $6,965 for the coming fiscal year.

The program provides for curb and gutter and blacktop resurfacing for Alta Vista Drive and blacktop resurfacing for Catalina Drive, Church Street, High School Court and Park Avenue.

The activities authorized will be accomplished by the city with the Bureau of Highways financing all or a portion of the work in accordance with the Municipal Aid Agreement.

The Municipal Aid Program, which became effective July 1, 1973, is supported by a one-half cent per gallon gasoline tax. The funds derived from this tax are distributed among the incorporated and unincorporated areas according to the terms of a formula chosen by the General Assembly in 1972.

The program is selected annually after consultation with the city or urban place. A formal agreement has been signed by officials acting for each party.

Boone County Sign & Draft

On March 15, 1975 there will be a sign up and draft at Boone Co. High School Parking Lot (on the north side of the building) for any youth interested in playing softball in the Boone Co. Girls Softball League.

American League sign up and draft will be at 1:00 p.m. for anyone who will be eleven (11) before September 1, 1975 and will not be fourteen (14) before September 1, 1975.

National League sign up and draft will be at 2:30 p.m. for anyone who will be fourteen (14) before September 1, 1975, and will not be eighteen (18) before September 1, 1975.

Minor league sign up will be between 1:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. for anyone who will be nine (9) before September 1, 1975 and will not be eleven (11) before September 1, 1975. There will be no try outs in this league because it is an instructional league. The players will be assigned to teams as they sign up.

The players registering must be a resident of Boone County with the exceptions of Cherry Hills and Spring Meadows which includes parts of Kenton County. The players who played in the 1974 season will not have to attend this draft, they should be contracted in the near future by their managers.

All players registering to play in the National and American League should bring a ball glove to be used in the sign up and draft.

Any one who can not make it to the sign up and draft can register at F & C Athletic Equipment 249 Main Street, Florence.

The Boone County Girls Softball League is in the need of 5 or 6 adults to manage or coach teams in the league.

For further information feel free to contact Mr. Jack Willis at 371-4225 or come to the sign up and draft on Saturday, March 15, 1975.

New Clerk At Burlington

Mrs. Eileen Decker, 33 Ridge Road, Florence, Ky., is new deputy clerk in the office of Boone Circuit Clerk Mabel Benson.

Mrs. Decker, wife of J. R. Decker, a Covington shoe salesman, was a secretary for the Boone County Driving School in Erlanger for five years. The Deckers have two children, Melissa, 9 and Debbie, 16.

Pre-Registration For First Graders

Pre-Registration for children entering the first grade in the Kenton County Public Schools will be held on Tuesday, April 1, 1975 from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Parents should accompany their child and present a birth certificate or hospital record of birth. In compliance with Kentucky State Board of Education regulation, before a child enters the first grade there must be evidence of immunization against tetanus, diphtheria, polio, pertussis, and measles. Children should be six years old on or before December 31, 1975.

Schools pre-registering first grade children on April 1, 1975 include: Beechgrove, Bromley, Caywood, Crescent Springs, Hinsdale, Park Hills, Piner, Ryland Heights, Kenton, Taylor Mill, Visalia, and White's Tower.

Education Classes In New Vo-Ed

Southern Kenton County High School students as well as adults may now look forward to vocational education classes in the new Voc-Ed building on Turkeyfoot Road in Kenton County.

Contractors, Stephen Gross and Sons, Hamilton, Ohio, turned over the building on Tuesday and state and local officials are now making their inspection prior to acceptance. This procedure, Robert Whmet Hayes said, Ft. Mitchell architect, is the accepted practice.

Building costs were estimated at $1.2 million and completion of the structure came approximately one year after ground was broken. The next step, he said, is to move in equipment in time for first semester classes in late summer.

Approximately 360 students from both public and parochial schools will attend day time classes. Both boys and girls will be admitted. A similar number of evening students, men and women, also may attend classes.

The project is a joint effort of the local board and the Kentucky Department of Education.

Walton Loses In 33rd District

On Wednesday, March 5, 1975, Walton Verona drew Dixie Heights to play against in the 33rd District Tournament at Conner Senior High School.

Danny Dixon led the Bearcats with 19 points, when Donnie Coyle topped Dixie Colonels with his 25 points to bring the score to a 77 to 58 win over the Bearcats.

Walton Verona Bearcats was behind by one point at the end of the first quarter and by the end of the second quarter at half time, they were winning by a score of 24 to 30. They soon fell behind to come to the end of the final fourth quarter with a loss by 19 points.

Lenny Spicels and Bill Tungate helped add to the score by having 17 and 15 points respectively. Herold and Edmiston helped Dixie with 17 and 10 points.

This was the final game to be played by Walton Verona and the last game to be played by the Senior Ballplayers.

Both the Bearcats and the ballplayers and cheerleaders deserve a big congratulations in the big effort and help that they both added to the games.

Umpire Classes For Boone Co.

Training and Refresher Classes for Softball and Baseball Umpires will be conducted by the Northern Kentucky Umpires Association on each Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. beginning on Thursday, March 13 at Tri County YMCA at 212 Main Street, Florence.

Managers, Coaches, Players, Fans, League Officers, Umpire Candidates, and you are invited.

For additional information, Call George Bowman at 581-4988.

Bell Asks For Additional Changes

Cincinnati Bell announced that the deadline for making changes and additions to listings in the Cincinnati White Pages Directory is Friday, March 21. Customers both residential and business should call the Business Office by that date with any changes or additions.

The company said that all Ohio and Indiana customers will again be grouped together in one section of the White Pages Directory and all Kentucky customers in another.

All customers will receive the White Pages when it is published this summer.

The Yellow Pages Directories, as before, will be published separately for the Cincinnati Metropolitan and Northern Kentucky areas. The Clermont County, Harrison, and Greater Hamilton Ohio directories, and the Gallatin, Grant, and Pendleton County directory in Kentucky will continue to be published as combined directories.

Walton Homemakers Meet March 14th

The Walton Homemakers will meet on Friday, March 14th at the RECC Building of the Walton-Nicholson Road at 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. Leo Flynn and Mrs. Mable Maddox are hostesses.

Oak Island Homemakers Meet

At 1 p.m. on March 3 the Oak Island Homemakers Club met at Oak Island Baptist Church with Mrs. Betty Goebel, president, presiding.

Mrs. Elizabeth Barberick, hostess, served delicious home made rolls and coffee before the meeting.

The Spiritual Guidance was given by Mrs. Leontine Stephens on the topic "Promises". Her scripture selection was Luke 24:49. She said "The Bible is God's book of promises, God's word has a wealth of assurances." She closed with prayer.

Mrs. Goebel announced that the Kenton County Homemakers luncheon will be May 22 at Beverly Hills.

The club members commended the movement to organize a Branch YMCA in the general areas of Taylor Mill and Independence. They voted to send a small contribution to the Board of Management.

Mrs. Kathryn Guttridge and Mrs. Lydia Huffaker were leaders for the months project. They gave a most informative lesson on Funerals, their arrangements and costs.

Members who were present were: Mmes. Elizabeth Barberick, Betty Goebel, and daughter, Louise, Kathryn Guttridge, Lydia Huffaker, Glenda Jackson, Mary Jackson, Margaret Rector, Leontine Stephens, and Miss Elma Taylor.

Quick & Easy Gourmet Dessert

Looking for an elegant yet quick-to-prepare dessert idea? Then, consider fresh fruits poached in wine.

Wine Poached Oranges can be a classic finale to any meal. Cooked, cooled, and chilled in an oven cooking bag, orange slices take on all the goodness of a just right blend of spices, sweetness and wine.

Serve this elegant dessert in your fanciest compote. It's a very special dessert, no one will guess that it was so easy to prepare.

Wine-Poached Oranges

- 2 cloves
- 1 cinnamon stick
- 2 slices tangerine
- 2 slices lemon
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 6 large navel oranges, peeled and sliced
- 1 cup water
- 1 cup dry red wine

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Place family size (14" x 20") Brown-In-Bag in two inch deep roasting pan. Tie cloves, cinnamon, tangerine, and lemon slices in cheesecloth; place in bag with sugar, orange slices, (seeds removed) and liquids. Close bag with twist tie, and turn gently to dissolve sugar. Make six half inch slits in top of bag. Cook 25 minutes. Let mixture cool at room temperature; chill. Remove spice bag. Serve dessert cold. Makes 6 servings.

Kenton County Garden Club Meets

Mrs. Ralph Gouge entertained the Kenton County Garden Club, Thursday, February 27th at her lovely home. Mrs. William Straw, president, presided during the short business session.

The club voted to make a donation towards the start of the Kenton County Branch YMCA in the area of Taylor Mill and Independence.

The president reported that she, accompanied by Mrs. Diane Keys of Golden Keys Floral and Gift Shoppe, delivered the club's gift of a large potted plant to the Kenton County Library.

In December the club gave money and "nature ornaments" for the library's Christmas tree. Also, the president and Mrs. Wesley Hall took an arrangement of drift wood and dried specimens to the library for the holiday season.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Forest Popp, on the theme "Thank God for Little Things," her scripture selection was from Galatians and she also read selections from Helen Steiner Rice's Inspirational Verses. She said "We are self-centered, too busy, too rushed to hear God."

Flower arrangements by the hostess and Mrs. William Guttridge were exhibited.

Members answered roll call with a bit of their family history.

"Green Thumb" hints were given by Miss Elma Taylor. Some of her hints were: Now is the time, to repot plants; to bring in woody branches; to plant annual flower seeds and to make stem cuttings of Coleus, Geraniums, Wax Begonias, and other plants to grow outside.

The program "Vacation Memories" was presented by Mr. Edwin Damon, a retired businessman, has traveled extensively. He is an expert with his camera. He and Mrs. Damon traveled last October in Arizona and Utah. His beautiful slides with explanatory comments of their vacation were enjoyed by all.

Members and guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Ballinger, Mrs. Ammeliese Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Damon, Mrs. Margaret Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gauge, Mrs. William Guttridge, Mrs. Alice Lucas, Mrs. Dora Pennington, Mrs. Forest Popp, Miss Helen Richardson, Mrs. Leontine Stephens, Miss Margaret Stephens, Mrs. William Straw, Miss Elma Taylor, Mrs. Gale Webster and Miss Alice Jane Williams.

The hostess served delicious refreshments during the social hour that followed the meeting.

The March 25 meeting of the club will be at 7:45 p.m. at the RECC Building on Nicholson. The program will be presented by Mr. W.T. Lynn of Kentucky Wildlife Conservation Department. Visitors are welcome.

AND ANALYSIS

Darwin Foley Kenton County Extension Agent

size. Two things are important if you are to use the nylon covers successfully.

After seeding, scatter about 1/4 bale of clean straw over a bed which is 100 feet long. You can make sure weed seed in the straw is killed by wrapping the straw in a plastic cover and releasing a can or methyl bromide gas. The straw will keep the nylon cover from sticking to the ground. Do not use the bottles or wires in the bed to hold the nylon cover up.

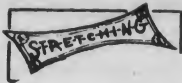

Do not stretch the nylon. Just lay it out smooth and peg it with U-shaped wires. Nylon draws up badly after the first wetting and pulls the pegs up. Nylon is light and will blow off a straight peg. Use U-shaped pegs so that both ends can be stuck in the ground.

A tobacco bed 100 feet long and 9 feet wide should have 30 pounds of a mixed fertilizer such as 4-16-4 or 4-12-8. Part of this can be mixed with the seed when it is sown to more evenly distribute the seed. Too much fertilizer can result in salt injury to the plant.

Try to avoid and control diseases. Locate your beds in a well drained area that will get plenty of sunlight. Don't confuse blue mold disease with wildfire. Blue mold must be controlled with Ferbam or Zineb. Wildfire can be controlled with bluestone lime. These and other management tips are included in Circular 616 Burley Tobacco Production. Ask for your copy.

Plant Peas Spinach Now

Gardeners who are anxious to get started can plant peas and spinach around the first of March, according to horticulturists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Their list of recommended vegetable varieties for Kentucky includes, for spinach, Bloomsdale Savoy, and, for peas, Freezonian, Laxton's Progress, and Little Marvel. More information on recommended vegetable varieties for the home garden, as well as help with any home gardening problem, is available at local county Extension offices.

If you throw away the liquid from canned vegetables, you're wasting a good deal of the nutrition that can originally contained, according to UK Extension nutritionists. To get the full value of the vitamins and mineral in the vegetables liquid, try draining it off and boiling it down to about one-third of its original volume—then add the vegetable to this concentrated liquid and heat if for serving. Or try using the liquid in gravy, soup, or in a cream sauce of stew, the nutritionists suggest.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

For those who have never tried their hand at growing okra, this spring will be a good time to include a small patch of it in the home garden.

This ancient vegetable not only does well in Kentucky gardens, but when gathered young and properly prepared, it also makes a delightful dish. Diced, rolled in meal, and fried, it tastes a lot like fried oysters. It is also equally good when cooked with other vegetables or made into soups and stews. It can be frozen, dried, or canned for later use and, in whatever form, is a good vegetable to have around.

For a prolonged crop, okra can be planted about May 1 or as soon as the danger of frost is past, according to UK horticulturists. Since okra seeds are slow to germinate, soak the seeds about 6 hours in warm water just before planting to speed up the germination process.

Sowed in rows about 30 inches apart and later thinned to a stand about 12 inches apart in the row, okra will usually keep blooming and bearing from summer until frost. As it is usually a heavy producer, a couple of short rows will produce plenty of pods for the average family. The cultivation should be the same as for beans or corn.

Since okra pods grow very fast in hot weather, they should be harvested every other day. If the pods become too large, they become woody and unfit to eat. The secret of good okra is to pluck it young and tender.

In appearance, okra is a very attractive plant and more nearly resembles a flower than a vegetable. A member of the mallow family, it extremely transient flower

The spring garden crops have been harvested the space can be replanted with those crops adapted for either the summer or fall garden. As the harvest of certain vegetables crops from the spring garden comes to an end, the crops of the summer garden should be beginning to produce. Careful planning allows for a continuous harvesting of fresh vegetables from the garden. The summer garden should contain a variety of crops, some which will be harvested during the summer months but some which will continue to bear on into the fall season. Generally, summer crops are planted during the period of the cool days of late spring up through the warmer days when the danger of frost is past. The vegetables for the summer garden can be classified as: (1) cool-season crops which can be either seeded or transplanted before the danger of frost is past, but which will endure hot weather at harvest times; (2) warm-season crops which are either seeded or transplanted after the frost-free date, because seed germination and plant growth are slow under cool conditions and emerged plants can be easily injured by frost. Warm-season crops require warm soil and air temperatures for vegetative growth and fruiting. Quality is enhanced by long, warm days and cool nights. Since crops vary in the length of time it takes for

"Blackbird War"

By: Gary Huddleston

Washington courtrooms and Western Kentucky treetops have shared the limelight in recent weeks, as the "Blackbird War" has come to roost in headlines and newscasts across the nation.

The stakes are high and the fighting has been fierce, with farmers and community residents seeking to eradicate a costly menace to their livelihoods and lives on one side, and wildlife enthusiasts wishing to save bird lives on the other.

It would be easy to question the importance of this legal hassling over pesty blackbirds, especially if one lives in a large city, far removed from cornfields or filthy roosting areas. With problems of inflation, unemployment, energy prices, and Mideast Wars, you might say who gives a hoot about a bunch of blackbirds.

In reality, however, Western Kentucky's blackbird problem is very real, both in terms of the economy and human health, and the outcome of current eradication efforts will be important for the entire state, and in fact, for major portions of the United States.

The rapid population boom of blackbirds, both the imported starlings and native species, has roughly followed the growth of modern grain production in Kentucky and elsewhere.

From the time of a grain of corn is planted until it is sold after harvest or fed to livestock, blackbirds scavenge the precious feed and thrive at the farmers' expense. This expense amounts to some $12,000 per day in Christian County alone, and millions statewide in the course of a year.

The pests will dig up the planted corn grains, they uproot tender young shoots, they attack ear corn in the field, and they raid bins, cribs and stock feeding areas after harvest.

CASEY JONES

Fulton County, Kentucky

The "Legend of the Rails," Casey Jones, was the eldest of four brothers, all crack locomotive engineers, all employed on the Illinois Central Railroad.

Casey's real name was John Luther Jones. Several towns in Kentucky claim to be his birthplace; however, he grew up in Cayce, Kentucky, halfway between Hickman and Fulton.

At the age of 15 he became an apprentice telegrapher on the Mobile & Ohio Railroad at Columbus, Ky., then the northern terminus of that road. There, to distinguish him from other railroad employees named Jones, he gained the nickname "Casey" after the sound of his hometown. The nickname stuck with him.

From his first day on the job, Casey began working toward his life's goal. Through his keen perception and aggressive attitude he astonished everyone by the way he mastered each task, and by his 26th birthday he was a full-fledged engineer for the Illinois Central.

From 1892 to 1900 his career was filled with adventures that are as intriguing and exciting as the most carefully written novel; and many of his assignments are still unexplained. The records he set were unbelievable to his fellow workers, and his fame spread.

When he was in his twelfth year on the Illinois Central, he was offered the highest honor that could come to a locomotive engineer—the privilege of piloting the Central's fastest Chicago - New Orleans passenger train, known officially as No. 1, the New Orleans Special, but popularly called the "Cannonball."

On the evening of April 29, 1900, Casey and his fireman, Sim Webb, brought the northbound Cannonball into Poplar Street Station, Memphis, exactly on time. There they found the engineer scheduled to make the trip south was on the sick list. No other crew was available, so Casey and Sim were asked to "double out" without sleep or rest.

The train was late coming into Memphis from Chicago, so for his historic and fatal run, Casey was ordered to make up 95 minutes. He made up the lost time and was in the home stretch when he ran into a train which had broken an air hose and had left four cars on the main track. He stayed with his train and was able to slow it enough to save the passengers. He was the only person killed.

Newspaper accounts immediately made him a hero. Wallace Sanders, an engine-wiper who loved the colorful and friendly engineer, gave him immortality when he began chanting verses about Casey as he worked. A biography was written by Fred J. Lee, a former conductor who knew Casey personally; then came a movie, and in April 1950 the Post Office Department issued a special stamp featuring "Railroad Engineers of America," bearing Casey's likeness and name.

A monument to him was erected in the Casey School yard at the intersection of highways Ky-94 and Ky-239 in Fulton County.

His widow, Janie Jones, died at the age of 92. She was buried beside Casey in Mt. Calvary Catholic Cemetery at Jackson, Tenn.

Do We Face Life Alone?

(Hebrews 8:8-12; 10:19-25)

Amos R. Wells, in the Sunday School Times wrote the following entitled "Walking Together."
Walking is dull, I must sadly own; walking is dull if one walks alone; no one to talk with of what one sees, flowers and meadows and birds and trees. Walking is fine if a comrade true, loving and eager goes with you. Merry the chat and merry the song as the comrade spirits trudge along. The miles are short and the views are fair, and sweet and cool in the magic air, and a wonderous charm is the brotherly weather as you and your comrade walk together. And so, O Spirit divinely given, the Lord of this earth and the arching sky, Thy love bends down from infinity, and even descends to walk with me. What beautiful prospects grow around as Thou and I tread the hallowed ground! What hopes upspring and exultantly grow as Thou and I are traveling so! What strength in the body, what joy in the heart, as Thou art taking the comrade part! I am firm as iron and light as a feather when I and the Spirit are walking together!

The Covenant Promised, Hebrews 8:8-12

Fault was found with Israel because she did not keep the first covenant. The old covenant was given by God but its purposes were misunderstood. It was given to bring assurance of sin. It was limited in its effectiveness in that it could reveal sin but not remove it. It was unable to meet the deepest needs of the human heart.

The new covenant would do what the old could not. It would meet man's deepest needs by bringing to him forgiveness of sins. God's law would be written in the minds and hearts of men. There would be an inward power for man's weakness. God would be their God and they His people. A fuller, deeper, and more direct revelation would come in the come in the new covenant. There would be no need for every man to teach his brother saying, "Know the Lord." This is not to say that one man should not teach another. Christ commanded His followers to "teach all nations" (Matthew 28:19). It does mean that no man can teach another man "to know the Lord." Those who know Him need to bear witness to His saving grace in their lives but only God can make Himself known to Man. This God does when man responds in repentance and faith of God's call.

The Cleansing Provided, Hebrews 10:22-25

The believer is exhorted to enter God's presence 'with a true heart.' This means without hypocrisy. It means to enter in Spirit and in truth. The people under the old covenant entered the holy of holies only in the person of the high priest. Christians have direct access to God Himself. The Jewish priests were purified from ceremonial defilement by being sprinkled with blood (Exodus 29:21; Leviticus 8:30). The hearts of believers have been sprinkled with the blood of Christ.

The believer knowing that his conscience has been cleansed has assurance to approach God. And our bodies washed with water may refer to baptism certainly not merely the outward application of water, but as the visible sign of inward cleansing.

Christians should provoke (stir up) one another to love and good works. Christians ought to gather together and encourage one another. Why? Because the day (Second coming of Christ) is approaching. This is a forceful motive for faithful church attendance!

Weekend Youth Revival To Start

On March 22nd at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday, March 23rd at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. a Youth Revival will be held at the Hickory Grove Baptist Church.

A Campbellsville College Youth Team will be holding the services for those two nights. "To Live For Christ" is the theme and special music will be provided.

Ky. Students Assist Tennessee Church

Twelve students and their wives from the Clear Creek Baptist School, here, will assist a mammoth expansion program at the Radnor Baptist Church, Nashville on March 9 to 30. The students team from the Kentucky theological school for adults expect to make hundreds of personal visits in Greater Nashville, assist the church's bus ministry, teach classes, and provide special features during worship services.

The group will be led by Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Waddle from Lexington, first year students. Mr. Waddle a former printer, church deacon, and Sunday School superintendent, began training for the Baptist ministry at 50 years of age. Mrs. Waddle, a registered nurse, is employed part time at Pineville's Community Hospital.

Other students participating in the church's huge expansion program are Rev. and Mrs. Lyman Taylor who were members of the Nashville church before they began training for the ministry.

Dr. D.M. Aldridge, veteran president of the Kentucky School, will be the featured speaker at the church's "Clear Creek Day," March 16.

Reported to be one of the fastest growing churches in Tennessee, Radnor Baptist has increased Sunday School attendance from 250 to 800 during the last 3 years.

MOUNTAIN MOMENTS

by K. Maynard Head

My son David, who recently observed his 13th birthday, bought headphones containing a radio with the gifts of money his relatives gave him.

This selection seemed a little strange to me since he had received a digital clock-radio for Christmas, but it looks even stranger seeing him patting his foot while wearing the headgear which is silent to one not wearing it!

Radio has always fascinated me. I constructed several crystal radios during my teen years and I never did understand how they worked. It was a dream of mine to become a radio announcer when I was young. The dream has in part been realized on CLEAR CREEK CHIMES, a devotional program I produce at the Clear Creek Baptist School at Pineville, Kentucky.

Before the television era, radio was enjoyed by our family each evening in a unique manner. Dad, a self taught electrician, connected an extra speaker to the radio in his bedroom. He installed the speaker in the bedroom I shared with my brother.

Leroy and I listened to the Jack Benny Show; the Six Shooter, a western starring Jimmy Stewart; The Shadow; Captain Midnight; and many other programs including the world-famous Grand Ole Opry - after we got in bed. And occasionally we would respond to an advertisement a sponsor made during his program. One in particular I remember was a "de-coder" the maker of a chocolate drink advertised for $1. a "secret" message containing a clue to next week's program was given at the conclusion of each segment of Captain Midnight. With the aid of the de-coder it was possible to know what the next episode would contain. It worked fine until one of my sisters lost the de-coding key!

My favorite boxer was defending his title against a strong opponent who had earlier won the hearts of the nation, and in 1951 Rock Marciano ended the comeback of former world champion Joe Lewis by knocking him out in the 8th round.

A MAN WHO IS NOT ALONE

Prayer has always been a mystery. But through the centuries millions have turned to it, believed in it, and been strengthened by it.
Prayer doesn't solve our problems . . . it helps us find right solutions. It doesn't make trouble go away . . . it gives us courage to face our trials. Prayer is never a "safe conduct" through the lines of danger . . . it simply gives a man the bold assurance that he is not alone in his crucial hour.
You don't have to go to church in order to pray. You do have to want to be with God.
Worship and Christian education have long been the mainstays of continuous communication with God. Families who build their home and happiness on a spiritual foundation find Sundays in church the natural expression of their faith and fervor.
A man who cherishes the bold assurance that he is not alone makes being with God a way of life—not a last resort.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

Senator Walter Dee Huddleston says that "providing we can get unanimity among tobacco state senators" he will work for an increase in the burley price support to between $1.10 and $1.15.

Huddleston is chairman of the agriculture subcommittee which recently held a hearing on burley price supports. The preponderance of opinion expressed was that the support price should be raised to the level of $1.10 to $1.15.

"I think that would be a reasonable price support, one that more accurately reflects the costs of production to the tobacco grower," Huddleston said.

Any change in the tobacco price support would be part of an over all farm bill the committee is now working on. It will also deal with target and support prices for other commodities.

"The tobacco farmer and there are 135,000 in Kentucky has undergone tremendous increases in production costs over the past two years, in large part due to the increased cost of energy and petroleum products used in the manufacture of fertilizer," the senator added.

Among the witnesses at Huddleston's hearing was former University of Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, who recommended increasing the price support to $1.15. Coach Rupp has been a tobacco farmer since 1944.

Stretching Your Dollars

Have rising costs affected the capacity of your shopping cart? Or, do least year's clothes look better and better to you? You are not alone. Spiraling inflation has taught us all a simple fact of life - a dollar will only go as far as you can stretch it.

By talking with some thrifty consumers, the folks at Scott Pater Company's Home Service Center were able to compile several tips on ways to stretch dollars which they'd like to share with you.

If you need pet holders, be practical. Make some form an old ironing board scorch resistant cover.

Be sure to check supermarket sales. For instance, don't always assume that butter is the "high priced spread." Recently, there have been many times when butter has actually cost no more per pound than certain leading margarine.

Also, be sure to take advantage of any available cost-saving coupons.

If you like "crisp" shirt collars and cuffs, you don't have to use a lot of starch. Just run a medium hot iron over a sheet of Cut-Rite wax paper that has been placed on the area you want "crisp."

Get another year out of a sweater, coat, shirt or dress by replacing the buttons with new, lively colored ones. Or, you can update old T-shirts by sewing sequins or felt designs on them.

Stretch that almost-empty bottle of perfume by adding a drop or two of alcohol. This should stretch it for another week before you have to open a new bottle.

To save on floor wax, yet keep your kitchen and bathroom floors shiny, wipe up spills immediately with a clean towel. Then once or twice a week, vacuum the floors and damp mop with cool water.

Finally, learn to borrow and lend. In a tight economy, it's extremely wasteful for everyone on the block to own a lawnmower, chain saw, stepladder, rug shampooer or punch bowl.

Escalators Are Dangerous Steps

Store escalators may be a hazard for young children if shopping parents are not careful.

"The most important measure in preventing injuries, is to convince youngsters that the escalator is not a toy. Too often accidents occur when children engage in horseplay, such as going up the down staircase."

Sitting on escalator steps is an open invitation to painful hand or buttock injuries. Similarly, riding on the handrail can also lead to mangled fingers or sudden spills.

Parents are cautioned against placing a toddler's stroller on the moving stairs. The chance of the infant being tipped over is too great a risk.

Always take the child's hand before stepping on the escalator. Many parents have lost their balance and fallen while reaching back for the youngster.

A child should never be permitted to carry heavy bundles on an escalator. The packages could obscure his vision or cause him to stumble when he reaches the next landing.

Questions & Answers

Q. The Veterans Administration will pay me $270 monthly while I am single and attend school under its dependents' education assistance program. Will this be increased if I marry?

A. No. The law does not provide for additional allowances because of dependents of participants in this program.

Government Growth

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

of 186 per cent in state and local government employment, with pay increasing by 430 per cent.

Government programs and expenditures and the taxes and borrowing to under write them are determined by public officials. So are increase (or rare cutbacks) in those programs, outlays, taxes and indebtedness.

But the people who hold either elective or appointive public office don't put themselves into those positions. Voters choose among candidates for elective office, and the winners in turn select appointees to carry out their policies.

We, the people, have had great government growth at increasing cost to ourselves only because of the candidates we have chosen. Bigger government has been brought into being only because we have voted into office men and women who have promised us more and more neglecting to tell us that we ourselves must pay for it all! 100 per cent of it! In 1974 tax hikes outstripped all other price increases in the consumer's budget! The average taxpayer worked 34.08 per cent of every eight hours 2 hours and 44 minutes just to pay his taxes!

KDS High School Students Employed Off Campus

Johnny Burke

High school students at KSD are given an opportunity to have work experience in part-time off campus and on campus jobs under the direction of Mr. Duane Belcher. The students are counseled to help them develop good work habits, improve attitudes, and learn to cope in a hearing world.

Six students are employed off campus this semester, and four other students are laid off temporarily because of the present state of the economy. Sixty three students are employed on campus in a variety of jobs ranging from washing dishes, serving food, doing laundry pick up and delivery, supervising younger children in after school recreation, assisting in the infirmary, doing janitorial work, delivering mail on campus and aiding teachers with making bulletin boards and xeroxing. Students in on campus jobs may move to off campus jobs as they progress through high school and are able to work with somewhat less supervision.

Those working off campus are John Allen and Johnny Burke - stock boys at local super markets. All students are paid in accordance with pay scales of regular full time workers.

Mr. Belcher and the students set up work schedules with the employers. He accompanies the student the first day on the job and confers with the employer and the student regularly. The Work Experience Program has been termed a success by both employers and student employees.

What A "Snook!"

Mr. Robert Slayback
Mr. Robert Slayback, 73, of St. Petersburg, Florida, father of Mr. Bob Slayback of Walton holds in his hand a "Snook".

This fish weighs in at 10 pounds and is 29 inches long. He caught his fish using light tackle.

This fish was caught in the month of March, notice the beautiful weather they are having. Don't you wish you were there?

Mr. Slayback's son and family visit with him every year and enjoy eating some of the different types of fish he catches.

Kays, Named Assistant Commissioner

Carols E. Kays, Earlington, has been named assistant commissioner of the state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Commissioner Arnold Mitchell said today.

A wildlife biologist for the state since February 1957, Kays, 45, succeeds J.T. Cox, Lawrenceburg, who retired February 28.

The new fish and wildlife administrator is a native of Eldon, Mo. and was graduated from Central Missouri State University with a B.S. Degree in Biology. His graduate work was done at Louisiana State University where he received an M.S. Degree in game management. He was an active member of the U.S. Coast Guard from July 1951 through May 1954 and is now a commander in the Coast Guard Reserve.

Kays, a bachelor, will make his home in Frankfort.

Kentucky Veterans

An estimated 31,000 Kentucky Vietnam Era Veterans separated between April 2, 1970 and July 31, 1974 are eligible for new low-cost Veterans Group Life Insurance (VGLI) but they must apply before August 1.

Robert Welsh, director of the Veterans Administration regional office in Louisville, said servicemen discharged since August 1 have received forms automatically, but those discharged before the insurance became available must apply. The new program is designed to provide interim protection during readjustment to civilian life.

Nonrenewable, five-year term coverage is available in $5,000 increments up to $20,000. Monthly premium for the $20,000 coverage is $3.10 for veterans aged 34 and under, and $6.80 for those 35 and over.

Former servicemen may convert Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to VGLI without medical examination if applications are received within 120 days of separation. Applications after that time must include evidence of good health. This requirement is waived for veterans with VA-rated, service-connected disabilities.

Application forms are available from: Veterans Administration Regional Office, 600 Federal Place, Louisville, Ky. 40202, or from service organizations.

Kenton Council Hold PTA Meeting

The Kenton County Council PTA will hold its meeting on March 17th at 10:00 a.m. at the Willard Wade YMCA, in Covington, with Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher, president, presiding.

The program titled "It All Depends On You" will have as its speaker, Mrs. Delmar Cloe, District Chairman on Environmental Education.

At this time also all offices will give their annual reports. There will be an election of officers for the coming year and all publicity books are due in at council for judging.

Flu Statistics Still Rise

Flu statistics are still on the rise in Northern Kentucky, with 287 new cases reported to the Department for Human Resources (DHR) for the week of February 15.

Kentucky now has 21,017 new cases since the last reporting period, with all six regions showing an increase. Western Kentucky, the hardest hit in the state last week, reported an additional 7,545 cases. South Central, the hardest hit two weeks ago, showed an increase of 3,045 since the last reporting period.

North Central has the fewest reported cases of all the regions, but showed a 14 case increase.

Counties in Northern Kentucky reporting for the first time are Fleming with 175 and Kenton with 87. Pendleton County reported an additional 25 cases since the last reporting period.

DHR's Bureau for Health Services received reports from local health department in 61 counties. These records are based only on reports submitted by physicians. A case must have been severe enough to warrant contacting a physician, who must file a report before it is included.

FEARLESS FORECAST

By: R.W. Lancaster

Thursday, March 13th

If you want to do some excellent home baking, the kind that wins contests, start this afternoon through Saturday morning and you will be proud of your efforts. The fishing will be good the rest of today and then slack off until Friday of next week. The next couple of days would be a good time to start cleaning off last year's garden spot and getting it ready for this year. It is later than you think.

Friday, March 14th

The aspects are good today for collecting outstanding obligations and the morning hours will bring some pleasant surprises. If you have been planning a trip, Saturday and Sunday are safe days for traveling and the long range weather forecast indicates good weather for our area.

Saturday, March 15th

A pleasant Saturday is in the making, you should wake full of energy and be ready for some outdoor activity especially sports, if you have not been putting off those little household chores too long. Maybe you could make a sport out of getting your work caught up and have all next weekend for that good fishing coming up. Plan on entertaining at home this evening and you will have an enjoyable time.

Sunday, March 16th

If you want to prosper in the weeks ahead, follow the advice of Francis Quarles a couple centuries back and be a winner. "The place of charity, like that of God, is everywhere. Proportion thy charity to the strength of thine estate, lest God proportion thine estate to the weakness of thy charity. Let the lips of the poor be the trumpet of thy gift, lest in seeking applause, thou lose thy reward. Nothing is more pleasing to God than an open hand and a closed mouth."

Monday, March 17th

If you get that permanent wave today the curl is going to stay in a long time and look nice. May as well get a manicure and you will be ready for the evening as this is an excellent time for a first date or making new friendships also the aspects are right for dining out or enjoying sporting activities.

Tuesday, March 18th

If your teeth need attention the next three days are a good time for extraction, if you want the gums to heal quickly. If you need new dentures wait until March 29th or 30th to have the impressions made and you will have a good fit. If you need new glasses, wait until this Thursday for your eye examination.

Wednesday, March 19th

If you like to travel and have been planning on looking for a new position, this would be an excellent day for an interview, especially good for a traveling sales type of work. On the home front this is a good time to catch up on any sewing or mending you have been putting off.

Mrs. George White, Guest Speaker

Mrs. George White, Kentucky PTA immediate past president was our guest speaker at Kenton Elementary PTA Founder's Day program on February 20.

Mrs. Wanda White narrated an Antique Fashion Show in commemorating Founder's Day.

There was a Silver Tea following the meeting in honor of all our past presidents. Those in attendance were Mrs. Ray Baldwin, Mrs. Robert Gibson, Mrs. Carl Overpeck, Mrs. Charles Adams, Mrs. Johnny Armstrong, and Randall Wagner.

Mrs. Ray Baldwin was presented with a "Life Membership."

Trailblazers 4-H Club Meets

The February meeting of the Trailblazers 4-H Club was held on the second Thursday at the home of Mrs. Julia Wicklund. The meeting was called to order by the president, Julie Heeger. There were 14 members present and 3 leaders. The pledge to the American Flag was led by Paula Baldwin followed by the 4-H Pledge led by Debbie Huesman.

The old business was that Julie Heeger and Michelle Maddox had won a trip to Washington D.C. for their outstanding 4-H work. Our club is very proud of these two girls for their work and leadership. They are a good influence on the younger club members as they show the way by doing rather than telling.

The County Rally Day is April 5th and Senior Achievement Day is February 19th. It was also announced that the Style Review is May 2nd at Twenhofel School. Sewing projects for the year will be pre-judged and modeled at this time.

Joe Schmiade moved that the meeting be adjourned and Tim Kaelin seconded the motion. Refreshments were served and a social hour followed.

KESCA

During the dates of March 6 - 7, two active members of the Northern Kentucky Personnel and Guidance Association (NKPGA) presented an interest session titled "Inside - Outside the Classroom with Group Guidance". The two school counselors from Northern Kentucky were Miss Charlene Baldinger from Campbell County Middle School, and Mrs. Judy Tribble from Tichenor Middle School, Erlanger, Kentucky.

The Conference, held at the Holiday City, Louisville, was sponsored by the Kentucky Elementary School Counselors Association, and the Kentucky Division of Guidance Services, Frankfort. Approximately 150 Counselors attended the Conference. Also in attendance were such noted people as Dr. Francis V. Corrigan, Special Assistant to the Commissioner for Career Education, US Office of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), Washington, D.C., who was the keynote speaker; Lyman Ginger, Kentucky's Superintendent of Public Instruction; Marshall Swain, Assistant Superintendent for Pupil Personnel Services; Dr. Curtis Phipps, Director of the Division of Guidance Services; Ms. Rosa Jones, President of the Kentucky School Counselors Association (KESCA).

"Cancer Quiz Set For April"

Families in more than six thousands Boone County homes will get a quiz to do this April. But this is a special kind of quiz. The answers to the questions can save your life.

According to Mrs. Mary Massie R.N., Education Chairman for the Boone County Unit of the American Cancer Society, "It's a cancer quiz for every family that will give you a chance to test your knowledge about a disease which is the nation's second biggest killer."

The Cancer Society volunteers are not encouraging idle speculation. This quiz asks question and gives answers about measures you and other members of your family can take to protect yourselves against cancer.

"The experts say that some types of cancer can be prevented," says Mrs. Massie. "They also tell us that cancer is a deadly disease when it has become very widespread in the body, but that in its early stages it is a highly curable disease."

There are a whole series of tests that can detect cancer in the early and curable stages: The pap test for women, breast examination, the procto for men and women especially those older than 40. And there are the Seven Warning Signals on the leaflet which tell you, if you have one, to go to a doctor. Only your doctor can tell if a warning sign is cancer.

The American Cancer Society's Boone County Volunteers, led by Mr. Paul Dickmann of Hebron, will bring you this quiz and they deserve your generous support in the Cancer Crusade. And if you heed the advice in that little folder, the life you save may be your own.

SBA Has Loan Officer

Small Business Administration will have a Loan Officer in the Covington office on the 3rd Tuesday of each month from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The SBA office is located in the City County Building, Room 804, 301 (3rd &) Court Streets, Covington, Kentucky. Those interested may contact the SBA representative at the City County Building, or by phoning 684-1771.

In order to determine credit and eligibility requirements for SBA loan programs, it is suggested that the businessman bring with him a recent financial statement or balance sheet of the business and a profit loss statement for the previous full year. This information pertains to established businesses. However, anyone interested in establishing a new business is encouraged to consult with this representative, as well as other businessmen who are in need of financial advice or assistance.

SCORE consultants will be in the office five days a week from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

"Yellow Hair"

By: Bob Fonde

As he stood there, sword in hand, He looked around at every man, His pounding heart was filled with dread, He knew they all would soon be dead.

He heard the war whoops from the plain, Heard thundering hoofbeats as they came, Felt this heart beat wild and fast, Knew this fight would be his last.

On they came in a thunderous roar, Soix in war paint, a thousand or more, Fight on till death was his final command, An arrow to the heart, ended Custers' last stand.

Walton Resident Gets Promotion Designs Trophy At Cincinnati Bell

Jack Rouse, Main Street, Walton, recently crafted a replica of a "Flint Lock Rifle," which will become a rotating trophy between Thomas More College and Northern Kentucky State College basketball teams.

He spent more than 100 hours working on this project in his home workshop and was aided by Thomas Schiffer of Florence, Ky.

Jack is proud of a most appreciative and complimentary letter received from Mr. Vance Trimble, editor of the Kentucky Post for the fine job he did on this trophy.

Barbara Hudson

company career in 1967 as a toll investigator and was a secretarial stenographer prior to this promotion. She is also a 1967 graduate of Boone County High School.

Mrs. Hudson came to Cincinnati Bell in 1969 as a records clerk and had been working as a secretarial stenographer before her promotion. She is a 1969 graduate of St. Thomas High School, Ft. Thomas.

Cooperative Club Holds Meet

The Cooperative Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Charles Alexander at Erlanger, Ky.

The club opened by singing "Onward Ever Onward" and Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy followed with the devotion. We had an important guest, Mrs. Pat Walcock, a hand analysis and she analyzed our hand writing. We enjoyed her very much and she added so much to our meeting.

The 13 members present were: Mrs. Wallace Ingram, Mrs. James Ingram, Mrs. Walter Sleet, Mrs. James Riddell, Mrs. Bessie Smith, Mrs. Acie Davis, Mrs. Evert Porterfield, Mrs. Charles Spriggs, Mrs. Charles Vance, Miss Stephanie and Hostess, and Mrs. Charles Alexander.

Kenton County Wants Psychologist

Kenton County elementary school principals have requested the Board of Education to obtain the services of a psychologist to test youngsters not responding to traditional class room instruction.

The request was relayed on behalf of the principals by Larry Compton, Bromley Elementary School principal.

He explained that teachers including those in special education are often aware of short comings but need sophisticated help in solving the problems of the student.

Board members agreed to take the request under consideration and suggested also that in stead of employing a psychologist an agency may be contacted to provide such services under contract.

The principals were instructed to return to the April meeting of the board with more formal proposal.

March 29th Rent-A-Kid!

On Saturday, March 29th, the Walton Verona High School Freshman Class is sponsoring a Rent-A-Kid day from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

At that time students are volunteering their services to anyone who needs any kind of work done, in exchange for a money donation (suggested about $2.00 per hour), which the class will use for its activities.

The students will do any kind of unskilled work, though we suggest you schedule workers as soon as possible, and that you designate whether you want boys or girls.

You may schedule workers by calling the following numbers:

In Walton call: 485-7333, 485-4858, or 485-7721.

In Verona: 485-4306 or 485-4403.

24th Annual Clothing Drive

The 24th Annual United Clothing Drive will be held on Sunday, April 13th. As heretofore, materials that the public donates go to the Goodwill Industries for recycling by its handicapped workers.

The Northern Kentucky phase of this year's drive will cover Kenton, Campbell, and Boone Counties, according to the coordinator, Jim Schworer, director of Goodwill's Covington Rehabilitation Center.

Boy Scouts of Dan Beard Council's Big Bone and Cherokee Districts will do their good turn by collecting the items that contributors wish to give.

The procedure is for donors to put their materials in a bag or box. Then on the morning of the drive (Sunday, April 13th) they put the filled bag outside their front door, for the Scouts to pick up.

Register for Kindergarten

The Walton Baptist Kindergarten will hold its registration on Thursday, March 20 from 9:00 a.m. until 12 noon for the school year 1975 - 76. Registration will take place in the Kindergarten room of the First Baptist Church.

The registration fee is $10.00, this is to be paid at the time of registration. The tuition will be $20.00 per month.

Each child must be 5 years old by December 31, 1975 to be eligible. The parent is to present a birth certificate at the time of registration.

The class will be limited to 22 children. You may reserve a place prior to March 20 by calling Lucille Maddox at 485-4704.

Receives Honorable Mention For 1975

Miss Marybeth Rouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rouse of Main Street, Walton, has received Honorable Mention for the 1975 Betty Crocker Search for Tomorrow Award.

Marybeth is a senior at the Walton Verona High School and her Home Economics teacher was Mrs. Evelyn Hance.

Congratulations on your Honorable Mention from Betty Crocker!

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Courtroom of the Boone County Courthouse. The public and all members are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Kick-Off Breakfast For Cancer Crusade

Boone County Cancer Society Kick-Off Centennial Breakfast will be held at the Boone County Health Department.

It will be held on Saturday, March 22nd at 10:30 a.m.

All interested persons wishing to attend may do so.

Mr. Paul Dickman, prominent Boone County and Crusade Chairman will be present.

Margaret Finnell Honored By ULH&P

Among the Accounting Department members to retire this month was Margaret L. Finnell. A 36 year veteran, she was the head district commercial office clerk headquartered at ULH&P Walton Office.

Mrs. Finnell was presented a retirement plaque.

Congratulations on 36 years of hard work.

Walton Verona Seniors Perform Last Game

On Wednesday, March 5th, the senior ballplayers and senior cheerleaders played and cheered at their last game of the 1974 and 1975 season.

Bill Tenger and Danny Ryan are the senior ballplayers who have played for the Walton Verona Bearcats for a number of years. Both boys attended Walton all through their school years and played basketball since grade school. They will also see them playing on the baseball team, coached by Mr. John Schepher, who was the basketball coach.

Connie Lawrence, a cheerleader for Walton for several years and runner up in the "Homecoming" will be the senior cheerleader leaving this year. Connie has been a high school cheerleader for four years and has done a terrific job.

The Drill Team will lose Captain, Karen Yates, Susan Hetterman, Terry Phipps, Vickie Boyers, Jeannie Moses, Pam Morgan and Paula Ramsey. The Drill Team has been performing for 3 years and they have performed at many ballgames and in parades.

Fannie Thorpe and Lee Ann Scott, majorettes, will also be graduating this year after several years of being a majorette. Lee Ann, has been head majorette for one year and a majorette for three years along with Fannie Thorpe.

We want to congratulate these seniors on their fine performance during ballgames and parades and to let them know their ability to perform was greatly appreciated.

Monday, March 17th Higher rates

Higher gas rates for northern Kentuckians will be put into effect Monday, March 17th, by the Union Light, Heat and Power Company.

ULH&P asked the Public Service Commission of Kentucky last fall for permission to increase rates. Under Kentucky law, if the PSC does not act within five months, the higher rates are put into effect.

The increase is subject to refund if PSC does not grant ULH&P's full request. The new rate would provide the Company with an additional $2.3 million annually.

ULH&P serves nearly 62,000 gas customers in Kenton, Campbell, Boone, Gallatin and Grant Counties. Of that number, about 57,000 are residential.

Average monthly residential bills would go up from $6.90 to $7.60 for homes using gas for water heating and cooking only, and from $36.27 to $39.77 for homes using gas water heating, cooking and home heating.

The last increase in base rates for ULH&P's gas customers was approved by the Kentucky PSC in August, 1973.

Flower Sale Christian Church

The Bykota Sunday School Class will be selling Potted Plants and Courages on Saturday, March 29th at the New Boone County Drug Store from 8:00 a.m. till 4:00 p.m.

Courages must be ordered in advance so please phone 485-4282 to place your order.

"Brother Goose" Coming To W-V

The Junior Class of the Walton Verona High School will be presenting the play "Brother Goose" on Friday and Saturday nights, March 28 and 29, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Walton Verona's old gymnasium.

Prices for the play will be $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for children 12 and under.

Come out and enjoy a good play and help support the Junior Class. Their money will go for future activities.

Trying To Provide In-Patient Care Now

Northern Kentucky Comprehensive Care is exploring two possibilities to provide in-patient care for clients from the eight county area, Kenton, Campbell, Boone, Pendleton, Grant, Owen, Gallatin and Carroll.

Dr. J. E. Willett, executive director of Region Seven, revealed that a contract may be signed with Cincinnati hospitals to provide beds and care for Northern Kentuckians needing such aid.

Dr. Willett looks upon such contract as a temporary program and pointed out that currently patients must be housed at Eastern Kentucky State Hospital, Lexington.

In the meantime and to obtain a permanent solution to the problem, Richard Daniel, program director for Comprehensive Care, is working with Boone County officials on the construction of a building near the proposed Booth Hospital site.

The facility, Daniels was told by county officials, may be financed through a bond issue.

Daniels also said that the new approach follows efforts to obtain space at the Kenton County Tuberculosis Sanatorium. The board of the agency, however, has indicated it would seek state approval for orthopedic and chronic care patients.

In its new efforts to find in-patient space, Comp Care officials cited the long travel to Lexington for both patients and relatives.

Square Dance Florence Fire Base

Square Dance, at Florence Fire House Base No. 2 on Route 25 and Industrial Park Road, March 22nd from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.

Caller will be Bob Duffy with admission price of $6.00 per couple. Drinks, refreshments, door prize and raffle will be held.

Come and have a good time with everyone. For reservations call 371-8230 or 371-6845.

Bacon, Ham & Beef March 23, 1975

The Beechgrove Boosters Athletic Association on March 23, 1975, are having a Bacon, Ham and Beef Shoot at St. Barbara's Church, Turkeyfoot Road, Erlanger, Kentucky from 1:30 p.m. till dark. There will be food and drinks.

The funds raised from this event will be used to sponsor over 40 Knott's Teams in baseball season of 1975. Our expenses will run over $4000.00, and we need help. Our organization is non-profit and has all volunteer workers.

Would you please print a notice of this event in your newspaper now through March 23, 1975. It will be a greatly appreciated by the Beechgrove Boosters and a lot of children.

Paul Dickman On Crusade

Paul J. Dickman the Vice President of the Bullock Funeral Homes in Ludlow and Hebron, Ky., graduate of the Cincinnati College of Mortuary Science and an Air Force Veteran of the Korean Conflict, now presently a member of the Boone County Board of Education.

He was active with Maplewood Home, Woodpoint Nursing Home, B.W.A.C., Riverside Good Counsel School for the Handicapped, Hebron Fire Department, Hebron Lions Club, Ludlow and Vicinity Business Associations, and Boone County Businessmen's Clubs.

In sports clubs with Little League Baseball, Pee-Wee Football, Area Cub Scouts, Conner Athletic Boosters, and Hebron Memorial Day Activities.

He is married to the former Roselene Rice of Ogden, Utah. They have four sons, Douglas, David, Dale and Deron.

The Dickmans reside at the Bullock Funeral Home in Hebron, Ky.

So when money is tight, it's wise to spend it to do the most. A contribution to the American Cancer Society is a way of doing the most to fight cancer.

Walton Verona PTA Meets

The Walton Verona PTA will meet at the Walton School on Monday, March 24, 1974 at 7:30 p.m.

All parents and teachers are urged to attend.

Area Merchants, prepare yourselves WLET's Go-Getters are on the March!

All over the Hamilton County and Northern Kentucky, volunteers for TV 48's 1975 Action Auction are gearing up for a major fund-raising effort on behalf of the area's only non-commercial television station.

These Go-Getters will spend the next 2 months calling on local businesses for donations of products and services to be auctioned off on TV 48 April 20 - 27.

Now in its 8th year, the Action Auction provides 30 percent of the non-profit station's annual operating funds.

magnesium in the animal's blood. This is caused primarily by the cow's feed being low in magnesium. When grasses are used for feed, this condition will mainly occur in the spring on cool days when lush new grass growth is available. Grasses growing on soils testing high in potassium and/or low in magnesium are more likely to bring about tetany cases.

Grass tetany is only one of a number of animal disorders affected by what the animal eats. Winter tetany, ketosis and nitrate poisoning produce symptoms similar to grass tetany.

Grass tetany is usually confined to females and is more likely to befall older animals. Cows are more susceptible during their third and fourth lactation periods. The animals exhibit milk fever symptoms and may begin to walk stiffly or stagger. Their appetites may decrease, and they usually become very dull in appearance. In many cases they will isolate themselves from the herd. As the disorder progresses, the animals sometime become very nervous and occasionally have muscle tremors and exhibit rapid breathing. In advanced cases the animals will collapse, go into convulsions and die. Death can sometimes occur less than an hour after the onset of visible symptoms.

Feeding supplemental magnesium where needed is one way of preventing death losses. In a mild risk situation make a mineral mixture of 20 per cent steamed bone meal, 40 per cent magnesium oxide, 20 per cent plain salt and 20 per cent trace mineral salt. A mild risk situation is one where the potassium level of the soil is not excessive, the cows are getting a good amount of high quality hay and are near calving or with calves and grazing during November through May. Put out enough minerals for some two week period. Cows will probably eat about an ounce per day.

In a high risk situation where cows are grazing lush grass on soils high in potassium and nitrogen and where there has been tetany before it's best to get more magnesium into the animal. This can be done free choice with a mixture of 39 per cent grain, 19 per cent soybean meal, 10 per cent dicalcium phosphate, 7 per cent magnesium oxide and 25 per cent plain salt. Cows will probably eat about two ounces of this per day.

Ask your feed supplier to fix you up the mix you need or mix your own. It's best that the magnesium oxide be fed in a mix because cattle will probably refuse it if fed alone. Put out only enough to keep a fresh mix available. For further help contact me at our office in the Independence Courthouse.

Fresh meat and most cured meats should be taken directly home from the market and not left in the car while other shopping is done. Variety meats and ground or chopped meats are more perishable than other meats and should be cooked in one or two days or frozen for later use.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

To get a jump on the season, many gardeners start seed indoors. In doing so, they get earlier blooms, and vegetables as well as some other advantages such as a better quality and variety of transplant.

Among vegetables that will benefit from a pre-season headstart are: peppers, tomatoes, broccoli, cabbage, eggplant, cucumber, and bibb lettuce, they do best if sown inside from 6 to 10 weeks ahead of outdoor planting time.

Seed can be started anywhere there is enough light natural sunlight most of the day. Almost any kind of container can be used, ranging from seed flats or small clay pots to used milk cartons or old dishpans. Just be sure that, whatever the container, it has drainage. A starting medium can be mixed from sand, peat moss and sterilized garden soil. However, it is much less trouble and almost as inexpensive to sow the seeds in the house plant potting soil mixture available at garden stores and supermarkets.

Most kinds of seeds should be sown, 8 to 10 seeds per inch, in rows about 2 inches apart. When the seeds germinate and the tiny plants begin to form their first true leaves (about 2 weeks after seeding), carefully transplant the seedlings to separate containers, such as peat pots, milk cartons, or clay pots. Each plant needs 4 to 5 inches of growing space. Cucumbers however, should be seeded directly into the pot where the transplant will grow, putting two seeds in each container.)

To assure survival of plants started indoors, about a week before transplanting them to the garden, harden them off by gradually exposing them to more air and lower temperatures. Move them outside to a warm, sunny place and bring them back in at nightfall if frost is predicted for the night. They also should be given less water during this process. Seedling not sufficiently hardened off may need shade during the hottest part of the day after they are put in the garden. An inverted flower pot, paper box, or folded newspaper will serve this purpose very well.

About an hour before transplanting, pots of indoor started seed should be watered and allowed to drain. This reduces the possibility of wilt or shock. If the transplant is in an individual peat pot, put pot, plant and all into the ground. For those in other containers, carefully lift the plant with a garden towel or dibble and reset it at about the same depth it grew before. Gently press the soil about the roots, water, and the plant should take right off.

... about your Social Security

People getting monthly Supplemental Security Income Payments should report promptly to Social Security if they get married or divorced, if they separate and intend to remain apart, or if they've been separated for 6 months or more.

The amount of the Supplemental Security Income Payments people get can change if they marry, and the amount due a wife or husband can change depending on whether they're living together or apart, according to John Walter, Social Security District Manager in Covington.

"A temporary separation of less than 6 months" generally won't affect Supplemental Security Income Payments," Walter said. "But people should report to Social Security if they begin living together again after a separation."

Payments amounts also may be affected by annulment of by the death of a wife or husband.

"Prompt reports of changes help Social Security get the right Supplemental Security Income Payments to the right people on time," Walter said. "But failure to report changes may result in an overpayment that will have to be paid back."

Changes can be reported by calling or writing any Social Security Office. A written report should include the name of the person affected, the correct Social Security claim number under which payments are made, the change being reported, the date the change occurred, and the signature and address of the person making the report.

76 Municipal Aid Program for the City of Florence. The program is based on a anticipated allotment of $45,000 for the coming fiscal year.

The program provides for grading, drainage, and initial blacktop surfacing for Airview Drive and Banklick Street and curb and gutter repair and blacktop surfacing for Sanders Drive.

The activities authorized will be accomplished by the city with the Bureau of Highways financing all or a portion of the work in accordance with the Municipal Aid Agreement.

The Municipal Aid Program, which became effective July 1, 1973, is supported by a one-half cent per gallon gasoline tax. The funds derived from this tax are distributed among the incorporated and unincorporated areas according to the terms of a formula chosen by the General Assembly in 1972.

The program is selected annually after consultation with the city or urban place. A formal agreement has been signed by officials acting for each party.

What Makes A Valid Faith?

(Hebrews 12:1-4; 7-16)

It has been suggested that faith is like the coupling which attaches the railroad car to the engine. All the power and speed and momentum that belong to the locomotive now become transmitted to the car. The coupling is simply the medium of communicating that power. So faith joins the believer to Christ, and makes him partaker of all that Christ has, and is, and does.

The writer of the book of Hebrews was deeply concerned that his readers not fail in their responsibility of God. It is obvious that they had come to a state of arrested development in their salvation experience. How does a leader help his people get out of this rut? The writer of Hebrews believed the answer was to be found in a challenge to the validity of their faith. How one may determine that his faith is real? Three answers are suggested here.

A Faith That Endures, Hebrews 12:1-4

It is a true saying that "faith which falters before the finish was faulty from the first." Chapter 12 of Hebrews follows the great chapter of the roll call of the heroes of faith.

Having named each man or woman of Old Testament Days, the writer proceeds with one or more statements of that person's accomplishments. He attributes enduring faith as the secret of their success.

The writer looks upon them as a great cloud, or host of witnesses. They are witnesses not so much in the sense of being spectators in the arena of life, as witnesses to the possibilities of the life of faith. They serve as examples to believers in every generation.

The athlete who enters the race to win must divert himself of all excess weight and any other thing which might hinder his running. This is certainly no less true for the Christian. The word "Patience" in verse one means "endurance." The Christian must learn that he is not to fall out of the race at every little difficulty. He needs to get in the race to win and to receive the crown which is life.

The Christian's supreme example is Jesus. Those who have entered the race should keep their eyes fixed on Jesus. He has blazed the trail before us. He stayed in the race to its triumphant finish. He suffered the agonies of the cross, disregarding the disgrace of such a deploring death.

Christians should take heart because they will never be called upon to bear more than Jesus has already borne.

A Faith That Enlightens, Hebrews 12:7-11

A concerned father will discipline his son. Proof that one really belongs to God is the fact that he is not without discipline. If a person professes to be a child of God but continues a disobedient life without the discipline of God, he is illegitimate. He is no true son of the Father.

The writer continues his argument. We were disciplined by our earthly fathers and respected them for it. Much more should we reverence God for the correction He sends upon us. It is for our good. It will result in a more separated life.

No one welcomes discipline, but when it has been administered one readily sees the fruit of it.

A Faith That Encourages, Hebrews 12:12-16

Those who would win in the race must not become discouraged. Since ours is a race with many participants on the same team, we must encourage one another. Many are spiritually weak, lame, and discouraged. These are to be healed and not be put out of joint. This is the proper meaning here. To "be turned out of the way" really means to "be out of joint." The writer is talking about dislocation and not deviation. God is concerned that the whole Christian community complete the course without any stragglers.

The readers are exhorted to "Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord." Holiness or sanctification is the very essence of the new life in Christ.

The grace of God sets one's feet on the pathway to glory. It is the grace of God that enables one to continue and complete that journey all the way!

Goshen Ladies Hold Meeting

The March meeting of the Goshen Christian Missionary Ladies Group was held in the church basement with Mrs. Ruth Worthington as hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mary Cook. Roll Call was answered by reading a verse of scripture with the word "Fire" in it.

The Sunshine Report showed that 57 cards had been sent out and 19 visits made to the sick.

A letter was read from Grundy Mission thanking us for our support. Several Campbell's Soups labels and coupons were brought in to be sent to this Mission. Our group would like to visit this Mission in the near future.

The ladies will meet at the church March 27 to do their spring cleaning. This is just one of our yearly projects of the church.

At the noon hour, a very nice luncheon was served by the hostess, Mrs. Worthington.

Those present were Mrs. Faye Bray, Mrs. Goldie Glenn, Mrs. Mary Cook, Mrs. Hazel Mullins, Mrs. Nannie Cliff Fisk, Mrs. Darlene Thornberry, Mrs. Rachel Daniels, Mrs. Esther Glenn, Miss Ruth Piner, Mrs. Lillian Elliott, Mrs. Ruth Worthington and Mrs. Eula LaFollette.

The program in the afternoon was a review of Chapter 25 to 28 with Mrs. Faye Bray as program leader.

In April for our program we will start studying in Romans with Mrs. Goldie Glenn as leader. Hostesses will be Mrs. Nannie Cliff Fisk and the word for roll call will be "Resurrection."

Gospel Reporters March 22nd

The Gospel Reporters will be at the Southfork Christian Church on March 22, Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

The sing is in the benefit of the deaf and hard of hearing in the Northern Kentucky area.

Refreshments will be served following the services and everyone is invited to attend.

"To Live For Christ"

On March 22nd at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday, March 23rd at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. a Youth Revival will be held at the Hickory Grove Baptist Church.

A Campbellsville College Youth Team will be holding the services for those nights.

The theme and special music will be "To Live For Christ".

Time For Revival

The First Baptist Church of Walton are holding a Youth Revival on Friday and Saturday nights, March 21 and 22, at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday morning, March 23rd at 11:00 a.m.

Buddy Pyles and Mike White from Georgetown College will be leading the services.

Come and hear the Good News and have fellowship.

All are invited to attend this wonderful services about the Lord. See You Then!

Legend has it that, long ago, the dogwood came into bloom on Calvary and that, afterwards, a cross was implanted into the flower itself, to remain for all time. You can see it if you look closely, rust brown against the white of each individual blossom.

Many of us carry crosses, faint like the dogwood's emblem but with us, nevertheless. Somehow, in this Lenten season, we become particularly conscious of them and of our need for help—a certain kind of help, that can be found only through the things we learn in Church.

The Church doesn't pretend to banish our cares and woes. But, its teachings realistically consider the experiences of life itself. No matter what our personal cross may be, we seem able to bear its burden with more strength.

Lent is a wonderful time in which to begin making church-going a regular part of your life—if you haven't already.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

Senator Walter Dee Huddleston said this week he is optimistic that the new 94th Congress will pass legislation giving at least one new federal judgeship to the Eastern District of Kentucky.

Earlier, Huddleston introduced legislation to provide for two additional federal judges for Eastern Kentucky "because of the tremendous backlog of pending cases."

Since that time Huddleston has met with Senator James O. Eastland, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Senator Quentin Burdick, chairman of the appropriate judiciary subcommittee.

"They have told me that an omnibus bill covering several states that have a problem similar to ours will be presented sometime this year, hopefully before the end of the summer," Huddleston said. "And they have assured me that Kentucky will be included, at least for one new judgeship. I will, of course, continue working for two new judges."

Huddleston said a similar bill was considered last year but never got out of committee. "The increasing caseloads and logjams in courts throughout the country has given new impetus to this legislation," the senator said.

Bid On A Bridge Party!

The more things are changing, the more they remain the same! The bridge party, for instance, was invented generations ago, but it's still very popular. When women get together for an afternoon bridge party, the hostess can bid on its success, especially when luncheon is served before the game.

A luscious fruit salad come from the freezer and gets a pretty garnish of cherries and mint, and it's ready to be served. Poppy seed rolls and butter and steaming coffee complete the light, lovely lunch, the dieter's delight. The hostess prepares the salad the night before the bridge party to make her tasks simple. In a practical plastic Snack Stor, the salad freezes nicely, and the tightly fitting seal keeps freshness inside. At luncheon time, the hostess serves directly from the Tupperware container.

No Trump? Three Hearts? A salad superb means a super snack before the cards are shuffled.

Frozen Fruit Salad
1 13 ounce can pineapple chunks
1 1 pound can sliced peaches
1 1 pound can pitted sweet cherries cup maraschino cherries
2 cups miniature marshmallows
1 cup pecans
1 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 cup vinegar
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 pint whipped cream

Drain fruits thoroughly, combine with marshmallows and pecans. In top of double-boiler, beat egg yolks slightly, add 1/2 cup sugar and vinegar. Place over hot, not boiling water, cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly and barely coats a spoon. Cool to room temperature, pour over drained fruit mixture, mix gently. Fold confectioners' sugar into whipped cream. Fold whipped cream into fruit mixture. Pour into 9x9x1 inch square pan, cover and freeze. Before serving, transfer from freezer to refrigerator for 10 minutes to thaw slightly. Makes 12 to 16 servings.

Million Dollar Winner!

Mrs. Ann Meadows
Mrs. Ann Meadows, mother of Mr. Maynard Meadows, owner of the Walton Advertiser, is pictured above with a friend as they visit in Las Vegas.

She is employed by YMCA as a director for 3 years in Santa Ana, California in Orange County, where she lives and works.

Mrs. Meadows was formerly from Walton, Ky.

The above picture does not state the earnings she brought home just that in the background of the picture you can see one hundred $10,000 bills encased in an 8 foot golden horseshoe.

That is how the hotel got its name, and what is famous for.

THINK ABOUT US FOR

Sure, you've heard of the Homeowners Policy. It's been around for years.

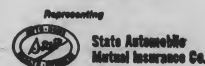

What you probably aren't aware of is that our agency can now offer you a Homeowners Policy that's broader and better than ever. For instance, important extra features are now provided without added charge . . . including free $1,000 of Credit Card and Depositors Forgery coverage.

We have available four different package policies for homeowners, and one of them is right for you and your particular protection needs.

When it comes to Homeowners Insurance, think about us. We'll be pleased to talk things over, so just give us a call or mail the handy coupon.

FEARLESS FORECAST

By: R.W. Lancaster

Thursday, March 20, 1975

The moon goes in to the watersign cancer after lunch and makes a square aspect to the sun so the fishing will be good through Saturday morning and especially good this afternoon. This is the right day to finish having any bad teeth extracted or having your eyes examined if you need glasses.

Friday, March 21

Today and tomorrow will be a good time to take care of your house plants, give them a good watering and do any transplanting or grafting or take some cuttings. If you have any fruit trees that you want to do some grafting on try to get it done today or tomorrow and it will be successful.

Saturday, March 22

This will be a good day for buying and selling so if you advertised this week expect to have some early customers for your merchandise. If you are buying get out early before all the good stuff is gone. Home baking will do well up until 7 p.m. when the moon goes in to the fixed fire sign Leo.

Sunday, March 23

For all the people who like to write and worry about the critics, read what Longfellow had to say and take heart. (The person who lives to find faults has a miserable mission. Some critics are like chimney sweepers, they put out the fire below, and frighten the swallows from their nests above; they scrape a long time in the chimney, cover themselves with soot, and bring nothing away but a bag of cinders, and then sing out from the top of the house, as if they had built it.

Monday, March 24

The aspects indicate that this will be a poor day for traveling but it is a good time for sewing and mending and any home baking will do better this Thursday or Friday. If you have any bad teeth try to get to the dentist tomorrow or Wednesday and your gums will heal nicely.

Tuesday, March 25

This will be a good day for a general house cleaning and any sewing or mending you didn't get completed yesterday, while you are looking over those old clothes decide if your family can still use them, if not, maybe a neighbor or the Good Will Industries could benefit and you would also benefit by having added storage space and a clear conscience to sleep on.

Wednesday, March 26

This is a good day to take care of legal matters and sign contracts and if you're still putting off making out those income tax forms put them out on a table where you have to look at them and you will probably get them completed before the day is out. Also a good time to answer any correspondence you have been putting off. The afternoon hours would be an ideal time to make some friendly calls either for business or pleasure.

Help Find This Missing Person

I am working on a book on the life of John Gregg Fee (1816-1901) a man instrumental in founding Berea College. Before the Civil War Fee roamed the eastern Kentucky countryside stirring the citizens against the evils of slavery. He pastored a church at Berea after the war.

Anyone of your readers having knowledge of this man would be of invaluable assistance if they could contact me. Personal stories, manuscripts, newspaper clipping or any other material would be of great help.

Americanna Antedotes

A delightful program of antedotes on ancestors and places of interest were presented at the March meeting of Captain John Lillard Chapter DAR which was held at the Skyway Restaurant in Williamstown, Ky. The stories of our families and some amusing events of the past, provided an enjoyable meeting hosted by: Mmes: Milton Valentine, Daniel Lusby, C.W. Adams, Thurman Poe, Charles Hudson and J.K. Vallandigham.

Regent Mrs. Charles Allphin presented the following proposal from our President General, Mrs. Sara Jones. Mrs. Jones recommends we accept the suggestion of the President of the United States Capitol Historical Society to provide as our Bicentennial Tribute to America, a gift of ceiling murals, Commemorating the "Spirit of '76", for a corridor in the United States Capitol. This project would take several years to complete with an estimated cost of $150,000.00. Our chapter voted to accept Mrs. Jones recommendation and a special collection will be taken in October.

National Defense Chairman, Mrs. Perry gave three short reports highlighting excerpts from "Bicentennial Observance," "Federal Spending" and "Debts Owed United States".

Mrs. Ambrose Feldman of Ft. Mitchell, will serve as an alternate delegate in place of Mrs. Alva Randall at the Continental Congress in Washington DC on April 14th-18th.

Vice Regent, Miss Martha Blaine announced that Miss Lovella Forsee and Miss Anna Mae Forsee papers were accepted and we are happy to have them as new DAR members of our chapter.

Members attending were: Misses: Laura Dickerson, Martha Blaine, Anna Forsee, Lovella Forsee, Louise Flege, Elizabeth Flege, and Mary Shipp. Mmes: Charles Allphin, Thos. Wilson, A.R. Feldman, T.A. Perry, Anyda Clore, Paul Blacketer, Abram Hedges, John Juett, Ivan Clements, Alva Ransdall, W.H. Walden, Kirtley Points, Roger Lanter, Glenmore Bennett, Evan Hance, Daniel Lusby, Milton Valentine, J. K. Vallandigham, Dr. Lenore Chipman, E.H. Martin, C.W. Adams, and Mrs. Thurman Poe.

"Look Down Dear Lord"

By: Bob Fonde

Look down dear Lord on this world below,
Watch over thy children as their ways they go,
Keep them and guide them in they path of right,
Look down dear Lord tonight,
Look down dear Lord tonight.

Look down dear Lord with thy wisdom divine,
Erase all the hatred and injustice you find,
Unite all thy people in one Christian might,
Look down dear Lord tonight,
Look down dear Lord tonight.

Look down dear Lord on this world filled with sin,
Help us dear Lord to be Christians again,
Show us that love wins us more than a fight,
Look down dear Lord tonight,
Look down dear Lord tonight.

Farm Brings Over $94,000

The 92 acre James Darlington farm north of Walton sold at $94,500 Saturday at a Boone County master commissioner's sale.

Raymond Buse Jr., who owns the Ellis Farm located adjacent to the Darlington farm, was top bidder out of four persons. The farm includes an eight room house, large barn, and compohouse, two lakes for fishing and boating and campgrounds.

Darlington and his wife purchased the farm in the late 1950's and in 1964 opened the Apache Recreation Grounds.

Darlington's wife, Eunice, died in 1973 with a 19 month cancer disease. In addition to the medical bills, he faced a $42,000 mortgage on the Walton Bowl, and a mortgage on his farm.

The bowling alley was placed on the auction block at the master commissioner sale in February but no one showed up at the sale and the bank purchased the alley for $13,500.

The auctioneer for this sale was Paul Noel of Carrollton.

For All Students 18 years and Older

Students 18 and over getting monthly Social Security payments will soon get an attendance card that should be filled out and returned to Social Security as soon as possible, according to John Walter, Social Security District Manager in Covington.

"The cards are mailed about 3 months before the end of the school year to students getting Social Security checks," Walter said. "The information on the attendance reports helps us decide if the student can continue to get monthly payments."

"Delay in returning the report card can mean a delay in future payments," he said.

Full time students 18 and over who remain unmarried can get Social Security checks until they're 22 if a parent gets Social Security payments or has died after working long enough under Social Security.

About 700,000 students in colleges, high schools, and trade schools get monthly Social Security checks.

"Students who need help with the attendance report or information about Social Security benefits can call or write any Social Security office."

"Little Paper Boy"

By: Bob Fonde

Little paper boy standing on the corner,
Shouting headlines so the passer-by will hear,
When your papers are all gone,
And your Mother takes you home,
Does she tell you of your Dad that loves you dear.

I buy a paper every day as I pass by
you,
You look up and smile and say I thank you sir,
I want to take you in my arms,
And keep you from all earthly harm,
But I can only walk away and hide my tears.

A judge has told me now I am not permitted,
To see the son that brought me so much joy,
-But no matter what they say,
I will see you every day,
On the corner, my little paper boy.

Card of Thanks

I would like to express my thanks to all the many people and friends for the cards and flowers that were sent to me during my stay in the hospital.

A special thanks to Bro. Bob Sheffield and to Bro. Yates for their concern.

Also to all my friends who helped my family.

Thank You,
Dorothy Denney

Beechgrove Homemakers

Nineteen members and two children gathered at the home of Mrs. Georgiana McHale on March 20th. The devotional, "Slow Me Down, Lord" written by Billy Graham, was presented by Mrs. Minnie Letcher. This was followed by the Lord's Prayer and then a salute to the flag.

After the business meeting, the lesson, "Funeral & Burial Arrangements" was very well presented by Mrs. Ruth Ann Andrews and Mrs. Alice McHale. Mrs. Andrews had obtained some booklets entitled "What Does She Do Now?" and these were purchased by the members. Mrs. Georgiana McHale with Mrs. Ruth Ann Andrews as co-hostess served a hot and tasty meal with two kinds of cake for dessert. After lunch, the members had a "chatting" session for approximately half an hour.

Mrs. Gail Mark, Consumer Relations Director of Security/Amirkhanian arrived in the afternoon and graciously gave information that will be beneficial to all. Security/Amirkhanian is a sponsor of Station W.U.H.E.'s community club awards and the Beechgrove Homemakers will receive quite a few bonus points by having Mrs. Mark explain various things. Mrs. Mark, with her wonderful personality, is well liked by all the members.

Other members present were Pat Blanton, Susan Kelly, Loretta Dickson, Loretta Sterbling, Joan Ellis, Judy Spegal, Carrie Hall, Betty Skelton, Ruth Kelly, Connie Schneider, Hazel Kumer, Ruth Powers and Ronnie Mutsch.

Shortly after the meeting it was learned that a charter member, Mrs. Henrietta Endres, had passed on to the "Great Beyond". This leaves the members with heavy heart but with many, many wonderful memories. The April 17th meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Connie Schneider with Mrs. Susan Kelly as co-hostess.

... about your Social Security

Housewives, students, and other people who plan to get a summer job should apply for a Social Security number if they don't have one, according to John Walter, Social Security District Manager in Covington.

"You should apply for your number several weeks before you need it for a job covered by Social Security," Walter said. "Applications must be screened against central files in Baltimore to make sure that a second number isn't issued to that same person. Screening generally takes several weeks."

More than nine out of ten jobs are covered by Social Security.

People applying for a Social Security number for the first time may be asked to prove their age, identity, and citizenship.

"Your Social Security number is yours alone and remains the same for life," Walter said. "A worker builds retirement, disability, survivors, and medicare protection by work and earnings credited to his Social Security number. So when you get a job covered by Social Security, be sure your employer copies your name and number correctly from your Social Security Card to his records."

People can get information about applying for a Social Security number by calling, writing, or visiting any Social Security office.

"If you've lost your Social Security Card, you can get a duplicate by contacting any Social Security Office," Walter said. "You can get a duplicate faster if you've kept the stub that came with your Social Security Card."

Children's Safety

Your child slips and falls. If he's lucky he'll be unharmed. But every year approximately 18,000 Americans are killed and an estimated three million more injured in falls, many right in their own homes.

"The real tragedy of these staggering statistics is that so many falls could be so easily avoided if parents used precaution."

Parents are urged to carefully inspect their homes for such potential pitfalls as a cluttered staircase. "No pails, mops, newspapers, or the like should be stored on stairways and children must be taught not to leave toys on steps."

For protection of toddlers, it is recommended restraining gates be installed on all staircases and that screen windows be locked securely.

The bathroom is another common place for a fall. Handgrips to assist in getting in and out of the tub and non slip mats for both tub and floor.

While acknowledging the list of possible dangers is endless, the following among likely causes of a fall: oil and grease on the garage floor; a poorly placed extension cord; an open drawer; cartons stored in a dark basement; standing and climbing on chairs and boxes.

How To Select Your Savings Account

The importance of maintaining some type of savings account as a hedge against the unsure condition of our economy, is to select the right type of savings account for your needs.

There are basically two types of savings accounts. Regular, or short term accounts, and long term savings plans.

A regular savings account is the most popular kind. With compounded interest, your savings grow at a guaranteed rate. You can make deposits anytime, and you are usually allowed a reasonable number of withdrawals without penalty or service charge. Frequent withdrawals should not be necessary if the account is used properly. The major advantages here are that you can save what you want when you want, and you have free access to your money when you need it.

With long term accounts, you must commit your funds for a period of time from 90 days to 10 years. But for this obligation, you'll be well paid. Interest paid is governed by law and by the length of time the bank keeps your money, but it will usually be significantly higher than on a regular savings account. But keep in mind that there will be heavy interest penalties if you have to take your money out early.

WAGE EARNER and INDUSTRY

By Acting Commissioner George R. Wagoner

Frankfort, Ky.—Labor Commissioner James R. Yocom has taken an indefinite leave of absence. Acting Commissioner George R. Wagoner will author this column during his absence.

Maintaining Kentucky's elevator safety prompted the 1974 General Assembly to charge the Kentucky Department of Labor with the inspection and registration of all elevators in the state.

Since July, when the law became effective, Chief Elevator Inspector William A. Goatley has been busy organizing a small but efficient office under the Division of Labor Standards. The new elevator office will not only insure safety for elevator workers—builders, engineers and maintenance men—but will attempt to guarantee a safe ride for consumers. That is in keeping with the Department of Labor's role as a regulating agency in the Cabinet for Consumer Protection.

The new law requires all owners or operators of elevators to contact the department upon completion of construction of a new elevator, escalator and some dumbwaiters. These must pass inspection before the owner will receive a permit to operate. All elevators in existence, when the law became effective, must be deemed safe by Goatley's inspectors.

Each elevator passing inspection must post a certificate of operation. Currently, elevator inspectors are trying to check as many elevators as possible.

Soon, Goatley hopes, he will have the mandated five full-time inspectors (along with numerous part-time inspectors who inspect elevators for insurance companies) who will be able to inspect annually every elevator in Kentucky.

Goatley's office now has three full-time inspectors and two trainees. The inspectors are checking an average of 30 elevators per week. He hopes the trainees will be ready soon to make full inspections.

Initial inspections will cost elevator operators $10. Subsequent annual inspections will be $5.

Under the new law, plans for any new elevator must be approved before construction begins.

The office has no jurisdiction during actual construction of a vehicle or its passage way but if it fails to pass inspection, it may not operate. A pre-construction approval of plans will possibly eliminate this. (As directed by the Kentucky General Assembly in KRS 336.040.)

Decisions About Your Insurance

Insurance has to be one of the most complicated subjects ever devised by man, but it doesn't have to be that way. It can really be quite simple.

To get insurance for yourself, you must decide what kinds of coverage you need and where you are going to get it.

You should treat buying insurance like making any major purchase. You want the very best value for your money. So the key is to compare before you buy. The American Institute for Economic Research surveyed 70 insurance companies and found that the net cost for the same coverage varied from a low of about $80 to a high or more than $150. And that's quite a difference in price for the same product.

To get better acquainted with insurance prices, I suggest the buying of a book.

Next, you should find yourself a good insurance agent. You would find this the same way you would find a good doctor or lawyer. Ask around. Talk to your friends and business associates whose opinions you respect. It's important to find an agent you like and trust, because the decisions he helps you make could change the course of your family's future.

Tobacco Owners Take Heed!

Proposals concerning the 1975 tobacco price support program were announced. The proposals include two changes with respect to eligibility of tobacco for price support. (1) As a condition of eligibility, producers will be required to certify that they have not used pesticide products containing Toxaphene and Endrin as well as DDT and DDE on the 1975 crops. Previously, the required certifications have not included toxaphene and endrin.

As required by law, price support will be made available on the 1975 crop of various kinds of eligible tobacco at levels about 12 per cent higher than last year. Under the proposals announced today, the method of supporting tobacco will continue to be through loans on all eligible kinds of tobacco made to producer associations and through purchase of Puerto Rican tobacco. Comments regarding the proposed changes will be considered if submitted in writing by April 18, 1975, to the Director, Tobacco and Peanut Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, USDA, Washington, DC 20250.

Also, USDA has announced a 1975 Forestry Incentives Program. The program is aimed at improving the Nation's timber production by stimulating better forest management practices. The program will be administered by the ASCS in conjunction with State and district foresters. Both annual and long term agreements will be offered to eligible owners of non-industrial private forest land with cost shares ranging from 50 to 75 per cent of the cost of approved practices.

County Committees have been authorized to begin accepting requests immediately from farmers for tree planting. However, specific details are to be announced at a later date. Interested persons are encouraged to contact Jim Sheldon, CEI Kenton County ASCS Office.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

There's much to be said for starting plants indoors and then transplanting them to the garden, but there are some vegetables that perform better when planted directly where they are to be grown. Vegetables that benefit most by direct sowing are beans, beets, corn, carrots, leaf lettuce, onions, parsnips, peas, radishes, turnips, kale, spinach, and okra.

How these vegetables perform also depends to a large part upon how they are planted and the condition of the soil in which they are planted.

In starting out to plant, don't do it when the soil is too wet. Wait until it is reasonably dry. Then prepare the soil for seeding by spading or plowing to a depth of about 12 inches. Break up the clods with some sort of a drag and pulverize a few inches of the topsoil. On small gardens, this can be done with a rake and, on larger gardens, with a rototiller.

When this is done, lay off straight rows by using a string between two stakes. While true that plants will grow just as well in a crooked row as a straight one, straight even rows made cultivation much less difficult, besides the garden is more attractive.

Make shallow furrows with a hoe, puch plow, or whatever; sow seeds evenly and cover them with fine soil until in the case of small seeds—they are barely out of sight. With the flat of the hand, lightly pat down the soil over the seed, but don't pack the soil. The seed may not come up through the compacted soil.

To speed up germination of the tiny seed, especially if the weather is dry or turns dry after planting, water the rows for two or three days with a fine spray to keep the soil moist. If a hand sprinker is used, be very careful. The small seed can very easily be washed out of the ground.

One of the worst mistakes a gardener can make is over crowding his plants. What may at first look like plenty of space for several seedlings will not be enough when they are partially grown. So as soon as the plants have come up and developed their second or third leaves, they should be ruthlessly thinned to the required distance.

And what is the required distance between plants? It varies with the particular vegetable and this information is usually included on the back of the seed packet. If not, check with your county agent. He will have leaflets and bulletins giving this information along with much more on cultural practices.

If it hurts to pull up healthy plants, remember it is very necessary for good development of those left. Also, some of the thinnings can be transplanted to fill up gaps in rows or to start new rows. If large enough, thinnings of beets, radishes, turnips, and lettuce can be eaten. In any case, it is better to thin than not to thin.

Boone County Farm Bureau Speaks

The Boone County Farm Bureau is in favor of adjusting the Boone County Tax Rate down to compensate for the increased property evaluation. This action will aid all property owners, both city and rural alike. Today's high cost of materials and low return for production, are causing a rapid approach to a time when food and fiber can no longer be economically produced. Failure to adjust the tax rate down will place still another burden on the producing and consuming tax payer.

This action was passed by the Boone County Farm Bureau Board of Directors at the regular meeting March 4, 1975.

FARM NEWS AND ANALYSIS
By
Darwin Foley
Kenton County Extension Agent

In Kenton County and Northern Kentucky our primary ground cover is cool season grasses which need nitrogen. Legumes such as clovers and alfalfa can supply that nitrogen to the grasses.

If you're going to do some seeding in the next few weeks why not improve your grass pastures with legumes and save on nitrogen. A good mixture of clovers or alfalfa in your grass will greatly improve the quality of the hay you cut from it and the grazing of that pasture in the hot summer months.

To do a good job of starting legumes in established grasses keep the mixture simple and seed recommended varieties. Time should be added to bring the PH up to the 6.5 to 6.8 range. Phosphorus and potash may also be needed. When seeding clovers tear up 40 to 60% of the grass sod before seeding. When seeding alfalfa in grass tear up 80 to 100% of the sod.

When the legumes have grown enough to where the livestock begin biting them off, take the livestock out for about 4 to 6 weeks for clovers and 8 to 10 weeks for alfalfa to let the legumes get established. Grass clover pastures may be grazed from spring to fall but don't overgraze. Leave 2 or 3 inches of top growth at all times.

We have additional information at our office in Independence on seeding rates, recommended varieties and best-forage systems.

The College of Agriculture is an Equal Opportunity Organization authorized to provide research, educational information and other services only to individuals and institutions that function without regard to race, color, sex or national origin.

Farmers Don't Forget Water Tobacco Beds
Tobacco beds need to be watered regularly if a period of dry weather occurs after the beds are seeded. An adequate amount of water is especially important when seeds are germinating and immediately after the plants come up. When the beds are not watered during these periods and the weather is dry, poor stands are likely to occur.

The weather is often windy at plant bed seeding time, and wind helps form a crust on the surface of the soil. When this occurs, plant beds may need frequent watering even though fields are too wet to plow.

Keeping the surface of the soil moist until the seedlings become established. If the soil surface is dry, 150 gallons of water per 100 square yards will moisten it adequately.

After the plants in the bed become established, 300 to 500 gallons of water per 100 square yards of bed may be needed each week during dry weather.

Watering also helps prevent fertilizer injury. Fertilizer injury is caused by the application of too much fertilizer to the bed. Plants hit by fertilizer injury often turn yellow and die or break off at the surface of the ground when touched. Usually, the area in the bed where this occurs has a grayish substance, made up of salts carried to the surface by evaporating water covering the soil particles. These salts are very bad in nitrate nitrogen.

"Heavy watering is the only way to treat fertilizer injury successfully."

Trailblazers 4-H Club
The Trailblazers 4-H Club meeting was held on March 13, 1975, at the home of Mrs. Wicklund.

The meeting was called to order by Julie Heeger, president. There were twenty-three members and four leaders present. The 4-H pledge was led by Nancy Heeger and the American Flag Pledge was led by Jennifer Chapman.

The Style Review will be held on the second of May at Twenhofel Junior High School at 7:30 p.m.

Rally Day is April 5th at 9:00 a.m. It will be held at the Independence Christian Church. All entries must be turned into the 4-H office a week early. There is a new project available which is entitled "Arts and Crafts". On April the first there will be a 4-H skating party at Lloyd's Skating Rink.

Cathy Ashcraft made a motion that the meeting be adjourned. Danny Ashcraft seconded the motion.

Meats Are Always Inspected
Meat and poultry products are inspected by the US Department of Agriculture to insure their wholesomeness and good quality, but after you buy meat and poultry, it's up to you to keep them wholesome. Here are some suggestions. Always clean cutting boards and counter tops with soap and hot water both before and after putting meat or poultry on them. All equipment used in preparing meat or poultry should be washed with hot water and soap before using that same equipment to handle the cooked products or other foods. And wash your hands often while handling meat or poultry.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

"For once, we were able to make the federal bureaucracy respond and correct its previous errors," Senator Walter D. Huddleston said after the Labor Department announced that Kentucky would get $9.9 million under a new public service job program.

The state was originally told that it would receive $9.1 million, but then the department cut that amount by more than $2 million. Huddleston and other members of the Kentucky Congressional Delegation vigorously protested the cutback.

Huddleston also raised the issue

Medal Of Honor

Although only 289 of the 29 million living Americans veterans have been awarded the Medal of Honor, 33 of them work for the Veterans Administration in 27 installations in 22 states, the agency reported recently.

with Labor Secretary designate John Dunlop, who promised to check into the numerous errors, computer fouls ups, and misinformation given the Kentucky congressional Delegation. Shortly thereafter, the Department announced an increased in Kentucky's share, plus an allocation of $750,000 in discretionary funds giving the state a total of $9.9 million.

The breakdown is as follows: The 22 county Rural Eastern Kentucky area, $1.4 million; the 89 county area covering most of the state, $4.6 million; Lexington Fayette County, $338,000; Louisville Jefferson County, $2.7 million; and Kenton County, $1.4 million.

"I think Mr. Dunlop agreed with our contention that the state of Kentucky should not have to pay for the Department's own mistakes," Huddleston added. "Kentucky has 99 counties with unemployment in excess of 6.0 per cent, and that amounts to an economic recession of the worst kind."

Huddleston said public service job programs would probably be extended if unemployment continues at a high rate.

Prove Too Low For Social Security

BY

M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

amazing figures that should give us all an idea of what the value of our dollar is going to plunge to.

The base for annual payroll taxes that employee and employer each must pay should be the first $17,700 in 1980 at a 6.05 per cent rate. In 1995 the base would be up to the first $36,000 at a 6.45 per cent rate. In 2010, the last year at the 6.45 per cent rate, the base would be $76,800. But by the year 2040, the base would be the first $311,500 of salary at a tax rate of 7.45 per cent. No wonder! The monthly Social Security retirement check projects at $9,832. But in 2050, when the monthly benefit projects at $16,220, the payroll tax of 7.15 per cent would have to be levied on a base of over a half million dollars actually $540,000!

However, these staggering projections were underestimated. To minimize his budget deficit, President Ford asked Congress to hold the June 1975 Social Security hike to the projected 5 per cent instead of the 8.7 per cent he figured actual inflation would require. And the projected 1975 payroll tax base of $13,800 had to be raised to $14,100. All future benefits and payroll taxes are tied to actual preceding increases, not lower projected ones. (And none of this includes income taxes!)

Questions & Answers

Q I just received an honorable discharge after two years of military duty. I hear the Veterans Administration provides free GI Bill benefits for veterans like me who didn't finish high school. Is that true?

A Yes, and the assistance won't be charged against your basic entitlement. Suggest you apply to the VA regional office in your state.

Q What are some of the advantages of GI Home loans? I had three years of military service before my discharge two years ago, and I am thinking of applying for this benefit from the Veterans Administration.

A Because VA guarantees 60 per cent of loans up to $17,500, which ever is less, down payments are either small or not required, and there usually is a long repayment period with no penalty for early repayment. Also, VA appraises the house before purchase to determine its reasonable value.

Q Will the Veterans Administration pay dividends on the Service-Disabled Veterans Insurance (RH Prefix) it issued me about six months ago?

A No. Until enactment of PL 93-289 (May 1974), VA paid dividends only on National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) and US Government Life Insurance Policies with "V" or "K" prefixed numbers. Effective Jan. 1, 1975, however, the law extended dividends to NSLI policies with "RS" and "W" prefixes.

"Foot Stomper"

The homes trash compactor has been called the first major appliance to come along in 30 years. When this modern version of the "foot stomper" is used in combination with the automatic dishwasher and the food waste disposer, the three appliances provide homemakers with a 1 2 3 punch against kitchen clean up chores. Trash compactors developed by engineers for KitchenAid appliances provide an amazing 3,000 pounds of ram force and can reduce the volume of trash as much as 75 per cent! That's "super crunch"!!

those occurring between the farmer's field and the consumer's table. At an international conference on stored-product entomology, some 200 scientists from 27 countries noted that 30 to 40 per cent of the crops harvested in the developing countries never get to consumers. The scientists called for comprehensive adoption of existing technology to hold these losses to 5 per cent or less. Over the years, agricultural sciences has developed ways of controlling insects that attack stored grain. These methods include the hermetic storage of grain in air-tight bins to deprive insects of oxygen, irradiation to kill insects in grain, improved drying of grain before storage to suppress mold growth, and many more.

But adapting current technology to the needs of developing countries cannot be achieved overnight. The hard fact is that these nations, besides lacking funds, practice subsistence agriculture under greatly differing agricultural and social conditions. The urgent mission, therefore, is for simple but effective low-cost techniques to fill specific niches. A heroic effort must get underway to help a hungry world fully exploit its food supply. No less is acceptable before the grim specter of mass famine.

Spring Cleaning Time Again

As every homemaker knows, the first hint of warm weather means it will soon be time for the annual Spring cleaning. This year, make a resolution to use some of these economical tips to make your cleaning chores easier.

If you plan to use a floor polisher, be sure to check the felt pads for signs of wax buildup. If a lot of wax has accumulated, this can easily be removed.

First, remove the pads from the machine. Place the pads between several layers of clean, white paper towels and go over them with a warm iron.

The old wax will be absorbed into the paper towels in a matter of seconds and the felt pads will be ready for use again.

If mirror, windows and picture glass are part of your agenda for spring cleaning, here are a couple of important tips.

When cleaning mirrors and picture glass, be sure to keep water from getting inside the frames. This can be done by holding a piece of cardboard against the frame on the inside edge when washing.

A cure for streaky windows when washing windows, wipe them dry with a squeegee or clean paper towel. Then, shine them up with a soft rag or another paper towel. Wipe up and down and on the outside go crossways, so if you have a streak, you'll know which side it's on.

Before vacuuming rugs, place a few drops of oil of cinnamon, lemon or peppermint in the vacuum cleaner bag. This will fill your house with a fresh, spring time scent while you clean your carpets.

"Boot Therapy" Being Used

Much of the risk of major surgery appears to be prevented by a new kind of "boot therapy" pioneered by a surgeon at a New York VA Hospital. Air inflated, intermittently pressurized boots fitting over the feet and to the knees of the patient are put on before anesthesia and have helped prevent blood clots reaching the lungs, resulting in death. So far the "boots" have been successful in operations for 79 veterans. About 95 per cent of postoperative blood clots develop in leg or pelvic veins.

In a world struggling against hunger two salient needs have captured the headlines; increasing food supplies and limiting population growth. But a third need has emerged to form a fateful triangle, and it may prove of prime importance if mankind is to avert famine in another generation. It hinges on drastically trimming the staggering statistics of food losses in field and storagethrough waste, erosion, spoilage, diseases, pests, and improper storage. Indeed, experts estimate that these losses claim fully one-half the world's food supply. What is the quickest way to reduce these losses? Probably by controlling post-harvest losses, Plentiful supplies of beef mean that this is a good time to look for specials on beef at the local stores. Stocking your freezer now with various beef cuts at economical prices will allow you to enjoy beef tomorrow at today's prices.

VA Send Students To Colleges

Students attending college with an assistance check from the Veterans Administration under the GI Bill have become eligible for an educational loan up to $600 a semester. Students may use the money for any attendance-related expense, and must not be able to secure an educational loan through HEW guarantees before being eligible for the direct VA loan. Repayment of the loan is set after a student completes schooling.

A refugee couple arrived into the United States with the dream of becoming American Citizens. After five years of much red tape and study, the husband rushed into the kitchen one day, with the long awaited news: "Marie, Marie! At last, we are Americans!" "Fine, she replied, now you wash the dishes."

Redbud Festival Coming

This peaceful scene at Wondering Woods, Cave City, Kentucky will soon be alive with activity during the Redbud Festival April 5th through 20th. The festival is being held this year to celebrate the opening there of the Chaumont Milling Company on April 18th. The mill will be water powered.

Listen . . . there's a new sound in the air . . . water rushing down and splashing over a slowly turning wheel. Industry has come to the little community of Wondering Woods. The Chaumont Milling Company has opened its doors for business. Inside the weathered building, old fashioned waterground corn meal is once again being produced. Of course, this may not be progress as far as the world of the 1970's is concerned, but to the small town and its people, it's reason for celebration. And that is just what they are planning to do during a Red Bud Festival, April 5th to the 20th.

The festival will start officially when Robert Gilmore of Wwingsville will be there to participate in the opening and dedication of the doctor's office. All the equipment in the office was donated by Mr. Gilmore's family and was used by his late father in the community of Owingsville for nearly 70 years during his practice there.

Other events during the two week festival will be giving tribute to agriculture, industry and women. On April 10, Dr. Garnett Bradford of the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky will participate in the dedication of the farm and farmhouse. The Chaumont Milling Company will open officially on April 18. Mr. Richard Carls of Pillsbury Mills, New Albany, Indiana will preside at the ceremonies. On April 20, special tribute will be given to the Kentucky Federation of Woman's Clubs. Mrs. Donald Dammert, President of the Kentucky Federation will preside over the ceremonies. Scheduled to start at 11:00 a.m.

With the hills ablaze with the flowering wild dogwood and redbud trees, the inhabitants will be demonstrating their by-gone skills. Ed, the village blacksmith, will be shoeing horses and forging iron into the tools and utensils. Aunt Bee will be stirring a big batch of apple butter. Over at the L. Smith homestead, the farmer will be riving and splitting tobacco sticks, while inside the old farmhouse, his wife will be busy in the kitchen with her hominy making.

Around the noon hour, the aroma of country sausage, ham, buttermilk biscuits, and corn bread will draw every soul in the village into brown's Beunery for a leisurely lunch.

In the quiet of the afternoon, some may slip off to the Opera House to reminisce with the silent movies of Charlie Chaplin of Laurel and Hardy. Others will resume their chores of soap making, quilting, or weaving. Their methods may have given way to the wheels of progress, but to the craftsmen of Wondering Woods who once again relive the past, it is all in a day's work.

Come on down to the Mammoth Cave Area of Kentucky and join in the festivities with the pleasant folk of Wondering Woods. It's located just around the bend from the I-65 exits at either Cave City or Park City, Kentucky. See you there!

Consumer Comment

If your friend tells you he had something notarized, has he seen a dry cleaner, a doctor or a member of the clergy? The answer is, "None of the above." Actually, he has been to see a notary public, a person certified by the state to verify that a person has appeared furnished proof of his or her identity and signed a document or taken oath.

The notary simply serves as a kind of "witness" who attests to someone's identity. A notarized statement does not attest to any facts. When a notary signs a document, it does not mean that the facts are necessarily true. And, in the same respect, a notarized statement is not necessarily a true statement; it simply is a witnessed statement. For example, if Wanda Weightless makes a notarized statement that she lost 100 pounds in two days, the notarization only means that Wanda appeared before a notary, showed her identification and made the statement. The notarization does not prove that she lost weight quickly, but just signifies that she did, in fact say she lost weight.

Don't be fooled when an ad claims a notarized guarantee. A notarized guarantee, like any guarantee, should be put in writing and should be specific as to exactly what is guaranteed, by whom and for how long. And remember, a guarantee is only as good as the person or firm making the guarantee.

Consumers themselves may be asked to have certain documents notarized or "witnessed." If you have trouble finding a notary public, check with your county clerk.

Can We Live Victoriously?
(Hebrews 13:20-21, 1-8)

A minister once said to an evangelist who was holding services in his church: "I have no faith in this matter, but I see it is in the Word of God and I am going to act on God's Word, no matter how I feel." The evangelist replied, "Why brother, that is faith!" "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God." We do not attain or achieve faith, we simply receive it as we read God's Word. Many a child of God is failing to enjoy God's richest blessings in Christ because he fails to receive the gift of faith. He looks within himself for some quality that will enable him to believe, instead of "looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith."

Is it possible to live a victorious life? God's word declares it. But we must go at it God's way, not ours.

Victory in Christ, Hebrews 13:20-21

It is God who gives peace. The absence of war and strife is no guarantee that one will have peace. God is the author of a peace which passes all understanding. His peace abides in all kinds of circumstances. This peace is offered to mankind.

Christians were sometimes thrown into prisons because of their faith. Those who escaped such sentences must not forget those in bonds. They were to exercise the same sympathetic concern as though they themselves were in prison. Does this admonition call to our minds a duty to the starving millions of our world today? What are we doing to help relieve such dire suffering? Is Dr. William Barclay right when he says that it is a sin to have too much while others do not have enough?

The writer sums up his arguments in these verses by calling for contentment. How men need to learn the lesson of contentment. Marriage vows are broken; morals have fallen through the basements; stealing and all manner of other crimes are on the increase - all because men have not learned to be content with what they have. Victory will not come until we learn to be content.

Victory in Conviction, Hebrews 13:7-8

God's word had been spoken to those early Christians. They were called upon to remember the ones who had remained faithful in declaring to them the word of God. This is a day when multitudes do not know what to believe. In this passage the suggestion is offered which all would do well to heed. Is it God's word? People need to read and study the Bible today. They need to follow the faith once for all delivered to the Saints.

Men change from one generation to the next but Jesus never changes. He is the same yesterday, today, and forever. The man who doesn't stand for something will fall for anything, but the world will step aside for the man who knows where he is going!

Clear Creek Helps All People

280 cases of Florida grapefruit and oranges, valued at more than $2,000 last week sweetened the recession inflation diets of campus families at the Clear Creek Baptist School, Pineville.

The surprise truck load of fruit was donated by the Radnor Baptist Church, Nashville, Tenn., to low income student families at the local theological school for adults. The Rev. Paul Durham, pastor of the Nashville church stated, "During the month of March our church has been remarkably blessed by having a 15 member team of Clear Creek students helping us in a Sunday School enlargement program. The gift of fresh fruit to the school's deserving ministerial student families was one way we had of showing our appreciation for the help Clear Creek has been to us."

Each campus family received almost 2 cases of the expensive fruit.

MOUNTAIN MOMENTS
by K. Maynard Head

The Telephone Call

The other evening at our house, the telephone rang. Now this doesn't mean much most places, but at home it signals the beginning of a mini World War III!

David, my teenage son, who spends his time at home either shooting a nerf basketball at a wire goal affixed to the top of our kitchen door or lying (if you can call it that) on the couch, leaped to his feet at the first tingle of the telephone, yelling at the top of his voice, "I'll get it!"

From the other side of the room, Michael, our ten year old comic book nut, sprang into action! Dressed in a bathrobe, which brings out his Kung Fu tendencies, he made a desperate attempt to reach the phone first.

Joyce and I nervously awaited the confrontation hoping the house was strong enough to withstand the onslaught.

Only three people ever call us David's girl friend, Michael's best friend, and my mother-in-law. Only the foolheartly or the foolish would get in the line of fire, so when the phone rang, I closed my eyes and hoped for the best.

This time it was Mike's friend who called. He and Mike have a special project going - the creation of super heroes of the comic book variety, and he had called to ask Mike's opinion on a costume.

During the conversation I began sneezing. Usually my sneezing doesn't end until I have sneezed five times, but before I had finished the first good one, Mike shoved the telephone in my face so his friend could hear.

Well, this was enough to interrupt me, and I stopped. Have you ever wanted to sneeze but couldn't? While I was doing my best to finish the required number of sneezes, Joyce kept saying, "Look at the light! Look at the light," a technique some people use to bring on a sneeze, and Michael had the telephone rammed against my nose urging, "Sneeze, Daddy, sneeze!"

So if you are ever near my house when the telephone rings, better run for cover especially if you are about to sneeze!

Triumphant Hour

She stood crying by an empty tomb. The beauties of the morn meant nothing to her, for He, who had given meaning to her life, had died on Calvary. Weeping, she turned, "tell me where thou hast laid him..."

"Mary." By one single word joy was reborn. "Master!" she said, and knew her Lord lived.

Now, the tumultuous triumph of that hour rang across the centuries and swelled within me! The Lord is risen.

Come join the mighty chorus. Attend your church - learn the joyous promise of God's love.

FEARLESS FORECAST

By: R.W. Lancaster
Thursday, March 27, 1975

We have a full moon at 5 a.m. this morning and the fishing will be excellent through Sunday night, don't forget to get your new license. Atlas Lynn will be doing his duty and if you don't buy a license the fish and game commission will not have the funds to restock and keep the conservation programs operating. Did you know that we have two youth camps to teach hunting safety and conservation to the young folks in Kentucky and the fees from your hunting and fishing license helps pay for this worthy project.

Friday, March 28th

This is a good day for many things, a safe day for traveling and a good time to seek a promotion or ask a favor of someone and have it granted. Be careful in the evening hours if you are depending on a politician. Plan on having a party tonight if you want to have a congenial good time and enjoy the taste of good food.

Saturday, March 29th

A good day for all kinds of sporting activities and it should be warm enough to enjoy the outdoors after the cold weather we have been having. If you don't want to participate in sports why not start getting the ground ready for that garden you have been talking about all winter. As the old saying goes if we had all the crops that were raised around the stove in January there would never be a shortage of anything.

Sunday, March 30th

On this Easter Sunday I like to read the words of John Newton a couple of centuries ago, but worth repeating. (If I ever reach heaven I expect to find three wonders there: First to meet some I had not thought to see there; Second to miss some I had expected to see there; and Third the greatest wonder of all, to find myself there.

Monday, March 31st

The Moon in the fire sign Sagittarius, making a good aspect to Jupiter as you awaken, should make you feel like facing the world with a lot of ambition. Plan on taking a friend to lunch and have an unexpected good time and if you don't have time at midday, plan on having some friends in this evening.

Any social activities will go well and any business matters should be harmonious.

Tuesday, April 1st

Yesterday was too harmonious a day to think about manual labor but today would be a good time to finish cutting timber or fence posts so they can season out before you need them. Also a good time to break ground and start getting ready for your garden, weather permitting. There should be some after Easter sales on spring clothing and this would be a good day to try on some new shoes for a comfortable fit.

Wednesday, April 2nd

The moon went in to the cardinal earth sign Capricorn early this morning and if we lived further south we could think about planting, maybe if the weather is right we could start a lettuce bed. The Old Farmers Almanac quotes the US Weather Bureau that the Cincinnati area has 198 frost free growing days from April 8th to October 23rd. Personally I think it is either a misprint or the US Weather Bureau needs some new instruments.

Help Stop VA Rumors

The news media in the midwest have been asked to help the Veterans Administration prevent the spread of a rumor stating there is an insurance dividend due World War II Veterans from the year 1948.

At this time the rumor is circulating in the "Chicago area", as mail is being received by the insurance center in Fort Snelling, Minn., from that area. Last week the center received 99 applications for the non-existent "dividend."

During the past year 2,111 letters were received and since the rumor first started making the rounds in January 1969, a total of 369, 580 veterans have written.

"In view of the fact there is no such 1948 dividend, it is time consuming and costly to the VA to respond to these inquiries," a VA spokesman pointed out.

The rumor rears its head periodically usually in house bulletins, veterans publications and bulletins boards. At this time the VA does not know who is circulating the rumor but hopes it can be stopped before an avalanche of mail descends on the insurance center again.

IRS Gives Some Advice

Many kinds of unemployment benefits are not taxable, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Payments made by a state from the Federal Unemployment Trust Fund or under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act are not taxable.

Railroad assistance or welfare benefit payments such as aid to dependent children, are also nontaxable, and payments made by state welfare agencies to participants in work retraining programs are not taxable if they are not greater than public welfare benefits the participants would otherwise receive.

Some workers pay into a voluntary unemployment fund established privately or by a union. The IRS said that money received from such funds equivalent to a worker's contributions is not subject to tax. However, payments a worker receives in excess of personal contributions are taxable.

Also, under the law, payments from a company financed supplemental unemployment fund or similar amounts paid directly by a former employer are taxable. In addition, union benefits paid to members from regular dues set aside for this purpose must be included in income, according to the IRS.

Wages guaranteed under a collective bargaining agreement for periods of unemployment are taxable, as is severance pay and lump sum payments for cancellation of employment contracts.

Unlike nontaxable payments in a work retraining program, payments for services performed in a state welfare agency work relief program are taxable. However, welfare payments in cash, food or other items which are not directly attributable to services performed are not taxable.

The IRS also noted that veterans' benefits for education, training or subsistence from Veterans Administration programs are not taxable.

Citizens Speak Out

By: Bernard Kunkel

For the first time in nearly two hundred years nation which developed the system that produced the highest standard of living and the highest degree of individual freedom ever attained in human history is turning up critically short of countless items. The basic movement is running towards the complete liquidation of our free enterprise system. This destruction is being accomplished by the ruin of our money through inflation, through bureaucratic harassment and strangulation of business, through deliberately created shortages of food, of energy, of raw materials, and of transportation, and through taxes that are intended to bring about the confiscation by government of all property, and of all income above the subsistence level.

This is no accident, it is being planned this way. You don't have to be very smart to know that no nation can or ever has (1) withdrawn all gold, silver, or other precious metals from backing its currency, (2) run the paper money presses overtime, (3) incurred continuous budget deficits, (4) taxed its people more than 35 per cent of their total production, without bringing on financial ruin.

We are quickly becoming a people of the government, by the government, and for the government. There can be a bright future for America when enough people demand that Big Brother unshackle his tyrannical chains. What is needed is more individual responsibility and less government control. It is up to we, the people.

Still Receiving

A recent report revealed 1,241 Spanish American War Veterans, ranging in ages from 87 to 104 years, were on Veterans Administration compensation and pension rolls. The average age was 95, with 36 veterans 100 years or older.

Stuffin' Stuff

Hollow out radishes and fill with a cheese spread... Stuff baked apples with nuts, dates, figs. Honey adds a nice touch, also... Fill pitted dates with nuts or cut up marshmallows... Stuff celery with peanut butter and top with any of the following: peanuts, raisins, sour cream, jam or garlic salt. Hollow out tomatoes and fill with tuna or other seafood salad or fill with ham, chicken or egg salad.

20 Years In Law

Asa M. Rouse

Asa M. Rouse began the general practice of law on March 26, in his office in the Dixie State Bank Building in Walton.

A native of Boone County and of Walton, Mr. Rouse was the recipient of many scholastic honors while a student at the University of Kentucky College of Law, and was a member of Phi Delta Phi, the international honorary fraternity. Upon graduation from the University, he was admitted to the bar in 1953, and previous to the opening of his office was employed by a large insurance firm.

Now in 1975, Mr. Rouse has two associates of Mathis and Benson, but is still located in the Dixie State Bank Building in Walton.

He resides on Plum Street in Walton with his wife, Elizabeth, known as Libby to all her friends, and three children, Mills, a student of University of Kentucky and a 1972 graduate of Walton Verona High School, Amy, a junior at Walton Verona and a majorette and Rebecca, a grade-schooler at Verona Elementary.

Congratulations to 20 years of great achievement.

Looking For Superintendent

The Kenton County Board of Education in its search for a new school superintendent is going to notify the University of Kentucky, the regional universities and the Kentucky Department of Education concerning the vacancy.

The outline of the search came from Robert Scott, board chairman, following a meeting of the membership.

The month of April, he said, will be given over to receiving applications.

The selection, the chairman indicated, is to be made, hopefully, by the end of May so a new superintendent may take a lead role in planning for the new school year beginning in the fall of 1975.

Applications for the post should be sent to Scott, 2003 Highwater Road, Ludlow, Ky. 41016.

Try-Outs For Golden Girl

Try-outs for the Northern Kentucky State College Golden Girls, a modern drill and dance troupe, will be held in Regents Hall on April 10th, 11th, and 12th.

Practice sessions will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday, anytime 5 to 9 p.m. Friday with official judging beginning at 9 a.m. on Saturday.

Any full time student for the 1975 Fall Semester is eligible.

Stockholders Meeting April 4, 1975

The Federal Land Bank Association of Dry Ridge will hold its annual stockholders' meeting on April 4th at the Grant County High School, Dry Ridge, Ky., at 7:00 p.m. Registration will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Kline D. Shipp, manager, states that the association now has loans outstanding of over $10,087,370.00 in the seven county area it serves.

The meeting will conduct necessary business with the election of two directors. Door prizes will be awarded. Mr. W. W. Worthington, Kenton County, chairman of the board, states that a large crowd is expected for this 58th annual meeting.

Come To A Roast Beef Dinner

The Bradford Star Chapter No. 493 Ways and Means Committee will hold a Roast Beef Dinner at the lodge on April 5, 1975.

The time set for the dinner to begin will be 5:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. with prices of $2.25 for adults and $1.00 for children 12 and under. Everyone is welcome to come out and enjoy themselves on a delicious Roast Beef Dinner.

Wa Na Club To Meet

The Wa Na Club will meet on Thursday, April 3rd at 8:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Jack Rouse, Main Street, Walton.

The program is "Crime and Its Prevention" by Thomas Swartz and Willie Mathis, Jr.

Everyone is invited to attend this worthwhile meeting.

Elected Vice-President

James D. Grubbs

James D. Grubbs, partner in Chambers & Grubbs funeral home of Independence and Walton, Ky., has been elected Executive Vice President of Independence Cemetery of Independence, Ky.

He is chairman of the Trustees and a deacon of the Hickory Grove Baptist Church in Independence. Also, a member of Bradford Masonic Lodge No. 123 F&M Independence, Ky., and a 32 degree mason, Valley of Covington, Ky.

Jim is presently serving as president of the largest fishing club in the state of Kentucky, the Walton Fishing Club, which has two hundred and fifty members.

A graduate of Walton Verona High School he lettered in basketball, baseball, and football. Jim attended Morehead University for 3 1/2 years before coming home and taking part in the family business in 1960.

After graduation in 1963 from the Cincinnati College of Mortuary Science he has operated Chambers & Grubbs Funeral Home at 5629 Madison Pike, Independence, Ky., with his wife, Janice Osborne Grubbs, who is serving her Funeral Directors' Apprenticeship at this time.

Jance and Jim have two sons, Steve, 14 and Chris, 7 who may possibly become the 4th generation funeral directors in this family business.

April Is Crusade Month

"April is Crusade Month." We need volunteers to office clerical work from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. each day.

Last year we exceeded our goal in our crusade we are hoping again this year that we can do the same. Please give us your support and it will be greatly appreciated.

For more information contact, Randall Wayne, President of the Northern Ky. Unit at 261-9603.

Help the American Cancer Society and we'll help you.

The menu is Perch Sandwich, French Fries, Cole Slaw, Coffee or Tea, and Dessert.

Prices for adults are $2.00 and $1.25 for children 12 and under.

Come out and enjoy a good fish fry.

"Christics" A Newly Formed Social Group

"Christics" is a new group to this area. Their function is primarily social. Any single 21 or over is eligible to attend their dinners, swimming, parties, or any socials. What sets them apart from other groups is that they do not drink alcoholic beverages.

Since "Christics" has only been in Northern Kentucky for two months, they have not set up dues or regular meeting dates yet. Sue Reed, Cincinnati Christics Vice President, said their group meets about twice a month with dues of $6.00 a year. Anyone wishing to get in on the planning of this group may attend our next meeting at the Ky. Federal Building on April 7 and April 12 at 7:30 p.m.

The word "Christics" comes from a Greek word meaning Christians in Crisis. The organization extends from Dayton, Ohio to Lexington, Ky.

Looking For Camp Counselors

The Tri-City YMCA is now taking applications for Day Camp Senior Counselors, Jr. Counselors, and counselors in training. We are looking for young adults who will be chosen for their Christian attitude, maturity, and love for children. Each counselor will be trained in camp craft skills, and principles of leadership. To fill out application contact, Russ McNamara, Physical Director at 371-4680.

Tri County Democrats That Support Carroll

Tri-county Democrats supporting Julian Carroll for the Democratic nomination for governor in the May primary have revealed plans for two rallies in May.

Pete Burris, heading the effort in Kenton County along with Co-Chairman Albert Wood and James Knauf, told a local meeting of Carroll leadership that Kenton will hold its fund raising affair on May 8. Details are to be worked out.

Six days later Carroll is to return to the area on May 14th for a tri-county rally. Three county judges, Bruce Ferguson of Boone, James Dressman of Kenton, and Lambert Hehl of Campbell, will head the rally.

Burris also named Richard Rankin, Lakeside Park, county campaign treasurer, with Larry West, Edgewood, legal advisor. Mrs. Sue Hickman will lead the women's division.

Two committees were named. Gilbert Kingsbury will chair the publicity and advertising committee along with Clemons B. Deters and Harry Litzler. On the Labor Committee will be Len Cavanaugh and Harry Haake.

Party leaders are still to set the date for the opening of Kenton County Headquarters, 803 Madison Avenue, Covington.

Been Named Vice President

William B. Grieme

A Covington banker and resident of Erlanger, William B. Grieme, has been named Vice President of Region Four of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

Grieme, Vice President of the First National Bank of Covington, will cover the region which coincides with the Northern Kentucky congressional district.

The new officer succeeds the late Ottwell Rankin. Grieme, in the state post, automatically becomes a member of the state chamber's executive committee and is scheduled to attend his first meeting on April 9 in Louisville.

He is also past president of the Northern Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

Fire Department Answers Call

On Tuesday, March 25, the Walton Fire Department answered the call to a burning house in Big Bone at 3 p.m. that afternoon.

Emil Schmidt's house was engulfed in flames by the time they had arrived but they fought the blaze until 5 p.m. and then returned to Walton but were called back to the scene because of smoldering embers and high winds.

A member of the fire department said that the house was a total loss and that investigation was being looked into by the department.

Mr. Emil Schmidt is the operator of the Dew Drop Inn at Big Bone, Ky.

First Major Change In 10 Years

George "Ab" Ryan congratulates William Ross of Sparta, Ky., on his purchase of the first Massey Ferguson tractor of the new 200 series.

All of the personnel of the Ryan Implement Co., of Walton express pleasure with the major changes made this year in the tractor, these were the first in 10 years. The local dealership was franchised in 1960.

All FFA members and Parents, Honorary Members, Past Chapter Farmers, FFA Officers and friends will attend the banquet.

The Menu will consist of either turkey or steak.

The guest speaker will be Mike Easley of the State FFA Secretary.

Members will be recognized for their work through out the year. There will be an honorary member recognized that the members have voted on.

This will finish out the year for the old officers and the new officers will carry on their duties.

Bacon Shoot On April 13th

A Bacon Shoot will be held on Sunday, April 13th at Barrell Lake at Noon.

Raffle, trap, and target shooting will be offered.

This Bacon Shoot is in cooperation for eyesight care.

Everyone please try and come out and have a nice day and give us your support.

Keeps Officers

Booth Memorial Hospital will continue under the same set of officers which during the past year planned the move to Boone County.

H. Charles Jones, Kenton Hills and president of Hickman, Williams Co., Cincinnati, was re-elected council chairman. James Morrison, Edgewood, vice president of the Rusk Heating and Air Conditioning Co., was renamed vice chairman, and Thomas O. Youtsey, Ft. Mitchell, partner in the Beutell-Youtsey Insurance Co., was returned as secretary.

Tome E. Hill, who also is chairman of the Long Range Planning Committee, returns to the executive committee along with Joseph Milburn and Dr. John Siehl.

Returned to the council for three year terms were Hill, Morrison, Eugene Druly, David Herriman, Kenneth McCracken, Asa Rouse and William Stewart.

Chairman of the Nominating Committee was James C. Ware, Lakeside Park, Covington attorney, and a past chairman of the council.

Goodwill Drive April 13th

Goodwill's annual United Clothing Drive in Northern Kentucky will be held Sunday, April 13th, from 1 to 5 p.m., in an all out four hour sweep of Kenton, Campbell and Boone Counties.

Front Porch Pick up of bugged or boxed clothing, shoes and small household items will be made by uniformed Boy Scouts of the Big Bone and Cherokee districts, Dan Beard Council. Bernie Illies and Gene Pollack will direct the Kentucky Scouts in their "Big Good Turn Day" collection.

Donors are urged to bag or box all their unused, repairable items and place them on their front porch no later than 12 noon on Sunday, April 13th.

United Clothing Drive bags will be distributed in the Sunday, March 30th. Enquirer, but any handy bag or box may be used. Some 'Club Packs' will be distributing bags and reminder cards in their neighborhoods the day before the drive.

"Our goal is to exceed the 147,500 pounds of donated materials received in last year's drive," Jim Schworer, Director of the Northern Kentucky Goodwill Rehabilitation Center, stated. "This year's donations are desperately needed to keep the handicapped workers and vocational trainees supplied with materials for recycling."

Donated items will be cleaned, repaired, and then sold in Goodwill's Thrift Stores. Proceeds from the store sales provide 65% of the funds to support Goodwill's many rehabilitation services.

Simon Kenton PTA Meets April 7th

The Simon Kenton PTA will meet on Monday, April 7th at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

The President's Club will present the program.

Everyone is urged to attend this meeting.

"Ain't Going Nowhere"

By: Bob Fonde

I've got some feed corn in my mill,
I've got my house up on the hill,
Got my dog and my old bey mare,
I am contented,
Ain't going nowhere.

Next week I marry with the widow
Drake,

She's got a farm with a fishing lake,
She's got a cow and a rocking chair,
She's contented,
Ain't going nowhere.

We'll have our fireplace, and our Bible to read,
We'll have our hogs and our chickens to feed,
We have our years of memories to share,

We'll be contented,
Ain't going nowhere.

Farm Management
Workshop

Last week approximately 25 local farm people completed a Farm Management workshop held at the Owen County RECC Building on the Walton Nicholson Road in Kenton County. The workshop was conducted by the Kenton County Cooperative Extension Service and University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. First Kentucky PCA in Walton provided coffee for all sessions and a meal of barbecued pork shops for the final evening.

Those attending were Jerry Jackson, Mike Spenlau, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Chastain, Lawrence Lawson, Robert Northcutt, George Wising, Charles Gall, Keith Russell, Kevin Russell, Ron Cooper, Ed Scott, Harold Clayton, Doug Clayton, Mary Regensburger, Eddie Cummins, Cecil Cummins, Denis Murphy, Lawrence Robke, Felix Holliday, Fred Cuzic, Leslie Stephens, Rita Funke, Ken Dixon, Steve Fisk, and Vince Rawe.

The first two sessions were devoted to the study of farm management principles. Steve Allen, Farm Management Specialist from the University of Kentucky spoke about Requirement for Successful Farming in the Next Decade and Fitting The Cropping Programs to the Land. Also present and participating in the second session was Chuck Moore, Farm Management Specialist from the University of Kentucky.

Participants used Farm Management Handbooks and budget forms to work up a farming program during the third session. Farms operated by Cecil and Eddie Cummins were used as sample farms.

During the final session plans were reported and compared. Cropping and livestock programs were based on the soil capabilities. Soil Conservation Service had classified the sample farms on the basis of soil classes. Don Crabtree of SCS was present at this last meeting with copies of the Soil Survey of Kenton, Campbell and Boone Counties.

At one session Steve Allen reported that a study at a leading University showed that farmers who had participated in similar Farm Management Workshops increased their returns by approximately $700 for each hour

This may surprise you, but the specific flavor which identifies meat—beef, pork, lamb and veal—usually lies in the fat. Even experienced meat experts can be fooled in taste tests when no fat is present.

Chicken Chatter—Chicken halves cook faster than the whole chicken. Allow one chicken half to portion. Boning chicken is easier and faster if the breasts are slightly frozen. Try baking chicken in a mixture of creamed tomato and canned mushroom soups.

What is organic matter? Organic matter is decomposed plant and animal tissue. Normally, home gardeners utilize compost, peatmoss, manure, decayed leaves and sawdust as sources of organic matter. Organic matter also includes the root systems of plants that grew in the garden the previous year. The organic matter which you add to your garden soil will undergo further decomposition into an unidentifiable material referred to as "humus". Humus holds the soil particles together in crumbs or aggregates. The formation of these crumbs loosens clay soil so that air and water move freely in the soil.

Clay soils that have good structure (they are called "well aggregated") drain excess water well. At the same time, these would hold more water available to the plant for a longer period of time. Through this same process, clay soils high in organic matter do not tend to cake or crust over after rain.

Since the root systems of plants require air to survive, it is essential that the soil exchange air easily with the atmosphere. The loosening effect of organic matter allows for good air exchange and, therefore, healthier plants.

Spread 2 to 4 inches of organic matter over your garden area in early spring and work it in when you are preparing your garden soil. The addition of organic matter can also be done in the fall after much of the garden has been killed by frost. Throughout the summer good compost or grass clippings (be sure they have not been treated with herbicides) may be added to the soil surface as a mulch and spaded under in the fall or the following spring.

If you use peat moss, also add 5 pounds of ground limestone per 105 square feet of garden space. Should you be using sawdust as an organic matter source, supplement it with 18 pounds of a 5-10-10 fertilizer or 3 pounds of Ammonium Nitrate (33-0-0) per 100 square feet.

The addition of organic matter is not a one time operation but needs to be done annually. Once your garden soil develops a good structure it can be maintained by composting the plant residues and returning them to the soil.

Another factor to consider in improving a garden soil is its relative acidity. The acidity is measured on a pH scale from 1.0 to 14.0 with 7.0 being neutral. A pH of 6.0 to 6.9 (slightly acid) is the ideal range for a garden soil. This range allows for optimum availability of nutrients necessary for good plant growth. A pH range from 6.0 to 6.8 also helps provide the optimum environment for soil microorganisms which play an important role in soil fertility.

Soil testing is necessary to determine the pH of your garden soil. If a soil test shows a pH below 6.0, lime is required to raise it to optimum levels. The exact amount would be indicated by the soil test.

A sample of garden soil is taken by taking cores of soil 1 inch in diameter and 6 inches deep from several locations in the garden area. Allow these cores to air dry and mix them together in a clean non-metallic container. This mixture represents a composite soil sample for your garden from which a test can be made. Various testing devices are available through garden supply stores for determining pH and nutrient availability.

The Boone County Extension Service will accept soil samples for testing. For information call 586-6101 Ext. 17 or 18.

Ledford To Join KMA Staff

Robert G. Cox, Executive Director of the Kentucky Medical Association, announced today that Mr. Jan L. Ledford would join the executive staff of the Association effective on April 1.

Mr. Ledford, former Assistant Store Manager for Stewart's Dry Goods, Oxmoor, is a native of Louisville and a 1967 graduate of Transylvania University. He has been active in the Louisville Jaycees, the United Fund and the Shryock Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association.

The 30 year old Ledford will assume numerous administrative responsibilities and other duties now held by Gilbert Armstrong, who will retire in June from the staff of the state wide medical organization.

Kentucky Chosen As Model State

Kentucky has been chosen as the model state for developing a national code for regulating government purchasing. The code, which will encompass all phases of the governmental purchasing process, will guide the establishment of uniform procedures and eliminate the opportunity for corruption and favoritism. Dee Ashley Akers, secretary of the Development Cabinet, said the code will both save tax dollars and enable smaller businessmen and contractors to compete for government business.

Carroll To Seek California industry

Gov. Julian Carroll, along with 65 Kentucky Business leaders and industrial development professionals, will visit California April 2 and 3 as part of an economic development effort to recruit new industry to the state. Carroll will urge California businesses and industries to consider Kentucky's resources and advantages when planning eastward expansion. Among those resources and advantages, Carroll lists Kentucky's vast coal reserves and energy research programs, its central location, good transportation system, productive labor force and equitable tax structure.

Peanuts?

The US produces over three billion pounds of peanuts. It takes more than 52,000,000 loaves of white bread each day to feed Americans.

Sprinkle lemon juice or herb vinegar on boiled vegetables for a delightful tart touch. Add leftover stuffing to soups. It enhances the flavor and will help thicken the soup.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

Daylight Saving Time/ Fertilizer Production

When year-round Daylight Saving Time was enacted, I stated on the Senate floor that there was absolutely no assurance that it would save energy as its proponents contended. Our experiment with year-round DST provide my contention correct, and Congress shortened DST to eight months a year. Later this year we will revert to six months of DST.

While we are grateful for these reductions, the problems and inconveniences remain the same as long as DST is in effect during the winter months. We still have school children standing in the dark waiting for school buses. This is a serious safety hazard and many parents as well as the Kentucky Farm Bureau have registered their complaints with me.

In addition to the safety problem, DST disrupts the working day of the farmer, hinders commerce, and inconveniences the general public. By making parents and children get up in the colder morning hours and by forcing parents to drive children to school for safety reasons, DST actually encourages more energy use, not less.

As a result, Senator Wendell Ford and I have introduced legislation to shorten by another five weeks the period of time Kentucky and the rest of the nation would be under Daylight Saving Time. Our Bill would limit DST from the first Sunday in May to the last Sunday in September.

We have experimented too long at the expense of school children, farmers, businessmen and the public in general, and it is time to assure them that we will not put them through the hazards and inconveniences of winter DST again. I hope that our proposal to return to a reasonable Daylight Saving Time can be acted on as soon as possible.

I am happy to report that the three fertilizer plants supplying Kentucky are now operating at or near full capacity. These plants—two in Alabama and one in North Carolina earlier had reduced their operations because of a shortage in natural gas.

Several members of our Congressional delegation as well as those from other states have been working with the Federal Power Commission to assure that these plants will get the natural gas necessary to operate at full capacity. If they do not farmers in Kentucky would suffer tremendously with a possible loss of 40 per cent of our fertilizer.

BY M. GENE SNYDER U.S. CONGRESSMAN 4th District, Kentucky

Big Government: Worth To Taxpayers?

over a one hundred billion dollar budget? "Yet today," the Secretary of the Treasury declared, "we are actually contemplating a deficit of that much!"

In recent weeks my column has detailed the growth of American Government at all levels over the last 25 years, and the astronomical projected expansion of both Social Security taxes and benefits over the next 75 years. My purpose was two fold. First, I wanted to show how government is increasing the load on the taxpayer's shoulders (a) to pay for the rising salaries over 20% of all US paychecks of increasing numbers of public employees, now almost one out of every five in the Nation's work force, and (b) to underwrite huge increases in government programs.

Secondly, I wanted to demonstrate with truly startling figures the diminishing value of our dollar expected from only 3% projected annual inflation. And yet we see inflation this year actually will be 7 or 8%, not 3%.

Government borrowing is the cause of the runaway inflation that inevitably had to bring on the recession that we now have to cope with in addition to continued inflation. The cruellest tax of all is inflation; it dilutes the dollar.

Often I have pointed out that our money supply is inflated, that is, expanded with the additional number of dollars placed in circulation, when checkbook loans are taken out through our banks by any person, any business, or any government. The money supply is deflated, that is, diminished by the number of dollars taken out of circulation, when any loan is repaid to the banks.

You and I have to pay back loans we or our businesses make, so their inflationary effect is only temporary. But Uncle Sam just keeps on borrowing more and more forever! To raise the money needed to pay off any US securities that are coming due with interest, the Federal government has to issue still more debt securities. This is because taxes are not heavy enough to meet those payments, since Congress is unwilling to face the music by leveling with the people as to the real cost of its great programs. It simply authorizes more borrowing and our dollars are cheaper still more. Now, we are all facing the music. We're finding out the hard way with inflation and recession that there's no free lunch! No one including government, can forever spend beyond his income, with out disaster resulting. Again, I ask the question each taxpayer must ask himself, "Is big government worth it to me?"

"Are the crappie running yet?"

"What's the water temperature at Herrington?" "Is Grayson Lake rising or stable?" These are just a few of the hundreds of questions anglers ask about Kentucky's major lakes. And it's because of this great interest on the part of the fishermen that the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources compiles and issues a special fishing report twice each week from early spring through late fall.

The statewide fishing report that appears in this paper is the result of teamwork, time and a lot of telephone calls. The report gets its

To The Editor:

Dear Sir:

The African, Asian and Communist nations now completely dominate the United Nations, having 64% of the total membership.

These are, of course, nowhere near 138 countries in the world, which deserve to be called nations. For instance, the tiny African nation of Chad, where the natives are right out of the trees, they tend toward such uncivilities as burying their dead in ant hills. Yet, this "nation" in the so-called United Nations has an equal vote in the Security Council, where our enemy, the Soviet Union, has three votes to our one.

Since the creation of the monstrosity called the United Nations, the US has contributed four billion seven hundred million dollars to it. One hundred twenty of the United Nation's 138 "nations", all combined pay less into it than we do each year.

Uncle Sucker is being bled by the UN, which has conclusively proved that it is incapable of either preventing, ending or winning wars. If and when our country is even taken over, most knowledgeable people on that subject would probably agree that there is more chance of it being taken from within than from without. Whereas, with our disarmament proceeding apace as it is, the Communists might be able soon to destroy us with an atomic attack, why should they do that when they are taking us over without firing a shot?

We shouldn't worry about fall out but rather sellout. Treason is the reason. Let's petition our Congressman now to get the US out of the UN and the UN out of the US.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Joseph J. Kunkel
Union, Ky.

Spending . . .
Doesn't have to be a one way street if part of what you spend is invested in US Savings Bonds. The easy way to buy them is to sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Why wait - spend now and insure your future!

start out on the 15 major lakes (lakes of more than 1,000 acres) where Department of Fish and Wildlife Conservation Officers make regular checks on fishing activity and water conditions. The officers pay particular attention to where and how the anglers made their catches. For example, the information provided by the officers may show that fishermen were catching crappie by still fishing minnows near drop offs, or black bass at the heads of tributaries on live nightcrawlers.

The fishing report also tries to let fishermen know how productive the fishing is. The terms most often used are: "Slow," for only scattered catches; "Fair," for a few good catches but none in limit numbers; "Good," for consistent fishing when several limits or near limits are reported and "Excellent," when limit catches are numerous.

The fishing reports are compiled from the conservation officers every Monday and Thursday morning at the Frankfort office of Fish and Wildlife. The fishing report mornings start early, usually before six o'clock, because more than two dozen phone calls must be placed to officers around the Commonwealth.

When all the fishing information is put together and typed up, it is sent immediately to news wire services in Frankfort for distribution to wire outlets around Kentucky and into neighboring states. And on Thursday and the Department of Fish and Wildlife also mails copies of the report to more than 250 newspapers and radio and television stations.

The radio and TV stations also can receive a bonus service, a special tape recorded fishing report every day. Each spring, broadcasting stations across the state receive the new unlisted "Code a phone" number they can call for updated fishing information. This service has become tremendously popular with stations over the past few years and many radio stations now make it a regular part of their broadcasting schedule.

God's Glory In Creation

(Psalm 104:1-4, 24-34)

Emerson spoke of God's glory in these poignant words: "Nature is too thin a screen; the glory of the omnipresent God bursts through everywhere."

Cruden said of God: "This is one of the names which we give to that eternal, infinite, and incomprehensible being, the creator of all things, who preserves and governs every thing by his almighty power and wisdom, and who is the only object of our worship."

There are three words which the writer of Psalm 104 used as he spoke of God.

God's Greatness, Psalm 104:1-4

The writer challenges his own soul to praise the Lord. He does this because of an overwhelming sense of the greatness of God. God is clothed with honor and majesty. This reminds one of Isaiah's vision of God in the Temple. He saw God as "high and lifted up, and his train filled the whole temple" (Isaiah 6:1).

The writer of this psalm saw God as the creator. God has "stretched out the heavens" as a man would stretch out a tent! God had laid the beams of His dwelling upon the waters. He used the clouds as His chariot, and He moved from place to place on the wings of the wind. These winds became His message bearers. Fire and lightning become ministering servants for Him!

To reflect upon the marvelous works of creation is to conclude with Emerson that "nature is too thin a screen; the glory of the omnipresent God bursts through everywhere."

To consider the heavens, the work of His hands is to agree with the psalmist that God is great!

God's Goodness, Psalm 104:24-30

The psalmist is again overwhelmed at the infinite variety of God's works! But he also notes that God has a plan and purpose in mind when He created everything. The fullness of the earth with creatures made by God testified to the wisdom of His works. The innumerable living things of the sea left man without words of explanation.

In verse 26 the Leviathan was probably the whole. All of these creatures, on earth or in the sea, looked to God for food at the proper time. God made available to them the food necessary for life. But even these creatures must gather it up. The psalmist saw the goodness of God. God always provides. Whether the lilies of the field, the birds of the air, the foxes of the hills and desert, or human beings: God cares and provides.

Verse 29 says that when God hides

His face from His creatures, they are dismayed. God is the One who has the power of life and death in His hands. He speaks and creation comes about. He speaks again and creation returns to the face of the ground!

Yes, God has the whole wide world in His hand!

God's Glory, Psalm 104:31-34

The glory of God means the purpose of God. The prayer of the psalmist is that God's glory will "for ever more endure." Once man has experienced something of God's presence and glory his natural reaction is "Lord, it is good for us to be here, let us build here three tabernacles." The psalmist further prayed that God might continue to rejoice in His creation.

God is so great that a mere glance at the earth from Him would cause it to tremble. If God were to touch the mountains they would be set on fire! To such an one as God man can but praise His name. The psalmist had found One in whom he would gladly invest the whole life. He promises his remaining days to the service and worship of this One who is Great, Good and Glorious!

Revival Services
Florence Baptist

Clyde Burns

Revival Services will be held April 7-13th nightly at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. at the Florence Baptist Temple. Rev. Dave Drury from Waldorf, Maryland will be the guest speaker and Clyde Burns will be the guest soloist each night.

Not two years old until June 22nd, Florence Baptist Temple set another new attendance record on Easter Sunday with 320 present breaking the old record of 296. Seventeen people were added to the church in the month of March alone. Florence Baptist Temple is one of the fastest growing Independent Baptist Churches in Northern Kentucky. The church is located three miles west on Ky. 18 off I-75. For more information you may call 371-5107 or 586-6090 or 371-3826.

Have you found God to be worthy of your trust and devoted service? If not won't you read your Bible, attend the services of your church, and ask God to reveal Himself to you today!

Kenton Baptist Church
Will Hold Revival

The Kenton Baptist Church located on Decoursey Highway, Kenton, Kentucky will hold their revival on April 6 to the 13.

Services will begin each evening at 7:30 p.m. with the guest speaker, Rev. Raymond Bailey holding each service.

On the following morning services on the 13th, lunch will be served immediately following the service.

The Travelers from Cincinnati will present some fine Gospel Singing at 2:00 p.m.

The public is invited to attend each service and to listen to good music and good preaching.

See you then!

MOUNTAIN MOMENTS

by K. Maynard Head

Overalls

Sometimes I wonder what the world is coming to. The current nostalgia craze seems to indicate that we have a desire to return to the past, but even those who never lived "in the past" appear to be headed in that direction.

Take my son, David, for example. He is wearing today, of all things, a pair of overalls! Years ago, a child of his age never wore overalls - just for the fun of it. They were worn for work. And when worn over another pair of pants, they served to keep one warm on a chilly morning. Besides that, all sorts of good things could be carried in the bib. Like a pocket watch on a chain. Or a plug of tobacco.

My grandfather, Caney Head, always wore overalls, or as he called them, "overalls." Even on Sunday when Pappaw went to the little Primitive Baptist Church where he worshipped, he wore his newest pair with a white starched shirt. And he looked dressed up!

As a child I would often sit with him on the porch swing late in the afternoon. Pappaw would tell us stories and events of his younger days which entertained us until bedtime. Several times during the evening, he would cut a piece of chewing tobacco off the plug he always carried. It looked good, but it was much later before I had my first (and last!) chew, and I'll tell you about it in a future story.

I could always tell when it was time to go to bed. The tree frogs croaked a little louder, the swing squeaked more often, and Pappaw looked at his gold watch with a kind of serious expression on his face.

If I had not already fallen asleep, as I did occasionally, he would tell Mammaw it was time for bed. She then took us to the bedroom my brother and I shared when we visited them and tucked us in.

The hill spreads out in front of them, stretching up and up; they can't see over the top. There may be clouds in the distance; but just now they are oblivious to them. They are together, and for the moment, that is all that matters.

Together, the mood, the romance it evokes, are a part of life. But so is that uphill winding road. Traveling through life, you often can't see over the top. You can only give each step along the way the best that is in you.

Fortunately, this is a journey that none of us has to make alone. Your Creator is reaching out to you and the doors of His Church are forever open. If you haven't passed through those doors for a long time, or if you have never passed through them at all, give it a try next Sunday! You will not be alone, and a new perspective may be yours.

You can buy ham more wisely if you know the meaning of the terms on the label. "Cured" hams have been processed with a pickle cure that acts as a preservative and adds flavor. "Cured and smoked" hams have been smoked as well as cured and then partially and fully cooked. "Canned" hams have been cured and fully cooked - some must be refrigerated while others are shelf stable until the can has been opened, so check the label to make sure which kind you are buying.

Check milk labels: "Skim milk" is not the same as "low fat" or "fortified skim" or even "two percent." Each one is different.

"Moving On With FHA"

"Moving on With FHA" provided an inspiring theme as the girls from 13 high schools in Northern Kentucky met, exchanged ideas, had fun, and elected officers for Region 7 for 1975-76. The meeting was held on March 15 at Campbell County High School.

Karen Hart, Regional President from Pendleton County High School, led the group in the opening ritual and the business sessions.

The Highlands Chapter challenged the group to "move on with FHA" by being an active member, serving as an officer or committee member and working on Encounter and Impact projects.

A special feature of the day was a talk by Mrs. Kay Wright Lemmons, who is currently on an assistantship in Child Development for her Masters Degree in Child Development at the University of Kentucky. Mrs. Lemmons has a strong background in FHA as she served as state historian and as a regional officer while a student at Pendleton County High School. Her topic "Looking Toward Promising Careers" was both interesting and informative as she urged the group to build their future by making a wise career choice.

"Region 7 moves on with IMPACT" was an afternoon feature with participants from the various chapters relating the details of their in-depth project of school and community service. From Simon Kenton, 12 members participated with Martha Tolliver reading a poem.

Other parts of the program which were participated in by Simon Kenton were Vickie Hollingsworth and Martha Tolliver who ran for regional officer.

Regional officers were elected and Martha Tolliver from Simon Kenton will serve as 2nd Vice President.

The group adjourned with new ideas to use in their local chapters and enthusiastic plans for Region 7 for a successful 1975 and 76 school year.

Benefits For Widows

The Veterans Administration today reminded widows of veterans whose pension and compensation payments were terminated after their remarriage that a 1970 law allows restoration of these benefits if they become widowed a second time.

VA officials noted that prior to enactment of PL 91-376, VA benefits for a widow were permanently discontinued if she remarried.

This policy applied to VA pensions paid to needy widows of veterans who died of non-service connected disabilities and to dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) paid to widows of those killed in military service or who died of service connected causes.

Widows interested in regaining these benefits should contact regional Veterans Administration offices or representatives of local veterans service organizations.

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS

CINCINNATI BELL INC.

Notice is hereby given of a hearing to be held before the Public Service Commission of Kentucky on April 21, 1975, at 9:00 A.M. Eastern Daylight Time, in the Commission's offices at Frankfort, Kentucky, in the matter of the Application of Cincinnati Bell Inc. for an order authorizing it to file revised and original tariff pages for the purpose of introducing a Directory Assistance Charging Plan, Case No. 8230.

The tariff pages proposed to be filed, when approved by the Commission, provide, as follows:

1. The rates set forth below apply when customers request assistance in determining telephone numbers of customers (1) who are located in the same local service area, or (2) who are not located in the same local service area but who are located in that part of the Commonwealth of Kentucky for which Cincinnati Bell Inc. furnishes centralized Directory Assistance Service.

2. Where the customer, direct dial, the Directory Assistance attendant via an operator, the charge for each call (maximum of two requested telephone numbers per call) is $2.00.

3. Where the customer places a call to the Directory Assistance attendant via an operator, the charge for each call (maximum of two requested telephone numbers per call) is $4.00.

4. A customer is allowed three direct dialed Directory Assistance calls per month for each eight Centrex telephones at no charge. Where the number of Centrex telephones furnished to a customer is not a multiple of eight, the customer is allowed three direct dialed Directory Assistance calls for the fraction of an amount.

Call allowances are not transferable between separate accounts of the same customer. 5. Charges for Directory Assistance service are not applicable to calls placed from public and semipublic telephones, to direct dialed Directory Assistance calls from hotels and motels that maintain rooms for occupancy by guests for periods of less than one month, that have a substantial proportion of guest rooms regularly so occupied, and that provide telephones in the majority of the guest rooms, to direct dialed Directory Assistance calls from hospitals that have as their principal undertaking both the medical and surgical care of the physically sick and wounded and that provide telephones in the majority of the patient rooms, or to calls from telephones where the customer or a member of the customer's household has been certified by a registered physician as unable to use a directory because of a visual or physical handicap.

The proposal to introduce the Directory Assistance Charging Plan is set forth in the Company's Application, copies of which are on file and available for public inspection during normal business hours in the office of the Secretary of the Public Service Commission of Kentucky, Frankfort, Kentucky, and at the following offices of the Company:

FEARLESS FORECAST

By: R. W. Lancaster

Thursday, April 3, 1975

The Moon in Capricorn is a good time to do some home baking and cakes should turn out a golden brown, try it. If you have been planning to make some economical food purchases in quantity try the morning hours while the moon is in opposition to Saturn which is a depressing aspect to merchants.

Friday, April 4th.

The Moon goes in to the fixed air sign Aquarius this afternoon so now is the time to go on that diet or quit any bad habits you have acquired over the winter. If you want your hair to be slow growing back, get it cut today or Saturday. Also a good time for interior painting and use your own judgement on the outside.

Saturday, April 5th.

A good day to have any teeth filled but a poor time to have them pulled and if you need new glasses get your eyes examined next Monday for a good fit. Might shop around for some new garden tools in the afternoon and get a bargain and it might be a good time to buy your seeds if you know what you are going to plant.

Sunday, April 6th.

I wonder if the statement of Charles Spurgeon the English Clergyman is always true? Quote When you see a man with a great deal of religion displayed in his shop window, you may depend upon it, he keeps a very small stock of it within.

Monday, April 7th.

The moon went in to the water sign Pisces early this morning so if you think the frosts are over you can start thinking about planting, potatoes, onions, and bulbs for seed should do exceptionally well and also a good time to set out trees if you want sturdy roots, if you haven't completed your pruning, today thru Wednesday is an excellent time to finish up.

Tuesday, April 8th.

The fish are biting today and tomorrow and also this weekend with the new moon so buy a new license and take your choice. This is a poor day for traveling but a good time for writing letters and correspondence also a good time to write an ad for next weeks paper as the aspects for selling are excellent for next weekend.

Wednesday, April 9th.

If you want to good root system on your rose bushes, transplant them before evening and to keep aphids off your rose bushes plant a clump of chives in the near vicinity, and if you have trouble with mildew and black spot plant some garlic close by, and to ward off the Japanese beetle plant geraniums.

Diet Supplement For Alcoholics

A diet supplement of an amino acid, tryptophan, may help alcoholics stay dry by relieving some of the symptoms of alcohol-related body chemistry disorders, Veterans Administration research indicates. Tryptophan is one of the amino acids in meat and other protein foods.

A psychiatrist at the Palo Alto, California, VA Hospital and a University of Colorado psychologist report that chemically produced 5 hydroxytryptophan (5-HTP), given in larger concentrations than occur naturally in a normal diet, helps alcoholics achieve normal sleeping patterns because it reduces or normalizes the fragmentation of dreaming (REM) sleep in alcoholic patients.

The finding is important, according to Dr. Vincent P. Zarcone, Jr., and Eric Hoddes, M. A., because serotonin, a natural tranquilizer substance in the brain, has been shown to be reduced in alcoholism.

Tryptophan is one of the chemicals from which the body makes serotonin.

Fragmentation of sleep is frequently observed in alcoholic patients who are abstinent from alcohol for many weeks and indicates a persisting abnormal brain function even when the patient has no other clinical signs.

Restoration of normal levels of serotonin might reduce some of the aggressiveness, irritability, depression and tensions felt by alcoholics when they are not drinking, symptoms which may contribute to the resumption of drinking.

Dr. Zarcone and Hoddes believe their study encourages further research in this area which could be quite significant both in furthering the understanding of alcoholism and developing a rational biochemical treatment for the disorder.

Is It Time To Renew

Old House Gives Way To Church

Writing about old houses is a joy, for there isn't a sagging log, frame or crumbling brick structure that doesn't have a story to tell.

Near the edge of Salyersville, in Eastern Kentucky, was a log house, parts of which dated to the 1790's. Imagine the shock, a year or so ago, while traveling the Mountain Parkway, when I looked toward the old house to feast, as usual, on the sight of the silver patina of weatherboarding, rock chimney pulling away from the side and sky reflections in hand blown window glass to find the house gone and in its place rows of concrete blocks!

My thought was they just can't do that! But they did, and on the site of a house built by Archibald Prater and his companions, the first non Indian home builders in the Meadows of the Licking River.

The redeeming feature in this block foundation was that it would hold a new church. The Misses Fanny and Alma Prater - owners of the old house, its former occupants and great granddaughters of the builder - finally decided to relieve themselves of the burden and responsibility of protecting it and its contents. They made a gift of 1 1/4 acres to the Methodist Church to replace the church at nearby Burning Fork.

When Misses Fanny, 84, and Alma, 86, moved from the old house several years ago to a smaller but modern house across the road, they could not use all the furnishings. So they locked the doors, leaving some rooms furnished with items placed there by Archibald and his wife, Sarah.

They continued to keep the grounds neat. Apples fell in mounds beside the fence and flowers bloomed as though a family were inside.

In a side yard, near a log wash house, stood a stone wash basin, made and put there by the pioneer.

On one visit to the house, Miss Fanny, always with her sense of humor, pointed to the basin. "You might like it as a souvenir to take home." It would require four men even to budge it! Prater had hollowed and smoothed the basin stone to perfection, then had bored an opening near the bottom, fitting it with a drain plug.

Prater was a soldier with the Virginia Militia during the Revolutionary War. The sisters thought he had come from England, but Eastern Kentucky historian Henry Scalf stated that Archibald and a brother, Jonathan, were natives of Pennsylvania County, Va.

Archibald married Sarah Fugate, daughter of Josiah and Elizabeth Fugate, in Montgomery County in about 1783, and in 1791 Prater, his brother Jonathan, Clayton Cook, Ebenezer Hanna and a few others explored the upper reaches of the Licking River. Turned back by Indians, they returned a few years later to build a log house.

The house could write a book. Through the years it entertained men of political importance, historians, writers, poets, and artists, but most often it entertained circuit riding Methodist preachers.

The Prater sisters moved within sight of their old home and on frequent visits noticed that the house had been entered and things taken. The responsibility was too much. What better use for the land than a make it the site of a new church.

The handsome red brick church stands proudly on its block foundation.

Everything considered, Misses Fanny and Alma Prater feel joyful in their decision. They love the Lord and are confident the new church will attract many to its doors.

"After all, it's built on hallowed ground," said Miss Fanny, with a twinkle in her eyes. "Remember all those circuit riding preachers."

What is truth ?

Increased costs, especially that of coal, are forcing us to face higher electric bills. Still, we are more fortunate than citizens of other American communities which face electric energy shortages.

We can whip rising price problems only by working together to use electric energy wisely. As we save energy we'll save money. It's worth working at. So contact your electric cooperative for energy and money saving ideas.

Thomas More Will Host Workshop

Today a lot of people are looking for the good life. But what they're discovering isn't so good. It includes lives that are mentally disturbed, physically handicapped, aging, or simply unwanted.

And the question of who should live is being asked by serious thinking individuals.

Do we have the right to decide who should live?

Life Is For Everyone (L.I.F.E.) and Thomas More College L.I.F.E. will sponsor a workshop "Who Should Live? Positive Alternatives to Pro-Death America" - 1 to 6 p.m., on April 27th at Thomas More College, Ft. Mitchell, Ky.

Speakers include Covington Lawyer Robert Cetrulo on Law and the Pro-Life Movement; Thomas Purcell on Populations; Leah Curtin, R.N. on Euthanasia; Slim Liggins on Seventh Step Foundation for ex-convicts; Robert Harris, President of National Association of Physically Handicapped; on Architectural Barriers, Dan Cleary on Mutual Attitude Adjustment of Handicapped and Society, John Bauer on Mentally Retarded, Peggy Becker of Birthright on Alternatives to Abortion.

The workshop is free and open to students, faculty, and any persons interested in finding out more about life. There will be audio visual presentations and refreshments.

L.I.F.E. is a young adult pro-life group from Greater Cincinnati and northern Kentucky. TMC L.I.F.E. is active on TMC campus. Both groups work to protect the life, dignity and worth of every individual by promoting a positive approach to human problems.

Please accept our invitation to learn with us at the workshop.

Cincinnati Bell Recognizes Students

Cincinnati Bell will recognize 89 greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky high school students for outstanding business education achievement on Thursday, May 1.

This annual recognition, sponsored for the past nine years by the telephone company, will be preceded by a banquet at 6:30 p.m. in the Rowntowner Motor Inn, Fort Mitchell, Ky.

Local area students to be honored are: Tina Cason, Terri Whaley, Patricia Hopkins, Diana King, Cyndi Willenborg, and Judith Marie Butler.

These high school students have been selected for the honor by the business teachers and administrators of each school. William Victor, Vice President of Cincinnati Bell, will welcome the students. Dr. Eugene Raddant, Supervisor, Secondary Education-Butler County Schools, will present the awards; and Donald Davis, Superintendent, Kenton County Schools, will be the guest speaker.

The Business Awards were established by the telephone company to recognize outstanding business education achievement among Greater Cincinnati area students.

BOCKY Club Holds Dance

It's time to shake off the boredom of winter and get into the spring of things! The BOCKY Club is having a dance, May 10th, at the St. Paul Church Hall. This dance will be from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.

The music will be provided by the Mel-Aires which is composed of personalities familiar to local TV Viewers. They will be playing all types of music to suit everyone's taste.

The admission price is $15.00 per couple which includes beer, set-ups and snack trays.

All proceeds from this evening of fine entertainment will be used to develop the youth sports complex. So, make it a date on your social calendar by going to the BOCKY Club Dance on Mother's Day Eve.

To make reservations contact anyone of the following persons: Mrs. Betty Duncan, 371-6462, Mrs. Audrey Becker, 371-7785 or Mr. Jack Ellis, 371-4225. Don't wait too long, plan on joining us for a friendly, enjoyable evening.

R. P. Coleman of Coleman Realty is now back in business after his hip surgery, which he stated was 20 years over due.

He was happy to know that Mayo Clinic pronounced him in perfect health, and he is now completely recovered.

Wedding Bells Ring For Comp. Care Couple

Paul Overman & Paula Recko

Two years ago Paul Overman, psychologist and director of the Comprehensive Care satellite center at Williamstown, met Paula Recko at a party and told her about the work of his agency.

Ultimately, he persuaded her to give up her position as a buyer of artistic lamps and other accessories and put her considerable talents to work with retarded adults at the Boone County Adult Work Activity Center, Hebron.

Today, Paula, a graduate in art in the Marian College in Indianapolis, and Paul, who is an alumnus of both Thomas More College and the University of Dayton, are to be married at the Mother of God Church in Covington, on April 12.

Both are dedicated to their work and Paula, who prior to meeting Paul, had only the faintest idea of what Comprehensive Care was all about.

Today, in a people-oriented assignment, she is "extremely happy in my work where I can apply my talents in a meaningful way."

At the Hebron workshop she directs her clients in the fashioning of ceramics and she has found buyers who purchase the stock, "not for charity but because they are done professionally."

Women's Softball To Hold Meeting

The Women's Area Churches Softball League will hold a meeting at the Walton Christian Church at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday evening on April 15th.

The league anticipates that ten area churches will participate in softball activities during the summer months. Our games will be played on Tuesday evenings at the Walton Verona High School and the Verona Volunteer Fireman's Field. If at all possible, we are trying to obtain a ballfield on another evening.

At the meeting, we will discuss entry fee, umpires, equipment, rules and regulations and the scheduling of games for the season.

All those who are interested in the Women's Area Churches Softball League are invited to attend this meeting.

All Saints Women's Hold Bake Sale

All Saints Women's Softball Team is sponsoring a bake sale to be held after the Masses on Saturday and Sunday on April 12th and 13th on the church grounds for the benefit of the team's expenses for the season.

Public is invited to come out and enjoy some good homemade food.

Time To Pre-Register

Pre-registration for 1975 and 76 first grade students will be held at Walton Verona Elementary School at Verona during the week of April 21-25.

Children must be six years old by December 31st and parents should bring a birth certificate for their child and a certificate signed by a doctor stating the child has been immunized against diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, and measles.

Places First In Court

Tracy Jones

Miss Tracy Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Jones of Florence, Ky. and the owners of the Walton IGA, placed as first attendant in the Ockerman's Annual Spring Dance held on Saturday, April 5, 1975.

The Spring Dance is an annual event that takes place every year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ockerman were Shannon Murray and Chris Burns; First Attendants - Tracy Jones and Mark Adams; Second Attendants - Donna Valerius and Dave Donahue; Third Attendants - Lou Ann Crume and Brain Woods; and Fourth Attendants were Mary Sue Westemeyer and Steve Toadvine.

Everyone enjoyed an evening of great enjoyment and the court was beautiful with the different groups of young people.

Congratulations Tracy on being the first attendant in the Mr. and Mrs. Ockerman Court.

Wins In Fourth Place

Eddie Martin, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Lee Martin of Rt. 2 in Walton, won a 1975 Britannia Yearbook after placing fourth place in the Spelling Bee.

Congratulations on your achievement, Eddie.

Walton Lodge To Meet

All members are urged to be present and visitors are welcome.

Western Honors Students & Parents

Western Kentucky University honored over 1400 students and parents at the University's annual Honors Convocation Sunday, March 23rd, in the Paul L. Garrett Conference Center Ballroom on the Western Campus.

Students with a cumulative grade point average of 3.3 and above and their parents were invited to the convocation. They were welcomed by Western President Dero Downing and Dr. Raymond Cravens, vice president for academic affairs. Dr. Paul Cortis, honors program director and assistant dean for instruction, presided at the ceremonies.

Platform guests included the top five students graduating from each of the five University colleges and the eight seniors who were designated Scholars of the University with a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

Honor students from this area who were recognized at the convocation are: Martha Baker Ferguson of Union, Ky. and Deborah Lynn Love, of Walton, Ky.

SBA Has Loan Officer In Covington

Small Business Administration will have a Loan Officer in the Covington office on the 3rd Tuesday of each month from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The SBA Office is located in the City County Building, Room 804, 301 (3rd &) Court Streets, Covington, Ky. Those interested may contact the SBA representative at the City County Building or by phoning 684-1771.

In order to determine credit and eligibility requirements for SBA loan programs, it is suggested that the businessman bring with him a recent financial statement or balance sheet of the business and a profit and loss statement for the previous full year. This information pertains to established businesses. However, anyone interested in establishing a new business is encouraged to consult with his representative, as well as other businessmen who are in need of financial advice or assistance.

SCORE consultants will be in the office five days a week from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Golden Girl Holds Try-Outs

Try outs for the Northern Kentucky State College Golden Girls, a modern drill and dance troupe, will be held in Regents Hall on April 10th, 11th, and 12th.

Practice sessions will be held on Thursday from 5 to 7 p.m., and Friday from 5 to 9 p.m. with official judging beginning at 9 a.m. on Saturday.

Any full time student for the 1975 Fall Semester is eligible.

Independence Cleans Up

The City of Independence has designated the week of April 13-19 as Clean up, Paint up, Fix up Week in the City. There will be large open containers provided at the Cherokee Shopping Center, the Firehouse in Independence and at Beechgrove Village.

For large items, such as old refrigerators, etc., call the city office at 356-5302 between 9:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, for arrangements for this extra pickup.

The City encourages everyone to cooperate in this effort to make our City a cleaner and better place to live. The City has once a week garbage collection, which is added to the tax bill. Everyone is charged for this service and should be using it. If anyone does not know the day for pickup in his area, please call the city office for information.

Walton Baptist Holds Revival

The First Baptist Church, in Walton, will begin their revival services on April 21st and end on April 27th with each service beginning at 7:30 p.m. nightly and on Sunday at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The evangelist featured will be Rev. Albert Giesler, of Boulevard Baptist Church in Memphis, Tennessee and Mr. Gary Griesser, of Hebron Baptist Church leading the music.

The public is invited to attend the services each night and invite a friend.

Receives Badge

Jimmie Buchanan

Private Jimmie Buchanan, 18, son of Hiram Broshears, Dry Ridge, Ky., received a Parachutist Badge marking his successful completion of the airborne course at the Army Infantry School here.

He underwent a rigorous physical training program, then tested his ability by jumping from 34 foot and 250 foot towers. The final week he was required to make five actual jumps.

RUNS FOR CANDIDACY

Ronnie M. Jones

Ronnie M. Jones, Democratic, last week announced his candidacy for Circuit Court Clerk, in Boone County. He, his wife, Annie, and sixteen year old son, Max, now reside at 780 North Bend Road in Hebron, Ky. In the past he has also lived in Florence and Big Bone. Ronnie is 40 years old and is a graduate of Burlington High School. He has also been active in civic affairs in the county for many years as past director of the Boone County Jaycees and presently director of the Boone County Businessmen's Association and a member of the American Legion in Florence. He is also Vice-President and past treasurer of the Boone County Democratic Club and also serves on the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee.

Ronnie who served in the United States Air Force is presently a deputy property evaluation administrator, prior to this he was an inspector for Occupation Safety and Health Association and salesman for Gaines Realty.

Ronnie M. Jones stated he has worked for the betterment of the county for many years and feels due to the fast growing pace of the county he would like to serve in the position of Circuit Court Clerk to help develop the county in an orderly and progressive way.

After much thought and encouragement from many people throughout the county he now seeks to serve the people of Boone County and would appreciate your vote on May 27.

Enjoy Kentucky's Old Historical Area

The Northern Kentucky Women's Committee of the Cincinnati Symphony welcomes you to Kentucky and Old Covington Historical Riverside Area.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. LaFollette to the following: Dawn Morehead, Janet Bray, Doug and Cherri Smith, Chris and Mark Parker, Tammy Balck, Dexter LaFollette and the leader, Mrs. Bray.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Dawn Morehead.

"Second Only To God"

By: Bob Fonde

Her hair was my silver, Her heart was my gold,
My far off adventures were the stories she told,
Her two loving arms were my staff and my rod,
I hold my Grandmother second only to God.

Her prayers were the guidance that kept me from sin,
The love that she gave brought contentment within,
The Lord's way she taught me is the path that I trod,
I hold my Grandmother second to God.

Walton Womans Club Meets

The Walton Womans Club met in the Fellowship Hall of the Walton Christian Church at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 2nd. Mrs. Claude Thompson asked the blessing for the salad course which opened the meeting. The tables were beautiful with arrangements of daffodils and potted golden mums! Hostesses for the day were: Miss Rachel Acree, Miss Mary West, and Mrs. John Hetterman.

Spiritual guidance was given by Mrs. J.C. Mayhugh with her selection being from Matthew 25:14-24. She spoke of the requirements of membership in various 'Halls of Fame'. She said the requirements for membership in 'God's Hall of Fame', is service with the Bible as an instructional guide. She closed by reading a prayer.

Mrs. James Lee Cobb, president, presided and led the opening ceremonies of a flag salute and the reading of the club collect. She conducted a short business session. She announced the KFWC Convention at Ramada Inn, Louisville, Ky., on April 7-11, 1975.

Mrs. Claude Thompson, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Thomas Weldon, vice governor of KFWC Fifth District. She gave an interesting book review of "Looking Backward Through 100 Years" by James Beatty Ireland. He depicted life in Kentucky near Georgetown, Ky., from early 1800 onward. It is a most interesting description of the times of our great grandparents.

Mrs. Weldon and Mrs. David Houston were welcomed guests.

The Power To TAX Is The Power To Enslave

You are currently paying, on the average, 47% of your income to the government in taxes. When are you, as citizens, going to challenge this theft? When the government takes 60%, 70%, 80%, 100%?? Why not start now to challenge the income tax before it takes everything???

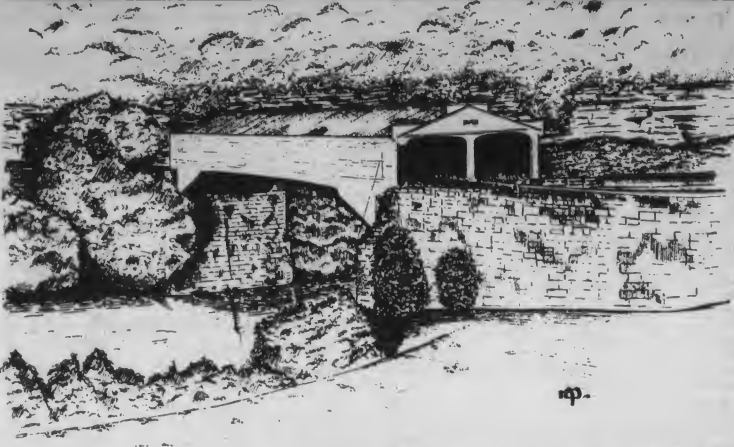

April 12th is NATIONAL TAX PROTEST DAY, sponsored jointly by the Society for Individual Liberty and the Libertarian Party.

Some things to Ponder

- Why is it when my property is taken from me by force by a thug, the action is known as theft-yet, when that same action is performed by the IRS, it is no longer considered illegal or immoral?
- Why is it that the IRS considers us guilty until we prove ourselves innocent?
- Why is it that the IRS confiscates our automobiles, our property, our bank accounts, our safety deposit boxes, and so forth, before we have had an impartial hearing, and without obtaining authority from a court of law as specified in the Constitution?
- Why is it that the IRS issues summonses, liens, and holds "courts" without juries (where we are tried by our foes) when these activities are reserved to the judicial system under the Constitution?
- Why is it that millions of business people are forced to do tax collecting for the IRS in the face of a written Constitutional protection?
- Why is it that we let this continue?

LIBERTARIANS work for the day when all men are free and a society of peace and freedom is established. Those who wish nothing less for themselves are invited to inquire further into the goals of the Libertarian Party.

Camp Nelson Covered Bridge
Garrard-Jessamine Counties

On the banks of the Kentucky River at Camp Nelson, just 20 miles south of Lexington, stand the stone pillars to a long-gone bridge which is yet an engineering marvel.

A new, ultramodern four-lane bridge near the site was opened in the summer of 1974. Situated near the mouth of Hickman Creek, the old bridge was built in 1838. It carried the Lexington-Danville Pike (US-27) across the river on a single span 240 feet between abutments. It had three trusses supporting two lanes 12 feet wide.

The long truss (radius 370 feet) was essentially an arch, braced laterally and vertically by a stiffener truss. The floor was made of planks on stringers, which in turn rested on floorboards. The old bridge was built of hewn poplar and pine and put together with iron braces and inch-square wrought-iron tie rods of Red River iron from Estill County.

The bridge, built by noted bridge-builder Lewis V. Wernwag of Pennsylvania, was fabricated some distance upstream from the site, floated down on rafts and put together in sections.

It required six months to build with the labor of 18 men. The cost of $30,000 was equally divided between Jessamine and Garrard counties.

The covered bridge gave nearly 90 years of service; then a heavily loaded truck from Lexington fell through one of the floorboards which had rotted because of a leaky roof. The bridge was condemned by the Highway Department and closed to traffic in December 1926. Efforts to preserve the historic structure failed, although at the time it was razed in mid-October 1933, it was the longest wooden cantilever bridge in America.

Registering Changed In Selective Service

A Presidential Proclamation has changed the method of registering with selective service. Young men are no longer required to register within 30 days of their 18th birthday. After April 1, they will be required to register under a new procedure. A plan for probable annual registration is being developed at the national level, according to Colonel Taylor L. Davidson, State Director.

Announcement of the new registration guidelines will be made by proclamation as required by law. The State Director anticipates this will probably be made toward the end of 1975.

According to the official the change in method is a part of the national on going studies to reduce the cost of maintaining a Selective Service System in support of the all volunteer force.

Prior to the cut off date a young man registered within a period beginning 30 days before or 30 days after he reached 18.

Colonel Davidson said, the method of continuous registration in the standby was highly successful during the year 1974. Selective Service in Kentucky registered more than 31,000 men born in 1956. This was 99 percent of National Headquarters estimation for the particular year of birth group, and 11 per cent above the national average. "This was achieved with the day by day support of more than 800 public spirited citizens who served as volunteer registrars. This included educators, county officials and members of their staff, and others from local government agencies". He also has high praise for the media of public information for the assistance they provided.

ORDINANCE NO. 1975-6

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE REPAIR, CLOSING OR DEMOLITION OF UNFIT STRUCTURES FOR HABITATION WITHIN THE CITY OF WALTON

WHEREAS, it appears to the City Council that there exists in the City of Walton structures which are unfit for human habitation, occupancy or use due to dilapidation, defects increasing the hazards of fire, accident or other calamities, and

WHEREAS, the city is desirous of remedying said conditions in the best interest of the city and its residents

NOW, THEREFORE the City Council of the City of Walton, Boone County, Kentucky, does ordain as follows:

SECTION I:

That there exists within the city of Walton structures which are unfit for human habitation, occupancy or use due to dilapidation, defects increasing the hazards of fire, accident or other calamities, lack of ventilation, light or sanitary facilities, or do to other conditions rendering such structures unsafe or unsanitary, or dangerous or detrimental to the health, safety or morals or otherwise inimical to the welfare of the residents of the city.

SECTION II:

That the City hereby designates and appoints to exercise the powers prescribed by this Ordinance pursuant to KRS 80.620 through 80.720 Don McMillian. This public officer shall serve for a period of approximately one (1) year beginning from the date of enactment of this Ordinance up to and through the first meeting of the City Council of the City of Walton, January, 1976. The salary for this public officer, is any, shall be fixed by Ordinance hereinafter to be enacted.

SECTION III:

The public officer referred to above is hereby authorized and ordered to investigate the structural conditions in this City and determine which structures therein are unfit for human habitation, occupancy or use as hereinafter provided. The public officer is authorized and ordered to administer oaths, affirmations and examine witnesses and to receive evidence and carrying out his duties. Further, the public officer is ordered and authorized to enter onto premises for the purpose of making such examination, said entry to be made in such manner as to cause the least possible inconvenience to the persons in possession.

SECTION IV:

A structure is unfit for human habitation if conditions exist in such structure which are dangerous or injurious to the health, safety or morals of the occupants of such structure, the occupants of neighboring structures or other residents of the city, such conditions may include the following:

Defects increasing the hazards of fire, accident or other calamities, lack of adequate ventilation, light or sanitary facilities, dilapidation, disrepair, structural defects, or uncleanness.

SECTION V:

Whenever a petition is filed with the public officer by a public authority, or by at least five residents of the city charging that any structure is unfit for human habitation, occupancy or use pursuant to the terms of this Ordinance, or whenever it appears to this public officer on his own motion that any structure is unfit for human habitation or occupancy or use, the public officer shall, if his preliminary investigation discloses a basis for such charges, issue and cause to be served upon the owner of and parties in interest in such structure a complaint stating the charge or charges in that respect. A complaint shall state: that a hearing will be held before the public officer at the City Building at the City of Walton not less than ten (10) nor more than thirty (30) days after the serving of the complaint; that the owner and parties in interest may file an answer to the complaint and appear in person, or otherwise, and give testimony; and the rules of evidence prevailing in courts of law or equity shall not be controlling in hearings before the public officer. The complaint shall contain a description of the conditions existing to come within the terms of this Ordinance.

SECTION IV:

If, after the notice and hearing, the public officer determines that the structure under consideration is unfit for human habitation, occupancy or use, he shall state in writing his findings of fact in support of such termination and shall issue and cause to be served upon the owner thereof an order requiring the owner:

- (1) to the intent and within the time specified that order, to repair, alter or improve the said structure to render it fit for human habitation, occupancy or use, or, at the option of the owner to vacate and close the structure if the repair, alteration, or improvement of the structure could be made at a cost that is not more than fifty per cent of the value of the structure; or
- (2) within the time specified in the order, to remove or demolish the said structure if the repair, alteration or improvement of the structure cannot be made at a cost that is not more than fifty per cent of the value of the structure.

SECTION V:

If an owner fails to comply with an order to repair, alter or improve or, at the option of the owner, to close and vacate the structure, the public officer may cause the structure to be repaired, altered or improved, or to be vacated and closed. The public officer may cause to be posted on the main entrance of any structure so closed a placard with the following words: "This building is unfit for human habitation, occupancy or use; the use or occupation of this building for human habitation, occupancy or use, is prohibited and unlawful."

If an owner fails to comply with an order to remove or demolish the structure, the public officer may cause such structure to be removed or demolished.

The amount of cost of repair, alteration or improvement, or vacating and closing, or removal or demolition shall be a lien upon the real property upon which the cost was incurred. If the structure is removed or demolished by the public officer, he shall sell the materials of the structure and shall credit the proceeds of such sale against the cost of removal or demolition. Any balance remaining shall be deposited in the Circuit Court by the public officer, shall be secured in such a manner as may be directed by said Court, and shall be disbursed by said Court to the persons found to be entitled thereto by a final order or decree of said Court.

SECTION VI:

When the public officer has condemned as unfit for human habitation, occupancy or use, any structure pursuant to the terms of this Ordinance and has ordered the same to be vacated, the public officer may, after ten days notice to the occupant or occupants thereof apply to the Justice of the Peace for the district in which such structure is located, and obtain from such Court an order of eviction against the occupant or occupants thereof, and the Constable for said district shall forthwith evict such occupants and their belongings from said building.

SECTION VII:

On complaints, orders and other papers shall be served upon the parties set out herein wither personally or by certified mail, but if the whereabouts of such person or persons are unknown and the same cannot be ascertained by the public officer in the exercise of reasonable diligence, and the public officer shall make an affidavit to that effect, then the serving of such complaint or order or papers upon such persons may be made by publication pursuant to KRS Chapter 424. A copy of such complaint or order shall be posted in a conspicuous place on premises affected by the complaint or order and shall be recorded in the office of the County Clerk wherein the structure is located.

SECTION VIII:

Any person affected by an order issued by the public officer may, within thirty (30) days after the posting and service of the order, petition the Circuit Court for an injunction restraining the public officer from carrying out the provisions of the order.

SECTION IX:

Any person or party violating an order pursuant to this Ordinance if proven, may be fined not less than $10.00 nor more than $100.00.

SECTION X:

This Ordinance will be full force and effect when passed and published by law.

Done this 11 day of March, 1975.

Not every twenty inch tree is worth that much, however, a perfectly formed silver maple, sometimes called water maple, has a value of less than twenty percent of the white oak or about $300. The reason for this is its soft, weak branches which break easily in wind and snow storms.

Most Kentucky trees have been classified according to kind of a percentage basis. White oak, black tupelo, sweet gum and red oak are examples of one hundred percent trees. Silver maple and Siberian elm are on the bottom of the list. They are worth one hundred percent of value. The condition percentage is arbitrarily determined by the appraiser.

Admittedly, this whole tree value system is somewhat subjective. However, it is important because it tells a new homeowner something about what kind of a tree he should buy in the first place.

Tree Pruning

Too frequently homeowners practice tree butchery. They call it topping, dehorning, or pollarding. I am referring to a practice of removing all limbs of a tree which extend above a certain point. Frequently, limbs as thick as 6 inches are removed. There are few reasons for this practice and usually there are better alternate slolutions.

Topping is usually the second "wrong" in trying to make a "right". The first wrong is usually poor choice of tree for a particular location. Yet, when a tree in a lawn with no cramping or overhead lines is indiscriminately topped, it is difficult to understand why.

Trees do require various amounts of pruning during their life times, but this pruning should be thinning and gently heading-back or removed pattern. Overly vigorous branches should be selectively headed-back or removed completely. Some opening up of the branch structure is desirable to (1) permit light to filter through so that a lawn can be maintained beneath the tree, and (2) reduce wind resistance of the top so there will be less chance of limb breakage during windstorms. Dead and diseased limbs, and limbs broken during storms should be removed as soon as it is convenient. Topping should be used only as the first step to removal of a tree. If topping is done, the job should be finished by removing the entire tree.

Pruning problems can be reduced by selecting the right tree and placing it in it's proper place. Too often we just plant a silver maple (also known as water maple) within a few feet of our house when it's still a seedling. It's a fast growing tree with soft wood so before we know it we're worried that it's going to break and fall on the house.

Giving some thought about where and what to plant is actually landscaping. Trees are usually the dominant plantings in a yard so it's important to think about how tall and wide they will be when they are fully grown. This will help prevent the need for tree topping which is expensive and hard work to say the least.

For more specific information on Pruning Trees and Repairing Their Injuries ask for this USDA publication by name at our office in Independence.

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

Tobacco Amendment Faces Long Road

We have passed an emergency farm bill in the Senate which includes an increase in the support price for tobacco to 70 percent of parity. This would mean a support price of approximately $1.12 for burley and $1.04 for flue cured tobacco for the 1975 marketing season.

In order to pass this legislation, we had to defeat three amendments offered by anti-tobacco senators. The amendments and the votes were: 55-26 against an amendment to completely eliminate the tobacco price support program; 51 - 32 against an amendment of phase out the program; and 48 - 35 against an amendment to kill my amendment providing for the support price increase.

My contention was that the increase in support levels is essential to more accurately reflect the rising costs of production. During the past two years alone the production costs for tobacco have far outstripped the increases in the support price.

For example, the price of fertilizer has increased over 100 per cent, and the cost of farm machinery has increased over 40 per cent, and the cost of farm labor has increased 25 per cent. During the time the support price for tobacco increased it was only 14 per cent.

I must warn, however, that we have a long way to go before this increase becomes law. First, my amendment must survive a Senate House conference committee, where I am sure pressure will be exerted to eliminate the tobacco section (it was not in the House version of the bill).

Should it remain in the final conference bill, it might face additional attacks when the conference bill reaches the floor of the House and Senate. And if we survive all that, the bill faces the prospect of a presidential veto. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz has already said he will recommend that the President veto the bill.

But my contention remains that the 580,000 tobacco producing families in this country are entitled to make a fair return on their investment just as any other businessman or farmer. And if they are not guaranteed a reasonable support price that reflects their production costs many of these farmers will be unable to grow tobacco.

The sale of burley tobacco provides $460 million income to Kentucky farmers while the production of dark fired and dark air cured tobacco yield $18 million. I want to see tobacco remain a stable and prosperous segment of our economy and I think a modest increase in the support price will help achieve that objective.

Ky. Labor Dept. Holds Classes

The Kentucky Department of Labor has announced plans for an Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) record keeping seminar in Covington on April 15th.

The course will cover OSHA record keeping requirements which apply to all Kentucky employers regardless of the number employed.

The classes will be conducted in the auditorium of Nunn Hall at Northern Kentucky University on US 27 from 9:00 a.m. until noon.

The seminar is open to the public and there is no fee.

For further information contact the local Chamber of Commerce, the Kentucky Department of Labor or call OSHA's toll free number: 800-372-2967.

Questions & Answer

Q — I was separated from military service in April 1973. Am I eligible for five year, nonrenewable Veterans Group Life Insurance?

A — Probably yes. However, you must send application, first premium and proof of service before August 2, 1975 to Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington St., Newark, New Jersey.

Q — I understand that GI home loans valued at more than $110 billion have been approved by the Veterans Administration for 8.9 million veterans and servicemen since World War II. Have they been good credit risks?

A — Yes. An overall 3.5 per cent foreclosure rate on mortgages attests to their credit worthiness.

Q — My mother, who is ill and requires almost constant attention, receives dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) from the Veterans Administration based on the service connected death of my father during World War II. Is she also eligible for aid and attendance benefits?

A — Probably yes. A $64 monthly aid and attendance allowance is available to widows who draw DIC, if they are: Patients in nursing homes, blind or helpless, or so nearly helpless or blind as to require aid and attendance of other persons.

Changes in USDA beef grades should mean an increased amount of leaner, low fat beef at your local meat counter in the future. And, if you're buying a carcass, side or quarter of beef, there are other aspects of the changes you should know about.

Do Taxes Hide The Real Cost?

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

of fact, those making the proposal acknowledge that individual income taxes would have to be raised. It is the core of their argument! They declare that citizens pay all business taxes right now, one way or another, and that companies must shift their entire tax burden onto individuals! Consequently, because they do not really appreciate this truth, the people don't realize how much Federal, state and local governments actually are taking out of their pockets in total taxes. The ultimate effect, it is said, is that once they felt the total cost of government directly, people would demand, and vote for less government.

The thesis is that citizens pay all taxes, directly or indirectly. They pay sales, income and other taxes directly. But they pay all corporate taxes, too, (a) hidden in the prices of products and services they buy in the marketplace as consumers, (b) by way of the lower salaries they can earn as workers or managers, or (c) in reduced earnings they can receive in dividends as stockholders. Thus, people pay business taxes indirectly.

A company will go under if its total overhead exceeds its income and it keeps losing money. If, for lack of funds, a firm can't keep up with its competition by expansion, modernization or diversification, it, too, usually fails. In either case, both job and tax income stops! What affects you prices, wage or salary, and perhaps dividends are directly affected by any government taxes on business. Those taxes are part of business overhead a cost that must be recovered somehow. Any additional tax cost, like the cost of strikes, mechanical breakdowns, shortages of raw materials, etc., must be paid somehow. Cutting wages, salaries and dividends, or raising prices are the available routes if some other overhead costs can't be cut, and individuals are out of pocket as a result because of the cost of government.

Put Leftover Biscuits to Work

When you have some biscuits left from dinner, try this suggestion. Split the cold biscuits in half, butter them generously and sprinkle them with the bottom with shredded process cheddar cheese. Cover them with biscuit tops and reheat in a moderate oven until the cheese melts. They're delicious for salad or soup lunches.

Re Use Butter Cartons

The waxed carton in which you purchase butter is excellent as a container when you freeze home grown vegetables. Place a plastic bag inside the carton, fill with the fresh vegetables, tie the opening and then close the carton. The waxed carton helps prevent freezer burn.

Fluffier Whipped Cream

Use confectioners' sugar rather than granulated sugar to sweeten whipped cream. It gives a fluffier topping, and the whipped cream won't liquify so quickly if it must be held.

Receives Letter From Senator

Miss Debby Lamb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lamb of Verona recently received the following letter:

Dear Ms. Lamb:
Please accept this expression of my admiration of your scholastic achievements. Ingued with interest that you were named to the Dean's List at Thomas More College for the fall semester. You can take pride in the diligent manner in which you are preparing yourself to assume a responsible role in the events of tomorrow.
You have my best wishes for continued happiness and good fortune.

Sincerely,
Walter D. Huddleston

Debby has completed her studies at Thomas More College and will formally graduate in May, she has been on the Dean's List every semester except one during her 4 years of study. She is currently teaching the 2nd grade at Walton Verona Elementary School.
Miss Lamb said it is very rewarding when your state senator takes time out from his busy schedule to write a letter of congratulations to her on her achievement. I was greatly appreciated.

Simon Kenton FHA Alumnae Meets

The Simon Kenton Future Homemakers of America Alumnae held its monthly meeting on Wednesday, March 12th at the RECC Building in Nicholson.
The meeting was called to order by our President, Sharon Willenborg. We had a short business meeting, then went into our program.
We had twelve members and three guest present.
Our program for March was a very interesting topic. Mrs. Helen McElroy was our guest speaker and her topic was "Have a Look at the Stars."
Each member and guest certainly enjoyed our speaker this month.
Delicious refreshments were served by Rita Potts.
Our program this month will be "Selecting a Good Day Care Center," and each member is to bring a guest.
All past FHA members try to attend.

Elects Officers After Banquet

The Simon Kenton Chapter of the Future Farmers of America held its 36th Annual FFA Banquet at Ramada Inn South in Florence. The opening ceremonies were given by the officers and Mr. Robert Abel gave the welcoming address. Gary Riley, president, introduced the guests and Jeff Neuspickel the chaplin, led the invocation with special awards presented by Dexter LaFollette. Gary Riley was awarded the Chapter Star Farmer with Special guest speaker Mike Easley, FFA Secretary from Stamping Grounds.
New officers for the coming year was introduced by Ben Heeger. Tim Smith - President; Greg Williams - Vice President; Peggy Collins - Secretary; Wayne Cooper - Treasurer; Kevin Kelly - Reporter; Mark Parker - Sentinel; and John Kidwell - Chaplin.
Mike Jump recited the FFA Creed and closing ceremonies were by the officers.

FFA Chapter Visits

The Simon Kenton FFA Chapter recently went to the University of Kentucky for the regional convention.
They entered several of the contests.
Chapter meeting on Parliamentary Procedure was excellent. Those members participating were Kevin Kelly, Mike Jump, Dexter LaFollette, Gary Riley, Peggy Collins, Tim Smith, Scott Parker, Greg Williams, Wayne Cooper, and Chris Spegal.
Imp. Speaking on Beef - Red Ribbon - Tim Smith; Imp. Speaking on Dairy - Dexter LaFollette - Good; Imp. Speaking on Livestock - Peggy Collins - White; Creed - Mike Jump - Good.
Why Have A Ho - Hum Morning?
Brighten your day by spreading your favorite flavored peanut spread on toast or a warm English Muffin. Serve with a chilled glass of orange juice for a tempting taste treat.

Simon Kenton FFA Banquet

On Thursday, April 3rd, the Simon Kenton Chapter of the Future Farmers of America held its Thirty Sixth Annual Parent and Member Banquet. The Banquet was held at the Ramada Inn South, located in Florence, Ky., at 7:00 p.m.
Opening ceremonies were given by the officers. Mr. Robert Abel gave the welcoming address, the guests were introduced by Gary Riley and an invocation was given by Jeff Neuspickel.
The menu consisted of a Fruit Cup, Roast Turkey, Dressing and Cranberry Sauce or Baked Swiss Steak with Vegetable Gravy, Snowflake Potatoes, String Beans, Tossed Salad, Parfait and Coffee or Tea.
The awards were presented by Dexter La Follette. The Honorary Member was Mr. Robert Konerman, the assistant principal of Simon Kenton High School. The Chapter Star Farmer was Gary Riley, he received a plaque from the Production Credit Association presented by Steve Fisk.
The Special Guest Speaker was Mike Easley, the State FFA Secretary. He gave a very fine speech.
The new officers were introduced by Ben Heeger.
Mike Jump recited the FFA Creed, followed by Closing Ceremonies conducted by the officers.
The Banquet was a great success and everyone enjoyed themselves greatly.

The 'Pizza Bowl' — It's A Winner

What's your favorite kind of pizza? Almost everyone has one. Pizzas run the gamut from simple cheese and sausage to more exotic versions featuring ham and pineapple. There is even a four tiered wedding pizza or a five foot giant that serves a crowd.
Pizza can be a nutritional food, too. A quality pizza made with a meat topping contains items from the four basic food groups: Grains, Dairy Products, Vegetables, and Meat.
"Pizza Bowls" are a fun idea developed by home economists at Litton Microwave Cooking Products. The recipe calls for English Muffins instead of dough, so these "party" pizzas are ready in no time - just two minutes when cooked the microwave way.
After the game, school, or anything, Pizza Bowls are fit for hungry appetites anytime.
Pizza Bowl
1 package of English Muffins
1 1/4 cups chili sauce Italian seasonings Green Pepper, sliced
Pepperoni, sliced Green Onion, bias cut
Mushrooms, sliced Olives, sliced
Mozzarella cheese, shredded

Split English Muffins in half and toast, if desired. Top each muffin half with 1 1/4 tablespoons chili sauce, Italian seasonings and favorite pizza ingredients. Cook until cheese is melted. 12 pizzas.

That's A Fact!

November 25, 1971, The season's first major storm dumped up to two feet of snow along a wide band from Northcentral, Pa., to Western New England. It also immobilized stretches of highway as far south as Virginia where 1,000 cars clogged 30 miles of highway near Middleburg.

When 17 guests from New York failed to make it thru the snow one family in Londenberry, N.H. invited anyone in the area to come in and help eat a 26 pound turkey.

Guests up to 40 MPH grounded the giant balloons prepared for the Annual New York City Thanksgiving Day Parade.

Snowmobiles carried milk to families with small children stranded in cars in Northeastern Pa.

Morehead University's Gathering Scheduled

Morehead State University's Annual Northern Kentucky-Southern Ohio Alumni Gathering is scheduled Saturday, April 12th, at the Beverly Hills Country Club in Southgate.
The 7 p.m. dinner meeting will include a report on the Tri-State Alumni Club and a campus report from Dr. Bill Pierce, dean of institutional services.
Presiding will be Custer Reynolds, president of the MSU Alumni Association. Principal speaker will be Marvin Rammelsberg, the association's president-elect.
Tickets are $5 per person. Reservation should be made by the Office of Alumni Relations, MSU, Morehead, Ky. 40351.

SHORT ROWS
By Nevyle Shackelford

For those who never grown a garden before and are thinking about doing so this year, this is what can reasonably be expected from the effort-expected, that is, if the job is handled the right way. For beginners, it is a good idea to contact the local county Extension agent and follow his advice on the best gardening practices.

First to be expected are better tasting vegetables. No matter how varied the assortment or how pretty the vegetables may look displayed on the market, those from the home garden will be fresher and better tasting. UK Extension vegetable specialist C.R. Roberts notes. Freshness is of prime importance in all plants we eat, and if we have a garden, we can use the vegetables within minutes after harvesting, while they are crisp, plump, and full of those delicious, savory flavors that vanish so swiftly after plucking from the vine.

Also, vegetables are best when vine or field ripened, but not too many of these are found on the market unless the market is very close to the source of production. In order to reach the market at all, many fruits and vegetables must be pulled mature green and ripened in storage, says Roberts. Only the home gardener can put on the table tomatoes that have attained full ripeness on the vine; peas, beans, and corn that are either too immature nor too old and whose sugars have not been lost between garden and table; muskmelons whose flesh has not begun to soften with age; and cucumbers that are still firm with moisture and whose seeds are still soft.

Then, in a home garden can be grown vegetables rarely seen on the market - or, if displayed, priced beyond the average food budget - vegetables like crisp asparagus tips, delightful artichokes, luscious leeks, celery cabbage, and the like. All these vegetables and others can be easily grown in the home garden.

Since we eat not only to sustain life, but also for the pleasure of eating, the home gardener should confine his plantings only to vegetable varieties he likes, those his family likes, and to those definitely suited to the size of his garden plot, according to Roberts. A gardener with a small plot of land probably wouldn't plant pumpkin or sweet potatoes. Also since they do not lose eating or nutritional qualities very rapidly, a gardener with a limited plot wouldn't plant such crops as onions, Irish potatoes, or winter cabbage. He would be better off to buy those vegetables at the marketplace and give his land over to more perishable type vegetable.

With a small piece of land and the ability and willingness to meet a few simple requirements, anybody can have a home garden and expect to get from it vegetables of better taste and quality and at a cheaper price.

today to keep their streets and highways clear of ice and snow, many communities use a mixture of calcium chloride and salt. Researchers say calcium chloride melts ice quicker than salt, is effective to 59 degrees and unlike salt, will not become airborne.

Can you believe these facts, "well they're true!"

What do the USDA beef grade changes, which go into effect April 14, mean to the consumer? The grade changes make it possible for slightly leaner beef to qualify for the Prime and Choice grades. This should encourage production of quality beef at reduced cost and thus provide consumers with more beef of satisfactory taste and flavor without excessive fat. The changes also mean that tenderness, juiciness and flavor will be more uniform within each grade.

Man's Responsibility For Creation

(Psalm 8; Genesis 1:26)

John Wood Krutch had this insight concerning man: "We have exalted man's importance by making his 'welfare' the measure of all things; we have at the same time, belittled him by assuming that he is, nevertheless, nothing in himself."

Pascal spoke of man in this fashion: "What a chimera is man! What a confused chaos! What a subject of contradiction! A professed judge of all things, and yet a feeble worm of the earth! The great depository and guardian of truth, and yet a mere huddle of uncertainty! The glory and the scandal of the universe!"

The scripture lesson begins with praise to the creator God.

Praise to God, Psalm 8:1-2

The psalmist can but praise "the One who spoke the worlds into existence. When one recognizes that his own existence is the result of God's mercy, how could he cease to be thankful? How can he fail to praise God?"

The psalmist exclaims, "How excellent is thy name in all the earth!" The word "excellent" means "powerful, delightful, glorious." The word "name" means "presence." The writer glories in the presence of God in all the earth. He saw God's glory extended even beyond the heavens!

The writer also praises God for His way with man. God revealed His will and way to the small and insignificant (the babes and sucklings). He hid His will and way from the self-sufficient, proud, and arrogant. God needed nothing to bring a world into existence. He doesn't need the might of man to sustain His creation!

But God has ordained that man shall have dominion over the works of His hands.

Position of Man, Psalm 8:3-9

Having considered the immensity of the universe, the psalmist turned his thoughts to littleness of man. God could design the heavens with His fingers. With no effort at all He affixed the moon and the stars.

This brought to the mind of the psalmist a question: "What is man, that Thou art mindful of him?" What is human being that God should take notice of him?

God was mindful of man. He made man in His own image. He made man above every other creature. He crowned man with glory and honor. He gave man dominion over the works of His hands. He put all things under his feet. Indeed, what a position God has given to man! The psalmist was completely baffled at such truths but he knew this was God's plan.

Plan In Creation, Genesis 1:26

God's crowning act of creation was His creation of man. "Let us" make man is probably a plural of majesty. This would be in keeping with the custom of that day. Oriental kings spoke of themselves in the plural. This is not at all to infer that God the Son and God the Holy Spirit were not in the beginning with God.

Man would be made in the likeness of God. He would have spiritual powers. He would be able to communicate with God and to fellowship with God.

Man would have dominion over all of God's creation. What an awesome responsibility was placed upon man! One has only to open his eyes to see how far man has fallen from God's goal for him. Man still has this awesome responsibility to his environment and God's creation. Man needs to "come alive" today to the fact of his wastefulness of natural resources. This is God's world and He still holds man accountable for its proper care.

Shakespeare said of man: "What a piece of work is man! How noble in reason how infinite in faculties! In form and moving, how express and admirable! In action, how like an angel! In apprehension, how like a god!"

Another has suggested that man has learned how to fly through the air like a bird; swim through the sea like a fish; but he has yet to learn how to walk upon the earth like a man!

Gospel Singing
Decoursey Baptist

There will be a Gospel Singing at Decoursey Baptist Church in Covington, Kentucky on April 13, 1975.

The feature singers will be "The Smith Quartet" from Barbourville, Ky., who's tenor singer is Miss Charlotte Disney, a 1974 graduate of Walton Verona High School.

Miss Disney would appreciate seeing all her friends and relatives at the gospel sing.

The singing service will begin at 8:00 p.m. with preaching services at 7:00 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to attend this wonderful service and enjoy an evening of great singing.

University of Louisville
Meets With Alumni

University of Louisville President James G. Miller will meet with UL alumni from the Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky areas on April 17th. All UL alumni are invited to attend.

A social hour will precede the 7:15 p.m. dinner at the Quality Inn - Riverview in Covington, Ky. Dr. Miller will discuss UL's growth and future as a state institution.

Former UL basketball coach Bernard "Peck" Hickman, who is now an assistant to Dr. Miller, will also attend the alumni meeting.

For reservation or further information contact Hickman by mail at the University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky. 40208, or call at 502-636-6378.

Card of Thanks

To All Our Friends:

When we moved here, we were simply looking for a place with trees on it. Before long we discovered we were living among mighty fine people. But we did not realize what good friends you are until Dick's accident.

We are both deeply grateful for your cards, for your prayers, and for your assistance - for your unfailing kindness.

Again, thank you all,
Martha and Dick Bort

Quite A Girl!

Aunt Sara looks about as stern as they come, doesn't she? As they used to say, "butter wouldn't melt in her mouth." I don't remember the occasion of this picture, since I was the baby. But I do remember Great Aunt Sara very vividly and she was quite a girl!

She was what they call a "pillar of the church." She must have baked an astronomical number of chicken pies for church suppers and served on almost every committee at one time or another. You might say she was pious, a word we don't usually care for. What I mean is that she revered her God and loved Him.

She also had a tremendous sense of humor. I remember she used to tell the funniest stories.

The point is this. So often people mistake religious fervor for a certain "holier than thou" attitude. They don't believe that humor and religion go together. But Aunt Sara proved them wrong. The Church encompasses all of life—humor and wit—as well as love and compassion . . . and so much more! You can easily find out for yourself.

put a little Spring in your life

Plant Guide For 1975

This spring planting guide is started for April because the old Farmers Almanac lists the growing season for the Cincinnati area, courtesy of the U. S. Weather Bureau, as being 198 days frost free from April 8th to October 23rd. Personally I think they are a little off, but you use your own judgment. The Moons entrance into the various signs was calculated from the current ephemeris with a time correction of 6 hours and 38 minutes to correspond to DST around the Cincinnati area, on standard time deduct one hour.

Some people plant in the ground, others plant in the sign. Twenty-five years ago when I thought I was a lot smarter, I told a neighbor that I planted in the ground when I was ready and went ahead and put out my sweet potato plants. He waited two weeks and planted his when the sign was right. I had the finest crop of vines in the country and not even a good mess of sweet potatoes, his vines didn't look too nice, but he had the finest crop of sweet potatoes in the country. Another neighbor told me that if I would read the Bible, I would find that there was a time to sow and a time to reap and if I studied the almanac I could find the right times. I went a little further and took a course in Astrology and have never regretted it. Different astrological textbooks and almanacs have slightly different viewpoints on the best times to do different things, sowing, reaping, etc. Possibly due to the homeland of the authors and different climatic conditions, also different centuries. Altogether they are in closer harmony on interpretations of planetary effects; much closer than religious leaders are when giving interpretations of the Bible.

There is complete agreement that the earth signs Taurus and Capricorn and last the Cardinal air sign Libra. The barren signs are the best time for spraying, plowing and cultivating and of course the fruitful signs are the best times for planting and transplanting. The general rule is to plant crops that produce their yield above the ground during the increase of the moon or from new moon to full moon and crops such as potatoes or other root crops during the decrease of the moon or from full moon to new moon.

Trees, shrubs, berries, grapes, etc. are said to do best when planted in one of the water signs during the decrease of the moon just after the full moon. Mowing lawns to increase the growth is best done when the moon is increasing in a fruitful sign and to retard the growth, it is best done during the decrease of the moon possibly in a barren sign. Prune trees just after the full moon in Scorpio or a water sign to retard branch growth and make better fruit.

This is only a sampling of the wisdom handed down from our forefathers and I dare say that most or all of it is from experience. Regarding planetary influences, the late Dr. Robert Millikan 1868-1953 Nobel Prize winner in Physics 1953, when asked about the validity of astrology answered, "I do know that if man is not affected in some way by the planets sun and moon, he is the only thing on earth that isn't".

Monday April 7th 4:39 A.M. until Wednesday April 9th 5:03 P.M.
Moon in 4th Quarter Pisces. Get ground ready and plant below ground crops potatoes, etc.

Thursday April 10th thru Friday April 11th.

Monday in 4th Quarter Aries. A dry fire sign and a good time to get plowing done and ground ready.

Saturday April 12th 4:15 A.M. until Monday April 14th 1:31 P.M.
New moon in Taurus. Very productive and moist time to plant above ground crops, leafy type will do exceptionally well, lettuce, cabbage, cucumbers, cauliflower, celery, spinach and grains of all kinds, etc.

Monday April 14th 1:31 P.M. until Wednesday April 16th 8:43 P.M.

Moon in barren dry sign Gemini. Time to get ground ready, one almanac states that seeds planted now will rot in the ground.

Thursday April 17th thru Friday April 18th.

Moon still in first quarter in the fruitful moist sign Cancer. This is one of the best times for any above ground crops especially good for flowers when planting for abundance and if you want a good melon crop get the seeds in the ground now.

Saturday April 19th Sunday April 20th.

Moon in Leo. Rest and enjoy the weekend.

Monday April 21st thru Tuesday April 22nd.

Moon in the barren sign Virgo. Get more ground ready, but no use planting.

Wednesday April 23rd 5:50 A.M. thru Thursday April 24th.

Moon in Taurus 4th Quarter. Good time for potatoes and any other root crops through Saturday, we have solar eclipse early Sunday morning and then the moon starts to increase.

Monday May 12th thru Tuesday May 13th.

Moon in Gemini. Don't plant the seeds, would probably rot in the ground.

Wednesday May 14 thru Thursday May 15th.

New Moon in the fruitful water sign Cancer. Plant corn, okra, beans, peppers, set out cabbage plants and any other above ground crops, also plant seed beds and flowers for quick growth.

Friday May 16th thru Saturday May 17th.

Moon in barren fire sign Leo. Get more ground ready.

Sunday May 18th thru Tuesday May 20th Noon.

Moon in barren sign Virgo. Kill weeds, spray and plow, no use planting.

Tuesday May 20th Noon thru Thursday May 22nd.

Moon in second Quarter Libra. Plant flowers for beauty and vine crops for good growth.

Thursday May 22nd 2:00 P.M. thru Saturday May 24th 5:18 P.M.

Moon increasing in the fruitful water sign Scorpio. Plant melons, squash, corn, tomatoes and any other above ground crops, also sow grain hay and fodder crops.

Saturday May 24th 5:18 P.M. thru Monday May 26th 11:00 P.M.
Full Moon in Sagittarius. This is considered a barren sign, but some authorities claim that onions planted at this time will do well, use your own judgment.

Tuesday May 27th thru Wednesday May 28th.

Moon in third Quarter in the fruitful sign Capricorn. Plant potatoes, onions, carrots, beets and any other root crops.

Thursday May 29th 8:00 A.M. thru Saturday May 31st 7:00 P.M.

Moon in barren sign Aquarius. No use planting, but a good time to spray and cultivate to kill weeds and plant pests.

Sunday June 1st thru Monday June 2nd.

Moon in third Quarter in the fruitful water sign Pisces, plant any late root crops and not too bad for melons or cucumbers.

Tuesday June 3rd 7:24 A.M. thru Thursday June 5th 6:38 P.M.

Moon in barren fire sign Aries. Plow cultivate and spray for pests, also a good time to harvest.

June 6th Friday thru June 7th Saturday.

Moon in Taurus fourth Quarter. Plant more root crops or spray and cultivate.

Sunday June 8th thru Monday June 9th.

Moon in Gemini. No use plant, seeds won't germinate.

Tuesday June 10th 8:43 A.M. new moon in Cancer thru Thursday June 12th Noon.

Good time to plant all above ground crops, excellent for seed beds and flowers.

Thursday Noon June 12th thru Saturday June 14th 2:35 P.M.

Moon in barren fire sign Leo. Kill bugs and cultivate, also harvest crops.

Saturday June 14th thru Monday June 16th.
Moon in barren sign Virgo. Do about the same as you have been doing, but don't plant.

Tuesday June 17th thru Wednesday June 18th.

Moon increasing in Virgo. Plant flowers for beauty and all types of vine crops.

Thursday June 19th thru Friday June 20th.

Moon increasing in the fruitful water sign Scorpio. Plant all above ground crops especially beans, peppers and all the leafy vegetables.

Good Red Ripe Tomatoes

Tomatoes originated in tropical America but were late comers to US menus.

But it was about 1850 before people in the US dared to eat tomatoes!

Now the average American eats about 32 pounds of tomatoes in one form or another every year!

A Little Poem
God has given us two ends
With a common link
With the one we sit
With the other we think
Success in life depends
Which we choose
Heads you win
Tails you lose.

One of the best ways to stretch your food dollar this summer is to raise a garden, even if you only have a space for a few tomato plants in a tub on the patio. Information on planting tomatoes is easy to obtain from any store or county extension office.

Having Fun In The Sun

Facilities for outdoor recreation in the brilliantly colorful state of Nevada, with its enormous man made Lake Mead furnishing all manner of water sports, with its mountains and scenic wonders, are unlimited. And for those who want entertainment plus — there is Las Vegas, focal point of the area, with its magnificent hotels such as the MGM Grand, encompassing areas on the grounds for swimming in high pools, tennis and much more. Golf courses also are available. It was here that the Committee task force were guests and where they made their headquarters.

A New Love Bicycling!!

In 1973, there were more bicycles sold than new automobiles. This is very impressive when you consider the long term love affair Americans have carried on with cars. Perhaps some of this affection is now being diverted to a new love — the bicycle. It is doubtful that the bike will ever replace the family car as a means of transportation, but the bike is certainly assuming a new importance as a form of recreation. Important attributes of a bicycle are weight and strength. The frame, especially should be strong and rigid to sustain the road shock and weight of the rider.

Mossbery has recently introduced competition racing bicycles which use magnamite graphite material for the frame. The frame weighs a mere 3.10 pounds, yet is strong and stiff. The raw material is expensive however, so its use is confined to custom professional racing bikes at present.

The development of the bicycle is the result of their recognition of the bicycle as a "Recreational vehicle" rather than a child's toy. Their efforts in research and development are aimed at making the bicycle safer, stronger and, most of all, fun to ride.

Bicycling is a sport, a way to exercise, and just down right fun to learn to ride and love.

Many people ride bikes to work or to the store or anywhere they might be going even if it is a short distance or a long one. It saves you time, money, and energy, if you learn to ride it in the proper way.

With the cost of living now, why can't you afford to buy a bicycle. You save expenses on gas, tires, filters, and even your patience when something goes wrong with your car and it is to go in the shop to be repaired which sometimes takes days and maybe just a few minutes.

But with Americans today why drive a car and not get a reward like some good exercise and keep your body in good firm shape, for when you drive a car, what exercise do you receive, except to get in or out of it or get in or out money from your pocket for the gas you are using.

Picture your self riding a beautiful bike on a lovely day and enjoy the sunshine while you do it. The future of biking is all left up to you.

Waldorf Salad To Go With Spring

Taste-tempting salads are family favorites throughout the year. What makes them especially appealing to the homemaker is the ease with which they can be made.

Here's a different kind of Waldorf salad that not only contains crisp, cold fruits like apples, dates, cherries and grapes but also has the very practical addition of cottage cheese.

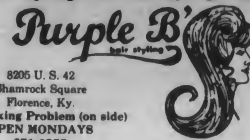

Creamy cottage cheese helps make any light fruit salad more satisfying and it supplies added protein for nutrition.

First, dice four cups of any tart unpared apples; chop one cup pitted dates; measure one cup of whole, small grapes or cut larger ones 'in halves; measure one half cup maraschino cherries which have been cut in fourths; and last measure one half cup broken pecans.

Combine all of the fruits and nuts. Then add one cup creamy cottage cheese and one cup of mayonnaise. Toss ingredients together lightly.

Line your salad bowl with chilled greens and mound the fruit and cottage cheese mixture in the center.

There are approximately eight servings to the recipe.

Glen Lily
Hart County

Col. Aylett Harswell Buckner, who had come to Kentucky with his parents at the age of 10, built this two-story log house in 1819-22. It stood about seven miles east of Munfordsville, the county seat of Hart County, two miles off Ky-357.

After his marriage to Elizabeth Ann Morehead, Colonel Buckner settled on a 3,000-acre tract of virgin forests where he began the construction of this hand-hewn log house of 10 rooms. All materials were obtained from the estate.

Colonel Buckner was very interested in iron ore, and his desire to become an ironmaster had much to do with his selection of this farm site in such rustic surroundings. He established the Henry Clay Iron Furnace in the early 1820's. It went out of blast in 1837, due to a shortage of timber for charcoal.

Simon Bolivar Buckner, the third child born to Colonel and Mrs. Buckner, was born here at the family home, April 1, 1823. He was named for the great South American patriot and statesman Simon Bolivar, and is more commonly associated with Glen Lily, which he named for his daughter, because of his prominence to Kentuckians and the fact that his residency there lasted 91 years. The house at this time consisted of 22 rooms, including the bedroom in which Simon Buckner entered and departed his life.

Young Buckner graduated from West Point in 1844, and was an instructor there for two years. He served in the Mexican War and as a general in the Confederate Army. He was a pallbearer at the funeral of U.S. Grant, a friend from West Point to whom he had surrendered as a Confederate officer.

He was Governor of Kentucky (1887-91) and was nominated for the vice-presidency in 1896. He had the reputation of being one of the foremost Shakespearean scholars of his day. His personal library gave mute testimony to his great and varied intellectual interests.

Governor Buckner resided at Glen Lily until his death on January 8, 1914. He was married twice, and had one child by each wife: a daughter by his first wife married Col. Morris Belknap of Louisville; a son by his second wife, Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner Jr., was the highest ranking American officer killed in World War II.

Glen Lily burned to the ground in 1961, after having been unoccupied for 15 years.

A Spicy Story

Today, as most homemakers know, herbs and spices make food more appetizing in aroma, more appealing in taste, and, according to food specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, sometimes even more digestible.

Nutmeg, for instance is appetizing in sweet foods and brings out the flavor of meats and vegetables, the specialists note. Rosemary adds zest to flat tasting fish and accents the taste of barbecued meats. And, what would chicken gravy be without pepper, hot dogs without mustard, wild greens without vinegar, or pizza without oregano?

In this day and time, we are inclined to take these and other seasonings common to shelves on just about any grocery store for granted. Yet there was a time when spices were more precious than gold and their history reads like a romance. Attesting to this statement, the scriptures of the ancient Assyrians hold that at least one spice, or herb, figured in the act of Creation. According to this version, the gods who were delegated the task of forming the earth were so appalled at the enormity of the job that, as many do today when faced with a difficult proposition, they hid behind a celestial committee meeting. While discussing the problem, they drank beer made from sesame seed.

Food historians say, however, that long before the Assyrians wrote their scriptures, men were acquainted with spices and very likely discovered their virtues when they wrapped meat in leaves to protect it from dirt and ashes while roasting it in a bed of hot coals. They discovered by this method that certain leaves imparted a piquant new flavor to the meat.

Primitive tribes living in the great forests of Europe, no doubt discovered dill, parsley, thyme, marjoram, and other herbs now used in cookery, but generally speaking the most important spices came from the East—India, Sumatra, Java, and Ceylon, and from such fabled cities as Kabul, Bagdad, Trebizond, and Samarkand.

Early Greek and Roman travelers and explorers first learned of these Eastern Spices and when they spread their civilizations across Europe, took this knowledge with them. It is said the first mustard seed was brought to England by Roman soldiers in 50 BC, and so great became the demand for this and other "new" spices that when Alaric, the Visigoth, conquered Rome in 410 AD, he required a ton of pepper as part of his price for not slaying the inhabitants.

The desire and demand for spices was partly responsible for the discovery of America by Columbus, and for the foundation of the British Empire upon which the "sun never set". This last event came to when Queen Elizabeth granted a charter to the East India Company, an organization formed to carry on the spice trade.

America benefited indirectly from the British East India Company. That was when Elihu Yale, a clerk in the company, endowed his fortune made in spices to the establishment of Yale University.

In the late 18th century Americans got into the spice business as the swift and graceful clipper ships of New England began to assume dominance over world trade. In 1873, however, pirates brought the American spice trade to a complete halt.

Meanwhile, the spice business was moving West. In 1835, American settlers, by combining various Mexican peppers, developed chili powders that resulted in a new dimension in American taste. In fact, Mexico was known for its spices long before the discovery of North America. One of Hernan Cortez's prize discoveries was the vanilla bean.

The story of herbs and spices is indeed one of romance and adventure. In addition to lending new flavors to foods, they have had a tremendous influence upon the world progress and upon the way of life itself.

FEARLESS FORECAST

By: R.W. Lancaster

Thursday, April 10, 1975

The Moon in Aries, a dry fire sign, would be a good time to start getting ground ready for that garden you are going to plant this weekend. Get your cabbage and tomato plants now and you will be ready and don't forget your lettuce seed.

Friday, April 11th

We have a new moon early tomorrow morning and the old farmers almanac claims that the fish will bite at this time. After the cold winter maybe they will be hungry, worth a try. The aspects are good for all business endeavors today, especially collecting money and signing contracts.

Saturday, April 12th

We have a new moon in the moist earth sign Taurus today. If you decided to plant your garden before you go fishing this would be a good time to plant above ground crops. Leafy type, will do exceptionally well, lettuce, cabbage, cucumbers, cauliflower, celery, spinach, and grains of all kinds and don't forget some green beans and melons.

Sunday, April 13th

This time of year I like to read what Benjamin Franklin had to say about agriculture. Quote: (There seem to be but three ways for a nation to acquire wealth; the first is by war, as the Romans did, in plundering their neighbors - this is robbery; the second by commerce, which is generally cheating; the third by agriculture, the only honest way, wherein man receives a real increase of the seed thrown into the ground, in a kind of continual miracle, wrought by the hand of God in his favor, as a reward for his innocent life and his virtuous industry.)

Monday, April 14th

The moon is in Gemini so no us planting as the seed would probably lay in the ground and rot. According to the NARD almanac, wait until this Thursday and you can't lose. The aspects indicate this would be a good time to look for a new position or probably better yourself in your present position. If you have been working hard, ask for a raise and see where you stand.

Tuesday, April 15th

If you have any bad teeth that have to come out, today or tomorrow would be a good time to visit your dentist and your gums should heal quickly without too much trouble. It is also a good time for sewing and mending, but I would save the home baking for Thursday or Friday when the moon is in the cardinal sign Cancer.

Wednesday, April 16th

Just a reminder that Thursday and Friday of this week is going to be an excellent time to plant trees and flowers for quick growth. If you plan now for the locations and get ready, the rest of the project will be fun. If you need new glasses try to get your eyes examined this Friday or Saturday.

A Formula For Weather Forecasts

"Back in 1955 what started our as a weather gag ended up as one of the strangest and unexplainable things that we ever had happen. The did brother of one of the high school boys working for me came into the store and had a baby snapping turtle about 1 1/2" across. I felt sorry for the tiny turtle and proceeded to make a deal with him. For two comic books and a chocolate soda the young snapper was mine. Just for a gag his big brother and I dug out an old aquarium, put gravel on the bottom with sand, placed three large stones, one at each end plus one in the middle. Marked the aquarium in three equal parts with 'Fair', 'Changeable' and 'Rainstorm'.

"Then we put in about 3 inches of water and the turtle, set it on one of our display shelves facing the soda fountain counter, and then proceeded to solemnly tell people that where the turtle would be at six p.m. that is what the weather would be the next day. This first day was on June 23rd and a nicer day was never under way in this part of Ohio. Barometer was steady, radio and TV forecasters plus the newspapers were all telling what fine weather was in store for the weekend great for pictures, golf, sailing, etc. Master of fact the only sour note of the day came at six p.m. when the turtle was perched on top of the far end rock of the section marked rain... stormy... and everybody laughed like hell including ourselves. Came three a.m. and there came up a sudden combination goose-down and gully washer rain, along with high winds, hail, lots of noise, taking down a few trees plus a few roofs in the area.

"To make a long story short the turtle hit it right every day for 14 days before making his first 'miss'. This was on July 7th. We kept the record for a hundred days, and shortly afterwards he went into hibernation and eventually passed on to wherever good turtles go after leaving these worldly shores. Out of the 100 days he only missed 15 times.

FORT BOONESBOROUGH STATE PARK

Days of Daniel Boone and his Kentucky settlers are re-created at the new Fort Boonesborough, between Richmond and Winchester. Reconstructed from original drawings, the fort is as accurate in detail as history reveals. Costumed artisans demonstrate the making of soap and candles, weaving, and many another craft of the early 1800's.

Kentucky's heritage and tradition are preserved in other state parks and shrines across the Commonwealth... all within a day's drive of your own home. So whether you're out for a one-day jaunt or for a week's vacation, visit Kentucky State Parks this year!

Training Program For Fireman

"If you are going to be a fireman be a good one" is what volunteer firemen hear when they participate in a training program sponsored by the Kentucky Fire Service Training Program, a branch of the Kentucky Department of Education. So far the agency has trained over 3,000 volunteer firemen.

Those men participated in a training program established by a 1972 Kentucky statute governing the minimum training requirements for volunteer fire fighters. The requirements were developed by the Commission on Fire Fighter Standards, created several years ago to study and investigate training programs. The training program will be going into its second year in June.

"Up until the passage of the bill, there was no uniform training program for volunteer fire fighters," said Anthony Manno, supervisor of the fire training program, Bureau of Vocational Education.

At present, volunteer firemen are required to have 150 hours of training before they are certified by the commission. The state provides 80 hours of training. "The 80 hours," is a basic course, designed as the first building block in a complete system of fire service education. Also for the first time, class participants receive a comprehensive Basic Fire Service Training Manual at no cost.

Manno said the basic course is tailored to be taught to more than one fire department at a time. "Yet, it maintains the flexibility to be presented to a single department where location and travel are a factor."

There are 480 fire departments in the state. Of these approximately 92 per cent are volunteer fire departments. Boone County's volunteer fire department and chiefs are Glenn Moore of Bellevue; Gerald Clore of Burlington; Don Roberts of Florence; Harvey Pelly of Hebron; Robert Abdon of Petersburg; Ronald Marshall of Union; Miles Strong of Verona and Edward Berkemeier of Walton.

Signs Up For Air Force

Twelve Northern Kentuckians recently signed up for the Air Force. Out of the twelve listed Ronald D. Rowsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard L. Rowsey of 38 High School Court in Walton will leave on June 13, 1975 upon the date of his graduation.

Receives His Good Conduct Award

Marine Cpl. Robert A. Theele of 4272 Richardson Road in Independence, received a good conduct award. He is stationed at Cherry Point, North Carolina, Air Station.

Holds Breakfast For Pre-School

The White's Tower PTA will hold their annual pre-school breakfast in the school cafeteria on Monday, April 28, 1975 at 9:15 a.m. This is designed as an orientation program for children who will be enrolling in the first grade this fall. The first grade teachers will be on hand to answer questions and to outline their first grade teaching program and to show the first grade rooms and school facilities. Coffee, milk, and donuts will be served.

Mrs. June Gray, Chairman of the Pre School Committee, is in charge of the breakfast.

All parents of children who will attend the first grade in the upcoming year who have not registered are urged to do so as soon as possible.

Aging Committee Will Meet

The Title III funding sub-committee of the Northern Kentucky Council on Aging will meet on Thursday, April 17th at 10:00 a.m. at the Area Development District Office, 106 Tanners Lane, Florence, Ky.

Meeting To Be Held For Lodge

The Walton Lodge No. 719 F&AM will meet for their regular monthly business meeting on Thursday, April 17th at 7:30 p.m. All members and visitors are invited to attend this meeting.

Chairman Has Been Named

Mr. Clyde Holcomb has been appointed chairman of the Buddy Poppy Drive for the Boone County Memorial Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6099. Mrs. Ada Horton has been named chairman of the Ladies Auxiliary to assist Mr. Holcomb.

Buddy Poppies, small red flowers that year around bring help to disabled veterans, their dependents, children at National Home. Bright little poppies provide therapy and extra income for hospitalized veterans who assembled them.

V.F.W. Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans in Veterans Administration Hospitals and State Veterans Homes. Co-sponsored with V.F.W., Buddy Poppy sales have kept this essential service going for 53 years.

Buddy Poppy proceeds are used to provide therapy, guidance service, hospital service, emergency relief, claims assistance and other forms of veterans aid.

We hope our citizens will support the V.F.W. Buddy Poppy sale and help "Honor The Dead By Helping The Living" by buying and wearing a Buddy Poppy on May 1st, 2nd, and 3rd.

Office To Be Closed On 21st

The Kenton County ASCS Office will be closed on Monday, April 21, 1975 to attend a meeting at Williamsstown, Ky.

Tea For The Governor

The Boone County Women's Democrats Club are holding a Tea in honor of Governor Julian Carroll on Thursday, April 17th from 4 to 5 p.m. at the Boone Aire Country Club located in Burlington, Ky.

The public is cordially invited to come and meet with the Governor.

Celebrating In A Different Way

Medical laboratory technologists at Booth Memorial Hospital are celebrating the current week as National Medical Laboratory Week but with a new twist.

Instead of having tours of the facility or sending out an array of speakers, the Booth Technologists have decided to try to reduce the blood bank debt.

The lab currently owes other hospitals, and the Cincinnati General Hospital in particular, more than 150 pints.

First to give her pint was Mrs. John Alexander, the lab director. Those who wish to contribute may do so by calling 431-3990 and making an appointment.

Kenton School Ask For More

Next week looms as an important one for students, parents and teachers of the Kenton County School System.

On Wednesday, the Board will meet to consider salaries for the entire staff. On Thursday, members will journey to Frankfort to discuss with the Department of Education building proposals.

The Kenton County Faculty Association has asked for a 9 per cent increase in salary of which 7 per cent will be provided by the state. Principals also made their request seeking increases averaging between 9 and 12 per cent. In addition, they also sought Blue Cross Insurance.

The requests for the increases, along with increases for other system employees will be considered at the Wednesday special session.

The Thursday trip to Frankfort, according to Board Chairman Robert Scott, involves state approval on a plan to expand Simon Kenton High School and, at the same time, construct a smaller new high school to care for 800 students. Decision to seek approval came at the regular April meeting of the board. The plan, said Scott, is a compromise between building additions to both Simon Kenton and Dixie High School or to build a third larger high school.

State Officials, the board was told, would agree to discuss only one plan and not several as had been earlier suggested.

Singles: Club Meet Again

The Tri-County Singles Club will hold their meeting at Anchor Grill, in Covington on Thursday, April 24, 1975 at 8:00 p.m. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. and no reservation will be required. All singles are welcomed to attend.

"Charisma of the Queen" will be the topic of a speaker from the Telephone Company.

On Friday, April 18 the club will be attending a dance at the El Rancho Raikin. Dance instructions are from 8:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. and all singles are to call R. Loughnan at 491-5871 for particulars.

Annual Boy Scouts Dinner

Independence Boy Scout Troop 8 will hold its annual dinner on Saturday, April 19 from 5:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. at Simon Kenton High School in Independence.

The menu will include a choice of either turkey or ham, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, green beans or peas, corn, cole slaw, cake or pie and coffee or iced tea. Soft drinks will also be available.

The annual dinner is the only fund raising project these boys have to support their yearly program and summer camp, so please come out and help support this worthwhile cause.

Tickets can be purchased from one of the scouts or at the door. Prices for adults are $2.00 and $1.00 for children 12 and under.

Roast Beef, Gravy, Mashed Potatoes, Creamed Peas, Tossed Salad, Dessert, Rolls, and Drinks, will be served on April 27th at the Walton Verona High School from 11:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. with tickets priced at $1.85 for Adults and $1.15 for children for a pre sale ticket sale. At the door the tickets will be priced at $4.95 for adults and $1.25 for children.

Following the dinner there will be a concert presented by the Walton Verona Bands. The Stage Band will play at 1:15 and will be followed at 2:00 with the Elementary Band, Junior High and Senior High Bands playing.

Performances by the majorettes and Drill team will also be enjoyed by all who attend the dinner and the concert.

DAR Held April Meeting At Ramada

Mrs. Harold Kohl

The Boone County Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution recently held its April meeting at the Ramada Inn, Florence. The afternoon was hosted by the following: Mmes. Wallace Grubbs, Rueben Conner, Deane Poore, David Clore, Henry Dye, and John Liver.

The meeting, presided by Mrs. Sam Denham, Jr., chapter regent, began with the D.A.R. Ritual, pledge to the flag, singing of the national anthem, and the American's Creed. One of the objectives of the D.A.R. is to foster American Patriotism.

In keeping with the upcoming 200th anniversary of our nation, Mrs. Harold Kohl gave a very inspiring program of selected readings depicting the emotions of men and women over the last two hundred years of the United States' maturation. Beginning with a

Dance Sponsored By B.O.C.K.Y. Club

It's time to shake off the boredom of winter and get into the spring of things!

The B.O.C.K.Y. Club are sponsoring a dance on May 10th at the St. Paul Church Hall, beginning at 9:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m.

The music will be provided by the Mel-Aires which is composed of personalities familiar to local TV viewers. All types of music will be provided to the listeners and the dancer.

The admission price will include drinks, set-ups, and snack trays. All proceeds from this evening of entertainment will be used to develop the youth sports complex.

So, make it a date on your social calendar by going to the B.O.C.K.Y. Club Dance on Mother's Day Eve.

To make reservations and to obtain more information about the dance, contact Mrs. Betty Duncan, 371-6462; Mrs. Audrey Becker, 371-7785; or Mr. Jack Ellis, 371-1225.

Don't wait too long, plan on joining us for a friendly, enjoyable evening.

Giving Dinner For Fire Truck

The Oak Ridge Volunteer Fire Department, of 5971 Taylor Mill, is planning a "Roast Beef Dinner" on Friday, April 25th.

Everyone is welcome to come out and enjoy a delicious roast beef dinner.

Come and support the Fire Department so that the proceeds will go towards the buying of a new fire truck.

Fundraising Reception For Gov. Carroll

Gov. Julian Carroll will be the guest of honor at the Boone County Carroll for Governor fundraising reception on Thursday, April 17, 1975 at 7:30 p.m. at the Barkley House.

Austin Mann and Asa Rouse are local chairmen of the Governor's gubernatorial campaign.

Tickets for the reception are available from Rick Clements at 689-7627 or from any member of the local committee. They are $25 per person.

Harris Names For AG Post

Tom Harris

Tom Harris, Democratic candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture, today named Charles (Pat) Patrick, Chairman; Al Roberts, Co-Chairman; and George (Ab) Ryan, Co-Chairman, for his campaign in the Boone County area.

Patrick, Hebron, is the owner of Patrick Auto Parts and has been a Boone County Magistrate for 11 years. He and his wife, Irene, have been active workers in Democratic politics in Boone County for several years, working in campaigns for Harris when he was twice elected to the Kentucky State Senate.

Al Roberts, Florence, is a partner in the Roberts-Hudson Fire Co., Inc. with stores in both Florence and Winchester, and George (Ab) Ryan owns the Ryan Implement Company in Walton where he lives.

Harris, in making the announcement, praised the Boone County residents for the work they have done for the Democratic party in the county and expressed his good fortune in getting them active in his campaign.

Class of 1975 Largest For NKSC

The Third Annual Commencement of Northern Kentucky State College will see the largest graduating class in the school's history cross the stage to receive their diplomas in Regents Hall, May 11, 1975.

The Class of '75, totaling 645 graduates, will mark the passing of another milestone for NKSC, for in addition to the awarding of 386 bachelor degrees, 133 associate degrees, and 119 juris doctor degrees, Northern will grant the first Master of Arts in Education degrees to seven members of the class.

The academic procession from Nunn Hall to Regents Hall will commence at 3:00 p.m. Parents and guests of the graduates are requested to arrive at least one hour earlier to aid in proper seating and to expedite the flow of the procession between the two buildings.

Graduates From Communications

U.S. Air Force Sergeant Mark A. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl T. Clark of R.R. 1 Percival Road, Walton, Ky., has graduated from the Air Force Communications Service Team Chief Academy at Wiesbaden AB, Germany.

Sergeant Clark received comprehensive training in the management of electronics and on site team methods, procedures and safety practices related to the communications operations.

The sergeant is a cable splicing specialist with the 1836th Electronics Installation Squadron at Wiesbaden.

He is a 1970 graduate of Simon Kenton High School, Independence, Ky.

Gov. Carroll To Be In Town

Governor Carroll will be in Walton on Thursday, April 17th at 3:00 p.m. to meet the citizens of Walton.

He will also be accompanied by the Democratic leaders of Boone County, of which one of the leaders will be Mr. Asa M. Rouse, Walton Attorney.

Spring Concert On It's Way

The Bands of the Walton Verona School will present their Annual Spring Concert on Sunday, April 27th following the Walton Verona Band Boosters Ham Dinner. Entertainment will begin at 1:15 p.m. in the Music P.E. Building at Walton Verona High with a program of rock and jazz played by the newly organized Walton Verona Stage Band. The Majorettes and Drill Team will follow with several routines.

The Elementary Band will give a concert at 2:00 p.m. continuing with the Intermediate Band of Junior High Students and the Senior High Band, the program will be varied and enjoyable to all. The program concludes with a massed band of over 125 performers.

Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Eastern Airlines Expand Schedule

Eastern Airlines will expand its schedule of service from Greater Cincinnati Airport on May 1st to provide air travelers with the only nonstop flights to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Minneapolis - St. Paul, Minn., and Orlando, Fla.

Eastern will also offer nonstop service to Milwaukee, and the only direct, through plane service to Sarasota-Bradenton, Fla., a city it presently serves from Cincinnati.

Making the announcement, Stanley Brown, Eastern manager sales and services, said, "Our new schedule for the spring and summer should be convenient and beneficial both for passengers traveling on business and those on vacation. Particularly, the nonstop to Orlando will make it easier than ever for vacationers to get to Walt Disney World and the many other superb attractions of central Florida."

Mr. Brown noted that passengers to Orlando will be able to connect there to another Eastern flight to West Palm Beach. Those to Ft. Lauderdale will be able to easily travel onward to Miami on another Eastern flight.

At the time the new flights go into effect, Eastern will also move into new ticket counter and departure gate facilities in Terminal A at Greater Cincinnati Airport.

Eastern's Schedule of services will be as follows:

To Fort Lauderdale, Flight 229, leaving daily at 2:35 p.m. and arriving at 4:40 p.m. Flight 228 returns daily, leaving Ft. Lauderdale at 8:45 a.m. and arriving in Cincinnati at 10:55 a.m.

To Orlando and Sarasota-Bradenton, Flight 291, leaving daily at 10:25 a.m., arriving in Orlando at 12:11 p.m. and in Sarasota at 1:11 p.m. Flight 290 returns daily, leaving Sarasota at 4 p.m. and Orlando at 5 p.m., arriving in Cincinnati at 6:55 p.m.

To Minneapolis-St. Paul, Flight 228 leaving daily at 11:25 a.m. and arriving at 11:56 a.m. Flight 229 returns to Cincinnati daily, leaving at 11:40 a.m., arriving at 2:07 p.m.

To Milwaukee, Flight 290 leaving daily at 7:29 p.m. and arriving at 7:25 p.m. Flight 291 returns daily, leaving Milwaukee at 7:45 a.m., arriving in Cincinnati at 9:44 a.m.

Mr. Brown said the new flights from Cincinnati will begin operating at the time Eastern normally changes its schedule of flights across the nation to provide new service patterns for the spring and summer seasons.

Cancer Program To Be Held

Films on Cancer of the breast and the Procto exam will be held Friday, April 25th at 10:30 a.m. at the First Church of Christ on U.S. 42 and Evergreen Drive in Florence, Ky.

Questions & Answers

Q. Will my wife's income help me qualify for a GI home loan from the Veterans Administration? I was honorably discharged from the military service last month, and plan to buy a home using my VA loan entitlement.

A. Yes, VA since July 1973 has been giving full recognition to income of both veteran and spouse in determining ability to repay GI loans.

Q. I've been having trouble lately with a stomach condition developed during military service. Since I've been out of service three years, I wonder if I can still apply for disability compensation from the Veterans Administration?

A. Yes. There is no deadline for veterans to file claims for service connected disabilities.

Q. Will the Veterans Administration pay transportation costs to the place of burial for a veteran who died of a non-service connected disability while in a private hospital?

A. VA is authorized to pay transportation costs to a burial site only when a veteran dies while being treated in a VA hospital, or while being treated at the agency's expense.

Dick Provides Music

Providing Music for the opening of Fort Boonesborough State Park near Richmond recently was "Fiddlin' Dick Wilson of Louisville. Fort Boonesborough is a major tourist attraction for Kentucky, since the original fort was the first fortified settlement in the Commonwealth. A replica of the fort, the former capital of the colony of Transylvania, is open for visitors and contains shops which display the various crafts used by the pioneers. Abeach on the Kentucky River also will be available, along with other recreational facilities. The park will be open throughout the summer and the remainder of the spring.

Climbing Again

The National Safety Council has released its 1974 traffic report, which shows Kentucky and Missouri tied for second place in reduced motor vehicle deaths last year.

There were 795 fatalities on Kentucky roads last year a decrease of some 29 per cent over 1973, when 1,117 persons were killed in traffic accidents. Across the country, motor vehicle deaths decreased 17 per cent. Utah was the only state to experience a greater reduction in fatalities than Kentucky or Missouri.

The Safety Council report attributes the lower death rate to the 55 mile an hour speed limit, which went into effect last March. Another reason cited was a decrease in traffic volume during the gasoline shortage.

In Kentucky, 1974 was the safest year for motorists since 1966, when 722 persons were killed, according to official state police figures.

The number of accidents in Kentucky also dropped last year. More than 24,700 were reported 4,000 fewer than in 1973.

Figures for 1975 are not quite as encouraging. Eighteen more persons have been killed in traffic mishaps through the first weekend of April than were killed during the same four month period in 1974.

Kentucky State Police began a new program aimed at reducing traffic deaths last month when they saw the death rate increasing. State police vehicles have stickers on front and rear bumpers to remind motorists that "It's 55 in '75."

Officials said motorists have become complacent about the slower speed limit and have been traveling at higher speeds in recent months. The black on orange bumper stickers came out after state police traffic arrest and warning citations jumped 20 per cent over comparable periods in 1974.

A summary of accidents listed speeding as a factor in 250 wrecks which resulted in death last year. Another 160 persons were killed in accidents involving drivers who were intoxicated.

Earlier this year, state police also reported that 103,000 motorists had been stopped for speeding last year, a sharp increase over 1973. Drunk driving citations were issued to more than 14,000 persons last year.

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

Many fishermen throughout Kentucky are wondering what effect the high waters around the state will have on this year's fish spawns. A poor spawn this year means fewer catchable fish two years from now, while good spawning success will indicate good fishing for the 1977 season.

According to Charlie Bowers, director of the department of Fish and Wildlife's fisheries division, the high waters can actually contribute to an excellent year for those fish which build nests, such as black bass and crappie. The flooded areas both provide more places for spawning and, more importantly, increase the amount of nutrients in the lake and the number of hiding places for the newly hatched fry.

White bass will not be affected by high lake levels, since they travel into the tributary streams to spawn. However, heavy rains during the spawn could increase the silt load in the streams enough to smother the eggs.

The great uncontrollable variable is, as always, the weather. If the lakes can be held stable during the spawning season, we should have an excellent spawn and a high survival rate of fry this year. However, if additional rains necessitate wide fluctuations in water levels, it could be a poor season, particularly if a lake must be drawn down during the spawn.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers controls the levels on most of Kentucky's lakes. The Corps' primary concern is, as it should be, flood control, but the engineers try to keep their lakes as stable as possible during the major spawning periods, according to Noah Whittle of the Louisville district of the Corps.

According to Whittle, most of the lakes in the Louisville district will be held from two to six feet above the normal summer pool levels through the second week in May. This is, of course, assuming an average amount of rainfall during April. Whittle also says that he is keeping in close contact with fisheries biologists throughout the state and will do everything possible to hold lake levels constant during the two to three week spawning period.

So the only thing we can do now is just watch the weather and hope for the best. And in the meantime, there are those fish that were spawned two years ago and are just waiting to be caught. Although the high, muddy water at most lakes makes fishing conditions rough, there are ways to catch fish now.

One productive technique is to find clear streams flowing into the muddy lake and fish where the two types of water mingle. The favorite bait is a live nightcrawler, but artificial lures can also be effective at times. If drifted debris makes access difficult, beach your boat and fish from the bank.

One word of caution: the lakes do have a lot of trash washed into them by the high waters, so keep a particularly sharp watch for floating logs or other large objects which could damage a boat.

DUST . . . The Old Pollutant

Perhaps the most important factor in changing the climate is dust. Particles can remain in the stratosphere—the layer of air from 10 to 30 miles above the earth—for as long as ten years.

Some parts of the global atmosphere are actually dustier than others.

The air over Northwestern India is probably 50-150 times dustier than industrial Chicago. The dust in India is part of a gigantic cloud that stretches from North Africa to Cambodia.

The top of this dust cloud is often about 25,000 feet above the Arabian Sea and 30,000 feet above the Thar Desert.

Data from the Kansas Highway Commission indicates loose material—including dust from unpaved roads—is a factor in as many as 54 per cent of the road conditions reported in all accidents and up to 45 per cent of the conditions in fatal accidents.

Researchers have found a surface spray of calcium chloride on unpaved roads holds dust down.

Gas Stove Energy Tips

Did you know that the gas used by a range to cook three meals for a family of four costs about $3.30 per day, based on a gas cost of 10 cents per therm? But even in the kitchen savings can be achieved. (1) A thermostatically controlled surface burner can save as much as 16 per cent of energy used. Such devices use just the amount of energy needed to cook foods properly. (2) Bring water to a boil with a full flame, then reduce to simmer. Vigorous boiling wastes energy and does not cook food faster. Cover pans too. (3) Defrost foods before cooking. Use a pressure cooker when possible. (4) When using the oven, try to cook an entire meal at one time. Main dishes, vegetables, bread and dessert. (5) Use a meat thermometer, don't preheat a gas broiler and don't leave oven door open while cooking.

Grade A eggs are best for frying, poaching, and cooking in the shell. However, Grade B eggs—which cost less—are just as good as Grade A ones for use in cakes and casseroles.

Riding Mowers Do More Than Mow

That's a new product for lawn and grounds maintenance and for gardening, offered this year by Simplicity Manufacturing Co., Inc., Port Washington, Wis. Transmissions on most mowers permit only a single operation, but the 8-horsepower mower has a low speed transmission range that permits the equipment to blow snow or till, as well as to mow grass. The firm is a subsidiary of the Allis-Chalmers Corp.

Compare Prices

Many supermarkets are now making it easier to compare prices by posting "unit prices" beside the price of the food item. These shelf tags tell you the price for a single unit of weight, measure or count of the product. Weight is listed in ounces or pounds; liquid measure in pints or quarts; and count by dozen, square feet, etc. You can quickly compare the prices for single units of different sizes in the same brand or of different brands in the same size and quality. For a true comparison, you must compare like items—products with similar ingredients or those processed similarly.

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

Farmers Are Entitled To Decent Income

All too often I think Americans overlook the tremendous contribution which American agriculture makes to the economy, to our foreign policy, and to other nations of the world. In fact, the United States is by far the largest single source of food imports for other countries.

This is naturally important to those countries many of which face potential starvation without it. But it is also important to this country because it enables us to dispose of those commodities we cannot use domestically, and because it helps our balance of trade and balance of payments.

Therefore, the most important contribution the United States can make to the future food security of consumers at home and to customers and aid recipients abroad is to assure a strong and viable American Farm system.

This can only be done by providing a reasonable level of income security for the farmer. Without at least some assurance against bad weather or overproduction, the risks of farming will eventually drive our producers out of business. Without reasonable loan and target prices, farmers will be discouraged from producing at full capacity.

With the world food situation as it is, we cannot afford the likely results of an agricultural policy which fails to provide the required income security. In other words, the farmer is entitled to a fair return on his investment just like any other businessman.

I am continuing my policy of trying to get back to Kentucky at least once a month or more. In recent weeks I have been to Middlesboro, Lexington, Murray, Hopkinsville, Madisonville, and Elizabethtown. Because of Senate business during the final days of consideration of the tax cut bill, I was forced to cancel a visit to Hazard. But I intend to reschedule that event in the near future.

Traveling throughout the state you cannot help but be impressed by the friendliness and the spirit of cooperation I find everywhere I go. Each section of the state has its own differences but there is a strong common bond among all Kentuckians that I find wherever I travel in the Commonwealth.

Vietnam: Latest Tragedy: U.S.: Still Suicidal

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN,
4th District, Kentucky

The gentle Christ, who once used a whip to physically drive the money changers out of the Temple, knew the strategy and tactics of war and diplomacy better than Americans who prompted the recognition of the U.S.S.R. in 1933 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and those in charge of our foreign policy ever since.

No words portray the intensity of tragedy and suffering being experienced by the people of South Vietnam. May God help them, for no one on earth will extricate them from their fate at the hands of the Communists.

No words or wringing of hands cover up the abyssal failure of the US foreign policy in the eyes of the world not just in Vietnam, but everywhere in relation to the World Communist Movement which ruthlessly pursues its conquest of the whole world. "detente" notwithstanding. The history is littered with American defeats. In World War II we held General Patton back from taking Berlin till the Soviets could get there. We betrayed the freedom loving Mihailovich to the Communist, Tito, in Yugoslavia. We sent back to his death at the hands of the Soviets, General Vlasov who had forged an Army of Russians to fight the Soviets. We forcibly "repatriated" and thus doomed, anti-Communist Russians who had sought sanctuary behind our lines. We agreed to the partition of Berlin, of Germany, of Korea, and Vietnam, sowing the seeds of future unending conflict.

President Truman ordered the atomic bombing of Japan when the U.S.S.R. was our "ally". Truman committed American men to a war he had not the will to win, and we lost over 50,000 dead. The Communists await only the propitious moment to strike again in that divided country. President John F. Kennedy lost the will to win and withheld air power from the men he had committed to the effort to take Cuba back from Castro. The Bay of Pigs tragedy was written into these black pages of American history. Then he duplicated that failure on a far greater scale in Vietnam, committing American servicemen to battle in Vietnam, but like Truman, holding them back from the main purpose in any war, complete victory.

Nor did President Johnson or Nixon introduce that purpose to the war.

Vietnam wasn't lost when Thieu's troops abandoned weapons, planes and equipment last week. It wasn't lost when we pulled our men out after the Paris agreement was signed in January 1973 and Secretary Kissinger's "peace with honor" got him half the Nobel Peace Prize. It was lost the day our fighting men were committed by Presidential order because they were told they couldn't strike and conquer the enemy in North Vietnam! They couldn't win! We used two atomic bombs on Japanese civilians, won that war and ended the killing. We didn't even use tactical nuclear weapons in the field against the Communist troops and armaments in Vietnam. General Eisenhower had advocated use of such weapons in Asia. The killing went on and on and on. Again, over 50,000 Americans died in vain!

The essence of our continuing foreign policy failures was summed up years ago by former Congressman Walter Judd when he said, "we have tried to make friend of our enemies by making enemies of our friends!"

The essence of our recent military failures without arguing whether or not we should have undertaken our Cuban, Korean or Vietnam ventures has been the denial to our fighting men, by the Commander in Chief, of the right to achieve the quickest possible total victory once he ordered them to risk life and limb in mortal combat!

In the good old days you couldn't pay kids to stay in school after the last bell. Now you can't get the reascals out.

Junior's in real trouble and has no time for joking. He got a poor report card in just when his dad quit smoking.

We would like to thank you, our customers, for making our business a success and due to this, in the very near future, we are going to expand and have not only one of the most complete tire centers for the people in our area, but, also one of the most complete auto centers.

my old kentucky home STATE PARK

The romantic remembrance of beautiful Kentucky belles in swirling hoopskirts, and gallant young gentlemen, is everywhere on the grounds of this old Southern plantation at Bardstown. Carillon bells chime Stephen Foster melodies, especially "My Old Kentucky Home," which Foster was inspired to write while on a visit here.

Kentucky's heritage and tradition are preserved in other state parks and shrines across the Commonwealth... all within a day's drive of your own home. So whether you're out for a one-day jaunt or for a week's vacation, visit Kentucky State Parks this year!

Baptist Church. Miss Elma Taylor was the hostess for the coffee hour which preceded the meeting.

Mrs. Betty Goebel, president, conducted the usual business. She announced that the Kenton County Homemakers annual spring luncheon will be at Beverly Hills, May 22nd. Several club members plan to attend.

A devotional on the topic "Habits—Good and Bad" was given by Mrs. Leontine Stephens. Her scripture selections were John 17:9 and Galatians 5:9. She quoted psychologist William James who said, "Ninety-nine percent of life is made up of cultivated, automatic actions. Every small stroke of virtue or vice leaves its mark." She said "First we make our habits, then our habits make us."

The April project, "Wardrobe Recycling" was presented by Mrs. Nancy Peebles and Mrs. Margaret Rector. They gave many suggestions for making new clothes from old garments, such as converting an A-line dress to a tunic, vest on top. They stated the possibilities of remaking garments, both men and women, into clothes for little children. They brought several garments and made suggestions for changing them.

Guests and members present were: Mesdames Elizabeth Barberick, Dixie Dressman, Betty Goebel, Kathryn Guttridge, Lydia Huffaker, Glenda Jackson, Mary Jackson, Nancy Peebles, Margaret Rector, Betty Rucker, Leontine Stephens, Mary Whalen and Misses Mary Stephens and Elma Taylor. Four children were also present, Dawn Ellen Dressman, Laurie Goebel, Danny Peebles, and Stevie Rucker.

A Budget Dinner With Pizzaz

SKY HIGH PORK CHOPS - Plain pork chops are transformed into a gourmet feast that adds pizzaz to your dinner menu without adding to your grocery budget.

A food expert who trains restaurant managers from around the world says that both economy and pizzaz can become "naturals" in any kitchen.

Jim Harrison, a 22 year veteran of the restaurant business and food and beverage instructor at Holiday Inn University near Memphis, Tennessee, knows what it means to cook on a budget. But, he's also learned how to make economy meals look glamorous and taste like a gourmet delight.

One of Jim's favorite low cost eyebrow raisers is a recipe he calls Sky High Pork Chops. Hamburgers, tuna and other economy meats can always turn into a casserole when monotony strikes, but pork chops take a bit more thought.

Be sure to buy extra thick pork chops for this dish planning one chop per person. Brown the meat and transfer it to a baking dish. Now you're ready to build a tower of succulent pineapple rounds, sauteed pepper and onion rings, fluffy white rice and rich tomato sauce that is guaranteed to "wow" any family and leave your grocery budget intact.

Sky High Pork Chops
Double thick pork chops canned pineapple rounds green pepper (small) onion (medium) minutule rice
condensed tomato soup

Salt, pepper and flour the pork chops and brown in skillet with small amount of cooking oil. Place browned pork chops in casserole dish. Cut onion in 1/4 inch slices; saute until golden brown, place one slice on each pork chop. Top onion with one pineapple round. Top pineapple rounds with 1/4 inch ring of green (bell) pepper. Secure pepper, pineapple and onion to pork chop with toothpick. Prepare Minute rice according to package, using only two thirds of the steaming time. Cool. Spoon rice into a mound in each peppering. Prepare condensed tomato soup with 1/2 can milk and pour over five layered pork chop. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve with chilled rose wine and green salad.

Wa Na Club

Held Their Meeting

The Wa Na Club held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Jack Rouse with Mrs. Wally Wireman as co-hostess.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Willie Mathis, Jr., presided and led the club in the club collect and pledge to the flag.

The spiritual guidance was given by Mrs. Asa Rouse with her selection being "Daffodils" by the William Wadsworth selection.

Students from the Walton Verona High School who represented the Wa Na Club in the contests at the 5th District Meeting were guests along with their Art Teacher, Mrs. Crowfton. Nancy Adams won the blue ribbon for her water color painting. Laura McMillian modeled her sewing entry, and Amy Rouse presented her ink drawing.

Mrs. Mathis, program chairman, introduced the guests speakers. Mr. Willie Mathis, Jr., who spoke on the rising number of crimes being committed and on our parole system and the powers of the parole board, and Col. Thomas Schwartz, who spoke about our 9 man police department of Boone County and Policeman Marvin Smith who showed a film on crime prevention and also how to mark our possessions for identification if they were stolen. Boone County has an electric engraving pen to loan to anyone that would like to use it for that purpose.

Members and guests attending were Mrs. Asa Rouse, Mrs. Jack Norris, Mrs. Daniel Hance, Mrs. Willie Mathis, Jr., Mrs. David Peebles, Mrs. William Locke, Mrs. Chester Sturgeon, Mrs. Jack Rouse, Mrs. Wendell Rouse, Mrs. Wally Wireman, Mrs. Elmer Groger, Miss Joella Sleet, and Mrs. Donald McMillian.

The Garfield Place
Floyd County

Located on Second Avenue in Prestonsburg is the house used as Col. James A. Garfield's Civil War headquarters during his Big Sandy campaign in 1862.

It is a rambling two-story frame structure with brick chimneys and a two-story veranda across the front. The house faces the river and is situated about 300 yards south of where the soldiers camped.

The young and inexperienced Colonel Garfield was placed in command of the Union Army's 17th Brigade, which was ordered into Kentucky to destroy or at least stop the renowned and experienced Gen. Humphrey Marshall. General Marshall was moving an array of Confederate artillery, cavalry, and some 5,000 infantrymen toward Lexington to join Gen. Felix K. Zollicoffer, who was advancing on Lexington through Cumberland Gap and Mill Springs.

In a month, Garfield succeeded in driving the Confederate forces from Eastern Kentucky. He established headquarters in the home of John M. Burns, who fled downriver in fear for his life. Floyd Countians tended to sympathize with the South; however, public opinion was not unanimous. Burns supported the Union, while his close friend and law partner, John Elliott, was a Democrat and an outspoken sympathizer with the South.

Burns was ex-county attorney of Letcher County. Both men enjoyed a lucrative practice and rose in political favor. Burns served in Kentucky politics; Elliott was elected to two terms of the U.S. Congress and then into the Confederate Congress at Richmond.

Colonel Garfield's success was the first substantial victory of the Union cause. It won him a general's star, and started him on the road leading to the Presidency.

"The Garfield Place," as it is still called today, was purchased by Claude P. Stephens, who had a great sense for historical values. He preserved it not only for a home, but as a treasured monument to a significant part of Kentucky's place in history.

A Civil War pistol, believed to have been Garfield's personal weapon, was found in the walls of the house. It was identified by President Garfield's son, the Hon. James R. Garfield of Cleveland, when he visited the home in 1932.

SHORT ROWS

By Nevyle Shockeyford

Planting a garden is one thing. Cultivating and other wise taking care of it is another and, one is as important as the other.

In caring for a garden, shallow cultivation around plants every week or 10 days to kill weeds and keep the soil in good condition. However, if straw, ground corn cobs, leaf clippings, or similar materials are available, these can be used as mulch around the plants and will help cut down on the hard labor involved in weeding.

If the garden is small enough or there is sufficient water handy, water thoroughly every week or 10 days if there should be a spell of very dry weather. If the garden is irrigated, be sure to moisten the soil to a depth of at least five or six inches. Mulching also helps conserve moisture in the soil.

To lessen the insect and disease control problem, start out with disease resistant varieties. Thin or set out plants to recommended distances, keep the garden clear of trash, and rotate your crops every year.

Plants that suddenly wilt or appear sick should be examined immediately. It may be that they merely need a drink of water. Then they may have been injured by aphids or such insects as cucumber beetles. If injured by insects, give them a dose of some of the safe insecticides offered for sale by your feed and seed store. If there is no apparent cause for the plants looking sick, then they should be pulled up and destroyed.

And on this subject of control measures for insects and diseases, change frequently. To be sure of the latest recommended measures, check with your county Extension agent. The secret of garden pest control is to use the right material, in the right amount, in the right way, and at the right time.

This method of garden care will help assure a successful harvest, and on this matter, here are some helpful hints to heighten the enjoyment. First, pick vegetables as soon as they are ready and eat them as soon as possible after picking. This will assure the highest nutritional content and peak flavor. Keep cucumbers, squash, and tomatoes well picked so that the plants will continue production.

When the vegetables are ripe, don't hesitate to harvest and hasten them to the pot, the can, or the freezer. This is the payoff and the main reason for putting in a garden in the first place.

State Employers Issued Booklets

Governor Julian Carroll has directed state government agency heads to distribute a new gasoline conservation booklet to all state employees.

The 16 page booklet, "The Gas Watchers Guide" is published by the American Automobile Association and was donated to state government by the Louisville Automobile Club. It stresses the seriousness of the energy crisis and informatively offers suggestions to avoid wasting gasoline.

"The Booklet," Governor Carroll said, "certainly complements the state's efforts to conserve energy of all sources both at work and at home."

Agency payroll clerks began distributing the booklet Monday to 32,000 state government employees.

Nonsmokers Speak Up!

Teenage and adult nonsmokers are speaking up to protect themselves against second hand smoke. But toddlers have a tough time speaking at all, and tiny lungs have trouble protecting themselves. Since young children can't defend themselves against tobacco smoke floating in the air, it's up to parents to get the message. While the surgeon general's warning may not tell you so, the message is clear: your smoking may be hazardous to your child's health.

Researchers at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine studied the incidence of pneumonia and bronchitis among thousands of children in their early years. They found that youngsters in the first year of life had a higher rate of these two diseases if their parents smoked. The rate was highest when both parents smoked, somewhat less when only one parent smoked, and lowest when both parents were nonsmokers.

The risk of an infant's attack of pneumonia or bronchitis was actually doubled by parental smoking. "Attacks of pneumonia and bronchitis, particularly in the first year of life," say the researchers, "can still result in infant death despite prompt and vigorous treatment." The warning is chilling.

Children who have respiratory illness in the first year of life, the researchers say, have also been found to be more likely to suffer from chronic respiratory diseases later in life.

Another major study showed that respiratory illness among children was twice as common when the parents smoked at home compared to children who had nonsmoking parents.

Questions & Answers

Q I bought a house in 1954 with a maximum loan guaranty of $7,500 from the Veterans Administration. Since the Veterans Housing Act of 1974 increased the loan guaranty from $12,500 to $17,500, am I eligible for more entitlement?

A Yes. You would be eligible for the $17,500 guaranty if you sold your home and paid the GI loan in full.

Q I'm a veteran drawing compensation from the Veterans Administration for a 30 per cent service connected disability. I'll be 65 and retired soon, and wonder if I can waive compensation and switch to pension?

A Yes. If you apply to VA and it is to your advantage. The agency will determine this based on information you provide, and pay you the higher benefit.

Q My husband has just retired after 20 years in military service.

Am I eligible for CHAMPVA, the Veterans Administration health care program?

A No, but military retirees and their dependents are eligible for a similar program of health care, CHAMPUS. Suggest you have your husband check with military sources for details.

Cooperative Club Meets Again

The Cooperative Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. James Ingram on April 8th with the club opening their meeting by singing "Onward ever Onward". Mrs. Vernon Porterfield led the devotion which was followed by the lesson "Recycling The Clothing Wardrobe For Spring".

The 13 members present were: Mrs. Wallace Ingram, Mrs. Acie Davis, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Evert Porterfield, Mrs. James Ingram, Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy, Mrs. Walter Sleat, Mrs. Vernon

Porterfield, Mrs. Charles Spriggs, Mrs. Charles Vance, and the hostess, Mrs. Fred Kirtley who served a nice luncheon that was enjoyed by everyone attending the meeting.

Card of Thanks

I want to thank each and everyone that remembered me during the death of my brother. Especially the ladies that cook in the lunch room and the maintenance men at Walton Veron High School. And the Education Association for the beautiful flowers.

Bro. Sheffield for his visits and prayers. Your kindness will always be remembered.

God and Man In Covenant

(Exodus 19:3-6; 20:2-4; 7-8; 12-17)

Over a hundred years ago Voltaire, the French infidel, declared that there would not be a copy of the Bible on earth in a hundred years. For scores of years, the Geneva Bible Society has used the very printing press on which the infidel printed his prophecy. Today, more than 400,000,000 Bibles are in circulation.

When God spoke His word to holy men of old He purposed that His word would stand for all generations. God's word is eternal. His word never changes. It is more up-to-date than today's newspaper. God purposed that His will be made known unto man. God further purposed that His will be obeyed. God of His own initiative entered into covenant with man.

Exodus 19:3-6 describes the method God used to reveal His will to man.

The Method, Exodus 19:3-6

God did not use some magic formula or device to make His will known to man. His word came to men through a man. God called Moses up to the mountain. Moses in all of these experiences never saw God. He heard Him. Man still walks by faith not by sight.

God's method was to speak to Moses and Moses was to convey God's word to all of the people. The people had already experienced God. God had demonstrated His concern and His strength by leading them out of the land of Egypt. God now calls upon them to hear His word and be obedient.

Men are called upon today to be obedient to God. There are laws of God and they are grounded in His holy nature. Man is not to obey laws and customs simply because it is the thing to do. This can become legalistic and enslave men who were intended to be free. Man is to obey the will of God because of who God is and what God has done for the human race. God has the right to expect obedience to His will.

God's method was to create a people who would be a peculiar treasure unto Him above all people of the earth. But even in this God's method can be seen. This peculiar people would be His witness to the nations of the world. God was and is concerned for all of the earth "for all of the earth is mine."

His obedient people would be a kingdom of priests, and an holy nation. They would be the means whereby God would reveal His love and His grace to the world.

The Majesty, Exodus 20:2-4, 7-8

God entered into covenant with man. This covenant was different from the usual covenants. As a usual thing covenants were between equals, but this covenant was between the Creator and the created. God must be recognized for who and what He was. God was Lord. He was their Deliverer from bondage. They must put Him first in all of life.

No idolatrous representations of God were allowed. God is altogether different from anything else in all of creation. Nothing is like God. To try to represent God with any form or image is to sin against His nature.

God's name represents His nature. God's nature is holy. To use His name lightly, empty, without meaning is to sin against the person God is. This means more than cursing with God's name. Many professing Christians use God's name as a by-word. Many profess to be the children of God, yet fail to be obedient to His will. This also is to take God's name in vain.

God's peculiar people were to observe the sabbath day and keep it holy. To properly observe the Lord's Day would be one sure way of recognizing that every day and all time really belongs to God.

As God's people walked in faith, showing themselves to be rightly related to Him, they would be the means of turning many others of righteousness. Not only were they to recognize their relationship to the Father but they had responsibilities one to another because they had become members of God's family.

The Members, Exodus 20:12-17

In this covenant relationship parents must receive the honor due them. God had given life through the parents. Children were expected to remember that.

There was to be no killing. Life was a gift from God. Man was made in the image of God. No man must be allowed to take the life of another. That prerogative belongs to God alone.

Adultery, including extramarital sexual relations whether married or single, was prohibited. This was protection for sacredness of the home and still is.

Stealing, lying, and covetousness could not be allowed in the covenant relationship of God and His people. It needs to be remembered that no one ever really breaks these laws of God. Many people are broken over the laws but they still stand unscarred, unwavering, undiluted!

Youth Revival

The Youth Revival at Amity Baptist Church will be April 25th, 26th, and 27th.

The Youth Team from Northern Kentucky State College B.S.D., will be in charge of the services.

Friday and Saturday evening services will be at 7:30 p.m. Sunday School at 10:00 a.m. and Morning Worship at 11:00 a.m. with the evening worship services beginning at 6:00 p.m.

Pray for our youth as they plan for the revival and plan now to attend every service.

Revival Crusade For Christ

Revival Crusade for Christ will be held at the Morningview United Methodist Church in Morningview, Ky. on April 17, 18, and 19 at 7:30 p.m. each night.

The evangelist for each service will be Bro. Gary L. Case, pastor of the Burlington United Methodist Church.

Special music will be included in each service.

On Sunday, April 20th, pastor Bro. Finley Isaacs will hold regular services at 11:00 a.m. followed by a fellowship dinner in the church's fellowship hall.

The Green Family from Independence will present some gospel singing at 2:00 p.m. with the public invited.

Come to the revival and gospel singing at April 17th - 19th.

Rev. Albert Gisler To Hold Revival

The First Baptist Church of Walton will begin revival services on April 21st starting each evening at 7:30 p.m. till April 27th.

Rev. Albert Gisler of Boulevard Baptist Church in Memphis, Tennessee and Mr. Gary Griesser of Hebron Baptist Church will be holding the services each night and on Sunday with the first service beginning at 11:00 a.m.

The public is invited to attend the services each night.

Is It Time To Renew

It's a line from an old gospel hymn, "Sing and Smile and Pray."

Our little lady with the checkered raincoat and umbrella has a most engaging smile. We're not sure whether she's happiest about her "storm gear" or her puppy dog or perhaps where she's going on this rainy day.

But this is certain—it takes preparedness to smile the clouds away.

Every Sunday in our churches millions of youngsters are learning with Christian conviction to sing and smile and pray. Their religious training is preparing them for all-weather living.

The darker the sky, the brighter the gleam in the eyes of faith.

Natural Beauty Of Spring Fashions

Fashion is in a Spring fever of enthusiasm for the natural fibers. Once again, wool and cotton are the heroes. This return to natural resources for fabrics is happening for several reasons - partly because of the petroleum squeeze, which is being felt in the polyester industry already, and partly because of a natural consumer reaction against a steady diet of synthetics.

Doubleknits have been done to death. Furthermore, as the temperature rises, women remember the airiness and comfort of natural fibers that absorb moisture instead of holding it against the body - something to consider when planning a warm weather wardrobe.

Biggest success story of the season, naturally, is the big top dress. Most women will want to add a wide wrap belt, which instantly transforms it into the most gloriously buoyant shirtdress of your life. The extra buoyancy, achieved through fullness of cut, is most flattering if there is no extra fullness of figure underneath. Try one of these "big tops" in light-weight woven wool and see how gracefully it swirls around your legs, making the most of a trim figure.

Warming up to the subject of warm weather fashions, French and American designers have created ready to wear collections in natural colored cotton muslin. For daytime there are plenty of skirts with flaps and flares in every length. Back wrap styles are popular; so are flat stomach panels with softness shirred in on either side. This latter design is particularly fetching, but you'd better have the flat stomach to put under it.

Natural muslin is turned into sophisticated pantsuits too, with shirtdresses tailored as carefully as if they were cut in the most expensive couturier fabric. On the more casual side, muslin overshirts with peasant embroidery are so plentiful you'll think a folkdance festival is coming to town. These shirts look marvelous with natural muslin slacks in a ripple textured cotton that needs no ironing.

By the way, if your natural fashion instincts include an instinctive aversion to the steam iron, you'll be happy to learn that a small percentage of polyester is often blended with these natural colored cottons just enough to make the muslin scene as carefree as it is attractive.

After sunset, keep right on being a naturalist. Caftans of sunny colored wools will dress you in divine comfort on cool Spring nights. As evenings get warmer, shift to gauzy cotton caftans which frequently are lavished with East Indian embroidery for surprisingly little cost. They're cool and comfortable as a nightgown and just as alluring. Enough of you shows through so that you'll want to be in perfect shape.

If there's room for improvement in your figure, start dieting now. The easiest way to lose unwanted pounds and inches is with Slender Diet food from Canation. One packet mixed with 6 oz. nonfat milk has 164 calories. Mixed with 6 oz. whole milk or enjoyed straight from the can, this delicious drink has 225 calories. Substitute one of these for a regular meal as needed. Slender is balanced to supply 1/2 of your RDA's with every glass, which makes this diet plan perfect if you're health minded but naturally lazy.

Handbags have gone the natural route too. Canvas totes, quilted chintz satchels and chamois leather shoulder bags are your best bets for Spring. For sunny days, there's nothing newer than the Chinese straws now blowing in the wind. Clutch at straw bags, and don't over look the flattery of a natural straw hat. Wear as big as a brim as you dare, and wind a different costume. Straws are relatively inexpensive, and they work with all your suitcase clothes. They're a classic example of how easy it is to be a natural beauty now!

Happy Hour Homemakers

"Burglary is the fastest growing felony. Perhaps the reason burglary is so popular is because we make it so easy." This was one of the statements made by Patrolman Marvin Smith of the Boone County Police Department. Patrolman Smith was the guest speaker at the March meeting of the Happy Hour Homemakers. "Know Your Local Government" was the lesson given by Mae Swango and Etta Wilson at the previous meeting. The lesson, which covered the responsibilities of our county officials and how our county government works, also touched on the subject of Crime Prevention. This sparked the interest of the club because the members could have an active part in the program and perhaps help to reduce the rate of this crime.

Patrolman Smith had recently returned from Louisville where he had training in Crime Prevention. The idea of crime prevention is to protect your home and family so that the burglar will be discouraged before attempting the crime. The most effective precautionary measure is a program named "Operation Identification."

Operation I.D. has two parts. First, you mark all your easily stolen valuables so that they can be identified as yours. Second, you display a sticker which tells burglars that you have done so. These items should be marked with your driver licenses number. (This number can be traced easier and faster than a social security number.) The Boone County (586-6100) and Florence (371-5155) Police Departments have engraving tools which can be borrowed for this purpose. After marking your possessions make a list of the articles and description of the property.

Operations I.D. is effective because items that are easily identified are hard to dispose of. It can be traced back to you. It is solid evidence of possession of stolen goods, if the burglar is caught with it in his possession.

Quality locks are cheap insurance. After a film, the club examined various types of locks and reviewed their efficiency. Cylinder deadlocks are recommended on all entry doors. Don't forget to secure the garage. Windows must be latched. If there is an outdoor switch box a lock could prevent the prowler from cutting off the electric supply.

Exterior lights at night when you're home, plus inside lights when you're not is a deterrent to burglars. Other safety devices are view scopes in doors, a good watch dog, plug in light timers when away, and alarms. An inexpensive alarm is the flash box. When activated it creates a startling sound and flashes a light which can frighten the intruder.

Knowing your neighbors and working together to form a neighborhood watch (for the purpose of mutual protection) is another safeguard against theft. When you are familiar with regular visitors and activities extraordinary events and strangers are easy to spot. If you see something suspicious call the police. Police would rather you called than wished you'd called after the crime has been committed.

Our thanks goes to Patrolman Smith for his volunteered time to present and explain this important program. He is available to other groups and can be reached through the Boone County Police Office.

PARTY & WEDDING CAKES OUR SPECIALTY

Slow Cookers Do Many Tasks

Now there are electric fry pans that also are slow cookers.

If you are interested in the great tastes and tenderness slow cookers offer but concerned about investing in a single purpose appliance or about space for storage of a product that is limited, this version is worth looking into.

Electric frypans are probably the most versatile of kitchen appliances, doing tasks from baking cakes to roasting meat, making stews, or, as the name indicates, frying foods.

They lower your electric bill in most of these uses. For example, it takes 2.47 times as much electricity to bake a cake in an electric oven as it takes to bake it in a frypan. Making pizza from a mix takes three times as much energy in an oven as the frypan uses.

Now, through addition of a ceramic slow cooker liner, the versatile electric frypan becomes a slow cooker, too. The lid fits the ceramic liner as well as the frypan and the entire unit stores as a frypan.

One maker, Sunbeam, even sells the ceramic liner separately so that present large size frypans of that brand can be converted to slow cookers at much lower cost than purchasing the entire crocker frypan.

SPRING HOME IMPROVEMENT

Tighten Up Your Home!

On of the biggest and most costly wastes of energy in the home is the unnecessary loss of heat in the winter and increase of heat in the summer through walls, ceilings, floors, doors, and windows.

Insulating your home properly is one of the key ways to stop it from being an energy waster. In addition, these other tips, from the EEI will help you conserve energy:

1. Weatherstrip and caulk around all windows and doors. If they are leaking air, you may be increasing your heating bills.

2. Install storm windows or insulating glass. This will cut in half the amount of heat lost through the windows of your home.

3. By drawing shades or draperies on cold days when the sun isn't shining, you can also cut heat lost through windows.

4. Close the damper in your fireplace tightly when you're not using it.

5. And close the doors to the attic, basement, garage, or other unheated parts of your home so you won't spend money heating or cooling spaces when they're not being used.

Water Heater Energy Tips

If you have a gas water heater, you are already using an efficient energy appliance - using it effectively can save even more: (1) Lower water temperature setting to 120 degrees F. (A saving to 10 to 20 per cent of water heating costs can be achieved.) (2) Repair dripping water faucets. (3) Wash full loads of clothes and dishes. (4) Use one third less hot water for bathing. (A savings of up to 14 per cent of water heating costs can be achieved.) (5) Insulate hot water pipes. (Clothes Dryer) (1) Dry full loads. (2) Clean lint filter after every load.

FEARLESS FORECAST

By: R. W. Lancaster

Thursday, April 17, 1975

Moon in Cancer first quarter is an excellent time to plant above ground crops, tomatoes, beans, peppers, corn, melons, cucumbers, and anything else you can think of that matures above the ground and if you want an abundance of bloom on your flowers get the seed in the ground today or tomorrow, plant some geraniums in your bean rows and you won't have to spray for Mexican bean beetles.

Friday, April 18th.

Finish planting your garden any time today and then plan on doing some fishing late this evening the fishing will be excellent and then will slack off until next Friday and Saturday when you will have some of the best fishing of the year plan a week ahead and circle April 25th and 26th on your fishing calendar. If you are not interested in fishing or farming this would be an excellent day to do some home baking.

Saturday, April 19th.

The moon went in to the fixed fire sign Leo early this morning which is a good time to break ground and kill weeds but a poor time to plant and usually the fish won't bite, but it is a good time for spring house cleaning and starting any new constructing, also buying clothing and furnishings, things taken care of at this time usually last a long time.

Sunday, April 21th.

The Sun moves in to the earth sign Taurus this afternoon, and the Roman, Pliny the elder, had some good thoughts about our earth (The waters deluge man with rain, oppress him with hail, and drown him with inundations; the air rushes in storms, prepares the tempest, or lights up the volcano; but the earth, gentle and indulgent, ever subservient to the wants of man, spreads his walks with flowers, and his table with plenty; returns with interest, every good committed to her care; and though she produces the poison, she still supplies the antidote; though constantly teased more to furnish the luxuries of man than his necessities, yet even to the last she continues her kind indulgence, and when life is over, she piously covers his remains in her bosom.)

Monday, April 21st.

The moon goes in to the barren sign Virgo early this morning and remains there until early Wednesday morning so the next couple of days will be a poor time to plant and the fish won't bite but it is a good time for house cleaning and making friendly calls, the afternoon would be a good time to buy a new pair of shoes for the latest style and a good fit.

Tuesday, April 22nd.

If you have any bad teeth this is an excellent time for extractions but if you need fillings or plate impressions this Friday or Saturday would be a better time. Today is the right time for eye examination if you need glasses and if your health is good this is an excellent time to get more ground ready for flowers or vegetables.

Wednesday, April 23rd.

The Moon went in to the Cardinal air sign Libra early this morning so if you have the ground ready you can start planting flowers planted now will be exceptionally beautiful, also a good time for beans, corn, cucumbers, and squash and don't forget a few melons, if you want to discourage beetles and aphids in your garden plant some geraniums and borage amongst your vegetables and maybe you won't have to spray too often if at all.

Protecting Your Child: Do You Care?

Young children can't speak like teenagers and adults, and tiny lungs have trouble protecting themselves. They have to depend on you, their parents.

The health of your child's lungs even his life lies in your hands. And if those hands hold a cigarette, chances are doubled that your baby will have pneumonia or bronchitis.

Researchers in London found that children under one year of age with smoking parents had a higher rate of pneumonia and bronchitis than children who don't have to breathe second hand smoke. Another study showed that respiratory illness of all types is twice as common among children whose parents smoke at home.

A child who suffers from respiratory disease early in life is more susceptible to chronic and acute breathing problems later on; worse yet, pneumonia and bronchitis still can be killers.

The Kentucky Lung Association urges you to think twice about that cigarette in your hand. It may be a matter of your child's life and breath.

County Agent's 1/2 Acre

It is Tobacco Bed Plant time in Boone County. An adequate supply of healthy, stocky plants should be ready for early transplanting if high quality tobacco is to be produced. Enough plant bed area should be prepared to provide, at two pullings, the plants needed for the entire crop. Select fertile, well drained soil high in organic matter, preferably a slight southern or eastern slope, and free from shade, especially in the forenoon. An ideal place for growing plants is in an open field and near a supply of water. Avoid sites near tobacco barns or other sources of tobacco trash and areas infested with bullnipples, groundcherries, or plantains. These weeds may be a source of tobacco viruses. One hundred feet of bed, 9 feet wide, or 75 feet of bed, 12 feet wide, should supply enough plants for each acre of burley to be set.

Not more than 50 pounds of a complete fertilizer containing about 5 pounds of nitrogen, 5 lbs. of P₂O₅, and 5 lbs. of K₂O should be used on 100 square yards of (9 x 100) of plant bed. This could be applied by using 50 lbs. of a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10. If you use much more than the amounts given above, soluble salts may rise to the soil surface in dry weather and cause the plants to yellow and die.

Sow 2 level teaspoons of certified seed to each 100 feet of bed 9 feet

Sprays For: Home Fruit Plantings FARM NEWS AND ANALYSIS

By Darwin Foley Kenton County Extension Agent

Since they need fewer sprays, come into bearing sooner and need less space, many people find the small fruits such as grapes, strawberries, blackberries, raspberries, and gooseberries more rewarding than tree fruits.

In general, the home fruit gardener has a much better chance for success where early ripening varieties are used, because they require less spraying and are harvested earlier, before the more serious late season pest build ups develop.

The use of disease resistant varieties will help. For example, the Grimes Golden, a fine all purpose apple, is fairly resistant to apple scab, whereas the red Delicious is very subject to apple scab and is not considered a good cooking apple. Also, the two new red summer apples Prima and Priscilla are scab resistant and need no fungicide sprays for control of this serious apple disease. Concord grapes are more resistant to black rot than some other varieties.

At all times it should be remembered that variety selection, the health and vigor of individual plants, tree and plant size, good pruning, weed, grass and rodent control are also very important for the success of home fruit plantings.

Healthy, vigorous trees and plants will yield more fruit than sickly ones. A liberal supply of mineral nutrients provided by the application of fertilizers and manure will help assure a harvest. It is important, however, not to apply too much nitrogen to fruit plantings. Where too much nitrogen is present, the set of fruit is reduced, while the succulent growth that is produced may be more susceptible to disease than plantings where there is less nitrogen. This is true, for example, with firelight on apples and pears.

Avoid too large a planting! A common mistake for new growers is to make the home planting too large, often leading to neglect. Depending on family size and preference, the following tree and bush numbers are usually enough: Apples 2 to 4; Peaches 2 to 4; Sour Cherries 1 to 2; Plums 2; Prunes 2; Damsons 2; Pears 2; Grapes 6 vines; Thornless Blackberries 2 to 4; Red or Black Raspberries 15-20; Strawberries 25 plants each of 2 varieties.

wide or 2 1/2 level level teaspoons of seed for each 100 feet of bed 12 feet wide. Seeding may be done as soon as weather permits, which is usually the last half of February or in March. Seeding should be completed by April 10. When seeding, mix fine sand, screened wood ashes, or a small amount (10 pounds) of commercial fertilizer with the seed. Going over the bed at least three times helps to evenly distribute the seed if you are sowing by hand.

In dry periods watering is necessary for the production of good plants. Without water, growth will be checked and plants will be injured or even killed in extreme cases. It is important to use water before injury starts rather than wait until damage occurs. Growing plants evaporate large quantities of water from the soil; therefore, in dry weather, beds must be watered both for germination and plant growth.

Thorough watering every 4 to 5 days is better than a light watering every day or two. To provide an inch of water for a bed 9 x 100 feet, use 560 gallons per bed; for beds 12 x 100 feet, use 750 gallons per bed.

Watering beds in the afternoon or evening reduces loss from evaporation and allows water to soak into the soil overnight. If the weather is hot, remove the canvas to prevent scalding of the plants. However, in dry weather, be sure to keep canvas on the beds to reduce water loss from evaporation and insure continued growth of plants.

Prune back and thin out large trees so that the spray can reach all parts. With larger trees you may need an extension spray rod and a step ladder to get good spray coverage. Spray materials needed are fungicides, insecticides, miticides, and a miscible oil. Ask for a spray schedule at our office in Independence.

Dwarf trees are easier to spray. This feature, along with easier pruning and harvest, makes dwarf trees attractive to home fruit growers. They also fit into the landscape and thus are well adapted to urban plantings.

Prune young trees only enough to shape them until they come well into bearing. As trees get older, pruning should be increased. All sprouts or suckers that arise at the base of trees should be removed. Late winter or early spring is the best time to prune.

Rides In Ky. Derby

Pamela Gordon

Pamela Gordon, the former Pamela Quick of Ky. and her husband, Tim, have been invited to ride in the Kentucky Derby Parade at Louisville, Ky., on May 1st.

The parade will be televised nationally.

Pam and Tim have won national honors with their Appaloosa Horses, and authentic costumes.

They will be riding in "Nez Perce" costumes, made completely by Pam.

The Gordons reside at Versailles, Indiana with their 5 year old son, Rusty. They own and operate the "Tee-Pee" Stables.

Pam is a former graduate of Simon Kenton and is the daughter of Russell Quick of Morningview, Ky.

Elmire Baptist Church.

Public Rally For Red River Dam

Opponents of the Red River Dam will hold a public rally on Saturday, April 26, in Frankfort, to demonstrate their opposition to the project.

Linda Welch, rally coordinator, said, "Support at this time is crucial. Governor Carroll is still sitting on the fence; he hasn't made a decision on the dam yet. Meanwhile, Appropriation hearings are scheduled for the first of May. He has to make a decision soon or the funding will be approved. We've got to let him know how we feel."

Northern Kentuckians Against the Dam, a local citizens group formed to oppose the US Army Corps of Engineers' project, has organized a carpool to the rally from Northern Kentucky. Sue Hoffman, a member of the group, said the NKAD hopes to get at least 500 people from the area to attend the rally in Frankfort.

They will be meeting at the Salmon P. Chase College of Law parking lot in Park Hills at 8:30 Saturday morning, leaving at 9 a.m. and arriving at the Ewing High School Gym at Frankfort at approximately 10:30 a.m. Anyone interested in attending the rally either join NKAD in the carpool or travel to Frankfort on their own.

Other rally sponsors include the Red River Defense Fund operating in Lexington, Louisvillians to Save the Red River Gorge and Save our Red River from the Red River area.

The March to the Capitol will begin at 11:30 and arrive about 12 noon. There will be speakers, Blue Grass music and petitions presented to the Governor.

Rally For Tom Harris

The counties along the Ohio and Kentucky Rivers which Tom Harris served two terms as State Senator have banded together to stage a massive 'home counties' Rally and Fish Fry for Harris at the National Guard Armory in Carrollton, Saturday, April 26th at 7 p.m.

Harris, who is a Democratic candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture is a Carroll County farmer - warehouseman - businessman and has been prominent in all phases of agriculture locally, state wide, regionally and nationally since returning to the farm after military service following graduation from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

As a State Senator, Tom Harris led the fight to remove the five per cent sales tax from farm machinery in the 1968 General Assembly. He was chosen to head the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources during both his terms. Moreover, last year Harris was selected "Conservation Man of the Year" by the Kentucky Association of Conservation Districts.

Holmes High Gives Dinner

Sunday, April 27th, the Holmes High School Band Parents will have a Roast Beef Dinner at the Holmes High School Cafeteria, 26th and Madison Ave. Dinner will be served from 12:00 to 3:00 p.m. with the price for adults being $2.50 and $1.75 for children.

Included in the meal will be roast beef, mashed potatoes, green beans, drink and dessert. Advance reservation may be made by contacting Mrs. Richard Howard of 682 Ridgeway Dr. in Covington at 261-3955 or Mrs. Dave McClanahan at 291-9681. Tickets will also be available at the door.

Also Coming

The Roast Beef Dinner is being held in conjunction with the Northern Kentucky Art Exhibit which will be held in the David M. Evans Field House at Holmes High School. The exhibit will be open to the public from 11:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. All secondary schools in Boone, Campbell and Kenton Counties have been invited to participate. There are two divisions of work entered. The 7th, 8th, and 9th grades comprise the Junior Division; the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades comprise the Senior Division. First, second and third prizes and honorable mention awards are given in each category in each division. The categories are watercolor, oils, and acrylics, graphics, sculpture, ceramics, textiles, drawing and mixed media. Judging is done by art teachers from outside the Northern Kentucky schools. One of this year's judges will be Doug Adams, professor of art from Morehead University.

Last year, seventeen schools in the Northern Kentucky area exhibited over 700 pieces of art work.

So plan to spend an enjoyable afternoon on Sunday, April 27th and have a delicious Roast Beef Dinner in the cafeteria at Holmes, then take a stroll through the Art Exhibit in the Field House. There is no admission charge for the Art Exhibit.

Kenton Elementary PTA Meets

The April meeting of the Kenton Elementary PTA will be held on April 24th at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

The program for the evening will be a play by the Library workers titled "The Wonders of Storybook Land."

Please plan to attend this meeting and enjoy the Library workers' play.

Questions On Sewer Project

Notice to the residents of Walton, a special meeting will be held on Thursday, May 1st at 7:30 p.m. in the Walton Verona High School Gymnasium.

This meeting will be to instruct the residents and to answer their questions about the sewer installation on their property.

There will also be Officials from the State Health Department from Frankfort, Ky., to help with problems concerning the sewers.

All of the residents of Walton are urged to attend this meeting.

Twenhofel JR. High Has Clean-up

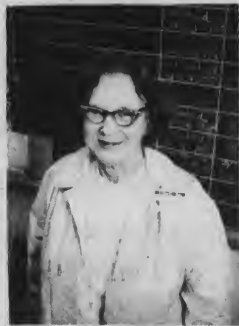

TWENHOFEL—Junior High School students who returned to class this week after a spring break found the dull gray walls gone and 19 classrooms decorated in shades of orange, lime, mint and blue, thanks to a painting party organized by Mrs. Lee Smith, president of the PTA. It all began when the PTA leadership offered to paint any or all classrooms if the teachers would have the walls washed. Then when vacation began, so did the painting party. Above, putting yellow on a door are, left to right, Mrs. David Chadwick, ninth grader Lisa Wells and Mrs. Charles Garner.

Meet The New Volunteer Drivers

Mrs. Maxwell Wharton

Mrs. Daniel Moul

Mrs. Maxwell Wharton of Buttermilk Pike in Lakeside Park and Mrs. Daniel Moul of Ft. Wright are the drivers for Red Cross transportation service which is an all volunteer endeavor providing needed transportation to individuals throughout the five county Greater Cincinnati area, who have need of getting to clinics and hospitals. Last year alone Red Cross volunteers drove more than 126,000 miles, transporting people referred to Red Cross by other social service agencies.

Red Cross needs additional volunteers to help in this service. All that is needed is a driver's license and a few hours a week to help Red Cross increase the scope of the program. Men, women, and youth volunteers, at least 18 years of age, for insurance purposes, are urgently needed.

Be a motor volunteer, you'll find it a very rewarding experience. Call Red Cross at 721-2665 for an appointment, or stop in at the Red Cross Memorial Building at 720 Sycamore Street. Red Cross Needs You!

Social Scene

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Inez Wright, in the death of Rev. Virgil Wright, her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson spent Saturday, with Mr. and Mrs. Pat King and children of Cynthia and visited their daughter, Mrs. Mary Vandy, who is confined in St. Joseph Hospital at Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brewster spent their spring vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Smith and daughters, of Clawson, Michigan.

Mrs. Alice Readnoris confined in Booth Hospital.

Mrs. Linda Mullins and children of Lexington, were guests last week of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Duchemin.

Mrs. Mable Johnson has been confined to her home, for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kendall had as guests last week their daughters, Mrs. Donna Vest of Louisville and Mrs. Carol Smith and children of Owensboro. While here they visited Mrs. Kendall's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Moorehead of Taylorsport, and saw their new home, that has been rebuilt back, after the tornado wiped it out last year.

The Burlington Baptist Youth Choir presented a musical program and testimonies to the people of the Walton Baptist Church on Sunday evening.

The One Way Singers from the Walton Baptist Church, sang in Falmouth on Sunday.

Mrs. Georgia Greene spent last Wednesday with her brother, Mr. Cecil Henry at Madison Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Greene and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pelfry visited Mr. Andrew Henry at the Baptist Home in Newport on Sunday afternoon. He is in serious condition at this time.

Mrs. Georgia Greene and her sister, Mrs. Helen Duncan of Brookport, Ill., her daughter, Mrs. Augustine Miller visited with Andrew Henry at the Baptist Home on Thursday.

50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Penick will be honored on their 50th Wedding Anniversary at a reception put on by their children at Florence Masonic Temple from 2 to 4 p.m. on April 28th.

The have two daughters, Mrs. Helen Chance of Walton and Jean Hoffman of New York; four grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Penick retired after 43 years with Union Light, Heat & Power Co. The Penicks are members of the First Christian Church.

Initiated Into Sigma Pi Sigma

Roxanne Allphin

Roxanne Allphin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allphin of Kakoma, Indiana, has been initiated into Ball State University Chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma physics honorary.

A junior at Ball State, Miss Allphin was a graduate from Maconaquah High School in 1972 and is secretary of the school's society of physics.

Roxanne is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Allphin of Park Avenue, Walton and Mrs. and Mrs. William Kidwell of Independence.

Beechgrove Has Homemakers Meet

On the "Sunny Summery" day of April 17th, sixteen members gathered at the home of Mrs. Connie Schneider.

The devotional, given by Mrs. Minnie Letcher, was entitled, "Little Things". This was followed by the Lord's Prayer and a salute to the flag.

During the business meeting the various chairman were heard from. We learned that there is now a toll free number to the office of the Attorney General (1-800-372-2960) for a consumer complaint. Some states already have mandatory unit pricing and it will probably be in Kentucky within the next few years. It was brought to our attention to give great thought and consideration to the fact that in the near future there will be no place to dump our trash and garbage. Something else is going to have to be worked out if someone can only figure out the correct answer to the problem.

A "sumptuous" meal was served by Connie Schneider and Susan Kelly. Everything was delicious.

The lesson "Wardrobe Recycling" was given by Connie Schneider. Just a little decoration, or altering, can make an older garment look new and different. Some adult garments can be used to make children's clothes.

Three members, Ann Wolsing, Hazel Kumer and Ruth Powers were appointed as a nominating committee so they will have new officers for the members approval in June. Two members, Ruth Ann Andreas and Betty Skelton were appointed as the auditing committee, to audit the treasurer's book sometime between June and our September meeting.

Members present other than those mentioned above were: Loretta Dewald, Margaret Dickson, Joan Ellis, Carrie Hall, Ruth Kelly, Georgiana McHale, Judy Spegal and Loretta Sterling. The next meeting will be held on May 15th at the home of Margaret Dickson with Minnie Letcher as co-hostess.

Questions & Answers

Q. I'm a service disabled veteran with Veterans Administration Mortgage Life Insurance coverage on a specially adapted home. How long will I be protected under this coverage?

A. Until the mortgage is paid off, the home is sold, or until you reach age 70.

Q. I was just discharged from military service and plan to study under the GI Bill. How long do I have to complete training?

A. A law enacted in July of 74 extended GI Bill eligibility for veterans from 8 to 10 years after date of discharge. The extension also applies to eligible spouses, widows and widowers of veterans who train under the Veterans Administration Dependents' Educational Assistance Program.

Q. I draw VA compensation for a service connected disability. Am I entitled to the agency's $150 annual clothing allowance?

A. Your eligibility would depend upon the nature of your disability and you are eligible if you wear one or more prosthetic or orthopedic devices which tend to wear out or tear your clothing. You must apply for the benefit.

Unemployment Rises

An estimated 4,500 more Kentuckians were unemployed in March than in February, according to statistics released this week by the Department for Human Resources. Since September, 1974, the number of unemployed has increased by 74,100, with total unemployed in the state estimated at 104,700. Although employment continues to drop the rate of decrease is less severe than previously.

Hodaka.
It won't run out of guts before you do.

The Hodaka is built for one purpose. To out-last and out-perform its competition. How is this done? By refining the same basic, superior design year after year. Perfecting the little things that multi-model manufacturers don't have time to notice. We not only look for improvements, we listen. It's something we've always done. That's why we call it the totally designed dirt bike.

Booth Memorial Sells Flowers

"See, there's no increase in prices", says Mrs. Glenn Seiler, left, as she and other members of the Booth Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary prepare for the annual geranium sale, May 8, at the hospital. Flowers will be 89 cents each or ten for $8.00. Helping Mrs. Seiler with the mailing of order blanks are Mrs. Charles Norris, center, Taylor Mill and auxiliary president and Miss Della Brown. Funds go toward retiring the auxiliary's $39,000 pledge toward the purchase of a new piece of equipment to better detect breast cancer in soft tissue.

Growing Radishes

A native of China and Asia and highly prized by ancient Greeks and Egyptians, the radish is good when eaten raw and in salads. It adds color, charm, and piquancy to meals; is easy to grow; is not usually bothered by insect pests; requires minimum space and culture; and is ready for table use in about a month after planting.

Since it is a very hardy vegetable, the first planting can be made very early in the spring. Then for a succession of crisp, tender roots, radishes can be planted at intervals of about 10 days until hot weather begins. Radishes do not grow very well during mid summer heat, but planting can be started again after August 1 to allow enjoyment of this vegetable well into autumn.

Radishes grow best in soil that has been treated with from 3 to 4 pounds of 10-10-10 fertilizer for every 100 square feet. The soil should be plowed or spaded to a depth of about 8 inches, all the large clods broken up, and the surface smoothed down.

Plant seed 1/4 inch deep in rows that are 1 1/2 feet apart. When the plants are an inch high, thin them so that each plant is an inch or more apart from its neighbor.

Some of the recommended red spring varieties are Cherry Belle, Comet, Scarlet Globe, and Champion. White varieties recommended are Burpee White, Icicle, and Long White.

Harvesting usually begins as soon as radishes reach edible size. The quick maturing spring varieties become strong, tough, and pithy if not harvested soon after they mature. Winter varieties like China Rose, White Chinese, and others can be harvested and stored away like turnips. Early spring radishes can be stored in the refrigerator for 10 to 14 days. Remove leaves and small roots, wash, and put in plastic bags or in the vegetable crisper. As previously mentioned, the radish is easy to grow and from this characteristic stems its botanical name, Raphanus. This is a Latinized form of an old Greek expression, raphanos, which freely translated means "easily reared."

Blacktop Sealer Beautifies and Protects

Your driveway is one of the first things that people see when they drive up to your home. A cracked, stained driveway can ruin the effect of even the most beautiful and expensive landscaping. Homeowners everywhere are discovering that they can give their driveways new beauty, protection, and longer life with Celotex Blacktop Sealer. It is easily applied with a soft bristle broom or nylon brush, and when dry it forms a tough protective skin over any blacktop surface. Celotex Blacktop Sealer resists oil, grease, kerosene, and even mild acids. Weathering damage is reduced and replaced by a smooth beautiful finish. Even small holes and cracks can be filled with a mixture of Celotex Blacktop Sealer and sand before the entire surface is sealed quickly, easily and completely. One five gallon can is enough to seal a thirty-five to forty foot driveway eight feet wide. Improve the appearance and value of your home in just a few hours this weekend with long lasting, economical Celotex Blacktop Sealer.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berkshire, Eddie, Brad Berkshire and Joy Robinson, Evelyn Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. Layne Cheesman and Callen, Mr. and Mrs. Finley Jacobs, Jr., Rev. and Mrs. Richard Harria, Amy and Will, Renee, Marcelle, and Bradley Huey and the host and hostess.

Lessons In Ecology & Wildlife

Students at the Visalia Elementary School are getting real lessons in ecology and wildlife, thanks to an exploratory program by Principal Paul Kroth and his faculty. In addition to ecology, students from the fourth through seventh grades also had a choice of choral music, chess or the study of German. Above, center, seventh grader teacher Tom Orcutt shows two ecology explorers how a bird builds a nest and why it is necessary to maintain a balance in nature to protect wild life. Left is Gloria Jones. At the right is Tony Simpson. Both seventh graders live in Visalia.

Do your food shopping after all other errands are finished, and then take the groceries home and put them away quickly. Perishable foods left unattended, especially in warm weather, lose their fresh quality and may even spoil.

Everyone is invited to attend this worthwhile meeting and share with us some of the beautiful moments he will give to us.

To The Editor:

Dear Sir:

This past Thursday was one of the best I have read since the new movement took over. I hope you keep up the good work. I enjoy the paper and have been reading it for a long time. I thought I would renew it this April.

Thanks for all the news in last week and keep up the good work.

Yours Truly,
Mrs. Russell Rohe

Don't Panic

Homemakers need not panic when illness strikes a member of the family and Expectant Parents can prepare in advance for the new experience that awaits them if they take advantage of training courses offered by the Cincinnati Area Red Cross Nursing and Health Programs.

Health in the Home training course will be offered beginning Wednesday, April 30, and will meet each Wednesday at 1 to 3 p.m. for six weeks.

Expectant Parents classes will begin on Monday, May 5 from 7:30 to 9:30 meeting each Monday evening for six weeks. In class sessions, conducted by specially trained Red Cross nurses, students learn to give sick family members the best possible care with minimum effort. The course includes simple first aid treatment, how to recognize signs of illness, following doctor's orders and other training to give the best possible care with minimum effort.

Expectant parents instruction include prenatal health and preparation of supplies, as clothing and bedding, caring for the newborn, breast feeding and formula preparation. In class while practicing with life size dolls, expectant parents will experience how to bathe, diaper, burp the baby, and learn to meet emergency situations such as illness and accidents.

A Consumer Tip from Extension Specialists at the UK College of Agriculture

Does the preparation method used affect the nutritive value of meat? The protein value of meat remains unchanged, practically speaking, when ordinary methods of cooking, canning, freezing, or dehydrating are used. However, the vitamin content of meat varies according to how it is prepared. Many vitamins are sensitive to high heat, so recommended cooking methods should be used to conserve these nutrients. And, since the B-complex vitamins are water soluble, water in which meat is cooked should be served, if possible.

Chocolate Mallow Whip

Combine one cup cold milk, one envelope Carnation chocolate instant breakfast and 2 tablespoons marshmallow whip in saucepan. Cook over low heat until serving temperature, beating with wire whip occasionally to mix thoroughly. Serve in large coffee mug.

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

The Vietnam Situation

What is happening right now in Vietnam has been inevitable from the beginning, considering the conditions and circumstances under which we got involved.

The United States has done all anybody could reasonably expect to do. We have spent $150 billion, sent 500,000 American troops to Vietnam and lost 50,000 American lives. Whatever commitment we had in Vietnam has been more than fulfilled, and we should have been prepared for what is happening now.

Nothing could be gained from continued massive assistance. If we were to continue such assistance for one, two, or even three years the same result would occur. For that reason, I will oppose any further military aid for Vietnam.

I do, however, think we should do what we can to ease the suffering through humanitarian assistance, especially for the refugees and children. They are innocent victims of a war they did not create. We should also use our influence to see that those parts of the government which are responsible are allowed to play a role in any new government that is formed.

It is ridiculous for anyone, especially those in the administration, to blame Congress for what is happening in Vietnam. Our entire involvement in this unhappy situation has been fostered by the executive branch under five different Presidents. Nothing Congress can do will change the inevitable.

I also think it is ridiculous to suggest that the situation in Vietnam indicates America does not stand by its commitments. We have done more for Vietnam than it had a right to expect especially when it came to the sacrifice of American lives.

We have always stood by our allies, and we will continue to do so. We stood by the South Vietnamese and gave them every chance to survive, but we cannot do for them what they cannot or will not do for themselves.

Only 120 Days Are Remaining

Less than 120 days remain for veterans discharged since 1970 to take advantage of the new low cost Veterans Group Life Insurance. Applications and first premium must be received before August 2, 1975.

The Veterans Administration issued the reminder April 3, and it applies to all veterans who were discharged between April 3, 1970 and August 1, 1974.

The new program offers up to $20,000 for a monthly premium of only $3.40 for veterans under 35, and for those 35 and over, the maximum coverage is $6.80 per month. It is a non renewable policy designed as interim protection during readjustment to civilian life, VA explained.

Another important advantage of buying VGLI, VA pointed out, is that it reinstates the veteran's right to convert his Servicemen's Group Life Insurance Policy to an individual policy at standard rates regardless of his health or physical condition. Normally, this privilege terminates 120 days after discharge. Those covered by VGLI can convert on termination of the five year VGLI policy.

A pamphlet prepared by the VA insurance center in Philadelphia gives complete information on the program. The pamphlet and application forms can be obtained from local VA offices or by writing Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington St., Newark, N.J. 07102.

2-Year Enlistments Are Put To End

Two year enlistments in the US Army have been limited to those who volunteer for combat arms assignments and will end altogether on July 1.

Lieutenant Colonel Ralph Broman, commander, US Army Louisville District Recruiting Command, announced the new policy to his recruiting force last week. The Louisville District covers most of Kentucky, southern Indiana, southern Ohio and parts of West Virginia.

When the minimum enlistment term becomes three years in July, the Army expects to minimize personnel turnovers. "We should also reduce training costs and increase experience levels," said LTC Broman.

New Tables Now Being Printed

The Internal Revenue Service today announced that new withholding tables are now being printed, and are scheduled to be distributed to all employers during the week of April 21, 1975. The new tables, effective for wages paid after April 30, 1975, reflect the reduced amount of income tax to be withheld from employee's wages as a result of the Tax Reduction Act of 1975, which was enacted March 29.

Because of the short time available to put the new withholding tables into effect, the IRS said that employers who make a good faith effort to accomplish the changes as soon as practicable will be deemed to be in compliance.

Despite April 15th: Taxes Don't Catch Up

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumerations."

On Feb. 25, 1913 the Secretary of State proclaimed the Amendment ratified by three fourths of the States. Many Americans who are aware of the fact, probably have a special warm spot in their hearts for the four States that rejected the Amendment: Connecticut, Florida, Rhode Island, and Utah.

Later, the introduction of the concept of withholding taxes from wages and salaries on payday made it easier for many people to pay their taxes, since money that otherwise would be spent elsewhere went directly to the tax fund. But those who would have invested that portion of their income were now denied the opportunity to earn a profit on money rightfully theirs until it would be due on the annual date. Let's look at some rounded off income tax figures.

In Fiscal Year 1973, the American people paid personal income taxes of $103, 246,000,000 to the Federal government and $15,587,000,000 to State governments. Personal income taxes were by far the largest single category of Federal revenue sources.

But indirectly through higher prices paid, and lower wages and salaries and dividends received the American people also underwrote corporate income taxes of $36,153,000,000 to the Federal government, and $5,425,000,000 to State governments.

... about your Social Security

Students and other people who plan to get a summer job should apply now for a Social Security number if they don't have one, according to John Walter, Social Security District Manager in Covington.

"You should apply for your number several weeks before you need it for a job covered by Social Security," Walter said. "Applications must be screened against central files in Baltimore to make sure that a second number isn't issued to that same person. Screening generally takes several weeks."

More than nine out of ten jobs are covered by Social Security.

People applying for a Social Security number for the first time may be asked to prove their age, identity, and citizenship.

"Your Social Security number is yours alone and remains the same for life," Walter said. "A worker builds retirement, disability, survivors, and medicare protection by work and earnings credited to his Social Security number. So when you get a job covered by Social Security, be sure your employer copies your name and number correctly from your Social Security card to his records."

People can get information about applying for a Social Security card by calling, writing, or visiting any Social Security office.

"If you've lost your card, you can get a duplicate by contacting any Social Security office, Walter said. "You can get a duplicate faster if you've kept the stub that came with your Social Security card."

Both individual and corporation income taxes to local government in 1973 totaled another $2,406,000,000.

The total 1973 income tax take of all government units amounted to $162,818,000,000. This was 38.2 per cent of all government revenue totaling $426,172,000,000. But, it is no news to any taxpayer that government always manages to spend more than it takes in by going out to borrow the balance still needed for its programs.

The gross cumulative debt run up by the Federal, State and local governments amounted to $646,627,000,000 amounting to $3,081 for every man, woman and child in the nation! Of the total debt, the Federal share was 70.9 per cent, the States' 9.2 and local, 20.0. FY '75 '76 indebtedness, however, will make that one year increase small by comparison!

Two married men were talking. One said: I'm perfectly happy. I have a wonderful home, a good job, and the finest wife in the country.

Tenant: This roof is so bad that it rains on our heads. How long is this going to continue?

Owner: What do you think I am, a weather prophet?

Regardless, what kind of weather we have, you can't go wrong if you have Remington tires on your car. Ask the man who owns one, and the place to get them, is at G & G TIRES.

Selects Two Logos

Kim Bridewill

Northern Kentucky Comprehensive Care has not one but two logos from which to select its signature. Above at the top is the logo designed by Victoria Shaffer, 17, Union in Boone County, and a student at Boone County High School. Below is the design submitted by Mary Beth Pitta, 18, of Ft. Mitchell, a student at the Central Academy of Commercial Art of Cincinnati. The pretty girl displaying the prize winners is Kim Bridewill, Alexandria, receptionist for Comp Care's Regional Office, Covington. The two artists each won $50 offered by the Friends of Comprehensive Care. The agency covers eight Northern Kentucky counties.

Garden Tips

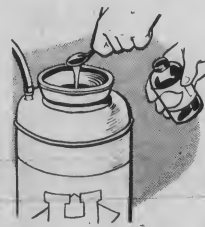

Herbs - such as Spearmint, Tansy, Garlic and Onions - when planted near vegetables and flowers will ward off rabbits.

Keep house plants healthy... out of the Draft! Test with candle - if the flame goes out or blows in one direction, move plant to a less drafty spot.

Be a good mixer! To stop pests best... and protect the environment... mix spray concentrate and water exactly as recommended on label.

747 Sets Distance Record

This new Boeing 747B in the colors of Air Canada set a new world distance record for wide body aircraft recently, flying nonstop from Seattle, Washington to Amman, Jordan. The 8,369 statute miles were covered in 14 hours and 24 minutes. The jetliner, a "Combi" version of the superjet, was enroute for a Boeing sales tour of 10 Middle East and North Africa countries during which it flew 28,429 miles. The Combi (for Combination) features a cargo door on the left side and can be operated with half passenger half cargo arrangements to give airlines an airplane to match changing traffic volumes. The 747, the most widely sold wide body jetliner, is presently operated by 40 of the world's leading airlines.

Kentucky Derby Here May 3

The Kentucky Derby here on May 3 will draw the country's fastest horses, but two days before that, Louisville's Pegasus Parade will feature some of the slowest.

The slowpokes will be in the Schlitz 40 Horse Hitch consisting of 40 huge Belgian draft horses pulling a circus bandwagon. And although these Belgian horses are not noted for speed, horse lovers all over the country are familiar with their beauty and brawn, along with the skill of their driver, husky Dick Sparrow of Zeoring, Iowa.

The Schlitz Forty was in the Kentucky Derby Festival Parade last year. It is returning in the invitation of Festival officials who report that many people asked that it be brought back.

Sparrow will stable the horses at the Bashford Manor shopping center, on Bardstown Road here, April 25 to May 5. The public may visit the display. A colorful, 210 foot long tent is used to house the 52 horses (the 40, plus four spare draft horses and eight saddles horses) in the traveling unit.

Bashford Manor, in cooperation with the Jo. Schlitz Brewing Company, sponsor of the Forty, has invited a special group of 175 handicapped children to visit the stabling area on April 29. Sparrow will show the children how the horses are cared for and harnessed.

The next day, April 30, a group of 200 senior citizens many of whom have not seen draft horses hitched to a wagon for years, has been invited to visit the stabling area. They, too will have lunch.

The Pegasus Parade, an annual event held in conjunction with Derby Week, will start at 6 p.m. on May 1.

The Schlitz 40 Horse Hitch will pull a huge circus bandwagon, 22 feet long and 12 feet high on which a 12 piece circus band will play. The horses, averaging a ton each in weight, are harnessed four abreast in 10 ranks.

Derby Day Festival

LONG LINE OF HUGE HORSES—Louisville's Pegasus Parade on May 1 during the Kentucky Derby Festival will be the next appearance of the famed Schlitz 40-Horse Hitch. Here, it is shown stretched out for half a block in the 1975 Cotton Bowl Parade in Dallas. The "Forty," driven by Dick Sparrow, is a re-creation of an old-time circus spectacle. The horses are Belgians, draft animals weighing an average of one ton . . . One thing for sure, these won't be the fastest horses in Louisville during Derby Week, just the biggest.

Veterans Reports

A poisonous chemical that is a breakdown product of alcohol, acetaldehyde, may be responsible for body chemistry by which drinking damages the liver, brain, and other organs of alcoholics, according to a research team from the Bronx, N.Y. Veterans Administration Hospital and Mount Sinai School of Medicine, New York City.

Reporting in a recent issue of the New England Journal of Medicine, Drs. Mark Korsten, Shohei Matsuzaki, Lawrence Feinman, and Charles Lieber said alcoholics in their study had significantly higher blood levels of acetaldehyde than nonalcoholics with the same intake of alcohol.

In an editorial on their findings that appears in the same issue of this journal, Dr. Raskin of the University of California School of Medicine in San Francisco commented:

"This demonstration of higher blood levels of acetaldehyde in habitual drinkers satisfies the dose response requirement and effectively removes a constraint that has been imposed upon hypotheses of alcohol's toxicity. It has now become important to know much more about the metabolism of acetaldehyde and the characteristics of its cytotoxicity."

In the old days, a few major circuses such as Barnum and Bailey featured 40 horses hitched in the street parades preceding performances under the Big Top. Until 1972, when Sparrow drove the "new" Forty in the Milwaukee's Schlitz Circus Parade, there had not been a 40 horse hitch since 1904.

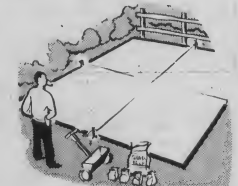

Since 1973, the Schlitz Forty has appeared at major events such as the Rose and Cotton Bowl Parades, and the Derby Festival, all over the United States.

Dress for comfort and save in a sweater.

You can save electric energy and money, AND still be comfortable. It just takes a sweater and clear thinking. When you carefully and thoughtfully set your thermostat to 68 degrees you can almost hear cheers from your pocket book or wallet.

A thermostat set at 68 instead of 75 degrees can save over 20% on your monthly heating bill. So pull the wool over your eyes and save. Call your co-op for saving ideas.

The Steadfast Love Of

(Isaiah 55:1-9)

Victor Hugo said, "The greatest happiness of life is the conviction that we are loved, loved for ourselves, or rather loved in spite of ourselves."

Longfellow offered this insight concerning love: "Love gives itself; it is not bought."

How true this is of God's love for us! The Holy Spirit through the prophets and apostles declared God's salvation offered to man "without money and without price." "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God" Ephesians 2:8.

Our scripture passage for today speaks of the great invitation.

The Great Invitation
(Isaiah 55:1-2)

God's gracious invitation is not limited to any race, class, or creed. "Ho, everyone that thirsteth, come ye to the water..." Like an excited newboy hurrying up and down the streets of his city, shouting the news of the day, God calls out to man to share His salvation.

Our Lord offers water for the thirsty; wine and milk without money; bread for the hungry. These represent the most precious commodities in the Near East. They are essential in any land. God's salvation is the most precious possession offered to man today.

made of David a leader and commander to the people. God wants to give every man a responsibility. There is a significant place for you in God's plan. David was a witness to the people. Could God use you as His witness to other people?

The Great Incentive
(Isaiah 55:8-9)

God will be found of those who seek Him with the whole heart. God has not hidden Himself from man. Man must know his need of God. He must face his emptiness or he will never seek God's fullness.

If man will call upon God, and forsake his evil way, God will have mercy on him. God will abundantly pardon. One never ceases to marvel at the grace of God. Men's lives, stained and ruined because of sin, call upon God and receive His forgiveness.

One of the finest young men I have ever known is a student here in our school. He gave a report on drugs in one of my classes. I was shocked to hear him relate how he had turned to drugs when a young teen age boy.

He described some of his experiences with drugs. I thanked God over and over as I saw what God's mercy and forgiveness could do. They only explanation is that "God's thoughts are not our thoughts; neither are our ways His ways." God is able and willing to do what nobody else can do.

God offers forgiveness, freedom, and fellowship. God offers pardon, peace, and prosperity. God comes to you this day with the greatest opportunity of your life. But there is no guarantee of future opportunities. Verse 6 says, "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon Him while He is near." To allow this opportunity to pass may mean that you will be lost forever. Today is the day of salvation. Now is the accepted time!

Oak Island
Holds Revival

The Oak Island Baptist Church invites you to share in a five day revival beginning on Wednesday, April 23, 24, 25, 26, and 27.

Dan Francis, a vibrant young ministerial student of Southern Seminary will speak each evening at 7:30 p.m.

Dan was Director of Youth at Newport Baptist Church while attending Northern Kentucky College, and worked with the youth at Latonia Baptist Church while in high school.

His hobby is karate in which he holds a "Black Belt".

A real joy will be yours when you come and let God bless your life.

MOUNTAIN MOMENTS

by K. Maynard Head

David's Diddles

One Spring several years ago David, my older son, wanted some of the baby chicks which are dyed one of several colors and sold by various stores as a promotional device. However, the chicks were all gone by the time we got there and David was so disappointed that I went to a local hatchery to buy some for him. They were not colored artificially, but nature has a beautiful yellow she paints her chicks, so David was happy.

He was so excited that he was going to get a "diddle" that I suppose some of his enthusiasm rubbed off on the gentleman at the hatchery, and he gave David a boxful! We took them home, not expecting them to live, but none of them died! And long before the chicks had grown feathers, the novelty of them wore off, and David lost interest in them. Luckily, we had a barn that was not being used, so I made a place to keep the chickens and we fed them with the scraps from the table.

By the next Spring, the "diddies", now grown hens and roosters became interested in expanding their population. And expand they did! Several of the hens lay their eggs and began to "set". David didn't understand what was going on, and this gave me a good opportunity to explain to him some of the ways of nature.

Almost every day we walked to the barn to check on their progress and David soon learned that a setting hen has no patience with someone checking her eggs!

At the end of three weeks the miraculous event of hatching started. David was so excited that he helped some of the slower hatching chicks out of their shell. And as some of you more experienced farmers and hatchers know, this must be done very carefully so as to not injure the young chick. In fact, it's better to let the chicks do it themselves unless they are having an extremely hard time.

There's something almost magical about seeing a chick hatch and begin chirping. In fact, if you listen close enough, you can hear the sounds before the egg hatches!

In a few days the momma hen brought her diddles out to see the world. Its amazing how fast our small population of chickens grew and grew!

Goshen Christian
Ladies Meet

The regular meeting of the Goshen Christian Missionary Ladies Group was held on Wednesday, April 2nd, in the church luncheon room with Mrs. Nannie Cliff Fisk as the hostess.

The president, Mrs. Mary Cook opened the meeting with a prayer and presided over the business. Roll call and the minutes of the last meeting were asked and read by the secretary, Mrs. Lillian Elliott. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Esther Glenn, with the Sunshine Report showing that 87 cards had been sent out and 25 visits made to the sick.

Several Campbell's Soup labels and Bonus coupons were brought in to be sent to Grundy Mission.

At the noon hour, a very nice luncheon was enjoyed by all present. They were Mrs. Faye Bray, Mrs. Goldie Glenn, Mrs. Hazel Mullins, Mrs. Rachael Daniels, Mrs. Darlene Thornberry, Mrs. Georgia Cornelius, Mrs. Esther Glenn, Miss Ruth Piner, Mrs. Lillian Elliott, Mrs. Mary Cook, and Mrs. Eula LaFollette.

Our Bible Study was from Romans, Chapter one with Mrs. Goldie Glenn as lesson leader.

Hostess for May will be Mrs. Eula LaFollette, program leader, Mrs. Lillian Elliott and the word for roll call will be "judged".

and then...

A caterpillar crawls along a branch. So unsightly and useless is he that at best he is scorned, at worst, exterminated.

A grain of sand, one of an infinite number, lodges within an oyster's shell. It is coarse and hard, worthless and unwanted.

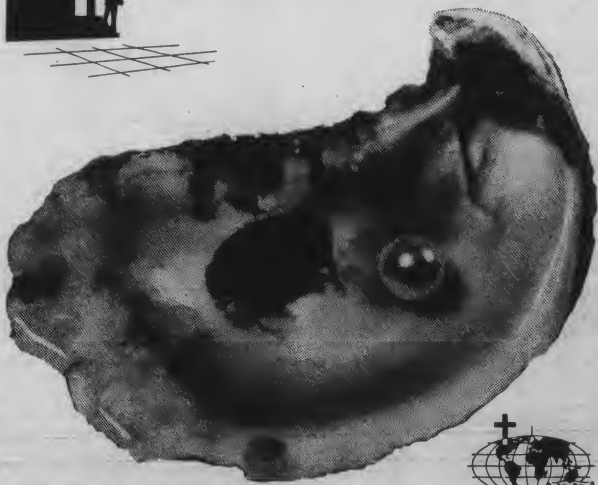

And then, there are people. They are restless, a bit lonely sometimes, and apprehensive about the future. They enter churches and speak to God.

From the cocoon, a gaily-colored butterfly emerges. People paint pictures of it; children try to claim it as their own.

From the oyster, a pale, creamy pearl is taken. It is admired, sold for a small fortune, prized.

So, God changes the lowly caterpillar and richly clothes the grain of sand. How much more can He change the lives of those who ask it of Him!

God awaits you. Come meet Him in church this Sunday.

Garden Tips

Hit the Bug's Eye!
For on target spraying, use a sprayer with spray extension and adjustable nozzle.

Hammer Away... At the ends of stems of fresh cut flowers and branches of flowering shrubs before placing in vase. Allows them to quickly draw up water.

GESUNDHEIT! Give annual a soaking...But not a cold! Aim at the otes, not at the nose, don't sprinkle their clothes.

Pane In The Glass?

If that Little Leaguer scores a home run through your kitchen window, don't panic. Here are some basic pointers for immediate repair:

Be sure to wear gloves.
Remove glass from the outside if possible.

Remove all old putty and glazier's points if used.

Clean out groove thoroughly and prime surface with outdoor paint to insure a good bond.

Follow manufacturer's instructions when using a glass cutter. It's easier than you think. For the timid, many dealers will cut glass to size.

Be sure pane is cut one sixteenth inch smaller on all sides to allow for easy installation and sash irregularities.

To hold glass in place, use push points. Insert gently with screwdriver at midpoint of frame on all four sides of glass.

Don't use just plain putty. Glazing compounds are specially made for this job. According to Red Devil Inc., leading manufacturer of glazing compounds, old style putties can ruin the job by drying and cracking. Glazing compounds are more flexible and resilient, and easier to apply.

Roll glazing compound into pencil thickness and lay strips down or knife directly from can. Press into place with putty knife.

Before painting the compound, check the label.

If you need expert advice, don't be embarrassed to ask your dealer. It can make the difference between a job done and a job well done.

Tollgate House
Fayette County

This old tollgate house marks the beginning of a transient society, which brought about the advancement of roadways and modern transportation.

Until well into the 19th century, every town in Kentucky was its own independent community. Since each was self-sufficient, the extent of travel was from farm to city and back. As the country began to open up and Kentucky became a gateway to the West, settlers moved in and demanded better roads.

The Kentucky Legislature of 1817 passed an act which provided that certain persons could construct macadam (layer of stone on a convex, well-drained roadbed) roads and charge the traveling public for using them. Under this law a gatehouse could be erected every five miles and one a half-mile from city limits.

Nothing was done in the way of road building, however, until the Maysville, Washington, Paris and Lexington Turnpike Road Company was incorporated in 1827. From Maysville to Washington, a distance of four miles, the first macadamized road in Kentucky was completed in November 1830. The entire road was opened in 1835, for a distance of 65 miles. It included 13 tollgates and five covered bridges.

The tollgate houses were the collection points for travelers using these privately built roads. Usually a couple lived in the house; the wife collected tolls, while the husband kept the road in repair.

Some companies permitted preachers, doctors, schoolchildren and funerals to pass without charge. General rates were: man on horseback, five cents; horse and buggy, 10 cents; two-horse carriage, 20 cents; stagecoach and six passengers, 55 cents; each hog or sheep, three cents; mules or cattle, four cents apiece. Going around the gate to avoid payment subjected the traveler to a $10 fine.

A "tollgate war" came about in the late 1890's when people rebelled against the system and bad roads. Lawless night riders issued warning to keepers to collect no more tolls. In some cases, houses were burned and keepers whipped. The war lasted several years until finally the counties bought the turnpikes from the companies. By 1900, practically all the gates in Central Kentucky were abolished and the roads made free.

This is one of the few houses in Kentucky that extended across the highway. It was located south of Lexington on the Lexington, Harrodsburg and Perryville Turnpike near the present site of the Big Elm Golf Course. Frank Murphy was the last keeper of this gate, which was torn down around 1902.

Mexican Mole' Marks Cinco de Mayo Fiesta

Cinco de Mayo. The fifth of May is a national holiday in Mexico, commemorating the 1862 victory of an outnumbered Mexican Army over invading French forces. In many US communities it is observed as Mexican American Day, honoring those of Mexican heritage and all things Mexican: manners, modes, and menus. Typical fare on a Mexican menu would be any of the many mole's (pronounced mo-LAY). It's tasty Mexican sauce with the distinctive flavor of chili. Home economists of the Rosarita Mexican Foods Co. have developed this recipe for Basic Easy Pork Mole' Sauce in which canned enchilada sauce or red chili sauce provide the chili flavor.

The mole' sauce can be used for basting a succulent pork roast as well as in creating Mole' De Guerro Con Puerco which combines cook pork and potatoes.

Combine sauces, onions, green pepper and sesame seed in blender container. Blend until smooth.

Brown pork in hot fat, 3 minutes, add sauce, simmer 5 minutes, add potatoes and mushrooms; heat until hot.

Sear a seasoned boneless pork loin roast about 3 1/2 pounds, all sides. Place in roasting pan and pour Basic Easy Mole' Sauce over roast. In 325 degree oven, roast until meat thermometer registers 170 degrees, basting several times about 2 hours. Let set 15 to 20 minutes before carving.

Weather Or Not

There's no excuse for abandoning your exercise program merely because of filthy weather. Simply adapt your outdoor workout and your outfit to the season. Instead of running or jogging - which could be dangerous in ice or snow - why not slow things down to a walk? I should be a good brisk walk, mind you, one that makes you breathe more deeply, speeds up circulation and in general makes you feel more alive. Fore best results, alternate a comfortable marching pace with an occasional "forced march" for brief periods.

Keeping feet dry and warm is the most important thing for health and comfort and rather than putting clumsy overshoes or galoshes on top of your regular walking shoes, try to find a single boot or shoe that will do the trick. See that the local sporting goods store or ski shop is showing in the way of walking shoes for snow country. Try on the newest style of walking shoes with lowered heel, and see if this is right for your particular feet. Be sure to try on all footwear over the socks you plan to wear on the coldest days as you'll need to allow extra room for them.

A warm cap contributes much to being comfortable but only if it really keeps the wind out of your ears. Now's the time to start to use that Christmas muffler. You can wind it around the lower part of your face on a really snowy day, to protect nose and chin, then stuff the ends inside a turned up coat collar to fill every chink where the wind might whistle in. Are your gloves warm enough for icy weather? If not, get yourself some silky glove liners at a ski shop.

Don't exercise on an empty stomach just because you're pressed for time. You can fix a nourishing hot breakfast in minutes with Carnation instant breakfast. It gives you delicious flavor plus a bacon and egg kind of energy to help you win the fight for physical fitness in a walk!

Coroners Not To Give Out

Kenneth Grant, President of the Kentucky Coroners Association, requested advice on what public agency or private concern should have access to a coroner's records. It is the opinion of the Attorney General's Office that the central element of the coroner's work is supervising the inquest. Since the transcript of this proceeding is filed with the circuit court clerk, it is a public record. The coroner is not required by law to furnish information about inquests to anyone.

ground crops will do best and flowers, planted now will have exceptional beauty; beans, corn, lettuce and etc. will have quick maturity, tomorrow afternoon we have a full moon and then it is best to plant potatoes and other crops that produce their yield below the ground. One source of information claims that if you plant horse radish between your potato rows it will keep the potato bugs away.

Friday, April 25th

Today through Saturday night is going to be some of the best fishing you will have this year so if you have a new license and your bait dug get ready for a good time. The almanac state that the best time to catch fish is when the moon is in a water sign and also the day after a full moon so this weekend we will have both, also a water temperature between 54 and 74 degrees is helpful if the winds are from the south or southwest you can't miss.

Saturday, April 26th

If you are not busy fishing or farming this weekend and you want your haircut to last a long time and look nice get it cut any time today, also a good time for fillings and plate impressions if you have any bad teeth. If you need new glasses, Monday or Tuesday would be the best times for an eye examination.

Sunday, April 27th

Henry Ward Beecher said: "A world with a Sabbath would be like a man without a smile, like a summer without flowers, and like a homestead without a garden. It is the joyous day of the whole week."

Monday, April 28th

Moon in Sagittarius is a good time to cultivate and kill weeds but a poor time to plant but it is a good time for entertaining friends and enjoying music and dancing, maybe if the weather is right you could have the first cookout and enjoy some scorched hot dogs.

Tuesday, April 29th

The waning moon goes in to the earth sign, Capricorn after lunch so now is the time to plant more potatoes or any other root crops also if you set out trees or plant berries they will develop a good root system to help withstand the cold winters and high winds.

Wednesday, April 30th

The moon still in Capricorn so you can still do planting if you didn't have time yesterday and if you plant your potatoes near your green beans they will keep the Mexican bean beetle away while the beans will keep the Colorado beetle away from the potatoes.

"Ky. Memories & Melodies"

"Kentucky Memories and Melodies" is the title of this years annual show to be presented by the "Sons of Dixie" chorus, the Barbershop Singers of Northern Kentucky.

In keeping with the Bicentennial Theme, the "Sons of Dixie" will take you musically through the beginning of Kentucky up to the present time. Featured will be the "Sons of Dixie" chorus and the chorus's two quartets of the "Rebels Brigade" and the "Cardsharps."

The second half will feature the "Bandwagon" from Cincinnati and the "Cityslickers" from Columbus. Saturday, April 26th at 8 p.m. is the time and date to remember for the show. The place is Holmes High School in Covington.

Tickets are available for $2.50 for adults and $1.00 for students or senior citizens.

The "Afterglow" will follow immediately at the Latonia Legion Hall in Covington and the tickets for this show will be $2.50 each.

County Agent's 1/2 Acre

Efficient livestock production requires that most of the forage produced be converted to livestock products. Maximum utilization of the lush spring growth of pasture is of vital importance especially this year since we have record high cattle numbers.

The United States Department of Agriculture, Statistical Reporting Service showed 3.75 million cattle and calves in Kentucky as of January 1, 1975. This represents a 17 per cent increase over January 1, 1974 reports. With this large cattle population and depressed cattle prices it is imperative that we give more attention to the production and efficient utilization of our forage crops.

Cool season grasses such as fescue, orchard grass, timothy and bluegrass produce about two thirds of their growth during the first third of the growing season. Light stocking during spring to insure a summer feed supply allows about half of the spring plant growth to become too mature. This practice causes much of the spring growth to be wasted since cattle usually refuse to eat over mature plants and tramp alot of this into the soil. This spring growth can be more efficiently utilized if animals are restricted to small fields which they can keep grazed down to 2 to 4 inches during April, May, and June. This may require temporary electric administers the state law which is a license law.

What's happening to our dog and cat population? The number of pets is increasing far faster in our county and all over the United States than is the number of people.

In Kenton County stray dogs are providing farmers with headaches. In recent weeks at least four farmers have told me that have had sheep or cattle killed by dogs.

If you live within one of Kenton County's twenty two cities then the responsibility for looking after your pet is defined by that city's ordinance. For those outside of the county the SPCA (Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) fences through large fields or it may just require closing gates to confine animals to smaller fields. Intake and quality will be high when these plants are kept in a young, leafy stage of growth. As growth of the cool season grasses is slower in July, August, and September it will be necessary to graze larger areas. Fields not used for grazing during spring should be harvested as hay or silage.

Make plans for your haying season. For best quality hay, harvest when grass plants are in the boot to early flowering stage of growth. Early cut hay will be leafier, more digestible, and consumed in larger amounts over late cut hay.

Renovated field should be grazed short to hold down grass growth. Continue to graze after the legumes such as clover or alfalfa emerge and until cattle begin biting off the tips of the young legume seedlings. Once the animals begin biting the young legumes, remove animals from the pasture and give clover 4 to 6 weeks and alfalfa 8 to 10 weeks to become established before grazing or cutting for hay. Rotationally graze fields seeded to alfalfa and red clover. This can be accomplished by having enough animals grazing on an area so they will graze it off in 10 days or less. After the areas have been grazed, remove animals and give the legumes 4 to 6 weeks to recover before you graze again.

Although the peak of the grass tetany season is over, past experience indicates that grass tetany problems continue to persist into May during some years. Preventive measures that should be taken are: (1) make sure cows with calves have sufficient feed and (2) provide a source of "consumable" magnesium.

On most Boone County pastures sufficient magnesium supplementation can be achieved by providing cows a mineral mix containing 13 to 20 per cent magnesium. Commercial mixes are available, but a mixture of 40 per cent MgO (magnesium oxide), 40 per cent salt, and 20 per cent bone meal has worked most satisfactorily in mild risk situations.

Grazing early spring pastures provide the animals with an abundance of protein. If cows are put on pasture before adequate growth has accumulated there is a good chance of short changing the cow on energy. A low energy high protein ration appears to be predisposing to tetany; therefore, in high risk tetany situations, some dry feed on early spring pastures may be desired.

The University of Kentucky College of Agriculture is interested in putting together an exhibit of old farm machinery and tools used by Kentucky farmers in the past 200 years for the 1976 Bicentennial Kentucky State Fair. If you think you have something which would fit into this exhibit please contact our office in Independence at 356-3155.

Details of the exhibit, how long such items would be kept, and transportation will be determined once the project is decided on. Although the 1976 Fair is 18 months away it is necessary that we have this information now so plans can be made.

There will be an All Breeds Dairy Heifer Sale in Columbia, Kentucky on April 26th. It is sponsored by the Kentucky Purebred Dairy Cattle Association.

Eastern To Award Degrees on May 11

A total of 1,900 candidates will receive degrees May 11 at Eastern Kentucky University's 68th spring commencement.

Dr. Robert Martin will confer the degrees at the program which will begin at 4 p.m. in Alumni Coliseum. The commencement speaker will be Dr. Harry Sparks, past president of Murray State.

The commencement day activities will also include the baccalaureate address by Dr. McCall, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville at 11 a.m.

James Robert Shields of Walton will receive his degree in Bachelor of Business Administration.

Congratulations Jimmy on your great achievement!

Clothing Drive Was A Success

This year's United Clothing Drive in Northern Kentucky brought in 82,360 pounds of donated material, according to Jim Schworer, Director of Goodwill Industries' Rehabilitation Center in Covington.

The drive was held April 13th in Kenton, Campbell and Boone Counties. The materials received will be recycled at the Goodwill Center by handicapped employees and trainees.

Schworer said that "we at Goodwill sincerely thank all the contributors, the many Boy Scouts who collected the donations, and the other volunteers who assisted on the drive in various ways."

Open House To Be Held

Open House for the Baptist Convalescent Center, Inc., 120 Main St., Newport has been set for Sunday, May 4th 2 to 4 p.m. The annual Open House has become a traditional time to invite the public to come see our facility and meet the members of the Board of Trustees and key personnel. This year special interest will be the renovation of the older wing of the Home.

Tours of the facility, slides of projects and activities and refreshments served by the Ladies Auxiliary will make this a truly enriching day. Everyone is invited to come and learn about life in a nursing home today and about this ministry in Northern Kentucky.

Appreciation Day For Lula Carnes

Mrs. Lula Carnes, First Matron of the original Baptist Home of Northern Kentucky will be honored during Open House at the Baptist Convalescent Center, Newport, Ky. The Open House will be Sunday, May 4th from 2 to 4 p.m. Tours and displays will exemplify life in a nursing home today. Refreshments will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary.

Mrs. Carnes with her husband, the late Nick Carnes, opened the Baptist Home under the direction of the Northern Kentucky Baptist Assn. in 1952. After serving six dedicated years and seeing many improvements, accomplishments and additions, they retired to Erlanger, where Mrs. Carnes still resides and is a member of the Erlanger Baptist Church.

"Open to Live Fully"

The Tri City May Fellowship Program of Church Women United will be held on Saturday, May 3, 10:30 to 12:30 at Villa Madonna Academy.

The women of the Crescent Springs Presbyterian Church are in charge of the program.

The theme "Open To Live Fully", will be explored through the reading of the First Letter of Peter, Chs. 3-12, followed by a sacrificial lunch.

All women are invited and urged to come and participate in a very encouraging and worthwhile program.

Simon Kenton At State Meeting

Vicki Hollingsworth, Martha Tolliver and their advisor, Mrs. Mary Abell, attended the State Meeting which was held at the Galt House in Louisville, April 11-12. After the first session on Friday Night there was a banquet held in the Archibald Cockran Ballroom from 7 till 11 p.m.

The theme for the 1975 State Meeting was "FHA Run for the Roses".

The close of the second session was the installation of the new State Officers.

Celebrates 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rouse will observe their 50th Wedding Anniversary on May 11th with an Open House from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. at their home. The Rouses reside at 249A Hempfling Road in Morningview, Ky., one mile east on Hempfling Road off Route 17 at Atwood.

Their sons, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rouse of North Carolina and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rouse of Louisville and families will be here to celebrate the happy occasion. Mr. Rouse retired from the Heekin Can Co. in 1962 after 37 years with the company.

Congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Rouse.

All Saints Hold Fish Fry

All Saints Church will have a fish fry on May 9th in the school cafeteria beginning at 5 p.m.

There will be plenty of fish, french fries and desserts prepared by the ladies of the parish.

A social and combination table will be available too. We invite the public to join us in this gala event. Carryout orders will be processed if so desired.

Senior Class Has Play

The Walton Verona Senior Class will present their Senior Play on Friday night, May 2nd at 7:30 p.m. "Get It All Together" is the name of play that will be held in the Walton Verona's old gym.

Admission price is $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for children 12 and under. The public is warmly invited to come out and share in a night full of enjoyment.

See You There!

Having An Annual Spring Dinner

The Florence Fellowcraft Club and Florence Star Chapter O.E.S. will have a Ham and Roast Beef Dinner on Saturday, May 3rd from 5:00 until 8:00 p.m. at the Florence Masonic Temple, Price Pike in Florence, Ky.

The public is invited to attend this wonderful meal and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Attention: Horse Fans

The Boone County 4-H Jr. Leaders Club invites the public to their 5th Annual Horse Show, Sunday, May 11th at the Boone County Fairgrounds in Burlington.

The show begins at 1 p.m. and will feature both Eastern and Western Classes. Refreshments will be available on the grounds.

Donations will be appreciated, because the money made from this project will be used to entertain the 4-H'ers from the state of Wisconsin who will be visiting Boone County from July 7th to 11th.

"See you all May 11th at 1 p.m."

Women's Area Churches Softball

Entry fee of $40.00 per team is due by May 10th. Opening games are scheduled for May 13th. At the Verona Volunteer Firemen's Field, there will be two games played each week at 6:00 and 7:30 p.m. Due to darkness, we ask each team involved to be prompt in participation. At Walton Verona High School Field, there will be three games played each week at 6:30, 7:45, and 9:00 p.m. We ask all managers to turn in responsibility contracts from each player on the team by May 13th. Roster sheets from each team in the league are due May 27th. A maximum of 20 players per team is allowed.

There will be a final meeting of the Women's Area Churches Softball League on May 8th at 7:30 p.m. in All Saints School Hall for distribution of scheduled seasonal games.

Kenton Gets Pay Scale

The new graduate with a teaching certificate will be able to start work in the Kenton County school system with a $7700 yearly salary.

The Board of Education approved a new pay scale at a special April meeting. The increases, according to Robert Scott, board chairman, amount of an average of 9 per cent.

Teachers with master's degrees may start at $8400 a year and those with a master's degree plus 30 hours of study begin at $9000.

The scale also provides additional increases for each year of experience up to 13 years.

School principals and other administrators also received an average increase of 9 per cent.

In addition to setting the rates for teaching personnel, the board also up the wages of custodians, cafeteria workers, mechanics and bus drivers.

Scott said that is new money is forthcoming in July additional increases may be considered.

Also taken under advisement were additional sums for teachers with added duties in coaching, cheer leading sponsorship and others.

Messenger's Quartet Are Coming!

The outstanding Messenger's Quartet from the Southland Christian Church in Lexington, Ky. will be at the Church of Christ Nicholson on Walton Nicholson Road, in Independence, Ky., on Sunday night, May 4th at 7:00 p.m.

They have sung in many congregations throughout central Kentucky. Charles Carter, Minister invites the public to attend this Gospel Concert.

Flower Sale By Bykota Class

The Bykota Class will be selling flowers on Saturday, May 10th, in front of the new Boone County Drugs. They will have a variety of potted plants and bedding plants. Special orders and corsages are available also, but should be ordered in advance by calling 485-4282.

First Annual Home Show

The Covington Trust and Banking Company announces the First Annual Northern Kentucky Home Improvement Show to be held at the former Big Star Food Market in the Zayre Shopping Plaza, Ft. Wright, May 9, 10, and 11. The show will be of great interest to all homeowners in the northern Kentucky with over 80 exhibitors displaying a wide range of home improvement products, services, and ideas.

Covington Trust feels the show is a much needed service for this area. A sincere effort is being made by Covington Trust to insure that the show will be of benefit to the public as well as an entertaining event. There will be a demonstration area which will provide information and "do it yourself" products. Thousands of dollars worth of prizes ranging from air conditioners to upholstery will be offered by exhibitors.

WCKY's Will Warren will be on the scene to answer questions on home improvement ideas.

A large garden area will be located in the front of the building featuring landscaping, lawn furniture, swimming pools, and condominiums which will provide a relaxed garden atmosphere to the show.

Plan now to attend what will be an informative and entertaining event for the entire family. Times for the show will be 6-10 p.m., May 9; noon-10 p.m., May 10; and 1-6 p.m., May 11.

Pitches A Perfect Game

Bryan Ashcraft, 11, a fifth grader at A. M. Yealey School, has pitched a perfect game for the Ashcraft Mobile Home Cardinals.

The Cardinals defeated the Union Rats 4 to 0 at Florence City Park. A minimum 15 batters were faced by Ashcraft and he struck out eight.

The 63 minute contest was the opening game for both teams in the Class C Boone County Knochole League.

Guide For The "Girl Scouts"

In 1962, Mrs. Robert (Margaret Stiebel) Hartman researched historical material for a tour of Northern and Central Kentucky areas in honor of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. The national organization suggested that, for this occasion, local councils help their members learn more about their heritage. So Mrs. Hartman, a self-educated genealogist-historian, arranged the tour and wrote an accompanying guide for the Girl Scouts of Licking Valley Council.

Recently Mrs. Hartman revised and updated the material and a new booklet has been published, "Girl Scout Heritage Trails". This guide will again be used during tours of Augusta, Maysville, Washington and other areas with interesting historical backgrounds. The tours which will be taken in 1975 and 76 have been planned in honor of our country's Bicentennial.

Mrs. Hartman has written a fascinating account of the people and customs of one and two centuries ago. Her book may be purchased from the Licking Valley Girl Scout Council. The office is located at 104 East 7th Street, Covington, Kentucky 41011. For more information call 581-2275.

The book was printed by the Walton Advertiser owned and operated by Mr. Maynard Meadows.

The program will be a display of the Industrial Arts, Home Ec. and Arts Department.

Battling Problems of All Needs!

The Council on Substance Abuse wants to strengthen the rural delegation on its board to help plan a program of education, research and community involvement in battling problems of alcoholism and drugs.

Richard Murray, Covington pharmacist who has been working on the drug problem for the past decade, heads the new Northern Kentucky Comprehensive Care Unit.

"We need more help from such counties as Pendleton, Grant, Owen, Gallatin, and Carroll," he said following the opening session of the council at an April meeting in Covington.

Delegations were present from Kenton, Boone, and Campbell at the organization meeting.

Two Comp Care Professionals, David Lindemann, director of programs on alcoholism, and Miss Betty Santel, program director for drug abuse, are assisting the council which covers eight Northern Kentucky counties in Region Seven.

The council president is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati College of Pharmacy and has been a lay worker with Comprehensive Care for the past five years.

Dust
oldest pollutant

Dust in outer spaceWhen mariner 9 begins its journey to Mars - 50 million miles away - on May 30, 1971, Earth based telescopic views showed that the Maritan surface was clear.
On September 23, a large cloud of yellow dust began rising. By November 13, little of the surface of Mrs could be seen through the thick bblanket of dust.
The Mars dust storm covered millions of square miles, extended more than six miles above the surface of the planet and lasted for months. This was the greatest dust storm in recorded history.
Severe dust storms occur on Earth, too. During one such storm, dust clouds arose over Algeria and were carried 1,100 miles to the British Isles.
Dust on unpaved roads has always been a major pollution problem and traffic hazard. Science has found a chemical - Calcium Chloride - when sprayed on unpaved roads, controls dust.

Kitchen Hints

An electric mixer has become a kitchen must. Two of the company's food preparers not only do regular mixing, but grind grain, mix and knead bread dough. All three mixers grind meat, slice and shred vegetables and even make tomato and apple sauce.

Chicken Buys

Chicken is a smart buy for spring barbecuing it can be split down the back or quartered for cooking. Don't barbecue the chicken too fast, and keep it well above the fire - 6 to 8 inches, if possible. The specialists also recommend that you keep the chicken turned, not leaving it on one side to long.

Garden Tips

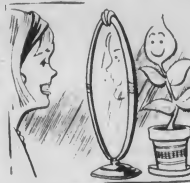

Exercise your evergreens . . . to keep them growing tall, full and wide. Shake them gently from time to time to get rid of older needles.

Leave no leaf unsprayed! To get rid of pests, spray plants thoroughly - especially under leaves where most disease starts and many bugs hide.

Who's the fairest of all? The right humidity in your home for plants will beautify both your plants and you!

Simon Kenton FHA News For April

Simon Kenton Chapter of FHA was held on April 2nd, with the meeting being called to order by the President, Charlotte Deters.

Plans for the 30th Annual Mother and Daughter Banquet were made. It will be held on May 9th at the Heritage House.

Officers for the 1975 and 76 year were elected and they are as follows: President - Vicki Hollingsworth; First Vice President - Martha Tolliver; Second Vice President - Martha Tolliver; Secretary - Darla Robinson; Treasurer - Kim Workman; Reporter - Margie Elliott; Historian - Wanda Goecke; Song Leader - Virginia Wilson; Recreation Leader - Virginia Wilson.

These officers will be installed at the Mother and Daughter Banquet that will be May 9th. Five officers were left open for the FHA girls coming over from the Twenhofel Chapter. The meeting was then adjourned and refreshments were served.

By shopping carefully, you can protect the quality and safety of the food you buy. Make sure all perishable items are taken from refrigerated cases in the store. Check to see that frozen foods are hard frozen and kept in the frost line in the store freezer. Select refrigerated and frozen foods last before checking out and ask the clerk to bag the cold foods and place together foods in insulated bags.

NKPGA

On April 22nd, the announcement of the new officers of NKPGA for the 1975-76 school year were made by the outgoing President, Ezekiel Vargas (counselor - Campbell County High School). The election results, were made at the last scheduled meeting, a dinner held at the Northern Kentucky State Vocational - Technical School. The new officers of the Northern Kentucky Personnel and Guidance Association will include Ivan S. Bennett as President (Manager - Job Preparation Center, Covington) Bill Arnold as President - Elect (counselor - Holmes High School) Mrs. Rita Becker as Secretary (counselor - Blessed Sacrament Elementary School) and Sister Mary Rufine as Treasurer (counselor - Notre Dame Academy).

about your Social Security

Social Security Officials estimate there may be a million people eligible for supplemental security income checks who haven't yet applied.

The Federal Program, which started in January 1974, now makes monthly payments to over 4 1/2 million people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind or disabled. But the Social Security administration believes there are still a lot of people who don't know about Supplemental Security income and might be helped by the payments, according to John Walter, Social Security District Manager in Covington.

"If you know people in need who are 65 or over or blind or disabled," Walter said, "Please tell them about Supplemental Security Income. And please suggest that they call or write any Social Security Office for more information."

The amount of the monthly Supplemental Security Income payments people get depends on other income they might have. Eligible people with no other income at all get as much as $146 a month for one person and $219 for a couple.

New Comments

Coffee Cup Comments: The true flavor of coffee is locked in the coffee beans. So, for really good coffee, brew it from freshly ground beans.

The makers of Kitchen Aid Electric Coffee Mills say grinding coffee is a snap with the appliance. Simply fill the hopper with coffee beans, dial your favorite grind and flip the switch. Brew right away and presto - Fresh Coffee!

ROBERT GRAVES, Sec.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

Senator Walter Dee Huddleston recently criticized President Ford for his efforts "to blame Congress" for the worsening military situation in South Vietnam.

Huddleston specifically referred to remarks by the President last week before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in which he said "the whole tragedy of South Vietnam could have been eliminated" if Congress had agreed to make available military and economic assistance over the next three years.

"Such statements are ludicrous, and he should know it," Huddleston said. "He is playing the old political game of trying to shift the attention from his own failures, especially on the domestic front, by blaming Congress for Vietnam."

"What is happening in Vietnam has been inevitable for a long time, and attempts by the Administration to point the finger of blame at Congress will not wash with the American people," the senator added.

"The public knows that this unfortunate war was largely perpetuated by the executive branch under five different Presidents. The policy President Ford and Secretary Kissinger would have us follow carries no guarantee that we will not be supplying millions upon millions of dollars six or ten years from now."

"What they are arguing for is an open ended, continuing commitment of American military and economic aid for however long it takes."

Carroll Announces Secondary Program

Governor Julian Carroll and Transportation Secretary John Roberts today announced the 1975-76 Rural Secondary Program for Boone County. The county's anticipated share of Rural Secondary funds for the year beginning July 1 is $225,780.

The program selected provides maintenance for 68.4 miles of Rural Secondary roads. It also authorizes blacktop resurfacing for 3.5 miles of KY 1292, the Beaverlick-Walton Road, 4.0 miles of KY 8, the Constance-Sand Run-Bullittsburg Road, and 2.8 miles of KY 237, the Limaburg-Hebron Road, and the development of plans for installation of a drainage structure of KY 20, the Constance-Hebron Road.

The Rural Secondary Program is supported by two cents of the Commonwealth's motor fuel tax. It originated in 1948 when the General Assembly recognized the need to improve farm to market and other rural roads. To insure fair distribution among the various counties, it enacted a statutory formula in 1962. This formula, which takes rural population, rural area, and rural road mileage into account, determines each county's share.

Corporation Taxes: You Pay Them!

BY
M. GENE SNYDER
U.S. CONGRESSMAN
4th District, Kentucky

Three weeks ago I wrote about corporation income taxes hiding the true cost of government from taxpayers who do not realize that they themselves pay those business taxes.

I pointed out that individuals pay all corporate taxes, (a) by hidden in the prices of products and services they buy as consumers, (b) by way of the lower salaries they can earn as employees, or (c) in reduced dividends they can earn as investors. To stay in business, a corporation must meet all overhead costs somehow and taxes are overhead costs like buildings and equipment, etc.

The American people cannot fully grasp the full burden of government on their lives because of the taxload on their pocketbooks unless they fully comprehend this fact. I want to quote two other sources that appeared in print since my own column.

The magazine, Forbes, for April 15th, has an article on business in heavily socialized Sweden. In pointing out that country taxes individuals heavily, but makes very liberal tax allowances to business for depreciation, reinvestment, etc., the following paragraph appears:

"In the U.S., corporation income taxes provide 20 per cent of federal income tax revenues. Sweden's social benefits system is financed by individual taxation. A man earning $20,000 a year pays direct tax at a 65 per cent rate. Such a system doesn't pay for social services by the back door method of loading the burden of payment onto business—which must pass much of it on to the consumer anyway. Would the U.S. Congress ever think of taking $13,000 in taxes from a $20,000 a year family? It does, of course, but indirectly and through higher prices."

"Corporations don't pay taxes; people do. The 'corporation' is not something separate and apart from people but simply a legal arrangement for providing jobs and producing goods, and that has generally worked very well indeed."

Using The Clay Wade More

Motorists are more aware of the Clay Wade Bailey Bridge and are using it more these days, especially as a bypass for the I-75 route when it is congested.

That is the opinion of R.A. Walsburger, district engineer for Bureau of Highways District Six (Northern Kentucky).

Recently the district office took a two day count for traffic using this U.S. 25 route between Covington and Cincinnati. The results showed that the averagedaily traffic volume on the bridge is approximately 14,500 vehicles.

Back in mid December, the Bureau had made a count which indicated that about 9,500 vehicles were using the bridge each day.

Walsburger believes that the most recent count indicates that the 5,000 added vehicles are largely local. Traffic engineers have reached this conclusion, he said, because northbound and southbound lanes are in balance.

"Improved signing has had something to do with the growth of traffic," Walsburger said. "But the major factor is probably driver recognition of a better way to reach a local destination."

"Analysis of counts shows that the Bailey Bridge also serves as relief for I-75 traffic when northbound lanes are constricted by accidents. Motorists recognize an alternate exit at Fifth Street in Covington to reach the Bailey Bridge."

Walsburger also noted that movement of a substantial amount of peakhour traffic to the Bailey Bridge not only improves the flow of traffic on the Brent Spence Bridge (I-75) but also relieves congestion, to some extent, on the upstream Suspension Bridge.

He added, "The day may not be far away when weekday traffic on the Bailey Bridge totals 20,000 vehicles."

Named after the late Clay Wade Bailey, one of Northern Kentucky's most prominent newsmen, the structure was opened to traffic last October 23.

Why Not Pass The Peanuts?

PASS THE PEANUTS! Peanuts boiled, baked, or roasted are always a hit on any table. And you'll be surprised at the money you save while still serving your family luscious, nutritious meals.
As food prices continue to deplete a large portion of the family budget, today's homemakers should take a good, long look at the lowly, little peanut. Why peanuts? Nutritionists declare that pound for pound, peanuts have more protein, minerals and vitamins than beef liver and more food energy than sugar. It has been said that in one peanut butter sandwich lies all the nutrients to fulfill a child's daily needs. Also, in its various forms, peanuts do less damage to the grocery budget than do meats and sugar.
Thus, it may reasonably be assumed that peanut popularity in the average American kitchen is destined to rise. And where better to look for delicious ideas for turning that healthy little pea into scrumptious dining adventures than two of the leading peanut producing states - Alabama and North Carolina.
Howard Bloom, owner and operator of the Holiday Inn in Roanoke Rapids, N.C., was named "Top Peanut Pusher of 1973" in his state and has developed hundreds of original recipes featuring the peanut. Two of his favorite creations are Peanut Carrot Salad and Howard Bloom's Original Peanut Soup.
Another mouth watering peanut recipe is "Little Ann's Peanut Pie" from the Holiday Inn in Eufrasia, Ala. This gorgeous delicacy teams roasted peanuts with white raisins and coconut.

Original Peanut Soup
1/4 cup finely chopped Chilean onion - 1 tablespoon butter - 1/4 cup creamy peanut butter - 1 10 1/2 ounce can cream of celery soup - 1 10 1/2 ounce can of cream of chicken soup - 2 1/4 cups milk at room temperature - 1/2 cup finely chopped salted peanuts.

Garnish: Salted peanuts, parsley springs or paprika.
Saute onion in butter until tender, but not browned. Fold in peanut butter and cook several minutes more. Blend in soups and milk. Add 1/4 cup chopped salted peanuts. Heat thoroughly, Do Not Boil. Garnish. Serves 6.

Peanut Carrot Salad
2 cups of coarsely grated carrots - 2 teaspoons of lemon juice - 1 cup of salted peanuts, chopped or whole - 1/2 cup of raisins - 1/2 cup salad dressing, or fruit dressing - Orange Sections - Lettuce cups

Add lemon juice to grated carrots to retain color, and to flavor. Combine carrots, peanuts and raisins. Toss to mix. Blend in salad dressing, adding only enough to moisten. Arrange in lettuce cups, garnish with orange sections.

Little Ann's Peanut Pie
2 eggs - 1 cup sugar - 1 stick butter or margarine, melted and cooled - 3/4 cup chooped, roasted and salted peanuts - 1/4 cup white raisins - 1/4 cup of coconut - 1/4 teaspoon vinegar - 1 teaspoon of vanilla - 9-inch unbaked pastry shell

Beat eggs; add sugar and cooled butter; stirring to blend thoroughly. Add remaining ingredients. Pour into unbaked pastry shell. Baked in preheated 350 degree oven for about 20 minutes or until pie sets.

Pie Crusts:
1 cup flour - 2 teaspoons baking powder - 1 tablespoon shortening, chilled - dash salt - 3 to 4 tablespoons cold water

Mix flour, baking powder and salt, then sift together. Add shortening and cut in with knife. Add ice water gradually, adding only enough to hold the ingredients together. Knead lightly to form into a mold. Roll out 1/4 inch thick on floured board. Put 9-inch pie pan. Pinch edge of pastry with finger or fork to flute.
